COUNTY BOUNDARIES.

On January 20, 1902, at the request of the Board of Supervisors of Glenn County to have the boundary line between Glenn and Lake counties and Glenn and Mendocino counties surveyed and located, Mr. J. F. Weston, County Surveyor of Glenn County, was appointed to survey and locate said boundary lines, and the necessary instructions were issued to him for the making of said surveys, the State of California not to be responsible for any part of the expense of said surveys.

Up to August 1, 1902, no report had been made or map and field-notes filed with this office.

AN ACT

TO DEFINE THE DUTIES OF AND TO LICENSE LAND SURVEYORS.

[Approved March 31, 1891.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Every person desiring to become a licensed land surveyor in this State must present to the State Surveyor-General of this State a certificate that he is a person of good moral character; also a certificate signed by three licensed surveyors, or a certificate signed by the Board of Examining Surveyors (provided for in section five of this Act), which certificate shall set forth that the person named therein is, in the opinion of the person signing the same, a fit and competent person to receive a license as a land surveyor, together with his oath that he will support the Constitution of this State and of the United States, and that he will faithfully discharge the duties of a licensed land surveyor, as defined in this Act.

SEC. 2. Upon receipt of such certificate and oath by the State Surveyor-General, it shall be his duty to forthwith issue to such applicant a license, without charge, which license shall set forth the fact that the applicant is a competent surveyor, or that he has had at least two years' experience in the field as a surveyor or assistant surveyor.

SEC. 3. Such license shall contain the full name of the applicant; the technical institution from which he is a graduate (if he be a graduate), or if he be not a graduate, the fact must be stated in the license; his birthplace, age, and to whom issued; the name of the person upon whose certificate the license is issued, and the date of its issuance.

SEC. 4. All papers received by the State Surveyor-General on application for licenses shall be kept on file in his office, and a proper index and record thereof shall be kept by him, and a list of all licensed land surveyors shall be kept by him, and he shall monthly transmit to the County Recorder of each county in this State a full and correct list of all persons so licensed; and it is hereby made the duty of such Recorders to keep such lists in their offices in such a way as they may be easily accessible to all persons.

SEC. 5. Within twenty days after the passage of this Act, the Governor shall appoint three surveyors in good standing, members of the Technical Society of the Pacific Coast, and two other surveyors in good standing, not members of such society, as a Board of Examining Surveyors, who shall conduct such examinations and make such inquiries as to them may seem necessary to ascertain the qualifications of applicants for surveyors' licenses.

SEC. 6. A majority of the Board of Examining Surveyors shall meet on the first Friday of each month during their term of office, in the rooms of the Technical Society of the Pacific Coast, in San Francisco, and at such other times and places as they may select. The members of the Board shall hold office for the term of one year from the date of appointment, and shall serve without compensation.

SEC. 7. Every licensed surveyor shall have a seal of office, the impression of which must contain the name of the surveyor, his principal place of business, and the words "Licensed Surveyor"; and all maps and papers signed by him, and to which said seal has been attached, shall be prima facie evidence in all the courts of this State.

SEC. 8. Surveyors' licenses issued in accordance with this Act, shall remain in force until revoked for cause, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 9. Every licensed surveyor is authorized to administer and certify oaths, when it becomes necessary to take testimony to identify or establish old or lost corners; or if a corner or monument be found in a perishable condition, and it appears desirable that evidence concerning such corner or monument be perpetuated; or whenever the importance of the survey makes it desirable, to administer an oath, for the faithful performance of duty, to his assistants. A record of such oaths shall be preserved as a part of the field-notes of the survey.

SEC. 10. Every licensed surveyor is hereby authorized to make surveys relating to the sale or subdivision of lands, the retracing or establishing of property or boundary lines, public roads, streets, alleys, or trails; and it shall be the duty of each surveyor, whenever making any such surveys, except those relating to the retracing or subdivision of cemetery or town lots, whether the survey be made for private persons, corporations, cities, or counties, to set permanent and reliable monuments, and such monuments must be permanently marked with the initials of the surveyor setting them.

SEC. 11. Within sixty days after a survey relating to the sale or subdivision of lands, the retracing or establishing of property and boundary lines, public roads or trails, original cemetery or town sites, and their subdivisions has been made by a licensed surveyor, he shall file with the Recorder of the county in which such survey or any portion thereof lies, a record of survey. Such record shall be made in a good draughtsmanlike manner, on one or more sheets of firm paper of the uniform size of twenty-one by thirty inches. This record of survey shall be either an original plat or a copy thereof, and must contain all the data necessary to enable any competent practical surveyor to retrace the survey. The record of survey must show: All permanent monuments set, describing their size, kind and location, with reference to the corners which they are intended to perpetuate; all bearing or witness trees marked in the field; complete outlines of the several tracts or parcels of land surveyed within courses, and lengths of boundary lines; the angles, as measured by Vernier readings, which the lines of blocks or lots, if the record relate to an original town-site survey, make with each other and with the center lines of adjacent streets, alleys, roads, or lanes; the variations of the magnetic needle with which old lines have been retraced; the scale of the map, the date of survey; a proper connection with one or more points of an original or larger tract of land, and the name of the same; the name of the grant or grants, or of the townships and ranges, within which the survey is located; the signature and seal of the surveyor; provided, that nothing in this section shall require record to be made of surveys of a preliminary nature, where no monuments or corners are established.

SEC. 12. The record of surveys thus filed with the County Recorder of any county must be by him pasted into a stub book provided for that purpose, and he must keep a proper index of such records, by name of owner, by name of surveyor, by name of grant, city, or town, and by United States subdivisions; and he shall make no charge for filing and indexing such records of surveys.

SEC. 13. Upon the failure of any licensed surveyor to comply with the requirements of this Act, and the furnishing of satisfactory proofs of such fact, the State Surveyor-General must revoke his license, and no other license shall be issued to him within one year from such revocation. A violation of section eleven of this Act shall be a misdemeanor, and any person convicted of such violation shall be punished by a fine not to exceed more than one hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 14. In case said board shall refuse to meet and examine the applicants for licenses as in this Act provided, and issue to such applicants the certificate or certificates mentioned in this Act, if such person be a fit and competent person to receive the same, they may be compelled to do so by mandamus; and if upon the hearing of such mandamus it appears that they have willfully and wrongfully refused to examine any applicants, or to issue him a certificate when he is entitled to the same, such Board so refusing or failing shall be, jointly and severally, liable for all cost of said mandamus proceeding, including attorney's fee of five hundred dollars, and shall be so jointly and severally liable to any person aggrieved by such refusal, in the sum of five hundred dollars, as fixed, settled, and liquidated damages, which may be recovered in any court in this State, and the judgment (if it be for plaintiff) in mandamus shall be prima facie evidence of such injury and damage in any action which may be brought to recover damages under the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 15. All that part of the Code of Civil Procedure of this State relating to mandamus is hereby made applicable to the provisions of this Act; and all proceedings in mandamus under this Act shall be in accordance therewith.

SEC. 16. This Act shall take effect on the first day of July, eighteen hundred and ninety-one.

LEGISLATIVE PRINTING.

A balance of four thousand six hundred and thirty-three dollars ($4,633) for preliminary work for the Legislature, thirty-fourth session, together with two appropriations—one of fifty thousand ($50,000) and one of twenty-eight thousand dollars ($28,000)—covered the work done for that body, and a detailed account of the expenditures is herewith shown. In addition to this sum of eighty-two thousand six hundred and thirty-three dollars ($82,633), certain special work was done and paid for from the contingent funds of the Legislature, amounting in all to two thousand two hundred and twenty-five dollars ($2,225).

A few of the State officers and institutions had apportioned to them a few dollars more than they required, but in a great majority of cases the sums allowed were inadequate, and considerable inconvenience and annoyance were occasioned by lack of funds to do work essential to a proper conduct of business in a large number of offices, especially in the matter of publishing the official reports. Aside from this matter of inadequate appropriations and the legal difficulty of making any change in the apportionment of the funds, whereby the sums which lapse might be utilized by officers and institutions that run short of printing funds, the present law of apportionment is working very satisfactorily.

I desire to renew my recommendation to bring the United States History up to date, and also to suggest a revision of the two Geographies in relation to the changes brought about by the war with Spain. All this can be done at small expense and would result in increased sales of the books.

In my report of last year this paragraph occurs, which I beg to quote and reindorse:

“The introduction of new machinery in the press-room and bindery would lessen the cost of manufacture of the text-books, and the money thus saved would nearly, if not quite, pay for the revision of the series or for new copyrights and plates, and insure the production of the books in the future at the lowest possible price consistent with good work, and I hope the Legislature will, in its wisdom, find a way to bring about such a desirable result.”

Very respectfully,

A. J. JOHNSTON,
Superintendent of State Printing.

REPORT

FOR THE

OFFICE OF
STATE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., September 15, 1902.

To His Excellency HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of the State of California:

DEAR SIR: In pursuance of Section 1532 of the Political Code, I have the honor to submit to you herewith the Twentieth Biennial Report of the State Department of Education, being for the school years 1900-1902, or from July 1, 1900, to June 30, 1902.

Most respectfully yours,

THOMAS J. KIRK,
State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

TWENTIETH BIENNIAL REPORT OF STATE SUPER-INTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

The cause of public education in the State for the two years ending June 30, 1902, has not been strikingly marked by anything eventful, but there has been progress in material equipment and fuller conception of the aims and possibilities of our public school system. Scores of new school buildings have been erected in all parts of the State. These have been planned, constructed, and equipped more thoughtfully and elaborately, and by the establishment of numerous high schools and by the constantly increasing attendance in our State University the people are manifesting a desire for more culture and training and are relying upon the State to supply the means for these ends.

THE EDUCATIONAL OUTLOOK.

The friends of the public school system were never more numerous or more earnest in its support than at the present time. Encouragement is met on every hand. The daily press, the magazine, the pulpit, the lecture platform, the teachers' institute, the convention of every political party, has something complimentary and encouraging for the cause of public education. Courses of study are being more rationally prepared. The question has been thoughtfully asked by educators, "What may the State reasonably expect in providing for a common school education?" This is being answered by seeking to have the elementary schools, the primary and grammar grades, confine their work to essentials mainly: reading, including spelling; writing, including business forms; arithmetic, nonessentials eliminated; the elementary principles only of natural science; a fairly comprehensive knowledge of our country's history, and emphasis upon clear and correct oral and written expression during all the years of school life. It is recognized that these elementary schools can not and should not attempt more advanced work, that their sphere is limited, and that the higher branches of study must be left for the secondary schools.

RECOGNITION OF HIGH SCHOOLS.

With the advanced and advancing demands of the times, with the necessity in all fields of industrial and commercial activity for more skill and finer training, to say nothing of the demands for the culture side of life, there is a settled conviction in the minds of thoughtful friends of public education that a link is missing in our educational chain, a rung out of our educational ladder, that reaches from the kindergarten through the university. The high school, therefore, has been seeking that recognition which has heretofore been denied it. High schools, it is true, have been increasing and flourishing, not in any degree because of but in spite of the lack of State recognition. At present their attitude is largely that of private instead of public schools. They are maintained entirely by local or district tax. The State extends them no aid whatever. School Superintendents and other officials are not certain how the High School teachers and pupils are to be counted in making reports of the teaching force and of enrollment and daily attendance in public schools. An outgrowth of this condition and of the sentiment in favor of high schools so common among the people is the pending constitutional amendment designated as No. 4, which is to be voted upon at the ensuing general election, and the fate of which will no doubt be determined before this report has been published. That there may be shown somewhat more clearly reasons why this pending amendment should be adopted, an article by Mr. A. J. Pillsbury, President of the Tulare City Board of Education, and one by myself, are here given.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 4.

DISCUSSED BY A. J. PILLSBURY.

I was much interested in an article relative to this question from the pen of Superintendent Thomas J. Kirk, which appeared in a recent issue of The Saturday Bee, but it does not seem to me that too much can be said on the subject between now and the holding of the election next year. The high school has friends enough in California to require that justice be done it, if only those friends can be aroused to demand justice; but the high school also has more enemies than such friends of secondary education are aware of, and some of them are very powerful.

I have before me a letter from the cashier of one of the largest savings banks in this State, in which occurs this sentence: "We are not prepared to indorse the proposition that a high school education is essential to the prosperity or happiness of a business man," and the institution which he represents has resisted the inclusion of bank lands in a high school district, and, so far, with success.

There are two classes of people, I take it, who will join this venerable cashier in refusing to indorse the proposition that a high school education is essential to the prosperity and happiness of a business man or woman, or an intelligent American citizen. One of these classes is made up of men like our cashier, the horizons of whose lives are bounded by the periphery of an American dollar. The other class is composed of those who are not yet awake to the need of secondary education. The first class have got to be whipped out of their old foggy boots at the polls and before the Legislature, and the task is not going to be too easy. The second class have got to be educated up to the need of the time, and that task will also not be light, with something less than a year for doing the work.

The attitude of California toward her high school system is anomalous, and ought not to be. Our State provides liberally for elementary education and it has not been parsimonious in its support of the University of California, but the high school, the connecting link between the lower and higher forms of education, receives no aid at all from the State, and the responsibility for the organization, conduct, and maintenance of high schools is thrown entirely upon those communities which have the enterprise and love of learning needful to induce them to take upon themselves a burden that is not easy, and an obligation which such communities are not always fitted adequately to discharge. It is time that California adopted its high school offspring into the educational family and provided, at least in part, for its maintenance.

The American idea of free public education is that the State shall set up an educational ladder that shall reach from the kindergarten to the university, to the end that young men and women, who have the instinct to climb, may pass over that ladder as a birthright. California has suffered a break in the ladder that it should lose no time in spanning.

Now, for some reasons for the faith that is in me. The primary and grammar schools have performed their joint function when they have put the pupil in the possession of the tools indispensable for the acquisition of intelligence, but they have not opened the windows of the youthful mind out upon any intellectual vistas likely to prove inviting. The pupil is put in possession of tools without being taught how to use them. He knows how to read, but not what to read. He knows how to write, but his training in composition has been very slight, and he is not capable of effective expression, either oral or written. After many years of effort he has succeeded in memorizing a considerable variety of hard, dry facts, but little or no stimulus has been given his imagination, and his view of life is still shut in. At the time of completing his grammar school course the pupil is barely at the threshold of adolescence, has pipped his infant shell and is barely coming to himself, has acquired some proficiency in memorizing, but has not been taught how to think. To turn him out of school at that age with so meager a preparation for life is to equip him for the performance of only the humblest utilities and for the most narrow capacity for enjoying the good things of life. It leaves him nothing more than a mere industrial factor, like the ox, with a capacity for enjoyment most likely confined within a purely physical range. If anything better and broader come into his life, it must be from outside the school system which the State has afforded.

The high school stands at the parting of the ways. It occupies the time betwixt adolescence and adulthood. The mind then for the first time has power to coördinate, to trace relationships, to compare—to think. Taking the pupil from the grammar grade, where he has been taught the use of intellectual tools, the high school teaches him what to construct; and sends him about his way with definite ideas as to how he will order his life, what sort of a character he will fashion with the elemental tools, the use of which he has learned. It is trite to say that the high school is the poor man's college; but so it is and is likely ever to be. The professional man and specialist will go on to college, take post-graduate courses, and so on through special schools of training; but the typical American citizen, having acquired in the high school an adequate outlook upon life's possibilities and pleasures, will go from the high school to the shop, farm, and home, to live each his own life and do his work in the world, intelligent, broad in range of mental and moral vision, the highest type of citizenry the world will know.

It is entirely possible that the precise sphere of high school effort has not yet been determined. The high school must take the pupil where the grammar school leaves him. That much is foreordained; but it does not follow that the high school must take the pupil clear to where the university would like to have him brought. I think that the State should make the university take the pupil where the high school can most advantageously leave him, for the end and aim of the poor man's college must be to fit the pupil for life rather than for entrance into the college of the wealthy, or the college of those who are to enter upon highly specialized work.

Nevertheless, the demands made upon the high school will be quite onerous and varied enough to fill four years of ambitious adolescence. The paramount function of the high school must be to induct the pupil into the elemental mysteries of human learning—history, language, literature, science. These provided for, the high school should devote at least one study and recitation period each day to such special knowledge and training as will equip the pupil to intelligently begin work upon the farm, in the counting-room, the shop, or the home—to open the windows of the understanding in the direction of a life work, as well as in that of a broadened outlook upon human affairs and accomplishments. This can be done.

It will be entirely practicable to teach in a high school the elements of the science of scientific farming—agricultural chemistry, botany, entomology, soil analysis, etc. There is no reason why the farmer of the future should deal with an alchemy surpassing in mystery that of the electrician, without a suspicion of why he does what he does.

It will be entirely practicable to teach in the high school course of four years the elements of everyday business—commercial geography, bookkeeping, typewriting, and shorthand. There will have to be practice beyond the school period to insure proficiency, but pupils can be put so far upon their way that they can perfect themselves in their chosen field of work without having to prolong their school life beyond the high school period.

It will be entirely practicable to teach, as an aside, in a high school course of four years, so much of mechanics as will make a pupil all his life handy with tools and exact in all that he does. It would be too much to undertake to teach handicrafts in a high school, but the hand and the eye need training as well as the power to think, and such training must be had, if at all, during that period of adolescence when the pupil will be in the high school anyhow.

It will be entirely practicable to teach, as an aside, and in connection with a four years' high school course, so much of domestic economy as will fit the girl graduate for home life, for doing needlework, cutting and fitting her own garments, and cooking wholesome food wholesomely and serving it appetizingly.

It will be entirely practicable during a four years' high school course so to carry along these elective training courses as to link the more theoretical part of school work closely with everyday business, industry, and life, and to fit the graduate for immediate entrance upon his life pursuit. It will at once tend to make him an efficient industrial factor and an intelligent, liberal-minded citizen.

If the poverty of our State were so extreme that it could provide but one stage of education for its youth, that stage should, of course, embrace the primary and grammar grade course; but if it were able to add to this another degree of learning, it should be the high school rather than the university degree. If any form of education should be left to local initiative and private enterprise it should be that higher education which is embraced in the university course and not in the high school course which California has, so far as the State is concerned, left out of its educational ladder.

I think that I may reasonably make claim to having outlined with some liberality the work which a high school should undertake to do; and, if it undertake to do this, it will be seen that such a school must be liberally provided for in buildings, teaching force, and apparatus. The task will be found quite beyond the means of small and isolated or farming communities. Therefore, State aid is needed.

The support of the common schools is jointly carried by local initiative, county enterprise, and State aid. The State University is sustained by the State as a whole. There is no reason, economic or logical, why the State and the community may not join in maintaining high schools.

It has been objected that all have access to the advantages offered by the primary schools and all have access to the university, but that all could not have access to the high schools; and, therefore, high schools ought not to be aided out of a common State fund. This objection can be reached by making the bestowal of State aid conditioned upon a waiving of the right to charge a tuition.

It would be proper for the community applying for State aid for high schools to first build and equip a high school building, and, I should say, vote $3 in local tax to each $2 to be received from the State at large. I should favor basing State aid on the average daily attendance of pupils, at, possibly, a rate of $2 per pupil per month. If this did not lighten the load of each high school district, it would at all events increase the efficiency; and the efficiency of high schools will have to be considerably increased before they will cover the utilities I have outlined.

The constitutional amendment proposing State aid to high schools, to be voted for next year, contemplates the naming in the appropriation measure of the specific schools which are to receive such appropriations. Aid should go to all if to any, but a wise surveillance might be required on the part of the State Board of Education to guard against misappropriation and misuse.

There are now one hundred and twenty-nine high schools in this State. That law will not prove beneficent which doubles the number of high schools without doubling the attendance. In other words, not every crossroads should attempt a high school; and yet there ought to be a high school at every considerable trading center. A multiplicity of weak high schools with only partial courses will not so well subserve the public need as fewer schools, larger and better equipped. Therefore, I am not sure but that State aid ought to be limited to high schools in incorporated towns or to high schools having an average daily attendance of fifty pupils or more.

Whatever is done in the direction of State aid to high school support should be done with a view to becoming a permanent policy. Such aid is not wanted by fits and starts. High schools should be established only where they can be maintained. We must look to a policy of permanency.

The constitutional amendment which will pave the way for this is before the people. The opposition to it will be technical and covert rather than open and on principle, and it is not too soon to begin a campaign of education for the amendment's adoption.

STATE RECOGNITION OF HIGH SCHOOLS.

By SUPERINTENDENT THOMAS J. KIRK.

December 28, 1901.

There will be submitted to the electors of California at the next general State election proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 4, amending Section 6, Article IX, to read as follows:

"SECTION 6. The public school system shall include primary and grammar schools, and such high schools, evening schools, normal schools, and technical schools as may be established by the Legislature, or by municipal or district authority. The entire revenue derived from the State School Fund and from the general State school tax shall be applied exclusively to the support of primary and grammar schools; but the Legislature may authorize and cause to be levied a special State school tax for the support of high schools and technical schools, or either of such schools, included in the public school system, and all revenue derived from such special tax shall be applied exclusively to the support of the schools for which such special tax shall be levied."

The purpose of this proposed amendment is to secure State recognition, which is now denied to high schools and technical schools. There were in California at the close of the school year, June 30, 1901, 129 high schools with 587 teachers and 13,197 pupils. The question to be voted on means, Shall these schools, these teachers, and these pupils be considered as embraced within the public school system of the State?

Few things seem more reasonable and just than that high schools shall be made one of the links in our State educational chain that begins with the kindergarten and ends with the university. High schools as they are now maintained and related to the State school system are more strictly private than public schools. They are supported entirely by local or district taxation. The State extends neither aid nor recognition of any kind to this class of schools, except to provide by legislative enactment how they may be organized and maintained by local authority and taxation.

More and more have these secondary schools become popular during the past few years. In the estimation of thoughtful friends of public education they but fill the place to-day that was occupied by the elementary schools thirty years ago. Our primary and grammar schools are rightly recognized as essential to the very existence of the State, as its best safeguards against crime, vulgarity, ignorance, and poverty; but the high schools, which should differ from the lower schools only in degree, are found to be necessary in meeting the advancing and advanced demands of the times. They are needed to give that foundation which is requisite not for the professions alone, but for all the business vocations of life. It requires a great deal more knowledge, training, and culture to give a man respectable standing and preparation for any pursuit in life than it did a few years ago. We may rarely expect to meet an Abraham Lincoln who has attained success without a pretty thorough educational course of training. Four-leaf clover is a plant of freakish growth. Man's environment has wonderfully changed in the period of the last generation. Discoveries and inventions, progress and complexity in the appliances of the arts, the industries, and the sciences, render it necessary for him to possess more information, greater skill, and more keenly-sharpened faculties than ever before. There is need at every turn for the richer endowment of mind and heart such as the truest and best educational training can give, in order to achieve meritorious results.

It seems scarcely necessary to offer an argument or to make a plea for the claims of the high schools. Their growth in the State during the past ten or twelve years has been almost phenomenal. Forty-four of the fifty-seven counties have established one or more of them, and the time has come when it is believed they may properly come under the fostering care of the State. There can be no good or sufficient reason advanced for declining to place them in the State system along with primary and grammar schools, normal schools, and the university. Every reason for extending State aid to the university may, with multiplied force, be advanced for extending it to high schools, for the university is open only to those who have been prepared for admission by the high schools or schools equivalent.

The proposed amendment seeks not to intrude upon the long-standing and cherished provisions made by the State for the maintenance of primary and grammar schools. If it did, the measure would deserve overwhelming defeat, for all true friends of public education know that the elementary schools are the substructure upon which all else rests, and it is confidently believed that the people of California will ever guard with watchful care the law and the means by which the common schools are sustained. It will be observed that the measure under consideration stipulates particularly that all revenue derived from the State School Fund and from the general State school tax shall, as now, be applied exclusively to the support of primary and grammar schools. The plea of the high schools is chiefly for acknowledgment as an important part in the State educational system, and with this recognition the privilege of the people, through the Legislature, to extend such aid as may be deemed proper.

It will never, in my judgment, be thought wise or expedient to maintain high schools wholly by the State. Our primary and grammar schools even are not maintained by the State exclusively, but by revenues derived from a unique and happy blending of State, county, and district provisions. From the method of apportioning public school moneys on census and average daily attendance, which method it is not proposed to disturb, the support of high schools must be left more largely to local pride perhaps than any other class of schools, but from their character and importance they certainly deserve recognition and some assistance from the State.

Public education is one of the chief concerns of the State, because it pays, and we have yet to learn of a country that has overdone in behalf of this cause. As schools and educational facilities have been provided has every commonwealth taken rank among the sisterhood of States. To her generous policy toward the cause of public education does Massachusetts owe the marked high plane of her citizenship. Those States that have been parsimonious in behalf of this cause are correspondingly behind, not only in culture and refinement, but also in the business and material affairs of life. Education and general prosperity go hand in hand.

The spirit of the people of California toward the cause of public education can not be complained of; it has always been liberal, generous even; but in the adoption of the Constitution of 1879 there was failure to provide authority for extending State aid to any but elementary schools. High schools have been established in the enterprising sections and have flourished not because of State assistance or recognition, but rather in spite of it. This is no reason, however, why the State's fostering care should not now be extended. Sixty years ago some excellent schools were maintained by local pride in different parts of the country when the district plan of support of schools wholly prevailed, when there were no State school systems. But to eradicate the district plan and to establish State systems of public education was the life effort of such educators as Horace Mann and Newton Bateman. By the proposed amendment it is asked that what was neglected or intentionally denied in 1879 be given in 1902.

The proposed amendment should also appeal to voters of the State who may give careful thought to the question upon the ground of greater educational harmony and better adjustment of all the parts in our educational system that will undoubtedly result from its adoption. No support for high schools being provided, the grammar grades have in some portions of the State been extended far into the domain of high school work. In some instances where demand for the advanced branches was felt the lower school has been made to embrace the tenth, eleventh, twelfth, and even the thirteenth and fourteenth years or grades—this to the detriment of and at the expense of the grammar school, a violation of the spirit, at least, if not of the letter of the law.

If this amendment be adopted it is believed that it will harmonize conflicting interests, enable school boards and teachers to determine and fix the point where the course of the grammar school ends and where that of the high school begins; that it will give encouragement to the high schools, the colleges of the masses, and that it will be another marked step in the continued advance and progress of California.

NOTE.—Since the foregoing was written, and while this report was still in press, the general election of 1902 has been held, and the proposed amendment, incorporating high schools into the public school system, has been adopted.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

In my last Biennial Report, the nineteenth issued from this office, I mentioned what seemed to me a pressing need, that of more industrial education. I am pleased to give the information that our high schools are responding to this demand, and that many of them have added courses in various forms of manual training and in domestic science. Our State Normal Schools deem the instruction in these lines important in the preparation of teachers, and workshops and sewing and cooking rooms have been provided, and more or less of such instruction is required to be taken by every teacher before graduation from these State institutions.

In pursuance of this common demand for training and instruction in matters outside of books, and particularly for training essential to the vocations of the farmer, the orchardist, and others in rural life, the Legislature of 1901 made an appropriation and provided for the establishment of a Polytechnic School, to be located at or near the town of San Luis Obispo. The board of trustees into whose hands the matter was placed last March—the bill providing that the $50,000 appropriated should be available only after January 1, 1902—has purchased as a site about 320 acres of land after very careful consideration of many different tracts offered, has employed as director a man with scientific agricultural training and of expert practical experience, and has adopted plans and specifications for two buildings—one for classroom instruction and the other for dormitory purposes. These it is expected will be constructed and ready for use by January 1, 1903. The purpose as conceived by the board is the establishment of a school on an agricultural basis, with provision for practical instruction in animal industry, dairying, tree culture, methods of planting, cultivating, and harvesting of farm products, landscape gardening, road grading and building, reservoir construction, practical irrigation, domestic science, and work in wood and iron. The board of trustees is composed of both business and professional men, and the members have been giving earnest, faithful attention to the trust committed to them, and though necessarily experimental to a great degree, hope is entertained that an institution which will contribute successfully to the industrial side of public education and one of which the State will be proud may soon be in successful operation at San Luis Obispo.

BIENNIAL CONVENTION OF COUNTY AND CITY SUPERINTENDENTS

Held at Fresno May 6, 7, and 8, 1902.

In pursuance of custom and the law authorizing me to do so, I called the County and City School Superintendents of the State together in biennial convention in the City of Fresno on May 6, 1902, and a profitable session of three days' duration was held. In planning or suggesting matters for the consideration of the Superintendents, I took an entirely new departure from the course heretofore pursued in all these biennial meetings. Instead of devoting the time wholly to the consideration of the school law of the Political Code as heretofore, I outlined a program for the discussion of what I conceived to be live educational problems. For want of time necessary to confer or communicate with any Superintendent I arbitrarily assigned to every one a topic, and I am pleased to state that with but one or two exceptions all came to the convention well prepared to speak on the subject assigned, and the program as given below was most successfully carried out:

TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1902.

MORNING.

Questions of School Supervision.

1. School grounds, school buildings, and school rooms.

Superintendent James A. Barr, 20 minutes.

(a) How may school premises and school rooms in the country be improved and made more inviting?

Superintendent E. W. Hyatt, 15 minutes.

(b) Interesting the press and the general public in these subjects and in other educational problems.

Superintendent W. C. Doub, 15 minutes.

Discussion: Superintendents Greeley, Sackett, Mrs. Peart, Garner, Hampton, McCarty, 5 minutes each.

General discussion.

AFTERNOON.

1. School visitation—general purpose.

Superintendent Robert Furlong, 20 minutes.

(a) Special purposes to be subserved by County Superintendent's visits.

Superintendent J. B. Brown, 15 minutes.

(b) Special purposes to be subserved by City Superintendent's visits.

Superintendent R. H. Webster, 15 minutes.

Discussion: Superintendents Rogers, McPherron, Miss Jones, Miss Tilton, Reager, Barbee, 5 minutes each.

General discussion.

2. Teachers' Institute.

Superintendent J. W. Graham, 20 minutes.

(a) Should the work be done by the teachers or by lecturers, or by both? Some general directions.

Superintendent Mrs. J. E. Chope, 15 minutes.

(b) How to secure continuity of work from one institute to another. Should each institute program present one subject or a variety of subjects?

Superintendent P. W. Smith, 15 minutes.

(c) Local institutes and reading circles.

Superintendent C. C. Hill, 15 minutes.

(d) Trustees' meetings. How may the Superintendent promote them?

Superintendent J. A. Wagener, 15 minutes.

Discussion: Superintendents Grove, Donnelley, Chipman, Miss Bagnelle, White, Barker, Miss Poore, 5 minutes each.

General discussion.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 7.

MORNING.

Course of study for elementary schools; general outline and scope; the country schools chiefly in view.

Superintendent J. W. Linscott, 20 minutes.

(a) How may County Boards of Education arrange the course of study so as to adapt it to different schools having from one to eight teachers each.

Superintendent Charles J. Walker, 20 minutes.

(b) Home study and observance of the law as stipulated in Section 1665 of the Political Code.

Superintendent S. D. Waterman, 20 minutes.

Discussion: Superintendents McLane, Graham, Scott, Wright, Miss Richards, Miss Nangle, 5 minutes each.

General discussion.

AFTERNOON.

1. Promotions and graduation—county.

(a) Shall promotions be made when the work is completed, or at the end of the term?

Superintendent Miss Lillie Laugenour, 10 minutes.

(b) How shall a uniform standard be secured? Shall fitness for promotion be left entirely to the teacher?

Superintendent J. H. Strine, 15 minutes.

(c) If the graduating class or any grade for promotion is to be examined by the County Superintendent or County Board of Education, how remove from the teacher temptation to neglect classes not so examined?

Superintendent T. O. Crawford, 15 minutes.

(d) If promotion be left entirely to teacher, how protect her from unjust criticism of parents?

Superintendent Mrs. S. E. Peart, 10 minutes.

Discussion: Superintendents Dunn, Imrie, Crookshanks, Morgan, Gordon, Kline, Waters, Grove, Phalin, Haycock, 5 minutes each.

General discussion.

THURSDAY, MAY 8.

MORNING.

1. Compulsory school attendance.

Superintendent J. W. McClymonds, 15 minutes.

(a) Some difficulties to be met in enforcing a school-attendance law in the country.

Superintendent R. H. Dunn, 15 minutes.

Discussion: Superintendents Webster, Erlewine, Russell, Doyle, Miss Williams, Frank Hyatt, 5 minutes each.

General discussion.

2. Departmental work; its advantages and disadvantages.

Superintendent C. C. Hughes, 15 minutes.

Discussion: Superintendents Davidson, Nelson, Wilson, Miss Bahr, Hohfeld, Barr, Cox, Childress, 5 minutes each.

General discussion.

3. Educational notes and observations made during attendance at National Convention of Superintendents recently held in Chicago.

Superintendent James A. Foshay.

AFTERNOON.

1. Is consolidation of school districts and transportation of pupils to a central school practical in California at the present time? Is it the remedy for small attendance in the sparsely settled portions of the State.

Superintendent Hugh J. Baldwin, 15 minutes.

Discussion: Superintendents Freman, Crawford, Brown, Edwards, Miss Coulter, 5 minutes each.

2. Important needs or changes to be asked for in the School Law. Report of committee to whom the matter is by this outline of program specially referred. (The committee will have frequent evening meetings during the convention and will receive resolutions from those having special suggestions to make.)

Superintendents McClymonds, Linscott, Barr, Furlong, Sackett, Webster, Rogers, Crookshanks, Howard, Chipman, Miss Coulter, McLane, McVey, Miss Fox, Miss Persons, Miss Neddenriep, Miss Finane.

General discussion.

Final resolutions.

At the close of the convention the following resolutions were adopted:

The County and City Superintendents of the State of California in biennial convention assembled, resolve as follows:

WHEREAS, We believe there is urgent need for better text-books than are at present in use in the elementary schools of California; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we recommend that the Legislature of the State of California give to the State Board of Education the power and means to provide a better series of school text-books.

WHEREAS, It is the sense of this convention that the plan of the present meeting is a great improvement upon that of previous sessions of the Biennial Convention, and that we furthermore believe that much good will come of the free discussion of school problems by the City and County Superintendents; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we congratulate State Superintendent Kirk upon the success of the present meeting and the change of program, and we recommend that future Biennial Conventions be conducted along somewhat the same lines.

WHEREAS, The law makes it our duty to attend and take part in the Biennial Conventions; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the County and City Superintendents, owe the same allegiance and hearty cooperation to the State Superintendent as the teachers owe to us in institute work.

In view of the vital importance to the educational interests of the State of Constitutional Amendment No. 4, permitting State aid to secondary schools, be it

Resolved, That we re-indorse said proposed amendment and pledge our aid and support to secure its adoption.

Inasmuch as it is of vital importance for the increased efficiency of our high schools, the colleges of the masses, that the amendment granting recognition and State aid to the high school should be ratified by the people; and whereas, a definite understanding as to the relations existing between the secondary schools and the University is necessary in order that the proposed amendment may receive the support of the people, be it

Resolved, That if the system of accrediting high schools be continued, we are in favor of such changes as will permit of a greater individuality in the development of the high schools of the State.

Resolved, That this resolution be communicated to the University.

I would iterate in part the foregoing resolutions of the County and City Superintendents and give as my opinion that there are three permanent measures affecting public school work upon which legislation is greatly needed at the present time. They are:

First—The requisite authority and the necessary means for securing improved school text-books for primary and grammar schools;

Second—Adoption of a conservative but adequate compulsory school-attendance law;

Third—If Constitutional Amendment No. 4 be adopted, as now anticipated, a measure determining how a fund shall be provided and how equitably distributed in aid of high schools.

TEACHERS' CERTIFICATION.

The law upon the certification of teachers, as expressed in sections of the Political Code which were more or less amended by the Legislature of 1901, appears to be working satisfactorily. The standard of qualification has by the law been conservatively raised, and while provision still remains for certification without professional training in a teachers' training school, it rightly encourages those who aspire to teach to take the course either in normal schools or in teachers' colleges. The State supports five free normal schools and provides a free teachers' college, the department of education in the State University. I have yet to learn of any hardship to schools or scarcity of teachers resulting from but one instead of two examinations a year for teachers' certificates by County Boards, nor do I think the State or the teaching force has suffered or is likely to suffer from doing away with the primary certificate. The plan of granting high school certificates on credentials only is yet experimental. The provision for meeting special cases by the State Board has given this office greatly increased correspondence, not to mention other extra work and worry. It has added at least twenty per cent more work to this office. When the law has become more generally understood its operation may proceed more smoothly. I am of the opinion that sooner or later it will be necessary to provide in some manner for high school certification by examination, but I am confident that it would be a backward step to return to the old law that vested such examination in all the County Boards. A majority of County Boards do not feel prepared for it and do not desire it. If a specially created high school certificating board, not the State Board, could be provided without costing the State too much I should highly favor it.

STATE EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

In pages which follow will be found reports from County School Superintendents and City Superintendents upon enrollment, attendance, cost of maintenance, teachers, and sundry items regarding primary, grammar, and high schools in the several counties and in the principal cities separately; also reports from the presidents of our five State Normal Schools. These explain themselves. Concerning our State University, I have taken a few excerpts from an article by President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, recently published in one of the State magazines:

In 1892-93 the total number of students in the colleges at Berkeley was 650; this year, a decennium later, it will be about 2,800. The total enrollment of all the schools of the University will approach 4,500. In 1898 the number of "regular" freshmen, i. e., freshmen admitted without conditions, was 333; in 1902 it is 672. The number has doubled in four years.

Statistics gathered by the Harvard Graduates' Magazine and published last autumn showed that the University of California was the most rapidly growing university in the country. As this growth has taken place in the face of steadily increasing rigidity of requirements, and without any stimulus from advertising or solicitation, it must surely be interpreted to represent a tendency of such tremendous power as to promise in the outlook for even the near future the assemblage at Berkeley of the largest body of students in the land. Already the University stands second to Harvard in the enrollment of undergraduate students. * * * Numbers, however, do not make a great university. If the increase of recent years had come about at the expense of the standards of preparation, or if it had involved a decadence in the standard of instruction, it would have meant decay and not growth. * * * Protection must be sought in a rapid enlargement of the teaching force. * * * The selection and maintenance of a faculty is the most serious responsibility resting upon the management of a university. * * *

The development of the modern university is marked by a closer articulation with the needs of actual life. This is effected by the creation of differentiated departments of study corresponding to differentiations and specializations rapidly arising among human activities. * * * During the past two years, and particularly in the past year, in response to the encouragement given by the last Legislature, various departments have been expanded and some new ones created. The work in irrigation, under the charge of Professor Elwood Mead and J. M. Wilson, has been already of significant value to the State. The establishment of a course in dairying, under Professor Leroy Anderson, who has called to his assistance for the instruction given in the "short course" in the subject several trained men from the best dairies of the State, has recognized an industry of great prospective as well as present importance to the State and filled an undoubted lack in our agricultural instruction. The appointment of Dr. A. R. Ward as veterinarian adds to the effectiveness of this department. A dairy barn has been built on the grounds back of the University and is now being equipped with herd, etc. Professor G. W. Shaw, a new appointee of this year, has opened an entirely new line of work in connection with the beet-sugar industry, and for him has been equipped a special laboratory for instruction and research.

Increased appropriations for the Mechanical Engineering Department have made possible an improvement of the work in thermodynamics, both by additional instruction and improved equipment, and by the creation of a subdepartment for hydraulics and hydrodynamics, for which a new laboratory has been equipped.

The addition of Mr. J. H. Dye to the Department of Civil Engineering has made possible a new course of instruction in municipal engineering, highways, pavements, etc.

Instruction in public speaking has been provided through the appointment of Professor J. A. Winans, of Cornell.

The work of the School of Commerce has been greatly strengthened by the creation of a separate Department of Political Economy and Finance and the appointment of Professor A. C. Miller, of Chicago University, as its head.

A new and strong departure has been made in the establishment of a department of university extension, with Professor H. Morse Stephens, formerly of Oxford (England), and late of Cornell, as its director. Centers for this work will be established the first year at seven different places in the State, and the number gradually increased as support and attendance warrant.

The work in English composition has been reorganized, and through the addition to the staff of Professor Wells of Yale new impetus and efficiency brought to it.

The annual appropriation for the purchase of books for the library has been raised through private gifts and provision from the general funds from slightly over $3,000 to about $25,000.

The summer session has been in existence now for three summers, with steadily increasing attendance and usefulness. This year the attendance was about eight hundred and thirty.

Much-needed reinforcement of the teaching force in chemistry, German, Romanic languages, Latin, mathematics, physics, and jurisprudence has been provided.

The scientific work upon which medical study is based has been enormously bettered, to a large extent newly created by the provision of first-rate instruction in pathology and in anatomy and histology, and by the equipment of laboratories in these branches. The laboratories we owe to the generosity of Mrs. Hearst.

Partial provision has also been made for physiology in the setting aside of $5,000 for this subject in this year's budget, and in the gift of Dr. M. Herzstein ($8,000) for the equipment of a laboratory.

I also quote from the same magazine some items of interest concerning the State University in an article contributed by Mr. Victor Henderson, private secretary of President Wheeler:

The University of California, vigorous young giant of the West, has to-day more undergraduates than any other university in the United States, save Harvard alone. It is growing in numbers far more rapidly than any of its compeers. In twelve years its academic attendance has increased more than sixfold.

Tuition is wholly free. Women stand on equal terms with men. The entrance requirements are stringent, the supervision of work exacting, and the standard for graduation so jealously guarded that a degree from California is valued with the best.

The University sprang from the non-sectarian College of California, incorporated in 1855 by a little knot of clergymen and public-spirited citizens, themselves college-bred, and lovers of the best things, who wished to see the old ideals of culture made a guiding force in the development of the new commonwealth. In 1868 the University of California, chartered by the State, took over the lands, the faculty, and the traditions of the College of California. March 23d, the day the charter was signed by Governor Haight, is now an annual university festival. In 1873, during the presidency of Daniel Coit Gilman, now President of the Carnegie Institution, and until recently President of the Johns Hopkins University, the present site in Berkeley was occupied.

From the healthy roots of the old-time classical course of the College of California, the University has towered and branched until to-day it has over two thousand four hundred and seventy graduate and undergraduate students in Berkeley, enrolled in the nine colleges of letters, social sciences, natural sciences, commerce, agriculture, mechanics, mining, civil engineering, chemistry, and seven hundred more in the affiliated colleges, in San Francisco, of law, medicine, dentistry, and pharmacy and the school of art and design. The art school is housed in the Mark Hopkins Institute of Art, presented by Edward F. Searles, and the departments of medicine, dentistry, and pharmacy occupy fine stone buildings recently erected by the State on a commanding location overlooking Golden Gate Park and the ocean. On Mount Hamilton is the Lick Astronomical Department, which, together with the Harvard Observatory, is said by Professor Simon Newcomb almost to have put a new face on astronomical science; and in San Francisco is the well-endowed Wilmerding Trades School, not a part of the University, but a promising ward whose care was intrusted by J. Clute Wilmerding to the Regents.

Berkeley is a reposeful town of fifteen thousand people, full of pleasant gardens and well-grown trees. The town slopes gently back from San Francisco bay for three miles to the base of a range of lofty hills. Westward, Berkeley looks across the wide stretches of the bay, with its rugged islands and encircling rim of blue mountains, past San Francisco and its crowded shipping, and straight on through the Golden Gate out upon the Pacific.

The University domain of two hundred and sixty acres lies under the shadow of Grizzly Peak, the culminating summit of all the country round. Two small water-courses issue from deep, ferny cañons in the hills, and meeting, flow across the University grounds, winding through a noble grove of oaks.

The climate is too good to be true—equable, mild, and fair, tempered with the sea breeze, with just enough of rain and assurance that showers seldom come unawares. Once in many years snow lies for a few hours on the summits of the hills. He who wishes a reminder of Eastern seasons may on any clear winter day climb to Bald Peak, two miles distant from the campus, and look upon the gleaming eastern wall of the great interior valley of California—the snow-covered Sierra, their nearest summits a hundred and fifty miles away.

The buildings are unworthy of the University and of the site, but the architectural movement inaugurated by Mrs. Phœbe A. Hearst will eventually set this right. The principal buildings are South Hall, North Hall, built a quarter of a century ago of native woods; the Bacon Library, overcrowded by its ninety thousand volumes; East Hall, the Students' Observatory, the Philosophy, Botany, Chemistry, Agricultural, Mining and Civil Engineering and Mechanical Engineering buildings; Hearst Hall—a model women's gymnasium, and the Harmon Gymnasium, which is also used as an auditorium, and seats twenty-three hundred people. There are, besides, a conservatory, a viticultural laboratory, seedhouses, shops, an athletic field and cinder path, botanical gardens, an agricultural experiment station, and various other adjuncts. A stone mansion is now in process of erection on the campus as a permanent residence for the President.

There is much good equipment, large laboratories, interesting scientific collections in botany, zoölogy, palæontology, mineralogy, geology, chemistry, ethnology, and agriculture. The system of agricultural experiment stations is important. The library is inadequate, and the growth and usefulness of the museum are seriously hampered by the lack of a proper building. * * *

Internally the University is fortunate and healthy. Its student spirit is most loyal, and in the faculty there is hearty coöperation and faith in the future.

The charter vests the government of the University in a board of twenty-three regents, sixteen appointed in rotation for sixteen years and seven serving ex officio—the Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Speaker of the Assembly, the President of the State Agricultural Society, the President of the Mechanics' Institute, and the President of the University.

The President of the University, Benjamin Ide Wheeler, Ph.D., LL.D., was called to his present position in June, 1899, from Cornell University, where for twelve years he had been professor of Greek and comparative philology. He was professor of Greek in the American School in Athens in 1895-96. As the author of "Analogy and the Scope of Its Application in Language," "The Greek Noun Accent," and many contributions to the literature of linguistics and comparative philology, he enjoys a wide scientific reputation; and as the author of "Alexander the Great," "Dionysos and Immortality," "The Seven Wonders of the World," and of frequent articles in the literary magazines, his work is familiar to the general reader. President Wheeler graduated from Brown in 1875, took his Ph.D. at Heidelberg, Germany, has received the degree of LL.D. from Harvard, Yale, Johns Hopkins, Princeton, and Brown, and is a corresponding member of the Kaiserlich Archæologisches Institut. He has the loyal support and affection of the students, the State has completest confidence in his proved strength, and with all forces combined to aid him he is bringing new vigor and usefulness into the life of the University.

The faculty numbers many scholars of ripe experience, wisdom, and power. * * *

The situation of the University by the Golden Gate, one of the great world highways, brings constantly visitors of importance to its doors. Scholars come frequently from other universities for lecture courses. The summer session of the University has become truly national in scope. The enrollment for the summer session of 1902 exceeded the enrollment for the summer session in that year of any other American university save only of Harvard. The summer faculty consists in large part of scholars of the first rank invited to come to Berkeley for the summer session. The leading American universities are represented. No other American university has developed its summer session in this very unique and significant manner.

During the recent summer session, June 26 to August 6, 1902, instruction was offered in philosophy, education, history, and political science, political economy, Greek, Latin, English, German, French, Spanish, Italian, art, library science, mathematics, physics, chemistry, botany, mineralogy, agriculture, forestry, irrigation and physical culture. * * *

The University is in close touch with the life and needs of the State. Its relation to the high schools and to elementary education is particularly intimate and helpful. The new College of Commerce promises much usefulness. In agriculture the University has performed great services, and its departments of irrigation and of dairy husbandry, just established, and its proposed school of forestry, will respond to vital California needs. The rapid development of American relations with the Orient has brought new opportunities to the University. Many of its alumni have been called to China, Japan, the Philippines, Guam, New Zealand, and the Hawaiian Islands, as teachers, engineers, chemists, and public officials, and this call will grow constantly more imperative. Nine Chinese students are at work in the University as holders of scholarships from the Chinese Government, and a number of Filipinos, Japanese, and Hindus are studying at Berkeley. * * *

The moral tone of the University is high; the standards of its student publications and of its debating excellent; its athletic sentiment clean and honorable; and in the air of the campus breathe freedom, hope, and a love of that higher culture which befits the spot honored and entrusted with Bishop Berkeley's name.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

I am pleased to call attention to the report asked for and received from the authorities of Leland Stanford Junior University, herein published. The friends of public education in California may well feel proud of the great institution at Palo Alto, supported by private means, as well as of the one supported by the State at Berkeley.

ORPHAN SCHOOLS THAT RECEIVE STATE AID.

It is made the duty of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, under the law, to visit orphan schools and asylums that are supported in whole or in part by moneys received from the State. There are at the present time forty institutions in the State that have in charge orphans, half orphans, abandoned children, and foundlings, and which regularly receive money from the State treasury—$75 per annum for every half orphan and $100 for every whole orphan, paid quarterly. The money thus paid out during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, amounted to $360,878.01.

I have during the past two years visited all of these institutions and, so far as time permitted, looked into their management, particularly in reference to the means and attention devoted to the educational training of the children, and I have found few things to criticise or condemn, but much to approve and commend. The visitor to these institutions may observe and learn things that will touch his heart and awaken his tenderest sympathies.

Too much credit can not be given to the kind-hearted, unselfish women and men, most of them women, who are devoting their lives to the care and comfort of the multitudes of children that from various causes have been deprived of one or both parents, or, worse still, in many cases have been abandoned by parents and left as waifs upon the streets. Little girls thus unfortunately left are gathered into these homes, and surrounded by elevating influences are developing into respectable womanhood. Boys which, in some instances if left to the natural tendency of their inherited environment, ignorance and crime, are being saved and taught the way that leads to good citizenship.

The children of some of these orphan homes attend the public school of the district wherein the orphanage is located; of others, from the preference of those in charge, the educational training is given within the institution. Certainly with the chief purpose in view and the ends being so well accomplished, that of saving to the State and to society so large a class of its unfortunate children, no room is left for controversy over the details of method in carrying on the work, and in my judgment the amount of money thus expended by the State is well and profitably invested.

REPORTS FROM CITY SCHOOLS.

In addition to the reports from the various counties which include the cities within their borders, I have, for the purpose of comparison, obtained and herein submit reports from all cities of the State that have a City Superintendent or supervising principal and a Board of Education.

Most respectfully submitted.

THOMAS J. KIRK,
State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

On January 18, 1902, the State Board of Education of the State of California adopted the following Rules and Regulations for its own guidance in the granting of Credentials for High School Certificates, and for the guidance of County, and City and County Boards of Education in granting High School Certificates:

HIGH SCHOOL CERTIFICATES.

On and after the first day of July, 1901, and until further notice, County, or City and County Boards of Education are authorized to grant High School Certificates (according to law as provided in Sections 1521 (2) (a), and 1775 (1) (a) of the Political Code of California), to graduates of the following universities:

University of California.	Leland Stanford Jr. University.
Cornell University.	Brown University.
University of Michigan.	State University of Iowa.
Johns Hopkins University.	Yale University.
University of Wisconsin.	Harvard University.
University of Nebraska.	University of Minnesota.
University of Indiana.	University of Chicago.
University of Illinois.	Clark University.
Columbia University (Teachers' College).

Graduates of the above mentioned colleges may be granted certificates upon presentation of a recommendation from the faculty of any one of these institutions; provided, that such recommendation shall show that the applicant has taken courses in the theory of education, or in the actual practice of teaching, under supervision of the pedagogical faculty, equivalent to twelve hours per week for one half year; provided, that, after July, 1906, at least one third of the prescribed pedagogy shall consist of actual teaching in a well-equipped training school of secondary grade, directed by the department of education.

SPECIAL HIGH SCHOOL CREDENTIALS.

1. Under the provisions of Section 1521 (2) (b), and Section 1775 (1) (a), of the Political Code of the State of California, the State Board of Education may issue special credentials for high school certificates to those who have taught with decided success at least twenty-seven months as regular teachers in schools of the academic grade and character of California high schools. The success of such teachers will be determined by confidential letters and such other reliable information as the Board may be able to obtain.

2. A graduate of a college of recognized high academic standing, who has had pedagogical training equivalent to that prescribed by this Board for graduates of the University of California, and who has taught two years (twenty months) subsequent to graduation, may be granted the special high school credential, upon which a County, or a City and County Board may grant a high school certificate. The success in teaching of those making application for credentials under this provision, will be determined by confidential letters, or by any other reliable information which the Board may be able to obtain.

It will be the policy of this Board to demand high scholarship and marked skill in teaching of all successful applicants for special credentials, whether they be college graduates or not. In order that the Board may be able to satisfy itself thoroughly concerning the fitness of an applicant, ample time will be required for the necessary investigation before final action is taken. No one will be granted the special credential who is diseased, or lacking in normal bodily vigor.

3. In accord with an opinion rendered by the Attorney-General, the State Board of Education will not grant a credential for a teacher's certificate to an applicant who is not a resident of the State of California.

4. Every application for a teacher's credential under the foregoing rules must be accompanied by a reputable physician's certificate, to the effect that the applicant is in sound bodily health. This rule to be in force and effect from and after January 18, 1902.

UNIVERSITY DOCUMENTS.

The following named universities and colleges have been designated as of equal rank with the State University of California; and graduates of the same may, upon recommendation of a County, or City and County Board of Education of California, and by compliance with the rules of the State Board, be granted the University Document as provided in Subdivision 5, Section 1775 of the Political Code:

Leland Stanford Jr. University, California.
 University of Michigan, Ann Harbor, Michigan.
 Cornell University, Ithaca, New York.
 Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut.
 Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts.
 University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois.
 Columbia University (Teachers' College), New York, N. Y.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL CERTIFICATES.

ON NORMAL DIPLOMAS.

In pursuance of the requirements of Section 1775 of the Political Code of the State of California, the State Board of Education, at a meeting held on Saturday, September 14, 1901, recommended the following named Normal Schools as being of equal rank with the State Normal Schools of California, and holders of the highest grade diploma issued by these Normal Schools may be granted the grammar school certificate of California, by County, or City and County Boards of Education, without examination, as provided in the section of the law above referred to:

Arizona State Normal School, Tempe, Arizona.
 Toronto Normal School, Toronto, Canada.
 Colorado State Normal School, Greeley.
 Illinois State Normal Schools:
 Northern State Normal School, De Kalb.
 Illinois State Normal University, Normal.
 Eastern Illinois State Normal School, Charleston.
 Chicago Normal School, Chicago.
 Southern Illinois State Normal School, Carbondale.
 Indiana State Normal School, Terre Haute.

THE LELAND STANFORD JUNIOR UNIVERSITY.

By O. L. ELLIOTT, Registrar.

The Leland Stanford Junior University was founded by the Hon. Leland Stanford and Jane Lathrop Stanford in memory of their only child, who died in 1884, in his sixteenth year. The corner-stone was laid May 14, 1887, and the institution formally opened to students October 1, 1891. The University is located in the Santa Clara Valley, thirty-three miles southeast of San Francisco, on the Coast Line of the Southern Pacific Railway, in one of the most attractive portions of the State. The original endowment consisted of about ninety thousand acres of land situated in the valleys of California. To this was added, by will, on the death of Mr. Stanford, two and a half million dollars. Within the last few years Mrs. Stanford has transferred to the trustees practically the entire proceeds of the Stanford estate and aggregating more than twenty millions of dollars.

ENTRANCE TO QUADRANGLE—STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

The University buildings are unique in construction, consisting of an elaborate and imposing reproduction of the characteristic Mission architecture of California. They are placed in the wide, sloping plain between the Coast Range and the Santa Cruz Mountains, with the bay in front and the foothills immediately in the rear. The central group of buildings constitute two quadrangles, the one entirely surrounding the other. The inner quadrangle consists of twelve one-story buildings and the Memorial Church connected by a continuous open arcade and facing a paved court 586 feet long by 246 feet wide. The buildings are of buff sandstone, rough hewn, and roofed with red tile. The central feature of the outer quadrangle is the Memorial Arch, 100 feet in height, 90 feet wide, and 34 feet deep, surrounded at the top by a sculptured frieze 12 feet in height, designed by Augustus St. Gaudens, and representing the Progress of Civilization in America. The fourteen buildings of the outer quadrangle are also connected by open arcades facing outward. Outside of the quadrangles are various detached buildings connected with the Engineering departments, the chemistry building, the Leland

Stanford Junior museum, containing the extensive art and archæological collections of the University, the two dormitories, Encina Hall, Roble Hall, and the gymnasiums.

QUADRANGLE IN THE RAIN—STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

The crowning architectural feature is the Memorial Church, which stands in the center of the inner quadrangle group. It is of modified Moorish-Romanesque architecture, and in the form of a cross with rounded ends. It is 190 feet in length through vestibule, nave, and apse, and 156 feet in width through transept. The four gables of nave, transept wings, and apse are united by a twelve-sided belfry tower, whose spire rises to a height of 190 feet. The tooled stone of the inside walls is relieved by elaborate carved designs and fifteenth century mosaics of great beauty. Nineteen large stained glass windows of nave, transept, and apse, in a series of beautiful designs, illustrate the life of Christ. The seating capacity is about seventeen hundred.

In organization the institution is "a university for both sexes, with the colleges, schools, seminaries of learning, mechanical institutes, galleries of art, and all other things necessary and appropriate to a university of high degree." It embraces all the departments of art and science usually included in the modern university, together with the semi-professional departments of law and engineering. Admission to the University presupposes a four years' high school course or its equivalent. Instead of prescribing to high schools the studies which must be pursued, the University proposes, in effect, to recognize all high school studies approved by secondary schoolmen, provided they are taken up with sufficient seriousness and thoroughness. English composition alone is prescribed for admission. From a wide range of subjects carefully defined the candidate may offer, at his own option, such subjects as shall aggregate, in amount, the necessary four years' preparation. The elective system is continued in the University, with this restriction, that some one subject or department must be chosen as a major study and pursued throughout the course, the professor in charge of such study acting as the student's educational adviser in all his studies.

The single degree of Bachelor of Arts is given to all graduates.

The advanced degrees of Master of Arts, Engineer, and Doctor of Philosophy are given for resident work only, and under the conditions common to all the best universities.

The Hopkins Seaside Laboratory, at Pacific Grove, the gift of Mr. Timothy Hopkins, a trustee of the University, is an organic part of the University. It holds its sessions during the summer months, and constitutes, for the biological departments, a summer session of the University.

In 1901-02 the instructing body numbered 130 and the students 1,295.

David Starr Jordan (M.S. and LL.D., Cornell) has been President of the University since its organization.

STATE DEAF AND BLIND ASYLUM AT BERKELEY.

The School for the Deaf and the Blind at Berkeley has pursued its beneficent work successfully and prosperously since the date of our last report, though an outbreak of smallpox in the late spring of 1901 caused a loss of nearly six weeks of the academic year. With this exception, according to the report of the Principal, the health of the pupils has been good, and their intellectual progress satisfactory, in spite of inadequate appropriation for support and improvement. The lack of physical apparatus has been severely felt, for the deaf and the blind beyond all other children depend upon such visible and tangible helps in the classroom.

In June, 1901, three of the former deaf pupils of the Institution graduated at Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C.; namely, Miss Frances Norton, Miss Anna Lindstrom, and Mr. W. S. Runde; and on the 29th of July of the same year, Mr. Newell Perry, who is totally blind, took his degree of Doctor of Philosophy, magna cum laude, at Munich, Germany. Mr. Raymond Henderson, also blind, is now in his Junior year at the University of California, in excellent standing. These illustrations indicate the character of the work done at the school in Berkeley.

The attendance for the past two years has been as follows:

For the Academic Year ending June 30, 1901.		For the Academic Year ending June 30, 1902.
Deaf boys.....	99	Deaf boys.....	94
Deaf girls.....	63—162	Deaf girls.....	65—159
Blind boys.....	32	Blind boys.....	42
Blind girls.....	25— 57	Blind girls.....	21— 63
Whole number.....	219	Whole number.....	222

The total cost to the State for the two years ending June 30, 1902, has been for tuition and maintenance, $120,803.82 for 441 pupils, or a per capita of $273.93.

There was no appropriation at the last session of the Legislature for improvements, and what has been done in that direction has been paid for out of the contingent fund.

The epidemic of last year convinced the Directors of the immediate necessity for a segregated hospital as a safeguard against the spread of any contagious disease that might hereafter occur in the Institution. The money was borrowed from certain trust funds of the Institution, and a building has just been completed which will enable the management to remove at once any case of infectious ailment from contact with other pupils. This provision for proper care of the sick will be very reassuring to parents, who may feel that no means are spared looking to the welfare and safety of their children.

On the whole, the people of California are, and have reason to be, proud of their State School for the Deaf and the Blind. Its grounds are beautifully kept; its buildings are admirably arranged for health, safety, and convenience; its site, fronting the Golden Gate, has no superior and few if any equals; while its officers and corps of instructors are experienced and competent. Provision for the mental, moral, and industrial training of the pupils is believed to be unsurpassed by any similar school in the country, and my own observations enable me to cordially commend its work and its management to the confidence and generous support of the Legislature soon to convene.

ASYLUM FOR THE DEAF AND THE BLIND, BERKELEY, ALAMEDA COUNTY.

MANUAL TRAINING.

Report prepared by JAMES E. ADDICOTT, State Normal School, San José.

A history of the movement for manual training as a general school subject dates back to 1893, when the State Teachers' Association at Stockton—for the first time—formally discussed this subject in one of the two sections into which the association had been divided. Prof. George R. Kleeberger presided, while two strong arguments were presented by Charles H. Keyes and James E. Addicott. The fact that there were less than twenty in attendance indicated the general lack of interest in this subject at that time. The discussion which followed was both lifeless and aimless. Even with the assistance of Prof. Larsson, who talked for a full hour before the general association, explaining the value of the sloyd models, there were indefinite plans made and apparently no results.

A year later, at the Santa Cruz meeting in 1894, two able papers on manual training were read before the general association by Prof. Ardley (then of Berkeley) and Walter J. Kenyon (then of Stockton). That year a committee of seven, consisting of Charles H. Keyes, Walter J. Kenyon, Walter W. Bush, James E. Addicott, Prof. Search, Prof. S. T. Black, and Prof. Earl Barnes, was appointed to formulate a report on manual training and submit it to the association at the next meeting. As a result of the work of this committee, four short reports were read in the hearing of the whole association. The readings were followed by a prolonged and heated discussion, which, without doubt, was the most interesting part of the program at the Oakland meeting.

The committee was asked to continue its work for another year. During that year the officers of the association voted the adoption of the round-table plan, which offered the teachers of all subjects an opportunity to meet for discussion. The attendance at the manual training round-table was a surprise to all; there being about three hundred present, who listened with great interest to a program for nearly two hours. Several members of the Council of Education were present and requested, for their meeting in 1897, a special report on definite courses in manual training for all the grades. This report was read by James E. Addicott before the Council of Education in San Francisco, and adopted by them.

Owing to the fluctuating interest of the constantly changing executive committee of the State Teachers' Association, it was found necessary to effect a new organization, to carry on the work independently if necessary. However, since that time, the advice, encouragement, and kindly efforts of the different Presidents of the State Association have assisted greatly in planning exhibits and formulating programs in the interest of manual training. Superintendent McClymonds, Richard D. Faulkner, and President Shumate have all greatly assisted in the putting of this subject before the teachers of the State.

The accompanying schedule is the result of some investigations made by Miss Annie Meachem, a graduate of the San José Normal School. It is incomplete, but the best that could be done with the data received.

The work of Miss Edna A. Rich, of Santa Barbara, deserves special mention. Miss Rich has succeeded in planning and carrying out manual training courses throughout all the grades, from the kindergarten to the high school. Sloyd, cooking, and sewing are the main courses.

The excellent training afforded by the Santa Barbara schools is due to an endowment of Miss Anna S. C. Blake, after whom the schools are named.

It is not the province of this report to include the work of private schools, but the influence of the Normal department of the Throop Polytechnic Institute, under the direction of Prof. Arthur P. Chamberlain, has spread over the whole region round about Los Angeles. This department has made possible the general adoption of the sloyd course throughout the schools in the southern part of the State.

Throop Polytechnic Institute and the San José Normal are the only institutions offering courses which prepare teachers directly for manual training in the grades. The San José Normal School offers courses in mechanical drawing, cardboard, sloyd, symmetry, cardboard mensuration, Larsson's sloyd, joinery, carving, basketry, pyrography, besides the planning of courses in the same for the district and graded schools.

MANUAL TRAINING IN SAN FRANCISCO.

CREE T. WORK, Supervisor.

In August, 1900, bench work in wood was inaugurated in the grammar grades of the San Francisco schools. As yet only the seventh and eighth grade boys have been provided for, but it is hoped that ere long the work will also be put into the lower grades. The girls take sewing and cooking.

To place the manual training work within reach of all pupils, seven laboratories, centrally located with relation to groups of grammar schools, have been equipped, in which the instruction is given by special teachers under the direction of a supervisor.

The equipment consists of individual work benches—the Larsson adjustable No. 6 bench—and individual kits of tools, there being twenty-six benches in most of the laboratories; a good assortment of general wood-working tools; several tiers of lockers for pupils' drawing pads and unfinished work, each tier being divided into individual departments 12 inches wide, 8 inches high, and 18 inches deep; racks for lumber in an adjoining lobby; etc. To this equipment are gradually being added pictures, charts, specimens, special devices and tools, reference books, etc. In the office of the supervisor is a small library of the best literature along manual training lines, both theoretical and practical. Here also are held the fortnightly meetings of the manual training teachers, at which the work is discussed, plans laid out, reports rendered, and criticisms offered.

pupils, each pupil receiving one lesson of an hour and a half per week. The work is based on the Swedish sloyd system, the useful model, rational sequence of exercises, self-help, ownership of the thing produced, etc., being duly observed. Class instruction is given in all cases where this method will economize the time of the class or the energy of the teacher. This is supplemented by individual instruction. Good class discipline is considered essential to the best intellectual discipline. Order in conduct, as well as in the care of tools and materials, is not neglected. The pupil's effort, as well as his product, is considered in determining his standing. Manual training is required work, and enters into the promotion of pupils as do other regular subjects. A system of daily, monthly, and term reports, together with the co-operation of principals and teachers concerned, unifies the work with that of the regular teacher. The models, or projects, made by pupils are so selected, designed, and arranged as to appeal to worthy interests of the workers and to arouse within them wholesome motives. The projects forming the series of work are subject to variation in size, form, sequence, material, etc., as conditions may demand, according to the teacher's judgment. Pupils are allowed to choose between projects which offer similar problems or operations. Effort is made to improve all opportunities for instruction in esthetics as well as in the principles of construction. Originality and invention are encouraged. Supplementary work is provided for pupils who work rapidly or who have especially strong talent along this line. Working drawings with pencil and simple instruments are made by copying, from rapid sketches of the object, from dictation, and directly from the object. In certain cases pupils work directly from blue prints. Talks on materials, tools, processes, etc., and demonstrations are given as incidental to the work. Specimens, devices, and blackboard sketches are freely used to give increased interest and clearness. Effort is made to point out the relation of facts and principles met with in the work to other lines of study in which pupils are interested. Practical correlation of manual training with other subjects of the curriculum is highly valued. Class drills, as in drawing, care of equipment, rapidity in certain exercises, are sometimes given. The question method is characteristic of the class discussions. The coöperative spirit in its proper relation to the individual is encouraged by allowing pupils to use materials prepared by others, to assist one another on special occasions under the instructor's supervision, to combine their efforts in producing class pieces, etc.

The manual training has been very favorably received in San Francisco, and encouraging testimonials of appreciation are frequently offered by pupils, parents, principals, and teachers. The leading educators of San Francisco, like those of the State and the entire United States, are a unit in their approval of manual training as essential to the best intellectual development and the best preparation for social living, and as worthy of recognition in the curriculum of the public schools. Along with the sifting out of non-essential features of the old curriculum has come the sifting in of manual training, which will aid materially in making the new curriculum effective in accomplishing the ends of education.

* Every other day.

From all over the State come the good tidings of an ever increasing interest in this great manual training movement. California may now boast of a dozen cities offering courses in manual training, besides scores of well-trained specialists who are actively engaged in carrying on the work in our universities, normal schools, primary schools, and kindergartens.

The coöperation of leading sociologists, psychologists, and journalists is greatly influencing public opinion on this question. There is a general feeling developing that we are entering upon a new era of educational life, when the hand and the heart shall receive an equal share of attention and training with the head.

Traditional methods have handed down to us the thought that academic culture is the highest aim of the scholar. How different the progressive spirit of President Eliot's words: "It is power, not knowledge, we want!" The same thought is expressed more definitely by James P. Haney: "The end of education is to develop power—power to receive, to think, to execute, to originate. Power is gotten from exercise, not from directions. Knowledge alone is not power; to be potent it must be power in use."

Among the resolutions adopted by the National Educational Association at Charleston last July may be found the following statement, which clearly indicates the attitude of the leading educators of America toward the progressive spirit of the manual training movement: "National prosperity and our own economic welfare in the years to come will depend in no small measure upon the trained skill of our people."

There are books by the dozen, magazines and journals by the hundred, and newspapers everywhere, advocating educational changes. There is a demand for an education that will teach men how to live as well as how to talk; how to work as well as how to think; how to be as well as how to appear.

We note with sincerest pleasure the marvelous advancement, during the two past years, of the manual training idea in the minds of prominent educators and teachers in general, who are now quite generally possessed of the real significance of manual training. They see in it a feasible plan at least for the realization of the ideals of what has been termed the new education; for it affords new life, intense interest, personal experience, and greatest of all, self-activity.

The characteristic earnestness and sincerity which have accompanied the good work in the past are manifested in a greater degree at present; and it may safely be predicted that the manual training movement on this Coast will soon be a deeply rooted essential part of our public school course.

THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

BRIEF HISTORY OF STATE NORMAL SCHOOL AT CHICO.

By C. C. VAN LIEW.

The California State Normal School at Chico was established by an Act of the Legislature in 1887. Before the location was decided upon, a committee was sent north to visit the various places competing for the school. Marysville, Red Bluff, and Chico were regarded as the three most desirable spots for its location. Chico seemed to be most centrally located and to possess the most attractive and healthful surroundings. These advantages, combined with the gifts of its citizens, secured the location of the school at Chico.

General John Bidwell gave the State eight acres of his best land, immediately adjoining the city of Chico, for the site, and the citizens gave $10,000 to be applied toward the building fund.

The first Board of Trustees was composed of Governor R. W. Waterman, Superintendent of Public Instruction Ira G. Hoitt, John Bidwell, F. C. Lusk (president), T. P. Hendricks, A. H. Crew, and L. H. McIntosh. As soon as possible after the organization of the board, work was begun on the building. Though not completed, work was sufficiently advanced by September, 1889, to permit the opening of the school. The board had selected as president of the school E. T. Pierce, at that time Superintendent of Schools at Pasadena, California. Other members of the first faculty were M. L. Seymour, professor of natural sciences; Carlton M. Ritter, professor of mathematics; Emily Rice, preceptress and instructor in English; and E. A. Garlichs, instructor in music.

At the opening of the school there were eighty students. The course at that time required but three years. Only two classes were formed, one beginning the work of the junior year and the other beginning the work of the second or middle year. At the end of the first year one hundred and ten students had been enrolled.

The second year the faculty was increased to nine members, and courses in drawing, physical geography, and history were added. A training school was also established, for a time under the supervision of Washington Wilson. The Legislature of 1889 appropriated $25,000 to finish the building (making a total, both by subscription and appropriation, of $130,000 for the original construction and equipment), and a liberal sum was allowed to equip the library, science department, and museum.

During the thirteen years of its activity the faculty of this Normal School has increased from five to twenty-one. At present (June, 1902), the work is organized in eight different departments, as follows: (1) Psychology, Pedagogy, and Education, including Kindergarten; (2) English; (3) Mathematics; (4) Physical Science; (5) Biological Science; (6) History and Political Science; (7) Art and Handicraft; (8) Music.

The total enrollment for each year since the opening is:

1889-90.....110	1893-94.... 218	1896-97....160	1899-00....377
1890-91.....137	1894-95....232	1897-98....255	1900-01....344
1891-92.....175	1895-96....216	1898-99....327	1901-02....369

The number of graduates to July, 1902, is 457.

During the past three years (1899-1902) the Training School has had an attendance of from 250 to 275. Four years ago a kindergarten was established in connection with the institution. Eight students have elected this course in addition to the regular normal course, and two have received kindergarten diplomas. The work of this department has steadily increased in popularity, and it is regarded not only as a department by itself, but also as an organic factor in the life of the whole school.

The institution has had four presidents: Edward T. Pierce, four years; Robert F. Pennell, four years; Carlton M. Ritter, two years; and Charles C. Van Liew, who has just completed his third year.

The museum of this school is of unusual interest and merit. Most of its specimens have been prepared by students; many others have been donated. Under the supervision of Professor M. L. Seymour, who was for twelve years connected with the school, it reached a development and excellency rarely found in an institution of this size.

The grounds belonging to the institution are among the most attractive properties of the State. They contain a large athletic campus, and tennis and basket-ball courts.

While the work at present requires considerable attention to the general academic equipment of its students, they are yet from the first brought to feel that all work is in the direction of the profession of a teacher. As will be seen from the catalogue of 1902, the instruction in general culture lines is shaped with a view to the needs of the teacher, who stands in the position not only of the trainer of childhood and youth, but also of an interpreter of life's best. It makes more and more in the direction of professional training, which culminates finally in the practice work of the Training School. From the beginning and throughout the course the effort is made to eliminate all candidates for future graduation who give no promise of a fair natural fitness for the function of the teacher.

BRIEF HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL AT LOS ANGELES.

By MELVILLE DOZIER.

The doors of this institution were opened for the first time on August 29, 1882, with a faculty of three teachers and a student body of sixty-one. From this small beginning it has, by steady growth, become a school of twenty-five teachers and between four hundred and five hundred students.

The buildings are located upon an eminence in the heart of the city, commanding a charming view of both city and country, which was originally an orange grove, and donated to the State by the citizens of Los Angeles for normal school purposes.

The twenty years that have elapsed since the establishment of the school have witnessed a transformation in the grounds and buildings no less striking than in the numerical strength of its faculty and student body. Instead of a bare orange orchard, approached by plank walks over steep grades, the grounds are adorned with lawns and flowers and a variety of trees, with the addition of a botanical garden and a tennis court, all conveniently reached by graceful walks of cement or gravel; while the buildings have grown from a single structure of limited capacity to a greatly enlarged main building, connected by a capacious hallway with a large three-story building, containing gymnasium, manual training, domestic science, and training school departments. Besides these there is a separate but smaller building devoted to the uses of a chemical laboratory on one floor and of a carpenter shop on the other, while still another structure serves the double purpose of playground in wet weather and manual training in the open air.

The growth and development of the school, both in its outward appointments and in its internal equipment, have kept pace with the marvelous development of the city and vicinity in which it is situated, and its management has been of the most enlightened and progressive character. Probably nowhere in the entire country have the interests and demands of education made such prodigious strides as in Southern California during the last twenty years; and the Normal School at Los Angeles has not only kept abreast of the tide of development, but has, in many respects, led the van of the forward movement. In its earlier history, with a limited faculty, the work done had to be more largely academic than professional, and the attention of the individual teachers given to a wider scope of subjects; but, notwithstanding this limitation, the work was so effectively done that many of the early graduates of the school are still to be found among the leading teachers of that portion of the State, and have remained continuously in the profession. In later years, with greatly increased teaching force and facilities of operation, the work has been largely specialized, the various departments exercising a degree of independence consistent with united effort in the attainment of a single aim: the most comprehensive and thorough preparation of the student for the work of teaching.

The history of the school divides itself into two nearly equal periods, the first extending from 1882 to 1893, and the second from 1893 to 1902.

During all but the first year of the former period the work of the school was subject to the guiding hand of Principal Ira More, a man who by nature, education, and experience was admirably adapted to the difficult task of building up a new institution upon correct and enduring principles; and well did he accomplish his task. With a genial disposition and a kindly heart he united a wise foresight and a determined will; and, through quiet and unostentatious methods, so directed the affairs of the school as to secure the highest results with the limited means at his command. When he voluntarily retired from this the crowning feature of his life-long work as a teacher, he left a well-established institution of high repute as a testimonial of his faithful service to the State, and a still more enduring monument to the sacredness of his memory in the grateful hearts of hundreds of teachers who had received inspiration and encouragement from contact with his teaching and character.

With the retirement of Professor More and the appointment of President Edward T. Pierce as his successor, came a marked change in the conditions of the school. An appropriation of $75,000 for new buildings and equipment becoming then available, the new head of the institution found himself confronted with large opportunities and great responsibilities; and with much zeal and business tact he met the exigencies of the occasion. The enlargement of the building gave opportunity for the division of the work of instruction into departments and the addition of departments of work not before attempted. Laboratories were equipped for the study of physics, chemistry, botany, and zoölogy; a department of manual training was organized and equipped; the library was greatly enlarged and systematized; the department of drawing was placed upon a new and much broader basis, and the facilities for effective instruction in geography were enlarged. The first training school for kindergarten teachers under the auspices of the State was established and placed on a broader basis than any similar school on the Coast. An increase in the accommodations for the Training School, and a corresponding increase in its numbers, added to the opportunities for practical professional work on the part of the higher classes, and made it both necessary and possible to organize a pedagogical department on specific and permanent lines. All this involved a decided increase in the teaching force of the institution, the employment of teachers specially equipped for the work assigned them, and a corresponding increase in the legislative appropriations to meet the rapidly growing needs of the school. But all who were concerned in meeting the new conditions were responsive to the added responsibility, and the progress and success of the school have been uninterrupted to the present date.

The expenditure of $20,000 during the past year in still further enlargement has made it possible to increase the facilities for instruction in manual training, to enlarge the accommodations of the Training School, and to organize and thoroughly equip a department of domestic science, where cooking and sewing are taught as essential parts of the Normal course. This has also made it possible to furnish teachers and pupils hot lunches at minimum cost, without expense to the State; and it is confidently believed that this new departure will materially aid the social and physical well-being of the school.

The marked success and progress of the school are largely due to the enlightened and liberal policy pursued by its Board of Trustees, which has ever been composed of men of intelligence and honesty, directing the investment of State appropriations to the highest interests of both the State and the immediate beneficiaries.

The spirit of the institution is excellent; its faculty is competent, industrious, and harmonious; much thought is given to the cultivation of good taste and to the inculcation and practice of the refinements of life; and, upon the whole, the school seems to be meeting the high responsibilities which attach to a State Normal School.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL OF SAN DIEGO.

By SAMUEL T. BLACK, President.

The Act creating the State Normal School of San Diego and appropriating $50,000 for building and maintenance was signed by Governor Budd on March 13, 1897, who appointed W. R. Guy, Victor E. Shaw, T. O. Toland, J. L. Dryden, and John G. North as the first Board of Trustees. The first meeting of the board was held at San Diego, June 3, 1897. W. R. Guy was elected chairman and J. L. Dryden secretary. The board visited the various sites offered, and, "after a full and free discussion," accepted the offer of the College Hill Land Association, tendering sixteen and a half acres of land on University Heights, City of San Diego. After the approval of the deed by the Attorney-General, the board advertised for plans of a Normal School building, costing not to exceed $100,000. The plans of Messrs. Hebbard & Gill, of San Diego, were accepted; and in due time contracts were let for the erection of the central portion of the building.

The actual work of constructing buildings began in August, 1898. The plans contemplate a spacious central building, with wings on the east and west, an imitation in miniature of the art building of the World's Fair, Chicago. The style of architecture, arrangement, and material of the buildings are peculiarly adapted to the climate of this region. The predominate principle of architecture is Corinthian Greek, modified by the Oriental dome. The central building and east wing have been completed. The walls are white, being brick covered on the exterior with stucco. The whole effect is beautiful and imposing. The interior is conveniently arranged for offices, assembly and study rooms, library, recitation rooms, and laboratories. Special attention has been given to the sanitary features, heating, lighting, drainage, etc. The State Board of Health has pronounced the sanitary conditions unequaled by those of any other public building in the State. Additional room is needed for a museum, a kindergarten department, the art department, a chemical laboratory, and a lecture room. The drawing and chemistry are now housed in a detached temporary wooden structure. The library contains over 3,000 carefully-selected books, including a valuable list of general reference works. The laboratories are equipped with the latest and most approved apparatus.

ORGANIZATION.

Samuel T. Black, Superintendent of Public Instruction, was elected President of the School by the Joint Board of Normal School Trustees, at a special meeting held at Sacramento on September 14, 1898. Mr. Black resigned his office immediately to assume his new duties.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held October 27, 1898, the following teachers were selected:

Jesse D. Burks (Ph.B. University of Chicago, and B.L. University of California), Registrar.

Emma F. Way, (Principal Southwest Institute, San Diego), Pre-ceptress.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, SAN DIEGO.

Alice Edwards Pratt (Ph.B. University of California, and Ph.D. University of Chicago).

Arthur W. Greeley (A.M. Stanford University).

Florence Derby (graduate State Normal School, San José, Cal.).
Teacher of Music.

Sallie S. Crocker (graduate of a school of art, Paris), Teacher of Drawing.

At the opening of the school, it was found necessary to elect another teacher, and Miss Helen Ballard (Ph.B. of the University of California) was chosen.

The school opened in temporary quarters, corner Sixth and F streets, San Diego, November 1st, with an enrollment of ninety-one, eighty-three of whom were present. Nearly eighty per cent of these students were admitted to advanced standing on account of previous preparation in high schools, normal schools, and colleges.

The corner-stone of the new building was laid in the presence of a large concourse of people, on December 10, 1898, with appropriate ceremonies.

A new class was admitted February 1, 1899, and Mr. C. T. Meredith was added to the faculty.

DEDICATION.

On May 1, 1899, the new Normal School building was publicly dedicated, when an interesting program was presented. The occasion brought together over one thousand people from San Diego and neighboring counties. The address of the day was delivered by President Pierce, of the State Normal School, Los Angeles. The public were invited to inspect the building, and hundreds took advantage of the invitation—all of whom expressed delight at its graceful proportions and economical arrangement. The students, decorated in the school colors, white and gold, made an interesting picture, and their songs delighted the audience. Mrs. Susie S. Fox, of San Diego, presented the school with a complete set of Harper's Magazine. The gift was accompanied by the following communication:

345 TENTH STREET, SAN DIEGO, CAL.

Mr. President and Board of Trustees of the State Normal School of San Diego:

GENTLEMEN: With great pleasure I present to this school to-day, forty-seven years of Harper's Magazine. I wish, however, to present them as a legacy to the San Diego State Normal School from my late husband, Charles J. Fox, C.E., whose memory I wish the school to honor.

Respectfully,

SUSIE S. FOX.

April 29, 1899.

ENROLLMENT.

During the first year the enrollment reached one hundred and thirty-five. The second year showed an enrollment of two hundred and eighteen. In the third year (ending June 30, 1901) the number of students increased to two hundred and sixty-two. The enrollment at this date, March 3, 1902, is two hundred and sixty-two. The school has graduated sixty-three students to date. Six of these are teachers in the Philippines, five in the city of San Diego, three in the city of Los Angeles, one in Santa Barbara city, while such of the remainder as desired positions are teaching in the rural schools of this or other States. Two graduates are pursuing higher courses in universities, one is a Y. M. C. A. secretary, and two are married.

The number of graduates at the close of the year will be in the neighborhood of forty, making a total of upward of fifty for the entire academic year.

GOVERNMENT.

Almost ever since the educational work of the school began, the institution has been under the general control of the present Board of Trustees, viz.: Henry T. Gage, Governor, ex officio; Hon. Thomas J. Kirk, Superintendent of Public Instruction, ex officio; W. R. Guy, R. M. Powers, George Fuller, San Diego; Z. B. West, Santa Ana; and Isidore B. Dockweiler, Los Angeles. The officers of the board are George Fuller, chairman; Fred W. Parrish, secretary.

These gentlemen have given their time and attention to the interests of the Normal School without remuneration of any kind. Together with the president, the board, from the very outset, established this basic principle: that in all cases the only qualifications to be considered in the selection of instructors should be personal character, scholarship, and teaching ability. This policy has been strictly adhered to, and, as a consequence, the management has been singularly free from personal or political influence of all kinds. As a result, the standard of professional ethics and scholarly ability in the faculty has been maintained on a high plane.

The present faculty consists of:

SAMUEL T. BLACK (Pupil Teachers' Course in British Schools), President	School Administration

TEACHERS.

It has been the policy of the school to encourage teachers to attend the regular sessions, and to take such special courses as they might deem most advantageous to them in their school work. Each year a number of certificated teachers spend their holiday and spring vacations in the school, pursuing one to four studies. Many of these teachers afterward take up the regular course leading to graduation.

BOATING.

Almost immediately upon the opening of the school, in November, 1898, steps were taken for the organization of a Normal School Rowing Association among the students and faculty. The association owns a splendid eight-oared barge, and each afternoon some one or other of the half-dozen crews of young women spends a delightful hour on the beautiful bay of San Diego.

In addition to boating, there are facilities for tennis, basket-ball, baseball, and other outdoor games.

IDEALS OF THE SCHOOL.

The school stands for professional training with scholarship. It believes that scholarship is fundamental to all good teaching. It insists upon thorough academic preparation, either in the institution itself, or in reputable schools elsewhere. Then follows purely professional training, including courses in psychology, history of education, methods of teaching, seminars based upon actual observation and experience, crowned by at least three hundred hours' actual practice in teaching in the Training School under the supervision of expert teachers. Last of all, the school stands for high character, personal integrity, professional enthusiasm, and the divine gift of service to mankind, on the part of both instructors and students. To develop these qualities in the students who pass out from the institution into the ranks of the teachers of the State is the highest aim of the State Normal School of San Diego.

TRAINING SCHOOL.

The Training School, with an enrollment of one hundred and three, consists of nine grades, of not to exceed twelve members each, viz.: the regular eight public school grades, and a ninth or connecting grade for those pupils of the Training School who contemplate entering the Normal School, or the tenth year of a high school, after the completion of the Training School course.

All teaching in the training school is under the close supervision of a number of expert training teachers and members of the Normal School faculty. The teaching consists of individual, group, and class teaching. Individuals, or small groups, who on account of some defect, weakness, or peculiar condition, need special attention, are given individual or group attention, while they are, at the same time, carrying the work with the regular class or grade. In short, while class work is the form that the greater part of the work assumes, the needs of each individual child are closely studied, and the best means possible are employed to meet those needs. The development and growth of the child, and the condition of the sense organs, especially the eye and the ear, are closely watched.

Principles of school hygiene as to seating, lighting, ventilation, the hygiene of the school subjects, etc., receive concrete application. Each student who instructs in the Training School is required to prepare and submit plans of the series of lessons and of each separate lesson, in advance of teaching. The Training School serves a threefold function in its relation to the Normal School, viz.:

First—Offering an opportunity for training and practice to students who have reached their senior year and who are soon to go as teachers into the schools of the State. The student is brought face to face with the every-day problems of actual teaching, and in their solution develops the spirit of independence and adaptability.

Second—In this school are tested the thoughts and teachings of the various departments of the Normal School. By this means, among others, the work of the Normal School proper is constantly kept within the range of practicability and applicability.

Third—The Normal School stands for advanced thought in education. In the Training School this thought takes concrete form. There, investigation and research are continually carried on with a view to improvement and advance in school work.

THE PLAN OF PREPARING TEACHERS IN THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL AT SAN FRANCISCO.

By FREDERIC BURK, President.

The State Normal School at San Francisco was established by Act of Legislature on March 22, 1899.

In the matter of administration of the affairs of this school, the appointment of its faculty, and its internal management, the Board of Trustees, in June, 1901, after two years' experience, reduced to written form its policy in the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, State Normal Schools are supported and should be conducted for the sole purpose of supplying public schools with teachers of the highest efficiency;

AND WHEREAS, The Trustees of the San Francisco State Normal School desire that the school shall be so conducted that a certificate of graduation therefrom shall be esteemed an honorable distinction by the holder thereof, as being a certain guarantee of thorough training and proficiency as a teacher, and so recognized by school officials;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED,

First—That it is the determined policy of this Board that the faculty shall be selected, as heretofore, upon a basis of merit alone, wholly uninfluenced by personal or political interference or consideration, and the Trustees therefore require that all applications for positions in the faculty be first submitted to the President of the School, who will nominate to the Board those whom he may deem most competent and meritorious.

Second—That the President shall continue to maintain the present high standard of admission to the school, and his judgment and decision in individual cases shall be final; and where, after a fair trial, it shall appear to him that a student shows an incapacity to become a thoroughly efficient teacher, it shall be his duty to discourage the student from further attendance at the school.

Third—That the President shall certify to the Trustees for graduation only those students who can be confidently and honestly recommended to School Trustees, Superintendents, and Boards of Education, as teachers of undoubted capability.

LIMITATION OF THE PURPOSE OF THE SCHOOL.

General or Academic Scholarship vs. Technical Instruction.—The faculty determined, in the first place, that the school should give no courses in general scholarship, to do which is already the function of the public school system, but should direct its energy exclusively into the channels of technical preparation for teaching. A normal school is a technical school, ranking in character with schools of medicine, engineering, law, and trade-learning. The public school system is expected to provide pupils with that kind of general knowledge, culture, and training which concerns life common to all people, whatever their occupations may be. The technical school obtains students after this general education and training are accomplished, and its only concern should be to determine the stage of academic instruction at which students may be recruited into its special service; or, in short, to set a standard of academic knowledge requisite for admission.

The San Francisco Normal School is located in the midst of a large number of the best high schools in the United States, and therefore the requirements for admission were made identical with those for admission to the State University. These requirements demand graduation from an accredited school with a special recommendation from the high school principal. Thus the San Francisco Normal School stands for a sharp distinction between general or academic scholarship and the technical or professional training special to teachers. No courses whatever are given in purely academic studies, and the school centers its energies exclusively upon professional training, in which term are included studies in the grouping and adaptation of the material of the various subjects to the special uses of the class-room.

THE THREE FUNCTIONS OF NORMAL SCHOOLS.

The history of education, common experience, and the judgment of expert schoolmen are in tolerable agreement that the three chief essentials of efficiency in teaching are:

A teaching personality,
General scholarship and culture,
Ability in the arts of teaching.

These essentials are not stated in any order of relative importance. It is impossible to do this, for each has a distinct function; and to fulfill this function each is indispensable. The error preëminent in the preparation of teachers has been that loose kind of thinking which has assumed that one of these essentials, in high degree, can serve as a substitute for either or both the others. It is manifest without argument that each of these qualifications in itself is, to a certain degree, an indispensable requisite.

1. The Selection of Personality.—Personality is much more readily recognized than defined in words. Perhaps, in a general way, we may say that the suitable teaching personality usually includes a warmth of sympathy for children, a certain simplicity of character and manner of thought, a kind of earnestness, gentleness with a reserve of firmness, patience, cheeriness, and often qualities of tone of voice, gesture, movements, carriage, facial expression, and mannerisms of address. It is a conditio sine qua non. The striking feature of personality is the fact that it is inborn and can not be acquired. No system of instruction nor training can furnish it to those who lack it. All that we may acquire of personality we may best class under arts of teaching.

In the mere statement of what personality is, therefore, the normal school, which undertakes to fit persons for the occupation of teaching, is confronted by a perpendicular difficulty. Here is something which is one indispensable essential of efficiency in teaching, and yet it is something which no system of instruction can supply. Scholarship and the arts of teaching are essentials which can be taught, but personality, also an absolute essential, is not a product of acquirement.

It is a most singular fact that in the entire history of the development of the normal school idea, we do not find provision which in any systematic way deals with this vital fact, yet it conditions success at the outset. Manifestly by the very nature of personality there is only one possible system of dealing with it—persons who are essentially lacking in those inborn qualities which make personality must be eliminated from the normal schools, if the normal school is to graduate efficient teachers. But not only has there been no practical system of elimination in operation, but even the theoretical admission of the importance of personality has never been prominent in normal school pedagogy. Students have been admitted to the normal school upon examinations testing scholarship; they have made their successive steps of progress by virtue of the same test, and finally have been graduated upon a basis of examination showing merely ability to acquire verbal knowledge. If the system of preparing teachers neglects the consideration of personality as an essential factor, it is not surprising that so large a percentage of normal graduates and also university graduates, who have stood the highest tests of examinations upon paper, fail as teachers. They fail because they have not the inborn birthright to teach.

In view of these facts, the San Francisco Normal School has felt itself called upon to meet this problem of selecting the personality of those whom it undertakes to graduate as teachers, as a duty which permits no compromise. It is a duty which the school owes, not only to the State and the public school system, but also to its students as individuals. If a student is handicapped by inborn qualities unfitting her to realize reasonable ambitions in the field of teaching, then it is clearly a service to such student to discover this fact as early as possible that she may seek some other and more suitable calling. The members of the faculty recognize that in undertaking to select teaching personalities, they are assuming an exceedingly grave and difficult responsibility. Judgment at best is liable to err, either favorably or unfavorably. However, in practice, a just and simple process of elimination has made the task much easier than it seems. The system of the San Francisco Normal School requires that the new students should immediately enter the training school for one third of each day, as assistant teachers, and their duties gradually increase until they have complete charge. Their actual teaching extends over the whole period of their normal school course of two years or more. They are thus early brought into contact with children and with the working atmosphere of the classroom. They are under constant but sympathetic observation of the members of the normal school faculty. After a time, sometimes in ten weeks, and generally in six months, the faculty having compared impressions render a joint judgment of the personality of each student, as well as of the scholarship and ability to acquire the arts of instruction. This judgment is frankly stated to the student. It is a distinct understanding that the judgment upon personality is merely advisory in force; the faculty does not undertake the grave responsibility of dismissal, except in extreme cases. The student is permitted to continue in attendance, if she chooses, but on the other hand, it is of course understood that no certificate of graduation will be issued until the faculty feels prepared to assume the responsibility for the success of the person concerned as a teacher.

The practical working-out of this system justifies it. The records show that about twenty per cent of the students who enter the Normal School later drop out by reason of these judgments of unsuitable personality. All unfavorable judgments of the faculty stated to students have been practically unanimous. On the other hand, the students concerned are themselves almost as quick and ready to realize that they have mistaken their calling as the members of the faculty, and they have certainly, almost without exception, shown an admirable spirit in the matter. No student has thus far been formally dismissed, because this step has not yet proven necessary.

2. The Arts of Teaching.—First, what are these arts which the normal school may legitimately profess to furnish, provided the essentials of inborn personality exist in the student? Examples of a few may easily be mentioned: Methods of teaching the first steps of reading to beginners; the use of correct language forms in speech and composition; the ability to manipulate figures in the common operations with accuracy and rapidity and with the least expenditure of time; methods of presenting geographical and historical facts and science so that, with the least expenditure of the pupil's time, the essential elements of knowledge contained in them may serve the later practical purposes of intelligent citizenship; devices of management of groups of pupils in classes, etc. The schools are suffering at present no more keenly from any defect than from the lack, or careless administration, of many of these teaching arts. There are many methods of this character in use of widely varying efficiency, even in teachers of the same favorable conditions of personality.

3. Teaching the Arts of Instruction.—Two systems have been offered in history for the preparation of teachers for their duties: Instruction in the theory of education (under which term we may include psychology, pedagogy, the history of education, and all other knowledge technical to teaching), and actual practice in a training school.

It is a singular fact that so large a number of intelligent persons, and intelligent institutions for training teachers, have regarded these two methods as alternatives for each other, and assume that each can, more or less perfectly, serve as a substitute for the other. Each has its special pleaders, and in these disputes the question to be settled seems ever to be which is the better of the two. It does not seem to occur to either side of the controversy that theory and practice have separate and distinct functions. Practice forms habits of teaching, and no amount of theoretic pedagogy can establish these habits, just as it is impossible for any amount of theoretical physics concerning the principles of equilibrium to teach a person to ride a bicycle. On the other hand, the most skillful bicycle-riders have never developed the principles of equilibrium. The theory of equilibrium and the habit of bicycle-riding are separate and distinct. The same relation, or rather lack of relation, unquestionably exists between practice and theoretic pedagogy. There are excellent teachers in practice who know no theory, and there are excellent theorists who can not teach. We meet both classes every day, and each is entitled to our respect. Practice enables one to go into a schoolroom and conduct a class. Pedagogy furnishes a perspective of intelligence, which enables the teacher to know the ultimate purposes of her teaching, and to explain the goals of her practice. But practice and pedagogical knowledge are in no sense interchangeable, but are complementary to each other, and every teacher should receive training in both.

Training School Teaching: Actual teaching is supplied in the San Francisco Normal School by a training school of about 275 pupils, distributed into eighteen or twenty separate classes representing the eight grades of the primary and grammar schools. The number in each class varies from ten to twenty or even twenty-five pupils. The Training School is entirely under the direction of the Normal School. Inasmuch as there are practically no academic courses in the normal department, all of the members of the faculty are essentially what is generally known as "critic" teachers in the Training School, but this term is not used. "Supervisor" is preferred, as being free from the unpleasant suggestions of the word "critic." Each supervisor has a certain number of classes, and the teachers thereof, under his or her direct supervision. The principal of the Training School is responsible for the discipline of the classes, and also trains the student-teachers in such arts of discipline as may be acquired. The Training School has three changes of student-teachers each day. One section of student-teachers, known as the A section, teaches the classes under direction of supervisors from 9 to 10:30; the B section has charge from 10:30 to 12; and the C section in the afternoon period. Every student of the Normal School, from the day of her admission to the day of her graduation, teaches or assists in teaching a class every day during one of the periods stated. The remainder of her time is devoted to preparing lessons for her class, in grade conferences (which will be later explained), in attendance upon classes in the theory of education, and in training in special adaptation of material for teaching, such as elementary science for the schools, drawing, music, manual training, sewing, etc.

The duties of supervisor require a tactful management, to the end that both pupils and the student-teachers themselves shall keenly feel that the student-teachers are in completely responsible charge of the rooms. The supervisors give model lessons in the classrooms, observe the work of the student-teachers and also the progress of individual pupils, but all direction of the student-teachers is done behind the scenes by personal advice, and by the system of teachers' conferences. The advantage of this arrangement is that every student obtains practice in teaching under skilled direction covering the period of her entire Normal School course, the minimum length of which is two years; the class work for which she has daily to prepare is limited in amount to that which she can thoroughly do well, and increases with her power as she obtains this by growth of experience; the pupils have three times a day a new personality in their teachers, who come freshly and thoroughly prepared to make the most of each lesson for the limited period she is with them; the student-teachers and pupils are under the constant supervision of the supervisors, who practically, without exception, are persons of university training, broad pedagogical knowledge, and experience of years' standing in the public schools.

To each class of pupils, two student-teachers at a time are assigned, but the amount of teaching each may do varies. Upon entrance to the school, the new student is assigned as an assistant to a student-teacher of experience. The assistant at first does not have responsible charge of the class, but assists in various ways until she catches the spirit of the schoolroom. Then gradually she is given additional duties and is intrusted with responsibility. No period is fixed when an assistant is given responsible charge of a class. A very few, of singular capability, have reached this stage in ten weeks, but more often in thirty weeks, while a few have remained in the school nearly two years and have finally left without rising above the stage of assistant.

Every ten weeks each student who has done acceptable work in her class is changed to another section and grade. For example, a student who successfully conducts a class in reading in the first grade, will be changed to some other grade and subject for a period of a second ten weeks. As there are forty weeks in a year and the minimum experience for graduation is two years, there is opportunity for eight changes of grade and subject during the course. This enables every graduate to have experience of ten weeks in practically every one of the eight grades, and necessarily all of the following fifteen subjects: Primary Grades: reading, language, phonic reading, nature study, composition, primary arithmetic, primary map geography; Grammar Grades: arithmetic, commercial geography, physical geography, history, grammar, composition, literature, drawing, and music.

The Conference System: Corresponding in number of lessons which each student-teacher teaches in the Training School, the supervisor of each subject conducts what are termed "conferences" of these student-teachers. Thus, for example, as the student-teachers of primary arithmetic teach five periods per week, there are also five conferences of these teachers per week under direction of the supervisor of this subject. So also in all subjects there are as many conference gatherings under direction of the respective supervisors as there are class recitations in the Training School. The conferences of a given group of students upon a given subject continue as long as they teach this subject, i. e. ten weeks. The character of the conference work is of the same general type as that of well-conducted grade meetings of teachers in the public schools. The supervisor assigns, for study and reports, references to pedagogical theory, methodology, and courses of study in the public school bearing upon the subject under treatment. Free discussions of these ensue. The supervisor exacts, in advance, plans of the recitations the students propose to conduct, and these are offered as material for discussion in the conferences. The supervisor also takes opportunity in these conferences to regulate the course of study in the Training School, to submit various good methods the pedagogical basis of which is discussed, to correct daily errors, etc. These general conferences are supplemented by opportunity for personal conferences with the supervisors. After the hours of school until five o'clock, and at such other occasional hours as they may be free, the supervisors are at their desks devoting themselves to taking up individual difficulties with which each student-teacher may be laboring.

Technical Knowledge: Under this term we would include psychology, pedagogy, the history of education, and all other technical knowledge which is given by means of lectures, recitations, or study of books, etc. The sharp distinction between the function of this kind of instruction and the function of actual teaching has already been drawn. There is no notion in the San Francisco Normal School that the courses in technical or professional knowledge contribute, except indirectly, to the active practice of teaching. This view does not minimize the importance of theoretical study, for the intelligent workman is ever more efficient than the rule-of-thumb laborer. Technical knowledge is a necessary complement to practice; it makes practice intelligent teaching. The point we would emphasize is that theory is not practice, and can not take the place of practice.

Two parallel lines of theoretical study are used. One line consists of a general course, five to three periods a week, in psychology, the history of education, and pedagogy, which is given throughout the entire two years. Another line, presenting the special pedagogy of each school subject, is carried along in the supervisor's conferences. The general course aims to furnish a general culture and perspective for pedagogical questions and to offer a sort of forum for the thorough discussion of past and prevailing theories of education. The method is that of topical readings, followed by class digests and discussions of these. In this way there are presented the general conceptions of physiological psychology; the theories of heredity; the psychology of attention, memory, imagination, reasoning, perception, and abstraction; the distinction between the pedagogy of the intellect and the pedagogy of the feelings; such pedagogical problems as those of formal discipline, correlation, the Socratic method of the recitation; the history of various systems of education in the light of previous readings; special applications to purposes and values of teaching history, mathematics, literature, the formal mechanisms, music, drawing, etc. There is no effort in the general course to teach these subjects for themselves, but at every point possible the students are led to the application of these general views to the practical problems of the classroom.

The conference treatment of technical knowledge is much more specific. Each supervisor has collected all serviceable and available books and articles from pedagogical journals and other sources bearing upon the school subject, the teaching of which he or she supervises. Members of the conference in this subject are required to read and take notes upon the books and articles to which topical reference is made. Then, in the conference meetings, reports of these readings are subjected to a discussion in the light of the student's own experience as a teacher of the subject under discussion. In this way the special pedagogy of arithmetic, reading, writing, spelling, history, grammar, literature, etc., is thoroughly harrowed—and planted by daily experience. In addition to these there are special courses, academic in method, but technical, in that they prepare the student-teachers in those phases of the subjects specially for teaching. There are courses in map-drawing, "chalk talks," music, civil government, history, sewing, nature study, manual training, and plant physiology.

HISTORY OF THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL AT SAN JOSE.

By MORRIS ELMER DAILEY, President.

In 1857, eighteen years after the first permanent Normal School in the United States was founded (at Lexington, Massachusetts, 1839), the City of San Francisco established a City Normal School. This school was known as the "Minns Evening School." Its sessions were held weekly, first on Saturdays, then on Monday evenings, and all San Francisco city teachers were required to attend. George W. Minns was principal, and John Swett, Ellis H. Holmes, and Thomas S. Myrick were assistants. City Superintendent Janes of San Francisco considered it a success, and so reported in 1857 and 1858. The school continued until 1862, its alumni numbering fifty-four, all of whom were women.

From 1853 to 1857 the only approach to a Normal School was in the shape of a monthly association of principals for the discussion of school problems. After 1862 there were monthly teachers' meetings under the direction of the City Board of Education, but these died out in 1869. In 1872 the City Board of Education of San Francisco established another evening normal school. This ran for two years. John Swett was its principal. The influential teachers behind the early movements in normal school work were A. J. Moulder, John Swett, and Henry B. Janes, a city superintendent of San Francisco.

The aims of education in these pioneer days were clean cut. George W. Minns was the moving spirit in the San Francisco evening normal school. While his theory of education was based on the old psychological idea of the "faculties of the mind," he had clear and definite ideas of methods based upon experience. He felt the necessity of basing all instruction upon the concrete. The error in this early time was to over emphasize the drill side of education, and not only this but to differentiate in practice the drill side from the interest side of education. Rigid examinations prevailed.

While this pioneer work was going on, a State Normal School had begun to be thought of. Its establishment was first recommended by State Superintendent Moulder in 1859, and again in 1860. The legislatures of these years did not act, however. The truth was, the legislators did not appreciate even the function of a normal school, and had to be educated up to an idea of its value.

In May, 1861, at the first State Teachers' Institute, at the suggestion of State Superintendent Moulder, a committee of three, consisting of Henry B. Janes, George W. Minns, and Ellis H. Holmes made a report detailing the necessity of a normal school for the better equipment of California teachers, and asking the Legislature to appropriate $5,000 for a normal school. The Legislature in May, 1862, established the school, and appropriated $3,000 for five months' support. The State Board of Education, and the City Superintendents of Schools of San Francisco, Sacramento, and Marysville were made, by the enacting measure of the Legislature, an ex-officio Board of Trustees. The members of this board were Governor Leland Stanford, Surveyor-General J. F. Houghton, State Superintendent A. J. Moulder, City Superintendent George Tait of San Francisco, City Superintendent G. Taylor of Sacramento, and City Superintendent Fowler of Marysville.

The school was opened Monday, July 21, 1862, in a room on the ground floor of the high school building on Powell street. Six pupils were present. Ahira Holmes, of San Francisco, was principal. From the first, a great amount of care was taken to keep the school in close touch with the entire State. The school was limited in attendance to sixty, though it was provided that each county could have at least one student. The opening of the school was advertised in San Francisco, Sacramento, and Marysville papers. Those who would not certify to an intention to engage to teach permanently in the common schools of the State were charged a tuition of $5 per month.

At the end of the first term thirty-one students were registered. Of these a number were deficient in the common branches and had been admitted on probation. Another source of difficulty was irregular attendance. A model class, the germ of our present Training Department, was organized October 31, 1862. At the end of the first year, in May, 1863, a class of four, all young ladies, graduated. These were Bertha Comstock, P. Augusta Fink, Nellie Hart, and Louisa A. Mails. Three of the class engaged in teaching. The fourth, Miss Mails, died soon after graduation.

Of the faculty of the school, the principal, Ahira Holmes, taught "all the solid branches"; G. W. Minns taught natural philosophy. Besides these there were special teachers: Professor Elliott, teacher of music; Professor Burgess, of drawing; and M. Parot, of calisthenics. Dr. Henry Gibbons gave, without charge, lectures on botany. There was an examining committee, consisting of S. I. C. Swezey, John Swett, and Superintendent George Tait. This committee conducted a final oral examination previous to graduation. The students belonging to the first, or highest, division were required to conduct exercises before the committee in the model school.

Such were the beginnings of the State Normal School at San José. The early period of the Normal School, running up to the time when the school was removed to San José, was a formative period. There were many changes in the principalship. Ahira Holmes was succeeded by George W. Minns. The latter held the place but a short time, as he took a leave of absence at the end of his first year of service. While absent, Mr. H. P. Carlton acted as principal. Principal Minns having resigned in 1867, Mr. George Tait succeeded him. Mr. Tait, however, did not serve the year out, but resigned in February, 1868, Mr. Carlton being elected principal to serve until the end of the year. In 1868 William T. Lucky became principal of the school. He served until he was succeeded by Professor Charles H. Allen, in August, 1873.

The second period, the period of growth and expansion, commences with the principalship of Charles H. Allen. He straightway began to gather about him a strong corps of teachers, men and women of strong personality and in thorough sympathy with normal school work. Among those who, during this second period, devoted the best part of their lives to the training of teachers for the California schools were: Mary J. Titus, Cornelia Walker, Lucy M. Washburn, J. H. Braly, Helen S. Wright, Ira More, Mary Wilson (now Mrs. Mary W. George), Mary E. B. Norton, Lizzie P. Sargent, C. W. Childs, George R. Kleeberger, A. H. Randall, and, standing next to the principal himself, who worked as a veritable steam engine, the magnetic Henry B. Norton.

The Normal School opened at San José with as many students as it had in San Francisco, and with a two years' course.

In 1873-74, with Charles H. Allen as principal, the faculty consisted of J. H. Braly, vice-principal; Miss E. W. Houghton, preceptress; Miss Lucy Washburn; Miss M. J. Titus, principal of the Training School. Miss Cornelia Walker was elected in November, 1873.

Changes took place rapidly. Regular practice work for students was begun in the Training School. Rooms were fitted up for the museum. Students from other States and Territories were the following year received without tuition. The new building, being ample in size, competitive examinations for entrance given by county boards were abolished.

In 1874-75 there were at one time three hundred students in the normal classes. The Training School was made a tuition school, and soon became self-sustaining.

In 1876-77 the course was extended to three years. Students who successfully completed the second or middle year were granted an elementary diploma (second grade certificate). This diploma was abolished in 1880.

In 1876-77 the Legislature increased the appropriation to meet the running expenses of the school to $24,000 annually.

On the morning of February 10, 1880, the beautiful building took fire from a defective ash chute, and burned to the ground. A large part of the library and a portion of the furniture were saved. Books of reference, the museum and herbarium, and furniture, valued altogether at $18,000, were lost. The total loss to the State was estimated at $304,000. Through the courtesy of San José citizens, the school at once took up temporary quarters in the San José High School building (now the Horace Mann Grammar School) on Santa Clara street. In a short time the present substantial brick building was erected by the State on the site of the burned building, at a cost of $149,000. In 1891-92 a well-equipped building, at a cost of $47,500, was erected for the accommodation of the Training School.

In 1888 important modifications were made in the course of study. The school year was divided into three terms instead of two. The courses were made uniform in the Normal Schools throughout California. A graduate course of one year was also introduced, but as the student received no substantial credential on its completion it did not develop.

In 1887 a room was fitted up for manual training, and the instruction given by the regular teachers. In 1888 a regular teacher was employed. The work was at first elective, but later it was required, and has so continued down to 1901.

C. W. Childs, who succeeded Charles H. Allen as principal in 1889, was succeeded by A. H. Randall in 1896. Professor Randall remained at the head of the school for three years, and in 1899 was succeeded by James McNaughton, who, after an administration of one year, was succeeded by Morris Elmer Dailey, the present head of the school.

The demand for a higher standard of scholarship among teachers was met in the year 1901 by placing admission to the San José State Normal School upon a University basis. In September, 1901, none but High School graduates and teachers were admitted. At that time the course of study was made largely professional, and two years' practice teaching and observation work were required.

Since the organization of this Normal School 3,219 students have been graduated. Over 1,200 of these are now teaching in the public schools of California.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The following is an outline of the present course of study:

REQUIRED, IF NOT TAKEN ELSEWHERE.

Mathematics—Algebra, Plane Geometry.

History—United States.

Science—Biology, Physics.

Drawing.

English—The complete course in the High School, or two years English, and two years Latin.

REQUIRED PROFESSIONAL COURSE.

A. Practice School:

Teaching; one year's practice in addition to assistant teaching. Primary methods, with demonstration work in Kindergarten and Primary Grades.

B. General Professional Work:

Psychology—A general course.

Modern Educational Theories.

School Law and School Management.

Child Study.

C. Advanced Academic Study of the Common School Subjects, with Methods of Teaching Them:

Reading and Literature.

Grammar and Composition.

Geography (Physical and Descriptive).

Civil Government and Economic History.

Music and Physical Training.

Arithmetic.

Nature Study.

Drawing.

ELECTIVES.

The course may be finished in two years by recommended graduates of fully accredited High Schools. All such graduates may choose one fourth of their work from any two of the following groups:

Group 1. American History, Greek and Roman History, English History, History of Education.

Group 2. Physical Geography, Meteorology, Biology (a general course), Physics, Chemistry, Botany, School Hygiene.

Group 3. Advanced Algebra, Solid Geometry, Trigonometry.

Group 4. Drawing—at least two courses.

Group 5. Advanced Psychology, Ethics.

Group 6. Literature (at least two courses), Latin.

Group 7. Manual Training.

Owing to the special need and great demand for Manual Training teachers, students who are mechanically inclined are advised to select the Manual Training Course as Elective.

KINDERGARTEN COURSE.

Students are admitted to the Kindergarten Course upon the same basis as to the regular Normal Course. All graduates of Normal Schools are entitled to a one year's Kindergarten Course.

First Year.

FIRST TERM.

Psychology.
Drawing.
Manual Training.
Kindergarten Theory.
Observation.
Music.

SECOND TERM.

Child Study.
Nature Study.
Kindergarten Theory.
Drawing.

Second Year.

FIRST TERM.

Literature.
Biology.
Kindergarten Theory.
Practice Teaching.

SECOND TERM.

Modern Educational Theories.
Primary Methods.
Kindergarten Theory.

Music and Physical Training alternating throughout the entire course.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION.

Students are admitted to the Normal School upon the following credentials:

1. Any one who is a graduate of a high school;
2. Any one holding a valid teacher's certificate;
3. Any one holding credentials showing the equivalent of a high school training;
4. Any one who is able to pass an examination in the subjects required for graduation from an accredited high school of California in any one course.

All graduates of accredited high schools, who are fully recommended to the State University, will be placed upon a two years' course. Those graduates who are not fully recommended, or who come from high schools not fully accredited to the University, will be obliged to make up entrance conditions in addition to the two years' course. All high school graduates who have done excellent work at the Normal School will be given a recommendation to advanced standing at the State University or Stanford University. It is expected that this will enable such students to take a university degree in three years.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS FOR THE REVISION AND REFORM OF THE LAW.

IN GENERAL.

The Commissioners for the Revision and Reform of the Law present this report of their acts and proceedings under the statute providing for their appointment and prescribing their duties, and also under Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 23, adopted March 16, 1901, directing them to examine, designate, and report to the next session of the Legislature a complete index of the laws from 1893 to and including the last session, and also to designate and report separately the laws repealed or invalidated from any reason, and so as to indicate, as correctly as possible, those remaining in force.

The validity of the amendments to the codes adopted in 1901, pursuant to the recommendation of this Commission, was, soon after their adoption, assailed in the supreme court of the State in the case of Lewis v. Dunne, reported in 134 Cal. 291, with the result that that court reached and announced the conclusion that those amendments were not constitutionally enacted, on the grounds (1) that each of the codes constituted more than one subject, and that neither could now be validly enacted because of the provisions of our constitution requiring each act to embrace but one subject, which must be expressed in its title, and that neither can be amended in a single act if the amendments involve two or more of these subjects; and (2) that no complete revision of either code can be made without publishing at length the sections not affected by the revision, as well as those revised or amended. It would be fruitless and unbecoming, on our part, to here discuss the correctness of that decision or its accord, or want of accord, with the views heretofore expressed by the courts of this and other States on the same subject. Accepting it, as we must, without question, it remains for us to consider what may be done, notwithstanding, toward the perfecting of our codes. It would be idle, under this decision, to propose a complete code, as recommended by our predecessors, or a complete revision of any code setting out the parts left unchanged as well as the changes made by amendment, addition, or repeal, because, to do so, would present an act which, in the opinion of the judges, excepting the chief justice, must necessarily involve more than one subject; nor, for precisely the same reason, can the desired changes be embraced in a single bill omitting the parts of the code not affected. The power to amend the codes has not, however, been denied by the court, nor, so far as we know, questioned by any one, but amendments must, as we understand it, be effected by separate and independent bills, each dealing with some one of the many topics which in the aggregate constitute the entire code. Proceeding in this manner will doubtless prove tedious and may so consume the time of the Legislature in indispensable roll calls that it will be unable at any single session to act upon all the amendments presented for its consideration, or it may determine to restrict its consideration only to those of a more vital character.

We hereby renew our recommendations respecting the Code of Civil Procedure and the Civil and Penal Codes adopted by the Legislature of 1901, and we shall hereafter, and before the commencement of the next session, classify these amendments so as to group them into single and separate subjects, and draft bills in accordance with such classification, thus again presenting for legislative consideration matters which received the approval of the Legislature of 1901, and in a form which, we trust, will, in the light of the decision of the court already adverted to, escape successful assault on constitutional grounds.

INDEX TO LAWS, AND STATUTES IN FORCE.

In obedience to Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 23, adopted March 16, 1901, we present herewith, as Part II of this report, an "Index to the Laws" from 1893 to and including the year 1901, accompanied by a table showing what sections of our codes have been added, amended, or repealed during the same period, and also a report designating the statutes which, according to our judgment, remain in force.

We have excluded from our list all statutes which can no longer be regarded as of any substantial effect. The most important of these are the acts which were directly or impliedly repealed by the codes. Of less importance, though doubtless greater in number, are the statutes which, though neither expressly nor impliedly repealed, have accomplished their purpose and can have no further effect than to justify acts long since done by their authority, such as appropriation bills, grants of franchises, or other rights for a limited period, or directions or authorizations to perform acts which have doubtless already been complied with, or to contract obligations which have been satisfied, and statutes creating and providing for the government of municipal corporations and which have become inoperative by the reincorporation of the same municipalities under subsequent statutes, either special or general. The final result is, that the list of statutes enacted prior to our codes which are still in force is exceedingly brief; for among the number expressly left in force by them many were of a temporary nature, and perhaps a majority of the remainder have since been repealed.

At the session at which the codes were enacted many other statutes were passed either in ignorance of the code provisions or before it was known that they would become the law. All these statutes, whether approved before or after the codes, take precedence over them by Section 3891 of the Political Code. In many instances this result was not intended, for by far the greater number were amendments of statutes which were clearly repealed by the codes, and others were intended to direct public officers in the performance of duties adequately provided for in the codes. All such should be repealed. Among them are the following statutes of 1871-2:

Chap. VIII, p. 10, supplementary to an act entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation of colleges."

Chap. XVI, p. 21, to amend an act entitled "An act concerning the courts of justice of this State and judicial officers."

Chap. XXVIII, p. 33, supplementary to an act entitled "An act to provide for the appointment of notaries public, and defining their duties."

Chap. LV, p. 52, to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate the settlement of the estates of deceased persons."

Chap. LXI, p. 58, "An act in relation to the office of the county clerk of the city and county of San Francisco."

Chap. LXIX, p. 63, to amend an act entitled "An act concerning jurors in the city and county of San Francisco."

Chap. LXXXIII, p. 82, "An act to regulate proceedings in criminal cases."

Chap. LXXXVII, p. 85, amendatory of an act entitled "An act to regulate the settlement of the estates of deceased persons."

Chap. XCVIII, p. 94, to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate the settlement of the estates of deceased persons."

Chap. XCIX, p. 94, to regulate proceedings in civil cases in the justices' court of the city and county of San Francisco.

Chap. CVIII, p. 102, to amend an act entitled "An act to define the duties and liabilities of pawnbrokers and pledgees."

Chap. CXVII, p. 118, prescribing certain duties to be performed by the state controller, state treasurer, and state board of examiners.

Chap. CXVIII, p. 121, to furnish arms for the use of military academies in the State." See Pol. C., §§ 2117*g*, 2117*i*.

Chap. CXXVII, p. 132, to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for the formation of corporations for the accumulation and investment of funds and savings."

Chap. CXXXIII, p. 140, to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate fees of office and salaries of certain officers, and to repeal certain other acts in relation thereto."

Chap. CLXX, p. 189, to amend an act entitled "An act relating to proceedings in civil cases in courts of justice of this State."

Chap. CLXXI, p. 190, to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate proceedings in civil cases in courts of justice of this State."

Chap. CLXXII, p. 190, to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate proceedings in civil cases in courts of justice of this State."

Chap. CLXXV, p. 205, to amend an act entitled "An act to protect the wages of labor."

Chap. CLXXXII, p. 217, amendatory of and supplementary to an act entitled "An act fixing the number of officers and employés of the senate and assembly, to define their duties and to establish their pay."

Chap. CLXXXIV, p. 219, to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate fees of office and salaries of certain officers, and to repeal certain other acts in relation thereto."

Chap. CLXXXVII, p. 230, to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate proceedings in civil cases in the courts of justice of this State."

Chap. CCXLII, p. 318, to amend an act entitled "An act concerning forcible entries and unlawful detainers, and to repeal all other acts on the same subject."

Chap. CCXLIII, p. 319, to amend an act entitled "An act relating to criminal prosecutions."

Chap. CCXLIX, p. 319, "An act respecting the limitation of actions."

Chap. CCLXII, p. 362, to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for a system of common schools."

Chap. CCLXXIX, p. 383, to amend an act "to provide for the management and sale of lands belonging to the State."

Chap. CCLXXXVIII, p. 391, to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate proceedings in criminal cases."

Chap. CCLXXXIX, p. 391, "An act to regulate practice in the supreme court."

Chap. CCXCVII, p. 401, supplementary to an act entitled "An act defining the time for commencing civil actions."

Chap. CCCXIX, p. 433, to amend an act entitled "An act for the protection of game."

Chap. CCCXXXIV, p. 443, supplemental to an act entitled "An act concerning corporations."

Chap. CCCLXIX, p. 526, to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for the formation of corporations for certain purposes."

Chap. CCCLXXI, p. 528, to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate proceedings in criminal cases."

Chap. CCCCXLIX, p. 668, to amend an act "to provide for the management and sale of lands belonging to the State."

Chap. CCCCLVII, p. 685, to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for the management and sale of lands belonging to the State."

Chap. DLXXIX, p. 858, "An act to provide for the management and sale of lands belonging to the State."

Chap. DLXXXVI, p. 864, to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate proceedings in civil cases in the courts of justice of this State."

We are fully conscious of our liability to error in undertaking to designate the statutes in force, and that neither we nor the legislature can speak with authority upon this question; but we have, nevertheless, thought it our duty to obey, as best we could, the command of the senate concurrent resolution already referred to. In reaching our conclusions respecting the implied repeal of statutes, we have sought to apply the rules stated in Dillon v. Bicknell, 116 Cal. 111, and other cases, that "Whenever it clearly appears that the intention of the legislature by the later act is to revise the entire subject-matter of the former, the subsequent act operates as a repeal of the former, although it contains no precise words to that effect," and that "Even if a subsequent statute be not repugnant in all its provisions to a prior one, yet if the later statute was clearly intended to prescribe the only rule which should govern in the case provided for, it repeals the original act."

THE POLITICAL CODE.

The course of classification which we have suggested for the amendments to the Code of Civil Procedure, the Civil Code, and the Penal Code we shall pursue respecting the amendments to the Political Code hereinafter suggested. Probably none of the other codes is so much in need of amendment and excision as this. It was enacted prior to the adoption of the constitution of 1879, and little or no effort has ever been made to harmonize it with that constitution, either by changing the form or substance of sections or by omitting those which had become inoperative. Considerable parts of this code have also been found in conflict with the constitution of the United States, and hence should unquestionably be repealed. Again, many statutes have been enacted since the adoption of the code upon subjects already provided for therein, and the apparent conflict thus created in the statutory law should be removed either by repealing code sections upon the same topic or by codifying the subsequent statutes, and thus making them a part of the code. To a somewhat less extent material conflict exists between sections of this code and the charters adopted in recent years by the greater municipal corporations of the State. This is well illustrated by the decision in People v. Williamson, 135 Cal. 415, establishing practically the existence of two boards of health claiming to exercise authority over the same matters within the city and county of San Francisco, the one under its charter and the other by virtue of the provisions of the Political Code.

The very great subjects of county and municipal government were provided for in this code, but subsequently were in effect taken out of it by independent statutes completely covering the same topics and presumably impliedly repealing the code provisions, but no express repeal has ever been made. It is clear that the apparent conflict should be removed, either by repealing the code provisions on both these subjects, or by codifying the subsequent statutes and making them a part of the code. While in our judgment the latter course is preferable, repeated enactments have established beyond controversy the preference of the legislative department for treating them in separate statutes forming no part of the code, and for this reason and because these statutes have been and must continue to be subject to amendment at every session, we have concluded to recommend the repeal of the code sections, thus leaving the independent enactments to constitute the whole of the statutory law upon these subjects.

The Political Code was designed to state the statutory law respecting public officers and public institutions, and we believe that this purpose was a wise one, and that the departures which have been made from it should be corrected by codifying the statutory enactments respecting those officers and institutions, and thus making them a part of this code. We have therefore codified more than one hundred different statutes relating to these subjects, which we recommend to be enacted as parts of this code. This codification has involved much labor and gives this report an appearance of great, perhaps of unnecessary, length, but it could not be shortened except by the failure to perform what we conceive to be our unquestionable duty.

Comparatively few of the recommendations made in this report will be found, on examination, to involve substantial changes in the law, either by eliminating existing provisions or adding others of a new or untried character, except when such elimination is believed to be necessary to remove superfluous or misleading sections or sections manifestly inconsistent with subsequent statutes or with the constitution of the State or of the United States. The chief purposes sought to be accomplished by our recommendations may be classified as follows:

1. The omission of superfluous and misleading sections, in which are included: (a) those which state no rules of law, consisting, for the most part, of mere imperfect indexing of this or other codes, or undertaking to restate constitutional provisions, and (b) those which have been impliedly repealed by other statutes or are void because in conflict with constitutional restrictions, state or national;

2. Harmonizing sections with other sections of the same or other codes, or with subsequent statutes or municipal charters, or with constitutional provisions with which they do not now accord;

3. Codifying and making part of this code the different statutes governing public officers and creating and governing state institutions, to the end that the law relating thereto may, as far as possible, be found in a single code or volume. The codification recommended does not consist of the mere copying of the statutes in question. Most of them have been rearranged and rewritten, but generally without change in their substance, and where such change is proposed, that fact is stated in this report.

One of the most difficult tasks of our codification has been the formulating of new sections and the amendment of old ones undertaking to express the result of statutes enacted since the adoption of the codes designating the boundaries of eight new counties and changing or defining the boundaries of twenty-six counties previously existing.

Some changes of substance were unavoidable. Thus the statutes relating to the state commission in lunacy and the commitment, care, and support of the insane are conceded to be lamentably defective. That portion authorizing commitments has been adjudged unconstitutional (Matter of Lambert, 134 Cal. 626), and the statute of 1889, declaring when and of whom the State may recover for the support of the insane, and how the liability may be enforced, has probably been repealed by the Lunacy Commission Act without any adequate provision being otherwise made therefor. (People v. King, 127 Cal. 574.) We have therefore proposed additions to the law, which, if enacted, will, we think, supply a constitutional mode of examination and commitment and also an adequate remedy for the enforcement by the State of any liability which may exist in its favor for the care and support of insane persons whose estates or relatives are able to discharge such liability.

So the statute controlling special elections within municipalities is defective in not providing any register for the different precincts which may be formed by municipal authority, and in not designating how the electors who have been registered since the last general election or who have since then moved from one precinct to another, may show their right to vote in the precinct in which they reside, and may lose that right in the precinct from which they have removed. We have hence suggested amendments undertaking to correct these defects as well as to supply omissions in the statute relating to special elections other than those held within municipal corporations.

In view of the amendment to the constitution permitting the use of automatic voting machines, we have suggested the addition of a new chapter, consisting of sections numbered 1376 to 1382, designating the procedure for testing, adopting, and procuring such machines, and the mode of conducting elections therewith.

With the making of this report and the performance of such additional duties as may be required of us in connection therewith during the next session of the legislature, we finish the task imposed upon us by our appointment under the statute of 1895 and by the concurrent resolution hereinbefore referred to, and we therefore suggest that that statute may now properly be treated as having accomplished all the purpose attainable through its enactment and as being a proper subject for repeal, which we accordingly recommend to be made.

To accomplish the changes in the Political Code suggested by us, we recommend:

§ 5. That section five be amended to read:

Sec. 5. The provisions of this code, and of every amendment thereto, so far as they are substantially the same as existing statutes, or the common law, must be regarded as continuations thereof, and not as new enactments.

Inserts after the word "code" the words "and of every amendment thereto," and after the word "statutes" the words "or the common law," and substitutes "regarded" for "construed," to conform the section to corresponding sections in the other codes as heretofore amended.

§ 8. That section eight be amended to read:

Sec. 8. No action or proceeding commenced before this code, or any amendment thereof, takes effect, and no right accrued, is affected by its provisions, but the proceedings therein must conform to the requirements of this code or of such amendment, as far as applicable.

Inserts after the word "code" the words "or any amendment thereof," and after the word "code" where it last appears in the section the words "or of such amendment."

§ 9. That section nine be amended to read:

Sec. 9. When a limitation or period of time prescribed in any existing statute, for acquiring a right or barring a remedy, or for any other purpose, has begun to run before this code, or any amendment thereto, goes into effect, and the same, or any limitation is prescribed in this code, or any such amendment, the time which has already run shall be deemed part of the time prescribed as such limitation by this code, or by such amendment.

The amendments are of the same character as to the preceding section.

§ 11. That section eleven be repealed. Its provisions are already included in section ten.

§ 17. That section seventeen be amended to read:

Sec. 17. Words used in this code in the present tense include the future as well as the present; words used in the masculine gender include the feminine and neuter; the singular number includes the plural, and the plural the singular; the word person includes a corporation as well as a natural person; writing includes printing and typewriting; oath includes affirmation or declaration; every mode of oral statement under oath or affirmation is embraced by the term "testify," and every written one in the term "depose"; signature or subscription includes mark, when the person cannot write, his name being written near it, by a person who writes his own name as a witness.

The following words, also, have in this code the signification attached to them in this section, unless otherwise apparent from the context :

1. The word "property" includes both real and personal property;

2. The words "real property" are co-extensive with lands, tenements, and hereditaments;

3. The words "personal property" include money, goods, chattels, things in action, and evidences of debt;

4. The word "month" means a calendar month, unless otherwise expressed;

5. The word "will" includes codicils;

6. The word "writ" signifies an order or precept in writing, issued in the name of the people or of a court or judicial officer; and the word "process," a writ or summons issued in the course of judicial proceedings;

7. The word "vessel," when used in reference to shipping, includes ships of all kinds, steamboats and steamships, canal boats, and every structure adapted to be navigated from place to place;

8. The term "peace officer" signifies any of the officers mentioned in section eight hundred and seventeen of the Penal Code;

9. The term "magistrate" signifies any one of the officers mentioned in section eight hundred and eight of the Penal Code;

10. The word "state," when applied to the different parts of the United States, includes the District of Columbia and the Territories; and the words "United States" may include the District and Territories.

11. The word "section," whenever hereinafter employed, refers to a section of this code, unless some other code or statute is expressly mentioned.

The changes consist (1) in inserting the words "in typewriting"; (2) in striking out the words "and witnessed"; (3) in adding subdivision eleven.

§ 18. That section eighteen be amended to read:

Sec. 18. No statute, law, or rule is continued in force because it is consistent with the provisions of this code, on the same subject; but in all cases provided for by this code all statutes, laws, and rules heretofore in force in this State, whether consistent or not with the provisions of this code, unless expressly continued in force by it, are repealed and abrogated. This repeal or abrogation does not revive any former law heretofore repealed, nor does it affect any right already existing or accrued, or any action or proceeding already taken, except as in this code provided.

Omits the words "nor does it affect any private statute not expressly repealed."

§ 35. That a new section be added, numbered thirty-five, to read:

Sec. 35. The governor, on application therefor by a duly authorized agent, may convey to the United States any tract of land not exceeding ten acres, belonging to the State and covered by navigable waters, for the site of a lighthouse, beacon, or other aid to navigation. After such conveyance the United States shall have jurisdiction over such tract, subject to the right of the State to have concurrent jurisdiction so far that all process, civil or criminal, issued under authority of the State may be executed by the proper officers thereof within such tract, upon any person or persons amenable to the same, in like manner and with like effect as if such conveyance had not been made.

Codifies the statute of 1873-4, p. 621, concerning submarine sites for lighthouses.

§§ 43, 44. That sections forty-three and forty-four be repealed, because they are superfluous and misleading.

§ 52. That section fifty-two be amended to read:

Sec. 52. Every person has, in law, a residence. In determining the place of residence the following rules are to be observed:

1. It is the place where one remains when not called elsewhere for labor or other special or temporary purpose, and to which he returns in seasons of repose;

2. There can only be one residence;

3. A residence cannot be lost until another is gained;

4. The residence of the father during his life, and after his death the residence of the mother, while she remains unmarried, is the residence of the unmarried minor child;

5. The residence of the husband is the residence of the wife;

6. The residence can be changed only by the union of act and intent.

Omits present subdivision six, declaring that the residence of an unmarried minor who has a parent cannot be changed either by him or his guardian. This provision appears to be inconsistent with section seventeen hundred and fifty-three, Code of Civil Procedure.

§ 75. That section seventy-five be repealed, because it is unnecessary.

§§ 78-106. That sections seventy-eight to one hundred and six be repealed, being superseded by the various statutes of the State, declaring what are the senatorial districts.

§ 117. That section one hundred and seventeen be repealed. It has been superseded by the various acts dividing the State into congressional districts.

§§ 225, 226. That sections two hundred and twenty-five and two hundred and twenty-six be repealed. They merely undertake to state the constitutional provisions respecting senators and members of the assembly.

§§ 227-230. That sections two hundred and twenty-seven to two hundred and thirty be repealed, because superseded by the statute of 1873-4, p. 366.

§ 235. That section two hundred and thirty-five be repealed, because it merely undertakes to restate the provisions of section two, article four, of the constitution, respecting sessions of the legislature.

§ 236. That section two hundred and thirty-six be amended to read:

Sec. 236. The certificate of election of a senator or member of the assembly is prima facie evidence of his right to membership.

Inserts the words "of a senator or member of the assembly."

§ 277. That section two hundred and seventy-seven be amended to read:

Sec. 277. Either of the justices of the peace has power to issue subpoenas for witnesses, at the request of either party, to be served by the sheriff as other subpoenas; and such justices, when met at the time and place appointed to take such depositions, have the same power to issue attachments and punish for contempt as is given to justices of the peace in the trial of civil actions.

The words "punish for contempt" have been substituted for the words "and assess fines against witnesses."

§§ 288-295. That sections two hundred and eighty-eight to two hundred and ninety-five be repealed, on the ground that they are inconsistent with section four, article five, of the constitution. By that section the returns of election must be sealed up and transmitted to the speaker of the assembly, who must, during the first week of the session, open and publish them in the presence of both houses, and the person then found to have the highest number of votes is governor. If there is any mode of contesting the election it must be by proceedings in the nature of quo warranto. See State v. Sadler, 25 Nev. 131.

§ 301. That section three hundred and one be amended to read:

Sec. 301. The subpoena may be served by any person qualified to serve a summons in a civil action, and his affidavit that he delivered a copy to the witness is evidence of service.

The words "qualified to serve a summons in a civil action" are substituted for the words "who might be a witness in the matter," for the reason that children of very tender years are competent as witnesses, but it is unwise to authorize them to serve subpoenas.

§ 310. That section three hundred and ten be amended to read:

Sec. 310. When the governor approves a bill, he must set his name thereto, with the date of his approval, naming the minute, hour, day, and month thereof, and deposit the same in the office of the secretary of state.

All of the section after the first sentence is omitted, on the ground that it is merely an attempted restatement of section sixteen of article four of the constitution; and in the first sentence are inserted the words "naming the minute, hour, day, and month thereof."

§ 318. That section three hundred and eighteen be repealed, because it is unnecessary and constitutes merely an imperfect index.

§ 323. That section three hundred and twenty-three be amended to read:

Sec. 323. Every statute, unless a different time is prescribed therein, takes effect on the sixtieth day after it is approved by the governor, or after it has remained with him ten days without his approval, or after it has been passed by the constitutional majority after being disapproved by him.

The words "its passage" at the end of the original section are omitted, and the clause commencing with the words "approved by the governor" added.

§§ 341-343. That sections three hundred and forty-one to three hundred and forty-three, including the whole of article one of chapter three, be repealed, because entirely unnecessary, and further, because the enumeration of officers therein is subject to constant change by statutes enacted by the legislature, and nothing in either section purports to confer any special power or authority upon any of the officers, and the authority of each must still be ascertained by reference to other statutes and other provisions of the code.

§ 348. That section three hundred and forty-eight be repealed. It is unnecessary and merely an imperfect indexing of the constitution.

§ 349. That section three hundred and forty-nine be repealed, because the office of state printer has been abolished by statute of 1871-2, p. 554, chap. 400, and by section 526, Political Code.

§§ 355-362. That sections three hundred and fifty-five to three hundred and sixty-two be repealed, because they declare no rules of law and represent mere matters of indexing.

§ 364. That section three hundred and sixty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 364. The board of examiners consists of the governor, the secretary of state, the attorney-general, or during his absence from the capital, the assistant attorney-general. The secretary of the board is ex officio a member thereof, to act only in the absence from the capital of any two of the members.

Inserts after "attorney-general" the words "or during his absence from the capital, the assistant attorney-general," to harmonize the section with section four hundred and seventy-two.

§ 367. That section three hundred and sixty-seven be repealed. It was superseded by the present state constitution.

§ 368. That section three hundred and sixty-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 368. The following executive officers are appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate:

1. Trustees of the state burying grounds;
2. The trustees of the asylum for the deaf, dumb, and blind; the port wardens; the insurance commissioner; the members of the state board of health; a vaccine agent;
3. The pilot commissioners; the pilots for each harbor where there is not a board of pilot commissioners; the fish commissioners.

The following clauses are omitted: "an inspector of gas meters," because the statutes respecting inspectors did not continue in force after the adoption of section fourteen, article eleven, of the constitution (Condict v. Police Court, 59 Cal. 278); "the directors of the insane asylums," because those asylums are now provided for in the act creating the state commission in lunacy (1897, p. 311); "the commissioner of immigration"; "state geologist," because his office was apparently intended to be abolished by the statute of 1873-4, p. 694; "the tide land commissioners," because they were abolished by statute of 1875-6, p. 15 (Amendments to the Codes, chap. 49).

§ 370. That section three hundred and seventy be amended to read:

Sec. 370. The private and the executive secretaries, the clerk, the messenger and stenographer of the governor are appointed by him, and hold office at his pleasure.

The words "and the executive" inserted after "private," and the words "the messenger and stenographer" after the word "clerk."

§ 382. That section three hundred and eighty-two be amended to read:

Sec. 382. The governor must cause to be kept the following records:

1. A register of all applications for pardon or for commutation of any sentence, with a list of the official signatures and recommendation in favor of each application;
2. A register of statements in capital cases made to him, with his action thereon;
3. An account of all his official expenses and disbursements, including the incidental expenses of his department, and of all rewards offered by him for the apprehension of criminals and persons charged with crime;
4. A register of all appointments made by him, with date of commission, names of appointee and predecessor;
5. A record of all persons confined in the state prison, showing the name of the convict, his age and general appearance, when and where convicted, and of what crime, with the date and term of his sentence.

The amendment consists in substituting in subdivision five the words "with the date and term of his sentence" for the words "the time of his sentence, and when such time expires."

§ 384. That section three hundred and eighty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 384. The annual salary of the governor, to include all services rendered ex officio as member of any board or commission as now required, or which may be by law hereafter devolved upon him, is six thousand dollars.

The amendment consists in the insertion of the word "is" before the word "six" in the last line.

§ 386. That section three hundred and eighty-six be amended to read:

Sec. 386. The annual salary of the executive secretary of the governor, who is ex officio secretary of the board of state capitol commissioners, is two thousand six hundred dollars; the annual salary of the clerk to the governor is eighteen hundred dollars; the annual salary of the stenographer to the governor is sixteen hundred dollars; and the annual salary of the messenger to the governor is nine hundred dollars.

The amendment consists of adding all after the first clause. It provides for the annual salary of the clerk, stenographer, and messenger to the governor.

§ 396. That section three hundred and ninety-six be repealed, because it states no rule of law and is in the nature of an index to the constitution.

§ 408. That section four hundred and eight be amended to read:

Sec. 408. In addition to the duties prescribed by the constitution, it is the duty of the secretary of state:

First—To attend at every session of the legislature, for the purpose of receiving bills and resolutions thereof, and to perform such other duties as may be devolved upon him by resolution of the two houses, or either of them;

Second—To keep a register of, and attest the official acts of, the governor;

Third—To affix the great seal, with his attestation, to commissions, pardons, and other public instruments, to which the official signature of the governor is required;

Fourth—To record in proper books all conveyances made to the State (except conveyances made under the revenue law of lands sold for taxes), and all articles of incorporation filed in his office;

Fifth—To receive and record in proper books the official bonds of all the officers whose bonds are fixed by part three of this code, and then to deliver the original to the state treasurer;

Sixth—To record in a proper book all changes of names certified to him by the county clerks, in the manner in which such record is now made;

Seventh—To take and file in his office receipts for all books distributed by him, and to direct the county clerk of each county to do the same;

Eighth—To certify to the governor the names of those persons who have received at any election the highest number of votes for any office, the incumbent of which is commissioned by the governor;

Ninth—To furnish, on demand, to any person paying the fees therefor, a certified copy of all or any part of any law, record, or other instrument filed, deposited, or recorded in his office;

Tenth—To deliver to the superintendent of state printing, at the earliest day practicable after the final adjournment of each session of the legislature, an index of all laws, resolutions (with marginal notes), and journals, kept, passed, or adopted at such session;

Eleventh—To present to the legislature, at the commencement of each session thereof, a full account of all purchases made and expenses incurred by him in furnishing fuel, lights, and stationery;

Twelfth—To keep a fee book, in which must be entered all fees, commissions, and compensation of whatever nature or kind by him earned, collected, or charged, with the date, name of payor, paid or not paid, and the nature of the service in each case, which book must be verified annually by his affidavit entered therein;

Thirteenth—To file in his office descriptions of seals in use by the different state officers and furnish such officers with new seals whenever required;

Fourteenth—To discharge the duties of member of the state board of examiners, state capitol commissioner, state sealer of weights and measures, and all other duties required of him by law;

Fifteenth—To report to the governor, at the time prescribed in section three hundred and thirty-two, a detailed account of all of his official actions since his previous reports, and accompanying the report with a detailed statement, under oath, of the manner in which all appropriations for his office have been expended.

Inserts in subdivision fourth the words "except conveyances made under the revenue law of lands for taxes"; in subdivision tenth the words "superintendent of state printing" for "state printer"; omits subdivision eleventh, requiring the secretary of state to notify the district attorney of the failure of any county officer to file sworn statements of the fees of his office; omits subdivision seventeenth, because its provisions are hereafter made part of section four hundred and ten.

§ 409. That section four hundred and nine be amended to read:

Sec. 409. Immediately after the laws, resolutions, and journals mentioned in subdivision tenth of the preceding section are bound, the secretary of state must distribute the same, as follows:

1. To each department of the government at Washington, and of the government of this State, one copy;

2. To the library of congress, the state library, and to the supreme court library, two copies each;

3. To each of the States, two copies;

4. To each of our members of congress, and to each of the United States district judges, judges of the supreme and superior courts of this State, one copy;

5. To the lieutenant-governor, each member of the legislature, secretary of the senate, and clerk of the assembly, at the session when such laws and journals were adopted, one copy;

6. To each of the incorporated colleges of the State, the university, and to such other literary and scientific institutions as in his opinion may secure an interchange of works, one copy;

7. Of the laws alone, to the county clerk of each county, in the cheapest and most expeditious manner, to be by the sheriff distributed under the direction of the clerks, one copy for the board of supervisors, one copy to each county officer, and each justice of the peace and police judge; and of the journals, three copies of each house to each county clerk, for the use of the county.

In subdivision one the word "tenth" substituted for the figure 9, to correct an error in the section as it now stands; in subdivision four the words "district and county courts of this State, and to the municipal, criminal, and probate courts of the city and county of San Francisco" are stricken out and the words "supreme and superior courts of this State" inserted in place thereof; in subdivision seven the words "and police judge" are inserted.

§ 410. That section four hundred and ten be amended to read:

Sec. 410. He must distribute of the bound volumes of the decisions of the supreme court, as soon as he receives them:

1. To each State, one copy;
2. To the library of congress, the state library, and the supreme court library, two copies each;
3. To each department of this State, and to each of the United States district judges for this State, supreme and superior judges of this State, and to the judges of the police court of San Francisco, one copy;
4. To each district attorney and county clerk, one copy;
5. To the reporter of the decisions, ten copies.

In subdivision three the words "district and county judges, and the judges of the municipal, criminal, and probate courts of the city and county of San Francisco" are stricken out, and the words "superior judges of this State, and to the judges of the police court of San Francisco" inserted.

§ 415. That a new section, numbered four hundred and fifteen, be added, to read:

Sec. 415. The secretary of state, to assist him in the discharge of the duties of his office, may appoint one deputy secretary of state, a keeper of the archives, a bookkeeper, three recording clerks, one janitor, one janitor's clerk, one engineer, one fireman, four porters, and three watchmen; also two elevator attendants, one of whom shall serve only during sessions of the legislature; also two special clerks in each legislative year, to serve from January to April, inclusive.

Intended to codify the statutes of 1873-4, p. 937; 1889, p. 451; 1899, p. 143, chap. 15; and also to enumerate the appointees now provided for in section three hundred and forty-three.

§ 422. That section four hundred and twenty-two be repealed, because its provisions are included in the last clause of section four hundred and fifteen as recommended.

§ 437a. That a new section, numbered four hundred and thirty-seven a, be added, to read:

Sec. 437a. The controller may appoint one deputy, one bookkeeper, one expert, and five clerks to assist him in the discharge of the duties of his office.

Codifies the statute of 1899, p. 146, chap. 109.

§ 444. That a new section, numbered four hundred and forty-four, be added, to read:

Sec. 444. The controller must, when the general fund of the state treasury is exhausted, and there is money in some other fund not required to meet any demand which has accrued or may accrue against it, report such fact to the governor and the treasurer. If they find that the money is not needed in such other fund, the governor may order the controller to direct the transfer of such money, or any part thereof, to the general fund. All money so transferred must be returned to the fund from which it was transferred as soon as there is sufficient money in the general fund to return it. Nothing in this section warrants the transfer of any money from any fund so as to in any manner interfere with the object for which such fund was created.

Codifies the statute of 1899, p. 156, chap. 125.

§ 452. That section four hundred and fifty-two be amended to read:

Sec. 452. It is the duty of the treasurer:

1. To receive and keep in the vaults of the state treasury all moneys belonging to the State, not required to be received and kept by some other person;

2. To file and keep the certificates of the controller delivered to him when moneys are paid into the treasury;

3. To deliver to each person paying money into the treasury a receipt showing the amount, the sources from which the money accrued, and the funds into which it is paid, which receipts must be numbered in order, beginning with number one at the commencement of each fiscal year;

4. To pay warrants drawn by the controller out of the funds upon and in the order in which they are drawn;

5. Upon payment of any warrants, to take upon the back thereof the receipt of the person to whom it is paid and file and preserve the same;

6. To keep an account of all moneys received and disbursed;

7. To keep separate accounts of the different funds;

8. To report to the controller, on the last day of each month, the amount disbursed for redemption of bonds and in payment of warrants during the month. Each report must show the number, date, and amount of each bond and warrant, and the fund out of which it is paid, and the balance of cash on hand in the treasury to the credit of each fund;

9. At the request of either house of the legislature, or of any committee thereof, to give information in writing as to the condition of the treasury, or upon any subject relating to the duties of his office;

10. To report to the governor, at the time prescribed in section three hundred and thirty-two of this code, the exact balance in the treasury to the credit of the State, with a summary of the receipts and payments of the treasury during the two preceding fiscal years;

11. To authenticate with his official seal all writings and papers issued from his office;

12. To receive and keep the funds and securities deposited with him by the regents of the University of California, subject to the control and management of such regents, and to deliver all or any part of such fund or securities to the treasurer of such regents upon the presentation of a resolution by them adopted and indorsed by the governor of the State;

13. To discharge the duties of state capitol commissioner, and such other duties as may be imposed upon him by law.

In subdivision eight the words "Each report must show the number, date, and amount of each bond and warrant" are substituted for the words "which report must show the date and number of such bonds and warrants," to avoid conflict between this subdivision and section two of the act of 1871-2, p. 118. Subdivision twelve is a new subdivision codifying the statute of 1883, p. 54, sec. 2.

§ 453a. That a new section, numbered four hundred and fifty-three a, be added, to read:

Sec. 453a. Whenever any person donates to the State any money, the state treasurer is hereby authorized, upon the receipt of a certificate from the controller, to receive the same; and in case the donor, at the time of making the donation, designates, in writing, the fund he desires to benefit thereby, such donation must be appropriated accordingly, but if no such designation is made, then it must be paid into the common school fund.

Codifies the statute of 1880, p. 20, so far as it relates to donations to the State.

§ 456. That section four hundred and fifty-six be amended to read:

Sec. 456. The annual salary of the deputy state treasurer is twenty-four hundred dollars; of the bookkeeper of the state treasurer, two thousand dollars; and of the clerk of the state treasurer, sixteen hundred dollars.

The last clause, fixing the salary of the clerk, is added, and thereby section two of the statute of 1895, p. 88, is codified.

§ 457. That section four hundred and fifty-seven be amended to read:

Sec. 457. The state treasurer may employ three watchmen, at an annual salary of twelve hundred dollars each.

The word "three" is substituted for the word "two," and the section thereby conformed to the statute of 1895, p. 55, chap. 56.

§ 460. That a new section, numbered four hundred and sixty, be added, to read:

Sec. 460. When the general fund is exhausted, the state treasurer may advance out of any public fund in his charge, moneys on the controller's warrants, drawn for the salaries of public officers, entitled to monthly payments from the State, keeping such warrants as his vouchers until there is money in the general fund to cancel them, and to place them to his credit; but he must not take any money out of any fund against which there is any warrant then due, or which may become due, nor in any way keep claimants from their just demands.

Codifies the statute of 1873-4, p. 593, chap. 419.

§ 472. That section four hundred and seventy-two be amended to read:

Sec. 472. The attorney-general may appoint one assistant, who is ex officio a member of the state board of examiners when the attorney-general is absent from the capital, and three deputies, who are civil executive officers. The annual salary of the assistant is twenty-seven hundred dollars; the annual salary of the first deputy is twenty-four hundred dollars; the annual salary of the second deputy is twenty-four hundred dollars; the annual salary of the third deputy is twenty-four hundred dollars. Said salaries are payable in the same manner as salaries of other state officers.

Omits subdivisions one and two, which are hereafter recommended to be made sections four hundred and seventy-two a and four hundred and seventy-two b.

§ 472*a*. That a new section, numbered four hundred and seventy-two a, be added, to read:

Sec. 472*a*. The attorney-general must not, without the authorization of the board of examiners, employ special counsel in any case except those provided in section four hundred and seventy-four.

Consists of the matter now in subdivision one of section four hundred and seventy-two.

§ 472*b*. That a new section, numbered four hundred and seventy-two b, be added, to read:

Sec. 472*b*. The attorney-general shall have charge, as attorney, of all legal matters in which the State is in any wise interested, except the business of the regents of the University of California, and of the state harbor commissioners; and no board, officer or officers, or employé of the State, except said regents and said harbor commissioners, must employ any attorney other than the attorney-general, or one of his assistants or deputies, in any matter in which the State is interested, unless otherwise expressly provided by law; nor must any money be drawn out of the treasury, or out of any moneys appropriated out of the treasury, or out of any special or contingent fund under the control of any board, officer or officers, or employé, for the pay of any legal services rendered after March sixteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, the provisions of any existing statute to the contrary notwithstanding. Whenever a district attorney in any county of this State, for any reason, becomes disqualified from conducting any criminal prosecution within such county, the attorney-general may employ special counsel to conduct such prosecution, and the attorney's fee in such case is a legal charge against the State.

Consists of subdivision two of present section four hundred and seventy-two.

§ 474. That section four hundred and seventy-four be amended to read:

Sec. 474. The attorney-general must institute investigations for the discovery of all real and personal property which may have escheated to the State, and for that purpose he has full power and authority to cite any and all persons before any of the superior courts of this State to answer investigations and render accounts concerning said property, real or personal, and to examine all books and papers of any and all corporations. When any real or personal property shall be discovered, which has escheated to the State, the attorney-general must institute suit in the superior court of the county where said property is situated, for the recovery thereof. The attorney-general may, for the purposes and objects of this section, employ counsel to act in his place and stead for the discovery and recovery of both personal and real property; and in such proceedings, both in investigation for discovery or proceedings for recovery, such counsel so employed shall have the power and authority of the attorney-general. The compensation for services of such counsel must be determined by the board of examiners, and paid out of the sums so found to be escheated and recovered to the State, and not otherwise; such compensation not to exceed in any case ten per centum of the amount actually recovered by such proceedings.

The meaning of the section is not changed.

§ 475. That section four hundred and seventy-five be amended to read:

Sec. 475. The attorney-general may appoint two clerks for his office; the annual salary of each clerk is sixteen hundred dollars; and one phonographic reporter, at an annual salary of eighteen hundred dollars. Said salaries are payable in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers.

Subdivision one of the present section is omitted.

§ 498. That section four hundred and ninety-eight be repealed, because it states no rule of law.

§ 501. That section five hundred and one be amended to read:

Sec. 501. The register must charge and collect fees as follows: For each certificate of purchase, duplicate, or patent, three dollars; for certifying a contested case to a superior court, three dollars; for copies of papers in his office, ten cents per folio, and fifty cents for the certificate with the seal attached; and such other fees as may be allowed by law. All fees received by the register must be disposed of as provided in title eight of part three, of this code.

The word "superior" has been substituted for "district."

§ 512. That section five hundred and twelve be repealed, because it states no rule of law.

§ 515. That section five hundred and fifteen be amended to read:

Sec. 515. The annual salary of the clerk of the superintendent of public instruction is sixteen hundred dollars, and of his stenographer, twelve hundred dollars.

Adds the words "and of his stenographer, twelve hundred dollars," to conform the section to the statute of 1895, p. 238, chap. 192.

§ 516. That section five hundred and sixteen be amended to read:

Sec. 516. The actual traveling expenses of the superintendent, not exceeding one thousand five hundred dollars annually, must be audited by the board of examiners, and paid out of the general fund in the state treasury.

To conform the section to subdivision nine of section fifteen hundred and thirty-two.

§ 517. That section five hundred and seventeen be amended to read:

Sec. 517. The superintendent must execute an official bond in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

Substitutes "twenty-five" in place of "ten," because the proceeds of the sale of state school books often exceed the amount of the bond now required by law.

§ 528. That section five hundred and twenty-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 528. There must be printed of the laws of each session of the legislature, twenty-two hundred and fifty copies, in English, to be deposited with the secretary of state, who, after retaining a sufficient number of said volumes for distribution, in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred and nine, must deposit one hundred and fifty copies with the state librarian; the remaining copies to be sold at a price not to exceed three dollars per bound volume; the moneys thus received to be paid into the state treasury at the end of each month, as other fees are paid by the said secretary of state, and for the same purposes. Whenever any bill, joint or concurrent resolution, is passed to enrollment, by either the senate or assembly, the committee on enrollment of the house in which the bill, joint or concurrent resolution originated, must transmit the same, without delay, to the superintendent of state printing, who must receipt for all such bills and resolutions, and proceed at once to have the same printed, in the order in which received, in the measure prescribed by law for the statutes. So soon as printed, one copy, with proper blanks for the signatures of the officers whose duty it is to sign enrolled bills, must be printed on bond paper, which, together with the engrossed bill, must be sent to the committee on enrollment of the house in which the bill originated. Said committee must compare such copy with the engrossed bill, and if it is found to be correct must present it to the proper officers for their signatures. When such officials have signed their names thereon, as required by law, it is an enrolled bill, and must be transmitted to the governor for his approval. If the same is signed by the governor, and becomes a law, the printed law goes to the secretary of state and becomes the official record. Whenever a law is signed by the governor, official notice must be forwarded, in writing, to the superintendent of state printing, of the fact. Upon the receipt of such official notice, the superintendent of state printing must cause to be printed, for the use of the legislature, two hundred and forty copies of said law, joint or concurrent resolution, to be distributed, one third to the senate and two thirds to the assembly, the sergeant-at-arms of the respective houses to receipt to the superintendent of state printing for the same, whose receipt is a proper voucher for the work. He must also cause to be printed the requisite number of sheets to make the number of copies of the statutes required by law to be printed, the one composition of type to answer the purpose of printing the three editions. Of the journals and appendices of the senate and assembly there must be printed four hundred and eighty copies, in one volume or more, as may be required by the size thereof. The superintendent of state printing must have the laws, journals of the senate and assembly, and the appendices and indices thereto, properly bound, the laws in full sheep binding, and journals and appendices in half law sheep binding, marble sides, and deliver the same to the secretary of state for distribution as soon as practicable after the final adjournment of the legislature, and the receipt of the secretary of state is his voucher therefor.

The amendment omits the words "and of such laws, resolutions, and memorials as may be designated by the legislature, two hundred and forty copies in Spanish," to conform to section twenty-four, article four, of the constitution; also omits "indexed and," because by subdivision ten, section four hundred and eight, the secretary of state is required to prepare the indices.

§ 533. That section five hundred and thirty-three be amended to read:

Sec. 533. All ruling, folding and stitching, and binding required to be executed for the State must be done under the supervision of said superintendent. He must advertise for thirty days in one daily newspaper published in the city of San Francisco, and one daily newspaper published in the city of Sacramento, specifying the character of the ruling, folding and stitching, and binding to be bid upon, for proposals to do all such ruling, folding and stitching, and binding; all of which work must be done in the city of Sacramento; and on the day appointed he must, in the presence of the board of examiners, open the bids that may be received, and said superintendent of state printing and said board of examiners must award said contract to the lowest responsible bidder therefor.

Substitutes the words "ruling, folding and stitching, and binding" for the words "ruling, folding, and folding and stitching," "binding, folding and stitching," and "folding, folding and stitching, ruling and binding."

§ 534. That section five hundred and thirty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 534. The annual salary of the superintendent of state printing is three thousand dollars. He may appoint a deputy, who shall receive an annual salary of two thousand four hundred dollars. Such salaries must be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers.

Consolidates in one section what now appears to be two parts of section five hundred and thirty-four.

§ 537. That section five hundred and thirty-seven be repealed. This repeal is recommended on the ground that the present section is meaningless, and that the state treasurer ought not to be authorized to advance moneys on controller's warrants when there are no funds in his hands with which to pay them.

§ 539. That section five hundred and thirty-nine be amended to read:

Sec. 539. Engrossment consists in making the bill as printed conform to the original bill, or to the original bill as amended. Enrollment consists in printing the bill in the form provided by section five hundred and twenty-eight, and signing it by the presiding officers of the houses. All bills and other documents ordered engrossed by either house of the legislature must be delivered by the secretary of the senate or chief clerk of the house, as the case may be, to the engrossing clerk of the house ordering the engrossment, who must deliver such bills or other documents, without delay, in the order of their receipt, to the superintendent of state printing, who must, if the same have been amended since they were last printed, receipt for the same and without delay print the same as amended, in the order so received by him, and deliver such engrossed bill or other documents, with the original thereof, to the engrossing clerk from whom he receives the same, who must carefully compare the engrossed copy with the original, and if correctly engrossed, report the same back, with the original, to the engrossing committee of the house from which he received it. All bills and other documents that have been printed must be considered engrossed, if no amendments have been made after being printed, but the original bill or document must be delivered to the engrossing clerk of the respective houses where the same originated, and he must compare the original bill, or other document, with the printed bill or other document, and forthwith deliver them to the committee on engrossment for return to the house in the same manner as engrossed bills. Such bills or other documents must have a separate order of comparison from the engrossed bills. And all bills and other documents, required to be enrolled by order of either house, must be delivered by the secretary of the senate, or chief clerk of the house, as the case may be, to the enrolling clerk of the house ordering such enrollment, who must deliver such bills or other documents, without delay, in the order of their receipt, to the superintendent of state printing, who must receipt for the same, and who must, without delay, correctly print the same, as provided in section five hundred and twenty-eight, in the order so received by him, and when printed, he must deliver such enrolled bills or other documents, with the originals thereof, to the enrolling clerk from whom he received the same, who must carefully compare such enrolled copy with the original, and if correctly enrolled, he must report the same back, with the original, to the enrolling committee of the house from which he received it.

Consists (1) of the addition of the first two sentences; (2) of striking out "state printer" and inserting "superintendent of state printing"; (3) in inserting "if the same had been amended since they were last printed"; (4) in substituting the word "print" for "engrossed" after the word "delay"; (5) in substituting the word "print" for "enroll" after "correctly."

§§ 548-555. That the whole of article XIII, consisting of sections five hundred and forty-eight to five hundred and fifty-five, be repealed, on the ground that the office of state geologist was intended to be terminated by the act of 1873-4, p. 694.

§§ 541-557. That the act of March 30, 1877-8, p. 740, known as the Bank Commissioners' Act, with its amendments, be codified by adding a new article XIII, to consist of sections five hundred and forty-one to five hundred and fifty-seven inclusive, to read:

ARTICLE XIII.

BANK COMMISSIONERS.

- SEC. 541. Appointment and qualification.
542. Salary and expenses.
543. Expenses and salary, how paid.
544. Powers of the commissioners.
545. Duties of the commissioners.
546. Reports to be made by corporations.
547. Proceedings against corporations violating their charter, or conducting their business in an unsafe manner.
548. Prohibitions.
549. Dividends to be declared by corporations.
550. Banking by persons or unincorporated associations.
551. Prohibition of the use of the word "bank" or "savings."
552. Prohibition of certain advertisements.
553. Misdemeanor in refusing to appear and testify.
554. Misdemeanor. Neglect of commissioner and penalty therefor.
555. Penalty for transacting business without a license.
556. Penalty for loans and investments in mining shares or stocks.
557. Penalty for failing to furnish reports to commissioners.

Appointment and qualification.

Sec. 541. The board of bank commissioners consists of three members. At the expiration of the term of office of any member, the governor must appoint his successor, to hold office for four years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified. No person must be appointed to such office who has any official connection with, or is in the employ of, any savings bank, or bank, or banking company or corporation or society, nor must any of such commissioners, during his term of office, own or be interested in the stock or other property thereof. No two of the commissioners must be residents of the same county, and one of them must be an expert of accounts. Each commissioner must, before entering upon his duties as such, take the oath of office and execute a bond in the sum of twenty thousand dollars, as prescribed by this code for other state officers.

Corresponds to sections one and two of the act, except that the last sentence of section one is omitted for the purpose of inserting its provisions in section five hundred and forty-five, in which are specified the duties of the commissioners.

Salary and expenses.

Sec. 542. Each bank commissioner is entitled to a salary of three thousand six hundred dollars per annum, and to his necessary traveling expenses, not to exceed three thousand dollars per year for the three commissioners, to be audited by the state controller, and paid by the state treasurer, in the same manner as the salaries and expenses of other state officers.

Consists of section twelve of the act, except the last sentence, which is transferred to subdivision six, section five hundred and forty-five.

Expenses and salary, how paid.

Sec. 543. To pay the salaries and all other necessary expenses of the commissioners, as provided for by this article, every corporation receiving a license must pay annually, in advance, to the commissioners in gold coin, its share of the amount required to pay such salaries and expenses; the share to be paid by any corporation to be determined by the proportion which its deposits bear to the aggregate deposits of all such corporations receiving licenses, as shown by the latest reports of such corporations to the commissioners. The commissioners must, on demand therefor, and without charge, furnish to every corporation, society, association, company, institution, firm, or person mentioned in this article, copies of papers, statements, and reports filed in their office, and may, as provided by this article, recover any and all moneys payable to them by any corporation, association, society, company, institution, firm, or person herein mentioned; and all moneys collected or received by such bank commissioners, or either of them, under or by virtue of the provisions herein, must be by them delivered to the treasurer of this State, who must pay the same into a fund known as the "bank commissioners' fund."

Corresponds to section sixteen of the act.

Powers of the commissioners.

Sec. 544. The bank commissioners have power:

1. To appoint a secretary, at a salary of two hundred dollars per month;
2. To procure rooms necessary for their office, at a rent not to exceed seventy-five dollars per month, and stationery, fuel, and other conveniences for the transaction of their duties, not to exceed in the aggregate twelve hundred dollars per annum. All expenses authorized in this subdivision to be audited and paid in the same manner as the salaries of the commissioners;
3. To issue subpoenas to compel witnesses to attend and testify before them, or any of them, on any examination authorized to be made by them, or any of them, and to issue attachments and impose penalties for disobedience of such subpoenas; and such witnesses may also be punished as provided in the Penal Code. All subpoenas and attachments must be served, obeyed, and enforced, as provided in the Code of Civil Procedure, for civil cases;

4. To sue for and recover, in the name of the State, all sums of money which may become due, payable, or forfeited by any of the provisions of this article;

5. To perform all other duties imposed upon them by law.

Subdivision one corresponds to the first sentence of section fourteen of the act; subdivision two to the balance of the section; subdivision three to section eighteen; subdivision four to section nineteen.

Duties of the commissioners.

Sec. 545. The duties of the bank commissioners are:

1. To have their office in the city of San Francisco, and to keep it open for business from nine o'clock A. M. to four o'clock P. M. on all days other than non-judicial;

2. To prepare and furnish every bank, savings bank, banking company, or banking corporation doing business in this State, whether formed or incorporated under its laws or those of some other state, territory, or country, applying therefor, a license, in the form to be prescribed by such commissioners, authorizing such corporation to use the name and to transact the business of a bank, savings bank, or banking company until the first day of July next thereafter. But they shall not issue any license to any savings bank unless at least fifty per cent of all its loans are secured by first mortgage or other prior lien, upon real estate situate within this State, such loans, at the date when made, not to exceed sixty per cent of the market value of the security, except when made for the purpose of facilitating the sale of property owned by the corporation;

3. To receive and place on file in their office, the reports required to be made to them, and to keep the same open to the inspection of the public during their office hours;

4. To prepare and furnish on demand, to all persons, partnerships, corporations, or officers required to make and return statements or reports to such commissioners, blank forms for such statements or reports;

5. To make, on or before the first day of October of each year, a report to the governor, containing a tabulated statement and synopsis of the several reports, returns, and statements filed in their office since their last report, and of any other proceeding had and done by them under this article, showing generally the condition of the respective savings, commercial, and other banking corporations and institutions of this State, and such other matters as in their opinion may be of interest to the public, with a detailed statement, verified by their oaths, of all the moneys and fees of office received by them during the same period;

6. Not to hold any other office or engage in any other business requiring his or their personal attention between the hours of nine o'clock A. M. and four o'clock P. M.;

7. To furnish, during the first week of each session of the legislature, a copy of their annual report to each member thereof;

8. To keep proper books of record of all acts, matters, and things to be done by them under the provisions of this article, which books must be open to the public during their office hours;

9. Upon the expiration of their terms of office, to deliver to their successors, or if there are none, then to the state controller, all property, books, reports, and papers of every description, pertaining to their office;

10. By one or more of their number, as may be designated by them, as often as in their judgment may be necessary, but not less than once each year, without previous notice, to visit and make personal and full examination of each and every corporation mentioned in this section, and inspect all books, papers, notes, bonds, or evidences of debt of such corporation, and all securities, and ascertain the condition of every such corporation, its solvency, its ability to fulfill its obligations, and if, in their opinion, it is deemed necessary, report this condition to the attorney-general as soon as practicable after such examination. Also to examine, under oath, any of the officers, agents, and servants of such corporation in relation to its affairs and condition, and authority is hereby given to each of such commissioners to administer such oath personally.

Subdivision one consists of parts of sections one and fourteen of the act; subdivision two of part of sections three and eight; subdivision three of part of section fifteen; subdivisions four and five of parts of section three; subdivision six is taken from section twelve; subdivision seven from section thirteen; subdivision eight from section seventeen; subdivision nine from section twenty; and subdivision ten from sections four and five of the act.

Reports to be made by corporations.

Sec. 546. Every corporation mentioned in section five hundred and forty-five, including banks in liquidation or insolvency, must, whenever required by the board of bank commissioners, report in writing to it, verified by the oath of its president and its secretary and cashier, or its two principal officers, the actual condition of such corporation at the close of any past day, by the commissioners specified, by stating:

First—The amount of its capital stock, and the number of shares into which it is divided;

Second—The names of the directors, and the number of shares of stock held by each;

Third—The total amount actually paid, in money, by stockholders for capital stock, and the total amount of reserve fund, if any;

Fourth—The total amount due to depositors;

Fifth—The total amount and character of any other liabilities it may have;

Sixth—The amount at which the lot and building, occupied by the bank for the transaction of its regular business, stands debited on its books, together with the market value of all other real estate held, whether acquired in settlement of loans or otherwise; the amount at which it stands debited on the bank books; in what county situated, and in what name the title is vested, if not in the name of the corporation itself;

Seventh—The amount loaned on real estate, specifying the amount secured on real estate in each county separately; also, specifying the name of the person in whose name the property is held in trust, or as security, in case it is held in any name other than that of the bank, and the instrument creating the security does not of itself disclose the name of the bank;

Eighth—The amount invested in bonds, designating each particular class, and the amount thereof;

Ninth—The amount loaned on stocks and bonds, designating each particular class, and the amount thereof;

Tenth—The amount of money loaned on other securities, with a particular designation of each class, and the amount loaned on each;

Eleventh—The actual amount of money on hand or deposited in any other bank or place, with the name of the place where deposited, and the amount in each place;

Twelfth—Any other property held or any amount of money loaned, deposited, invested or placed, not otherwise herein enumerated, with the place where situate, and the value of such property, and the amounts so loaned, deposited, or placed.

The oaths of the officers to the statements above required must state that they, and each of them, have a personal knowledge of the matters therein contained, and that they believe every allegation, statement, matter, and thing therein contained is true; and any wilfully false statement in the premises is perjury, and must be punished as such. The reports provided for by this section must by the commissioners be required from each and every corporation herein mentioned at least three times in each year, and must be transmitted to the commissioners within fifteen days after the receipt from them of a request or requisition.

Corresponds to section nine of the act.

Proceedings against corporations violating their charter, or conducting their business in an unsafe manner.

Sec. 547. If the bank commissioners, on the examination of the affairs of any corporation mentioned in section five hundred and forty-five, find that any such corporation has been guilty of violating its charter, the laws of the State, or any of the provisions of this article, or is conducting business in an unsafe manner, they must, by an order addressed to the corporation so offending, direct the discontinuance of such illegal and unsafe practices, and a conformity with the requirements of the law and its charter, and the provisions of this article. If such corporation refuses or neglects to conform with such requirements before the expiration of the time in the order specified, or if it appears to the commissioners and they unanimously decide that it is unsafe for any such corporation to continue to transact business, it is their duty immediately to take such control of such corporation, and all the property and effects thereof, as may be necessary to prevent waste or diversion of assets, and to hold possession of the same until the order of court hereinafter mentioned, and to immediately notify the attorney-general of their action. He, upon receiving such notification, must immediately commence suit in the proper court against such corporation, and all its directors or trustees, to enjoin them from the transaction of any further business. If, upon the hearing of the case, the court finds that it is unsafe for such corporation to continue business, and that it is insolvent, the court must issue the injunction applied for, cause the same to be served according to law, and order the commissioners to surrender to the corporation the property thereof in their possession for the purpose of liquidation; or if the court finds that such corporation is solvent, and may safely continue business, it must dismiss the action and order that the corporation be restored to the possession of its property. The issuance of the injunction hereinabove provided for, by operation of law, dissolves any and all attachments levied upon any property of such corporation within one month next preceding the date of the notification by the commissioners to the attorney-general, and no attachment or execution must, after the issuance of such injunction and during the process of liquidation hereinafter provided for, be levied upon any property of said corporation, nor must any lien be created thereon. If it appears to the court at such hearing, or at any time during the liquidation hereinafter provided for, on the petition of one or more of the bank commissioners, or any other interested party, that any of the directors or trustees, or officers of said corporation, has been guilty of fraud, malversation, or criminal carelessness or negligence, or that any of them is not a proper person to be intrusted with the closing of the affairs and business of such corporation in the interest of the depositors, creditors, and stockholders thereof, the court must cause to be issued and served upon said directors or trustees, or officers, or any of them, an order to show cause why they, or any of them, should not be removed from office, which order must briefly recite the grounds of the application and be returnable at a time to be fixed by the court. If, on the hearing, the court finds that such directors or trustees or officers, or any of them, ought to be removed from office, it must enter its order of removal accordingly, which order is final in the premises. If the board of directors or trustees of the corporation neglects, for the period of ten days after such removal, to elect or appoint a successor or successors to the person or persons so removed, then the court, by an order entered in the cause, must appoint such successor or successors; and the court also has power in like manner to fill all vacancies occurring in the board, and to appoint directors or trustees in their stead, whenever from any cause there are no directors or trustees, or not a sufficient number thereof to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; and when from any cause there are no directors or trustees, the court may order an election by the stockholders, to be held according to law. Subject to this right of removal and appointment, the directors or trustees of all banking corporations in liquidation must be permitted to continue the management of the affairs of such corporations during the process of liquidation, under the direction of the bank commissioners, as hereinafter provided. The affairs of every corporation mentioned in this article which is hereafter forced into liquidation, must be closed, and the business thereof settled within four years from the time it enters into liquidation, unless at the expiration of such time it obtains the consent, in writing, from a majority of the board of bank commissioners, to continue in liquidation for a longer period. The bank commissioners, however, have no power to grant a continuance for such purpose for a longer period than one year at each time, and the affairs of any corporation in process of liquidation at the time of the adoption of this section must be closed within a time to be designated by such bank commissioners. Any corporation mentioned herein, now in liquidation, or that hereafter goes into liquidation, must make reports of the condition of its affairs to the bank commissioners, in the same manner as the solvent banks mentioned in this article, and in addition thereto, must state the amount of dividends paid, debts collected, and the amounts realized on property sold, if any, since the previous report. The bank commissioners must examine the condition of every such corporation in liquidation, in the same manner as in the case of solvent banks; and they have a general supervision of any such corporation. They have the power to limit the number of employés necessary to close up the business of any such corporation, and to also limit their salaries, and must do all in their power to make such liquidation economical and as expeditious as the interests of the depositors and stockholders will admit. If any officer or employé of any corporation, insolvent or in liquidation, mentioned in this article, refuses to comply with the provisions of this section, or disregards or refuses to obey the directions of the bank commissioners given in accordance with the provisions of this article, such officer or employé must be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, as a court of competent jurisdiction may determine.

Corresponds to section eleven of the act.

Prohibitions.

Sec. 548. No savings bank, or bank or banking corporation, shall be incorporated in this State and conduct such banking business in a city or town of five thousand inhabitants or under, with a capital stock of less than twenty-five thousand dollars, or in a city or town of over five thousand and not exceeding ten thousand inhabitants with a capital stock of less than fifty thousand dollars, or in a city or town of over ten thousand and not exceeding twenty-five thousand inhabitants with a capital stock of less than one hundred thousand dollars, or in a city or town of over twenty-five thousand inhabitants with a capital stock of less than two hundred thousand dollars. Before the secretary of state issues to any corporation that proposes to do a banking business his certificate of the filing of the articles of incorporation, there must be filed in his office the affidavit of the persons named in said articles as the first directors of the corporation, that all the capital stock has been actually and in good faith subscribed, and at least fifty per centum thereof paid, in lawful money of the United States, to a person in such affidavit named, for the benefit of such corporation. The remainder of the capital stock must be paid in within two years after said banking corporation receives from the commissioners its first license to transact business, and if not so paid, no further license must be issued to it. The provisions of this section do not apply to corporations existing prior to March thirtieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight.

Corresponds to section twenty-four of the act, except that at the end thereof, the date of the passage of such act is mentioned as the one after which the provisions of the section shall apply to corporations.

Dividends to be declared by corporations.

Sec. 549. The directors of any savings bank, bank or banking corporation having a capital stock, may semi-annually declare a dividend of so much of the net profits of the stockholders as they shall judge expedient; but every such corporation must, before the declaration of such dividend, carry at least one tenth ($\frac{1}{10}$) part of the net profits of the stockholders for the preceding half year to its surplus or reserve fund until the same amounts to twenty-five per centum of its paid-up capital stock. But the whole or any part of such surplus or reserve fund, if held as the exclusive property of stockholders, may at any time be converted into paid-up capital stock, in which event such surplus or reserve fund must be restored in manner as above provided, until it amounts to twenty-five per centum of the aggregate paid-up capital stock. A larger surplus or reserve fund may be created, and nothing herein contained shall be construed as prohibitory thereof.

Corresponds to section twenty-five of the act.

Banking by persons or unincorporated associations.

Sec. 550. Every person or number of persons, not being incorporated, engaged in the business of banking, or publicly receiving money on deposit, must conduct such business under a name which shows the true names of all persons engaged therein, unless such person or persons have complied with, or shall forthwith comply with, the provisions of article seven, of chapter two, title ten, part four, division third, of the Civil Code of this State. Every person engaged for himself, or any person being the cashier, manager, or agent, of two or more persons, not incorporated, engaged in the business of banking, or publicly receiving money on deposit, must, three times in each year, or oftener, if required by the bank commissioners, report in writing to the commissioners, verified under oath, which report must show the actual financial condition of the said business on any past day by the commissioners specified, and also state the facts required to be stated by incorporated banks or banking corporations in section five hundred and forty-six, so far as the same appertain to said business. Such reports must be transmitted to the commissioners within fifteen days after the receipt from the commissioners of a request or requisition therefor. Every person violating any of the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor, and is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ninety days nor more than six months, or by fine not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Corresponds to section twenty-three of the act.

Prohibition of the use of the word "bank" or "savings."

Sec. 551. The use of the word "bank," or any other word or term denoting or implying the conduct of the business of banking, or the use of the word "savings" alone or in connection with other words denoting or implying the conduct of the business of a savings institution, or a savings and loan society, is hereby prohibited to all persons, firms, associations, companies, or corporations other than those subject to the supervision of the bank commissioners or required by this article to report to them, and no license, as in this article provided, must be issued by the commissioners to any corporation that does not receive money from the public as deposits in manner customary with commercial or savings banks. Any person, firm, association, company, or corporation not subject to the supervision of the bank commissioners, or not required by this article to report to them, making use of terms implying the conduct of a bank, savings bank, or savings and loan society by means of signs, advertisements, letter heads, bill heads, blank notes, blank receipts, certificates, circulars, or any written or printed or partly written and partly printed paper whatever, having thereon any artificial or corporate name or other word or words indicating that such business is the business of a bank, savings bank, or savings and loan society, shall forfeit, for each day the offense is continued, the sum of one hundred dollars, to be recovered as provided in this article.

Corresponds to section twenty-six of the act.

Prohibition of certain advertisements.

Sec. 552. No banker, nor officer of any bank or corporation doing a banking business, must advertise in any manner, or publish any statement of the capital stock authorized or subscribed, unless he advertises and publishes in connection therewith, the amount of capital actually paid up. Any officer of any bank or corporation doing a banking business, advertising in any manner, or publishing a statement of the capital stock of such bank or banking corporation, authorized or subscribed, without the statement in connection therewith of the stock actually paid up, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Corresponds to section twenty-seven of the act.

Misdemeanor in refusing to appear and testify.

Sec. 553. Whoever neglects or refuses, after demand and notice thereof, and without justifiable cause, to appear and testify under oath before the bank commissioners, or any of them, in the discharge of their or his duty, is guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Consists of the last clause of section five of the act.

Misdemeanor. Neglect of commissioner, and penalty therefor.

Sec. 554. If any bank commissioner has knowledge of the insolvency or unsafe condition of any corporation mentioned in this article, and neglects to report the same, in writing, to the attorney-general, as required by this article, he must, on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars nor less than five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than one year nor more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and his office must be declared vacant by the governor, and a successor be appointed for the unexpired term.

Corresponds to section six of the act.

Penalty for transacting business without a license.

Sec. 555. No corporation must use the name or transact the business of a savings bank, bank, or banking corporation without the license provided for by section five hundred and forty-five. Any corporation violating this provision forfeits the sum of one hundred dollars per day during the continuance of the offense; and any person who enters upon, engages in, or carries on, or in any manner attends to the business or management of a savings bank, bank, or banking corporation, doing business without such license, whether as manager, principal, agent, officer, employé or otherwise, forfeits the sum of one hundred dollars for every day he so enters upon, engages in, carries on, or attends to such business; and any violation of this section is also hereby declared to be a misdemeanor.

Corresponds to section seven of the act.

Penalty for loans and investments in mining shares or stocks.

Sec. 556. It is unlawful for any savings and loan society or savings bank to purchase, invest, or loan any part of its capital, or of the money of its depositors, in mining shares or stocks. Any president or managing officer who knowingly consents to a violation of this section, is guilty of a felony.

Consists of the last two sentences of section eight of the act.

Penalty for failing to furnish reports to commissioners.

Sec. 557. Any corporation mentioned in section five hundred and forty-five, failing to furnish to the bank commissioners any report by them required under the provisions of this article, within the time herein specified, forfeits the sum of one hundred dollars per day during the time of such default.

Consists of section ten of the act.

§§ 561-567. That article XIV, consisting of sections five hundred and sixty-one to five hundred and sixty-seven inclusive, be repealed, because they have been superseded by the statute of 1891, p. 487. The article is probably also unconstitutional under section fourteen, article eleven of the state constitution, and subdivision five of article eight of the constitution of the United States. See also Condict v. Police Court, 59 Cal. 278.

§§ 577-584. That sections five hundred and seventy-seven to five hundred and eighty-four be repealed, because they are inconsistent with section fourteen of article eleven of the state constitution. See Condict v. Police Court, 59 Cal. 278.

§§ 585-593*e*. That the statute of 1893, p. 229, relating to the commissioners of building and loan associations, be codified by adding article XV*a*, consisting of sections five hundred and eighty-five to five hundred and ninety-three e, inclusive, to read:

ARTICLE XV*a*.

COMMISSIONERS OF BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

- Sec. 585. Appointment and qualification.
- 586. Secretary and his appointment and qualification.
- 587. Salary and expenses of the commissioners.
- 588. Funds for the payment of salaries and expenses, and the mode of their collection.
- 589. Powers of the commissioners.
- 590. Duties of the commissioners.
- 591. Corporations subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioners.
- 592. Licensing of associations.
- 593. Reports by associations.
- 593*a*. Associations violating the law or proceeding in an unsafe manner.
- 593*b*. Receivers and their duties.
- 593*c*. Withdrawal of stockholders.
- 593*d*. Penalty for refusing to appear and testify.
- 593*e*. Punishment of commissioners for failure to report.

Appointment and qualification.

Sec. 585. The board of commissioners of building and loan associations consists of two members, who are appointed by the governor, and hold office for four years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. Each commissioner must be an expert of accounts, and each must, before entering upon the duties of his office, execute an official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, and take the oath of office as prescribed by this code for state officers in general.

Consists of parts of sections one and fourteen of the original act.

Secretary and his appointment and qualification.

Sec. 586. The commissioners may appoint a secretary, at a salary not exceeding twelve hundred dollars per year, who must, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, take the oath of office and execute a bond in the sum of two thousand dollars, as prescribed by this code. The secretary has the same power as the commissioners to examine the books and affairs of the associations.

Consists of parts of sections two and four of the original act.

Salary and expenses of the commissioners.

Sec. 587. The commissioners are entitled to receive a salary of twenty-four hundred dollars per annum, each, and necessary traveling expenses of themselves and their secretary, not to exceed seven hundred dollars per annum for all three. Such salaries and traveling expenses must be audited by the controller and paid in the same manner as the salary and expenses of other state officers.

Conforms to section two of the original act.

Funds for the payment of salaries and expenses, and the mode of their collection.

Sec. 588. To meet the expenses authorized by this article, every building and loan association, or corporation or association doing business on the building and loan plan, must pay, in advance, to the commissioners, its pro rata of such expenses, to be determined by an assessment levied on the shares of each of such associations in force on the thirty-first day of December, preceding such levy, according to the par value of such shares; and annually thereafter, the commissioners must levy, in a like manner, and collect in advance, a like assessment on the shares of all such associations in force as per report, herein provided for, to be made to the commissioners, of the condition at the close of business on December thirty-first of each year. No association must pay less than ten dollars per annum. All associations hereafter organized must pay to the commissioners for their licenses not less than one dollar per month for the term expiring December thirty-first succeeding, dating from the time of application for license. The collection of all moneys assessed, as herein provided, for the annual expenses, or forfeitable as fines for failure to make reports as herein specified, and due from any corporation or association coming within the provisions of this article, may be enforced by action instituted in any court of competent jurisdiction, and all moneys collected or received by the commissioners must be deposited with the state treasurer, to the credit of a fund to be known and designated as the "building and loan association inspection fund."

Consolidates sections fifteen and sixteen of the original act.

Powers of the commissioners.

Sec. 589. The powers of the board of commissioners are:

1. To procure rooms for their office in the city of San Francisco, at a monthly rental not exceeding forty dollars, and to provide fuel, stationery, printing, and other necessary conveniences connected with such office, not to exceed the aggregate cost of four hundred dollars per annum. All the expenses authorized in this subdivision must be audited and paid in the same manner as the salaries of the commissioners;

2. To appoint a secretary as provided in section five hundred and eighty-six;

3. To order a revaluation of the securities of any building and loan association when they deem it necessary, and for that purpose, to appoint local appraisers at the expense of such association, the total expense of such appraisement not to exceed two dollars and fifty cents for each property examined and appraised. Each appraiser must make a sworn report to the commissioners of the appraised values of all property examined;

4. Each of the commissioners has power to summon all trustees, officers, or agents of any such corporation, and such witnesses as he thinks proper, in relation to the affairs, transactions, and conditions of the corporation, and for that purpose may administer oaths;

5. To perform all other duties imposed on them by this article or by any other law.

Subdivision one contains a part of section three; subdivision two part of section two; subdivision three all of section seven, after the first sentence; subdivision four, the first sentence of section eight.

Duties of the commissioners.

Sec. 590: The duties of the commissioners are:

1. To keep an office in the city of San Francisco, and have it open for business every business day during such hours as are commonly observed as banking hours by the banks of that city;

2. To furnish all corporations legally authorized to transact the business of a building and loan association within this State, a license authorizing them to transact such business for one year from the date of the license;

3. To receive and place on file in their office the annual reports required to be made by building and loan associations;

4. To supply each association with blank forms for such statements as the commissioners may require;

5. To make, on or before the first day of October, of each year, a tabulated report to the governor, showing the condition of all institutions examined by them, with such recommendations as they may deem proper, accompanied by a detailed statement, verified by oath, of all moneys received and expended by them since their last report;

6. To visit once in every year, and as much oftener as they may deem expedient, every building and loan association doing business in this State, and thoroughly inspect and examine all the affairs of each of them, and make such inquiries as may be necessary to ascertain its condition and ability to fulfill all its engagements, and whether it has complied with the provisions of law governing such associations;

7. To preserve in a permanent form a full record of their proceedings, including a statement of the condition of each of said corporations, which must be open to the inspection of the public during their office hours;

8. To jointly, or by one of their number, at least once in each year, and as much oftener as they may deem expedient, examine the actions and doings of all receivers appointed under this article, and carefully examine and report upon all accounts and reports of such receivers made to the proper court and referred to the commissioners by the court; and, for the purposes of this subdivision, each commissioner is entitled to free access to the books and papers relating to the transactions of such receivers, and may examine them under oath relative to such transactions;

9. Upon the certificate, under oath, of any five or more officers, trustees, shareholders, or depositors, in any corporation named in this article, filed with them, setting forth the necessity and reasons for making such examination, and requesting it to be made, to forthwith make a full examination of its affairs;

10. When, in their opinion, any corporation mentioned in this article, or its officers or trustees, have violated any law relating to such corporation, to forthwith report the same to the attorney-general, who must immediately, in behalf of the people of the State, institute a prosecution for such violation.

Subdivision one is from section three; subdivisions two, three, four, and five are from section five; subdivision six consists of section six, except the last sentence; subdivision seven, of the last sentence of section six; subdivision eight corresponds to section twelve; subdivision nine to section thirteen; and subdivision ten to section fourteen.

Corporations subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioners.

Sec. 591. All building and loan associations doing business in this State, no matter where or when incorporated, are subject to the examination and supervision of the board of commissioners of building and loan associations, and, to facilitate the examinations in this article provided for, each of such associations must keep a book of records, in ink, showing the appraised value of the real estate security held in connection with each loan and signed in each case by the appraiser or officer or committee of the association making the estimate of value. The name "building and loan association," and all reference to the same as "association" or "associations," as used in this article, includes all corporations, societies, or organizations, investment companies or associations, whether organized in this State or represented by agents, doing a savings and loan or investment business, and which are not under the direct supervision of the bank commissioners or the insurance commissioner, and whether issuing certificates of stock which mature at a time fixed in advance or not, and also includes any association or company which is based on the plan of building and loan associations, and which contains features similar to such associations; the building and loan commissioners are hereby vested with the power of determining whether such association or associations contain such features as are based on plans similar to those of building and loan associations, and whether they properly come within the purview of this article.

The first clause of the first sentence is taken from section one, and the second clause from section seven. The balance of the section corresponds to section twenty of the original act.

Licensing of associations.

Sec. 592. No association must transact business in this State without first procuring from the commissioners of building and loan associations a certificate of authority or license to do so. To procure such authority it must file with the commissioners a certified copy of its articles of incorporation, constitution, and by-laws, and all other rules and regulations relating to its methods of conducting business, and of all subsequent amendments or changes therein, and otherwise comply with all requirements of law. No association, after the expiration of the term for which a license has been granted to it by the commissioners of building and loan associations, must continue to transact the business of a building and loan association without first procuring from the commissioners a renewal of such license on the terms provided for in this article; and any corporation violating this article forfeits the sum of ten dollars per day during the continuance of the offense; and any violation of this section by any officer of such association is a misdemeanor. The commissioners are authorized to revoke the license of any association under their supervision, the solvency whereof is imperiled by losses or irregularities; and immediately upon revoking such license they must report the facts to the attorney-general, who must thereupon take such proceedings as are provided by section five hundred and ninety-three a.

Corresponds to section seventeen of the original act.

Reports by associations.

Sec. 593. Every building and loan association doing business in this State must, once in every year, within thirty days after the expiration of its annual fiscal term, make a report, in writing, to the commissioners of building and loan associations, verified by the oath of its president and secretary, showing accurately the financial condition of such association at the close of such term. The report must be in such form as the commissioners prescribe, upon blanks by them furnished for that purpose, and must specify the following particulars, namely: Name of the corporation, place where located, authorized capital stock, amount of stock paid in, the names of the directors, the amount of capital stock held by each, the amount due to shareholders, the amount and character of all other liabilities, cash on hand, and the number and value of shares in each and every series of stock issued by the association. All money received or disbursed by such association must be duly accounted for. Any association failing to file the annual report within the time specified herein is subject to a penalty of ten dollars per day for each and every day such report is delayed or withheld.

Corresponds to section eighteen of the original act.

Associations violating the law or proceeding in an unsafe manner.

Sec. 593a. If the commissioners, upon examination of any corporation under their supervision, find that such corporation has violated any provision of law governing it, or is conducting its business in an unsafe manner, such as to render its further proceeding hazardous to the public, or to those having funds in its custody, they must notify the attorney-general of such facts, and he, in his discretion, may apply to the superior court of the county in which such corporation is doing business, to issue an injunction restraining such corporation, in whole or in part, from further proceeding with its business until a hearing can be had. Such court may, on such application, issue such injunction, and after a full hearing may dissolve, modify, or make it perpetual, and may make such orders and decrees, according to the course of proceedings in equity, to restrain or prohibit the further prosecution of the

Corresponds to section nine of the original act.

Receivers and their duties.

Sec. 593b. When receivers are appointed, the secretary of the corporation must make a schedule of all its property, and its secretary, board of investment, or other officers, transferring its property to the receivers, must make oath that such schedule sets forth all the property which the corporation owns, or is entitled to. The secretary must deliver the schedule to the receivers, and a copy thereof to the commissioners, who may, at any time examine, under oath, such secretary, board of investment, or other officers, to determine whether or not all the property which the corporation owns, or is entitled to, has been transferred to the receivers.

Corresponds to section eleven of the original act.

Withdrawal of stockholders.

Sec. 593c. Stockholders desiring to withdraw from any association, or to surrender a part or all of their stock, may do so by giving thirty days' notice, in writing, of such intention to withdraw. On the expiration of the notice, the stockholder so withdrawing is entitled to receive the full amount paid in by him, together with such proportion of the earnings thereon as the by-laws may provide, or as may have been fixed by the board of directors. Not more than one half of the receipts in any one month must be applied to withdrawals for that month, without the consent of the board of directors, and no shareholder must be permitted to withdraw whose stock is pledged to the association as security for a loan until such loan is fully paid. Such withdrawals must be paid in succession, in the order that the notices are given.

Corresponds to section nineteen of the original act.

Penalty for refusing to appear and testify.

Sec. 593d. Any person who refuses, without just cause, to appear and testify before the commissioners, or either of them, when required by them, or either, or obstructs a commissioner in the discharge of his duty, is guilty of misdemeanor, and punishable by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Corresponds to section eight of the original act.

Punishment of commissioners for failure to report.

Sec. 593e. If a commissioner, having knowledge of the insolvent condition, or any violation of law, or unsafe practice of any association under his supervision, such as renders the conduct of its business hazardous to its shareholders or depositors, fails to report the same in writing to the attorney-general, as required by this article, then such commissioner, on conviction thereof, must be punished by a fine of not less than five thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than one year nor more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and his office must be declared vacant by the governor, and a successor appointed to fill his unexpired term.

Corresponds to section ten of the original act.

§ 594. That section five hundred and ninety-four be amended to read:

Sec. 594. No person is eligible to the office of insurance commissioner or deputy who is an officer, agent, employé, or stockholder of an insurance company.

The words "or stockholder" are inserted.

§ 612. That section six hundred and twelve be amended to read:

Sec. 612. Such statement, if made by fire, marine, and inland insurance companies, or by companies organized under section four hundred and twenty of the Civil Code, must show:

First—The amount of the capital stock of the company.

Second—The property or assets held by the company, specifying:

1. The value of the real estate held by said company;
2. The amount of cash on hand and deposited in banks to the credit of the company, specifying the same;
3. The amount of cash in the hands of agents, and in course of transmission;
4. The amount of loans secured by bonds and mortgages, constituting the first lien on real estate, on which there is less than one year's interest due or owing;

5. The amount of loans on which interest has not been paid within one year previous to such statement;

6. The amount due the company on which judgments have been obtained;

7. The amount of bonds of this State, of the United States, or any incorporated city of this State, and of any stocks in corporations owned by the company, specifying the amount, number of shares, par and market value of each kind;

8. The amount of stocks or bonds held as collateral security for loans, with the amount loaned on each kind, its par and market value;

9. The amount of interest due and unpaid;

10. The amount of all other loans made by the company, specifying the same;

11. The amount of premium notes on hand on which policies are issued;

12. All other property belonging to the company, specifying the same.

Third—The liabilities of such company, specifying:

1. The amount of losses due and unpaid;

2. The amount of claims for losses resisted by the company;

3. The amount of losses in process of adjustment or in suspense, including all reported or supposed losses;

4. The amount of dividends declared, due and remaining unpaid;

5. The amount of dividends declared, but not due;

6. The amount of money borrowed and security given for the payment thereof;

7. Gross premium (without any deductions) received and receivable upon all unexpired fire risks running one year or less from date of policy, reinsurance thereon at fifty per cent;

8. Gross premiums (without any deductions) received and receivable upon all unexpired fire risks running more than one year from the date of policy, reinsurance thereon pro rata;

9. Gross premiums (without any deductions) received and receivable upon all unexpired marine and inland navigation risks, except time risks, reinsurance thereon at one hundred per cent;

10. Gross premiums (without any deductions) received and receivable on marine time risks, reinsurance thereon at fifty per cent;

11. Amount reclaimable by the insured on perpetual fire insurance policies, being ninety-five per cent of the premiums or deposit received;

12. Reinsurance fund and all other liabilities, except capital, under the life insurance or any other special department;

13. Unused balances of bills and notes taken in advance for premiums on open marine and inland policies, or otherwise, returnable on settlement;

14. Principal unpaid on scrip or certificates of profits which have been authorized or ordered to be redeemed;

15. Amount of all other liabilities of the company, specifying the same.

Fourth—The income of the company during the preceding year, specifying:

1. The amount of cash premiums received;

2. The amount of notes received for premiums;

3. The amount of interest money received, specifying the same;

4. The amount of income received from all other sources, specifying the same.

Fifth—The expenditures of the preceding year, specifying:

1. The amount of losses paid;

2. The amount of dividends paid;

3. The amount of expenses paid, including commissions and fees to agents and officers of the company;

4. The amount paid for taxes;

5. The amount of all other payments and expenditures.

Sixth—1. The amount of risks written during the year;

2. The amount of risks expired during the year;

3. The amount of risks written during the year in the State of California;

4. The amount of premiums thereon.

Provided, that any foreign fire, marine, or inland insurance company, incorporated or not incorporated, doing business within this State, having on deposit at any place within the United States, assets to the amount of two hundred thousand dollars over and above its liabilities in the United States, as security for policy holders therein, may at its option make a separate statement to the insurance commissioner of its foreign business and assets, but shall be required to return only the business done in the United States, and the assets held by or for it within the United States for the protection of policy holders therein.

In subdivision seven of subdivision Second, line one, the word "bonds" has been substituted for "stocks," so that the subdivision applies to bonds as well as to stocks; in subdivision eight the words "or bonds" are inserted.

§§ 644-649. That the statute of 1893, p. 203, for the establishment of a State Mining Bureau, be codified by adding article XVIIa, consisting of sections six hundred and forty-four to six hundred and forty-nine, inclusive, to read:

ARTICLE XVIIa.

STATE MINING BUREAU.

- SEC. 644. The trustees, and their appointment, qualification, and compensation.
645. Powers and duties of trustees.
646. Mining bureau fund.
647. The state mineralogist, his appointment, qualification, and compensation.
648. The assistants of the state mineralogist.
649. The state mineralogist's duties.

The trustees, their appointment, qualification, and compensation.

Sec. 644. The state mining bureau is under the supervision and control of a board of trustees to consist of five members, and must maintain its principal office in the city of San Francisco. Such trustees must be citizens and residents of the State, and must be appointed by the governor, to hold office for four years from the date of their appointment, and until the qualification of their successors. They are not entitled to any salary or compensation, and must take the same oath of office as other state officers. When duly qualified and assembled they constitute the board of trustees of the state mining bureau. Three of them constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. They must elect one of their number president, and keep a record of their proceedings and adopt rules and regulations for their government not inconsistent with the laws of the State.

This section is intended to include all the matters provided for in sections one and two of the statute.

Powers and duties of trustees.

Sec. 645. The board of trustees of the state mining bureau may by that name sue and be sued. They have the management and control of all the property and funds of the bureau, and must make rules regulating the custody and disbursement of such funds and the mode of drawing them from the state treasury. They may receive on behalf of the State and for the use of the bureau gifts, bequests, and devises of property, real and personal, and use the same in accordance with the wishes of the donors, and if no instructions are given by such donors, the trustees must manage, use, and dispose of such gifts, bequests, or devises, in such manner as they deem will best promote the interests of such bureau. The board of trustees must, when the funds of the bureau will permit, procure and maintain the necessary rooms and furniture for the office and uses of the board, of the state mineralogist, and of the museum and library of the bureau in San Francisco, but the entire expenses of the bureau of every character must not in any year be greater than can be paid out of such fund. The board must biennially report to the governor the condition of the bureau, incorporating therein the biennial report of the state mineralogist and a statement in detail of the receipts and expenditures of the board, which report must be printed as are the reports of other state officers.

This section is intended to embrace the matters specified in sections six, seven, eight, and nine of the statute.

The mining bureau fund.

Sec. 646. The mining bureau fund, out of which all the expenses of that bureau must be paid, is to consist of such property and money as may come into the hands of the board of trustees by gift, bequest, or devise, and such money as may from time to time be appropriated by the legislature for the use of said bureau.

This section corresponds to section eleven of the statute, omitting the last clause, because the moneys therein provided for were discontinued by the statute of 1897, p. 243, abolishing the tax on certificates of incorporation.

The state mineralogist, his appointment, qualification, and compensation.

Sec. 647. The state mineralogist must be a citizen and resident of the State having a practical and scientific knowledge of mining and mineralogy. He must be appointed by the governor and hold office for four years from the date of his appointment, or until the qualification of his successor. He must take the same oath of office as other state officers, and give a bond in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, to be approved by the governor, for the faithful performance of the duties of his office. His salary is two hundred and fifty dollars per month, payable in the same manner as the salary of other state officers. He is also entitled to his necessary traveling expenses when traveling on the business of his office, which expenses must first be approved by the board of trustees of the state mining bureau, and afterwards audited and allowed by the state board of examiners. His salary and expenses must be paid out of the mining bureau fund, and not otherwise.

Corresponds to section three of the statute.

The assistants of the state mineralogist.

Sec. 648. The state mineralogist may appoint competent assistants and qualified specialists when necessary in the execution of his plans, and fix their compensation. Such appointment and compensation must be approved by the board of trustees of the state mining bureau, and until so approved, neither is effective.

Corresponds to present section five, except that the last sentence in this section has been transferred to the section following.

The state mineralogist's duties.

Sec. 649. The duties of the state mineralogist are to make, facilitate, and encourage special studies of the mineral resources and industries of the State; to collect statistics concerning the occurrence of the economically important minerals and the methods pursued in making their valuable constituents available for commercial use; to make a collection of typical geological and mineralogical specimens, especially those of economic or commercial importance, such collection constituting the museum of the state mining bureau; to provide a library of books, reports, and drawings bearing upon the mineral industries, the sciences of mineralogy and geology, and the arts of mining and metallurgy, such library constituting the library of the state mining bureau; to make a collection of models, drawings, and descriptions of the mechanical appliances used in mining and metallurgical processes; to preserve and so maintain such collections and library as to make them available for reference and examination, and open to public inspection at reasonable hours; to maintain, in effect, a bureau of information concerning the mineral industries of this State, to consist of such collection and library, and to arrange, classify, catalogue, and index the data therein contained, in a manner to make the information available to those desiring it, and to provide a custodian specially qualified to promote this purpose; to make a biennial report to the board of trustees of the mining bureau, setting forth the important results of his work, and to issue from time to time such bulletins as he may deem advisable concerning the statistics and technology of the mining industries of the State; to consult such board of trustees upon all matters appertaining to his official duties, and to at all times perform such duties subject to the supervision and approval of such board; to furnish the bureau of highways such data and information as it may call for. He may, with the approval of the board of trustees of the state mining bureau, prepare a special collection of ores and minerals of California, to be sent to any world's fair or exposition at which they may deem it advisable or desirable to display the mineral wealth of the State.

Consists of section four of the statute and also of the last sentence of section ten, also of section eleven of the statute of 1895, p. 263.

Sections twelve to sixteen of the statute do not require codification, because sections twelve and thirteen have been made inoperative by the statute of 1897, p. 243, discontinuing the tax on certificates of stock of corporations, and the other provisions relate to matters long since accomplished.

§ 653a. That the statute of 1876, p. 314, providing for the purchase of certain supplies for the state boards and members of the legislature, be codified by adding a section to be inserted in article XVIII immediately preceding section six hundred and fifty-four, and numbered six hundred and fifty-three a, to read:

Sec. 653a. The state board of examiners is ex officio a furnishing body. As such it is its duty, as often as necessary, to advertise, for twenty days in two daily newspapers published in the city of San Francisco, and in one daily newspaper published in the city of Sacramento, for sealed proposals to furnish stationery, blank books, material for lights, fuel, and such other articles as are necessary for the use of the State and of the legislative officers entitled thereto. In such advertisement the board must specify the amount and kind of each article desired, samples or minute descriptions of which must accompany and be deposited with the sealed proposals for furnishing the same in the office of the secretary of state. All proposals received must be opened and compared by the board, any two of whom constitute a quorum, at the governor's office at twelve o'clock M. of the day specified in the advertisement. The board must then and there award the contract for furnishing such supplies, or any of them, to the lowest bidder whose sealed bid is accompanied by a bond, with two sureties, in an amount not less than twice the value of the articles to be supplied, payable to the State of California, conditioned that if the bidder receives the award, he will, within ten days thereafter, deliver the supplies or articles for which he has been awarded such contract. In its advertisement, the board must classify the supplies and articles, and may receive bids and award contracts for such separate articles or class of supplies as it deems the lowest and best, and may require any class or article of such supplies to be delivered in installments and paid for on delivery. Any and all bids which are deemed too high by the board may be declined, in which event it must again advertise for sealed proposals to furnish the classes or articles of supplies so declined, and so on for the same cause as often as it occurs. The board may purchase any articles or supplies for which bids have been rejected as aforesaid, in the open market, in amounts sufficient for immediate necessities, but at prices not exceeding the lowest prices in the bids rejected. The board must, at the end of each fiscal year, and at such other times as it deems necessary, cause an inventory to be taken of all the articles and classes of supplies on hand, and contracted for, and make an examination of the accounts and vouchers appertaining to the same. At least one month prior to the assembling of each legislature, the board must advertise in accordance with this section for a supply of stationery, fuel, and such other articles as may be sufficient for the use of the state officers and members of the legislature, or necessary for the public service; and at the commencement of each session, the board must report to the legislature a full account of its receipts and expenditures and stock of supplies on hand. The actual expenses incurred by the board while acting as such furnishing board in executing the powers and discharging the duties prescribed by this section must, when certified by them, be audited by the controller and paid by the treasurer of state out of any money appropriated for that purpose, but nothing herein must be construed as allowing any salary or compensation for any services performed as such furnishing board.

§ 679. That section six hundred and seventy-nine be amended to read:

Sec. 679. No officer or employé in the service of the State has power to create any deficiency in excess of an appropriation made by law, except in cases of actual necessity, and then only upon written authority, first obtained, of the governor, secretary of state, and attorney-general. Any indebtedness attempted to be created in violation of this section is null and void, and must not be allowed by the board of examiners.

The effect of this amendment is to repeal the present section and to codify, in place thereof, the statute of 1893, p. 285, prohibiting the creation of debts against the State in excess of appropriations made by law.

§ 685a. That the statute of 1891, p. 452, relating to the sale of old furniture and material, be codified in a new section numbered six hundred and eighty-five a, to read:

Sec. 685a. The board, when in its judgment it deems it advisable, may sell old furniture and all other useless material belonging to the State and not required for State purposes, and when sold, must pay the proceeds thereof into the state treasury to the credit of the general fund.

§§ 686–688. That there be inserted a new article, to be numbered XVIIIa, to consist of sections six hundred and eighty-six to six hundred and eighty-eight, to read:

ARTICLE XVIIIa.

BOARD OF STATE CAPITOL COMMISSIONERS.

SEC. 686. The board and its appointees.

687. The gardener and his powers and duties.

688. Salaries of employés.

The board and its appointees.

Sec. 686. The board of state capitol commissioners consists of the governor, the secretary of state, and the state treasurer, and is authorized to appoint for the state capitol grounds, three special policemen, one gardener, twelve laborers, and one watchman, all of whom hold office during the pleasure of the board. Such policemen have the powers of peace officers, and must, when on duty, wear in plain view, a shield bearing the words "capitol police."

The gardener and his powers and duties.

Sec. 687. The gardener has general control of the capitol grounds, and must superintend and direct the planting and culture of the trees, shrubbery, plants, and grasses, and preserve in order the walks, grass plots, and fountains thereof, and perform such other duties as may be required of him by the board of state capitol commissioners. He has full power to make arrests within the capitol grounds for criminal or disorderly conduct, and to direct and control the laborers employed to aid in taking charge of such grounds.

Salaries of employés.

Sec. 688. The salaries of the employés of the state capitol commissioners are the following sums per month: The gardener, one hundred and twenty-five dollars; each policeman, one hundred dollars; the watchman and each laborer, ninety dollars.

All such salaries are payable in the same manner as those of other state officers.

These three sections are a combination of section four hundred and twenty-five of the Political Code and of the statute of 1873-4, p. 937, so far as it relates to the capitol commissioners.

§§ 689-699. That a new article, numbered XVIII*b*, codifying the statute of 1880, p. 45, be inserted, to consist of sections six hundred and eighty-nine to six hundred and ninety-nine inclusive, to read:

ARTICLE XVIII*b*.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

- SEC. 689. Style and powers of the board.
- 690. Salaries and expenses of the commissioners and of their appointees.
- 691. Duties of the commissioners.
- 692. Duties of employés.
- 693. Duties of the attorney-general and of district attorneys.
- 694. Commissioners' right of transportation.
- 695. Complaints, decisions, and records—form and preservation of.
- 696. Suits to enforce decisions.
- 697. Schedules of rates and their publication and service.
- 698. Process and modes of proceeding—authority to devise.
- 699. Definitions of terms.

Style and powers of the board.

Sec. 689. The commissioners elected pursuant to section twenty-two of article twelve of the constitution of this State are known and designated as the board of railroad commissioners of the State of California. In addition to the powers conferred upon them by the constitution, they have power:

1. To elect one of their number president;
2. To appoint a secretary and a bailiff, who must perform the duties of a janitor, and also employ a stenographer whenever they deem it expedient;
3. To issue writs of summons and of subpœna in like manner as courts of record. Each summons must direct the defendant to appear and answer within fifteen days from the day of service. All process issued by the board extends to all parts of the State, and may be served in any county thereof by the bailiff of the board or by any person authorized to serve the process of courts of record;
4. To employ additional counsel to assist the attorney-general or any district attorney, or otherwise, when, in their judgment, the exigencies of the case may so require for the purpose of instituting, prosecuting, or defending any suit or other proceeding.

Subdivisions one and two and the preceding part of section correspond to section one of the railroad commissioners' act; subdivision three to section seven of the act; subdivision four to the last clause of section four.

Salaries and expenses of the commissioners and of their appointees.

Sec. 690. The salary of each of the commissioners is four thousand dollars, of their secretary twenty-four hundred dollars, and of their bailiff twelve hundred dollars per annum. For his services their stenographer is entitled to a reasonable compensation, to be fixed by the state board of examiners. The commissioners and the persons in their official employment, when traveling in the performance of their duties, are entitled to have their traveling expenses, other than transportation, paid by the State. The commissioners must also be allowed monthly one hundred dollars for their office rent, and fifty dollars for fuel, lights, postage, expressage, subscription to publications upon the subject of transportation, and other incidental expenses; but if any part of such allowance remains unexpended at the expiration of any fiscal year, it must be returned to the state treasury. The State must also furnish the board with all necessary stationery and printing, upon requisitions signed by its president. All salaries and compensation herein provided for must be paid in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers. The traveling expenses must be passed on by the state board of examiners. All salaries, compensation, and expenses authorized by this article must be paid out of any money in the general fund not otherwise appropriated, and the controller is authorized and directed, from time to time, to draw, and the treasurer to pay, warrants for such purpose.

The last sentence corresponds to section fifteen of the original act, and the balance of this section to section two of the original act.

Duties of the commissioners.

Sec. 691. In addition to the duties prescribed by the constitution, the duties of the commissioners are:

1. To keep an office in the city of San Francisco, which must always be open except on legal holidays and non-judicial days;

2. To hold public sessions of the board at least once each month in said city, and at such other times and places within the State as may be expedient; and when such sessions are held at any place other than their office in San Francisco, to publish notice thereof once a week for two successive weeks, before the commencement of the session, in a newspaper published in the county wherein it is to be held, and if none is published in such county, then in an adjacent county, the expenses of publication to be paid by the State in the same manner as for other publications authorized by law;

3. To have a seal devised by its members, or a majority of them, surrounding which must be this inscription: "Railroad Commission, State of California," and to affix such seal only, first, to writs, second, to authentications of copies of the records or other proceedings or of documents on file in the office of the commission.

Codifies sections five and six of the original act.

Duties of employés.

Sec. 692. The secretary of the board must issue all process and notices required to be issued, and perform such other duties as the board may prescribe. The bailiff must preserve order during the sessions of the board. He is authorized, and it is his duty, to make arrests for disturbances, and to serve all process, notices, and orders issued by the board when directed by the president, and to make return thereof.

Corresponds to section eight of the original act.

Duties of the attorney-general and of district attorneys.

Sec. 693. It is the duty of the attorney-general and of the district attorney in every county, on request of said board, to institute and prosecute, and to appear and defend, for said board, in any and all suits and proceedings which they, or either of them, shall be requested by said board to institute and prosecute, and to appear in all suits and proceedings to which the board is a party, which suits and proceedings have precedence over all other business, except criminal business.

Corresponds to section four of the original act.

Commissioners' right of transportation.

Sec. 694. The commissioners and all persons in their official employment have, when in the performance of their official duties, the right to pass, free of charge, on all railroads, steamers, ships, vessels, and boats, and all vehicles employed in or by any railroad or other transportation company engaged in the transportation of freight or passengers within the State.

Corresponds to section three of the original act.

Complaints, decisions, and records—form and preservation of.

Sec. 695. All complaints before the board must be in writing and under oath. All decisions must be in writing, and the grounds thereof must be stated. A record of the proceedings must be kept, and the evidence of persons appearing before it preserved.

Corresponds to section nine of the original act.

Suits to enforce decisions.

Sec. 696. Whenever the board renders any decision within the purview and pursuant to the authority vested in it by section twenty-two of article twelve of the constitution, said board, or the person, co-partnership, company, or corporation making the complaint upon which such decision was rendered, is authorized to sue upon such decision in any court of competent jurisdiction in this State.

Corresponds to section ten of the original act.

Schedules of rates and their publication and service.

Sec. 697. Whenever the board establishes or adopts rates of charges for the transportation of passengers and freight, or either, it must serve a printed schedule of such rates, and of any changes that may be made in such rates, upon the person, co-partnership, company, or corporation affected thereby; and upon such service, it is the duty of such person, co-partnership, company, or corporation to immediately cause copies of the same to be posted in all its offices, station-houses, warehouses, and landing offices affected by such rates, or change in rates, in such manner as to be accessible to public inspection during usual business hours. The board must also make such further publication thereof as it deems proper and necessary for the public good. If the party to be served is a corporation, the service may be made upon the president, vice-president, secretary, or managing agent thereof, and if a co-partnership, upon any partner thereof. The rates of charges established or adopted by the board go into force and effect on the twentieth day after service of said schedule of rates, or changes in rates, upon the person, co-partnership, company, or corporation affected thereby.

Corresponds to section eleven of the original act.

Process and modes of proceeding—authority to devise.

Sec. 698. When jurisdiction is, by the constitution, conferred on the board of railroad commissioners, all the means necessary to carry it into effect are also conferred; and when, in the exercise of jurisdiction within the purview of the authority conferred on said board by the constitution, the course of proceeding is not specifically pointed out, any suitable process or mode of proceeding may be adopted by the board which may appear most conformable to the spirit of the constitution.

Corresponds to section twelve of the original act.

Definitions of terms.

Sec. 699. The term "transportation companies" means and includes:

First—All companies owning and operating railroads (other than street railroads) within this State;

Second—All companies owning and operating steamships, engaged in the transportation of freight or passengers from and to ports within this State;

Third—All companies owning and operating steamboats used in transporting freight or passengers upon the rivers or inland waters of this State.

The word "company" as used in this article means and includes corporations, associations, partnerships, trustees, agents, assignees, and individuals. Whenever any railroad company owns or operates in connection with its road and for the purpose of transporting its cars, freight, or passengers, any steamer or other watercraft, such steamer or other watercraft is a part of its said road. Whenever any steamship or steamboat company owns or operates any barge, canal-boat, steamer, tug, ferry-boat, or lighter, in connection with its ships or boats, the things so owned or operated are a part of its main line.

Corresponds to section fourteen of the original act.

From this codification section thirteen of the original act is omitted, upon the ground that the duties therein prescribed must long since have been performed, and the section thereby rendered obsolete.

§§ 695-697. That sections six hundred and ninety-five to six hundred and ninety-seven be repealed, on the ground that they do not state any rule of law, and are merely imperfect indices.

§§ 699-701. That sections six hundred and ninety-nine to seven hundred and one be repealed, for the reason last suggested.

§§ 703-715. That sections seven hundred and three to seven hundred and fifteen be repealed, for the reason last suggested.

§§ 700-704. That there be inserted a new article, numbered XVIIIc, codifying the statute of 1897, p. 219, to consist of sections seven hundred to seven hundred and four, to read:

ARTICLE XVIIIc.

STATE VETERINARIAN.

- SEC. 700. Appointment, qualification, and salary of state veterinarian and of his assistant.
701. Powers and duties of state veterinarian.
702. Duties of state dairy bureau and of boards of supervisors.
703. Moving of quarantined animals prohibited.
704. Misdemeanor in failing to comply with the provisions of this article.

Appointment, qualification, and salary of state veterinarian and of his assistant.

Sec. 700. The state veterinarian is appointed by, and holds his office during the pleasure of, the governor, who in making the appointment must disregard political affiliations and be guided merely by the professional and moral qualifications of the appointee for the performance of the duties of his office. He must be a graduate, in good standing, of a recognized college of veterinary surgery, and legally qualified to practice as such in this State. The governor, whenever necessary to carry out the provisions of this article, may appoint an assistant state veterinarian, and fix and determine his salary and tenure of office. The salary of the state veterinarian is two thousand dollars per year. He is also entitled to his necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of his duties, not to exceed five hundred dollars per annum.

Corresponds to section one of the original act and the last sentence of section two.

Powers and duties of the state veterinarian.

Sec. 701. The powers and duties of the state veterinarian are:

1. To protect the health of all domestic animals of the State, so far as practicable, from all contagious and infectious diseases, and for that purpose, by and with the approval of the governor, to establish, maintain, and enforce such quarantine, sanitary, and other regulations as he may deem necessary as to stock passing over a quarantine line existing, or which may be established within this State, and all stock so moving must be inspected by him, and he must issue his certificate of State inspection unless such stock has been, immediately prior to such moving, inspected by an officer or agent acting under the laws of the United States;

2. Upon information by him received of the existence of contagious or infectious diseases of domestic animals within the State, to proceed to thoroughly investigate the same, and by and with the approval of the governor to establish such quarantine, sanitary, and police regulations as may be necessary to circumscribe and exterminate such disease or diseases and prevent the extension thereof, and to enter upon any grounds or premises and inspect any live stock necessary to carry out the provisions of this article;

3. Upon discovery of any case of such contagious or infectious diseases, to immediately inform the state dairy bureau and the board of supervisors of the county or counties in which the disease exists or diseased animals are located, of the existence of the disease and of such facts and circumstances in connection therewith, as will enable such boards of supervisors to take prompt and proper action to eradicate and to prevent the spread of such disease;

4. Upon refusal or neglect, for a period of five days, of any board of supervisors, to take any or all proper action to quarantine any case or cases of contagious or infectious diseases reported to them as provided in the preceding subdivision, or to suppress or eradicate the same, or prevent the spread thereof, to quarantine such county or such portions thereof as may be necessary;

5. To determine from time to time the quarantine and other regulations necessary to prevent the spread among domestic animals of any malignant, contagious, or infectious disease found to exist among the live stock of this State, and to that end to coöperate with, and so far as possible obtain the assent of, the proper United States authorities to the establishment or changing of quarantine lines, which are or may be hereafter established, and when he shall have done so to notify the governor thereof, who, if he approves, must issue his proclamation proclaiming the boundary of such quarantine, and the orders, rules, and regulations prescribed for the maintenance and enforcement of such quarantine, and to publish the same in such manner as he may deem expedient.

Subdivision one corresponds to section two of the act, except the last sentence; subdivision two to section three; subdivision three to section four; subdivision four to the first clause of section six; and subdivision five to section seven of the original act.

Duties of state dairy bureau and of boards of supervisors.

Sec. 702. Upon the receipt of the report provided for in subdivision three of the preceding section, the state dairy bureau when more than one county is involved, and the board of supervisors when only one county is involved, must proceed immediately to eradicate or suppress such disease, and to prevent its spread or introduction among healthy animals, and the infection of pastures, roads, places, or sections theretofore free from said disease and uninfected.

Corresponds to section five of the original act.

Moving of quarantined animals prohibited.

Sec. 703. After the state veterinarian, under the authority given him by subdivision four of section seven hundred and one, quarantines any county, or any part thereof, it is unlawful, until such quarantine has been raised or discontinued by the state veterinarian, for the owners of the domestic animals quarantined, their agents or employés, to move any of such animals across the quarantine line established or without the county or the portion thereof quarantined, without first obtaining a permit from the state veterinarian, who must, before issuing such permit, inspect and, if necessary, cause such animals and vehicles of transportation to be disinfected, according to the rules laid down by the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture.

Corresponds to the last clause of section six of the original act.

Misdemeanor in failing to comply with the provisions of this article.

Sec. 704. Any person who fails to comply with the provisions of this article is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction must be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars for each offense, and he is liable for any damage and loss that may be sustained by any person or persons by reason of such failure to comply with the provisions of this article.

Corresponds to section eight of the original act.

§§ 705-711. That the statute of 1885, p. 43, be codified by adding article XVIII*d*, to consist of sections seven hundred and five to seven hundred and eleven, to read:

ARTICLE XVIII*d*.

STATE ANALYST.

- SEC. 705. Appointment and qualification.
706. Duty to make analyses and grant certificates.
707. Method of procuring analysis.
708. Reports to be made by the analyst.
709. Analyses to be made for the state mineralogist.
710. Analyses to be made for the board of state viticultural commissioners.
711. Certificate of analysis as evidence.

Appointment and qualification.

Sec. 705. The state analyst is appointed by the governor, to hold office during his pleasure, and must be one of the professors of the State University of California, of sufficient competence, knowledge, skill, and experience to perform the duties required of him by this article.

Duty to make analyses and grant certificates.

Sec. 706. The state board of health, or the medical officers of health of any city, town, county, or city and county, may, at the cost of their respective boards or corporations, purchase a sample of any food, drugs, medicine, medicinal plants, mineral waters, or other liquids offered for sale in any town, village, city, county, or city and county in this State, and submit the same to the state analyst as hereinafter provided, who must, upon receiving such article so submitted to him, forthwith analyze it and give a certificate to the secretary of the state board of health or other body submitting the same, fully specifying the result of the analysis.

Method of procuring analysis.

Sec. 707. Any person desiring the analysis of any food, drug, medicine, medicinal plant, soil, mineral water, or other liquid, may submit the same to the secretary of the state board of health, with a written statement of the circumstances under which he procured the article to be analyzed, which statement must, if required by such secretary, be verified by oath. Thereupon such secretary must transmit the same to the state analyst, the expenses thereof to be defrayed by said board.

Reports to be made by the analyst.

Sec. 708. The state analyst must annually report to the state board of health the number and analysis of all articles so submitted to him, and by whom submitted.

Analyses to be made for the state mineralogist.

Sec. 709. The state mineralogist may submit to the state analyst any minerals of which such mineralogist desires an analysis to be made, and the cost of such analysis must be defrayed by the mineralogical bureau.

Analyses to be made for the board of state viticultural commissioners.

Sec. 710. The board of state viticultural commissioners is entitled to the same privileges as the state board of health under this article, with respect to samples of wines and grape spirits and of liquids and compounds in imitation thereof. Any person or persons desiring analysis of such products must submit the same to the secretary of the board of state viticultural commissioners, who must transmit them to the state analyst. The analysis must be made and the certificates of the state analyst forwarded to such secretary.

Certificate of analysis as evidence.

Sec. 711. Any certificate of the state analyst, specifying the result of any analysis made by him, is prima facie evidence of the component parts of the article analyzed.

Section seven hundred and five corresponds to section one of the original act; section seven hundred and six to section two, omitting the last clause; section seven hundred and seven corresponds to section three of the act; section seven hundred and eight to section four; section seven hundred and nine to section six; section seven hundred and ten to section seven, except that the last clause of section seven has been united with the last clause of section two into section seven hundred and eleven.

Section five of the act has been omitted, because its contents are sufficiently implied in sections two and three of the original act, which are represented by sections seven hundred and six and seven hundred and seven of this article.

§§ 712-714. That the statute of 1900, p. 20, be codified by adding a new article, to be numbered XVIIIe, consisting of sections seven hundred and twelve to seven hundred and fourteen, to read:

ARTICLE XVIIIe.

COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS.

SEC. 712. Appointment and qualification.

713. Salary and expenses.

714. Duties.

Appointment and qualification.

Sec. 712. The commissioner of public works is appointed by the governor, to hold office for the term of four years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified. In the event of a vacancy in the office, occasioned by death, resignation, or otherwise, the governor must appoint a successor for the unexpired portion of the term for which the original appointment was made. The commissioner of public works must, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, take and subscribe the official oath and execute an official bond in the sum of six thousand dollars, to be approved by the governor and filed and recorded in the office of the secretary of state.

Corresponds to first part of section one of the original act.

Salary and expenses.

Sec. 713. The salary of the commissioner of public works is three thousand dollars per annum, payable in monthly installments. He is also entitled to his actual traveling and other necessary incidental expenses incurred while in the performance of his official duty.

Corresponds to the last sentence of section one of the original act.

Duties.

Sec. 714. The commissioner of public works must perform such duties in the examination of lands subject to inundation and overflow by flood waters, and of the waters causing and making such inundation and overflow, and in the preparation of plans and estimates of cost of work to regulate and control such flood waters, as he may be directed to perform from time to time by the governor, and such other duties in the examination, supervision, and management of public works constructed or carried on by the State or under its authority, as he may be directed from time to time by law. He has, subject to the approval of the auditing board, power to employ such engineers and assistants as he may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this article, or to perform any duties imposed by law upon him, and to fix their compensation, subject to the approval of the board. He has also the powers conferred by section seven hundred and seventeen.

Corresponds to section two of the original act; and further adds the reference to section seven hundred and seventeen.

§§ 715-723. That the statute of 1897, p. 171, be codified by adding a new article, to be numbered XVIII*f*, to consist of sections seven hundred and fifteen to seven hundred and twenty-three, to read:

ARTICLE XVIII*f*.

AUDITING BOARD TO THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS.

- Sec. 715. Board, appointment and qualification.
- 716. Basis of operations.
- 717. Duties of commissioner of public works.
- 718. Appropriations, for what purposes to be expended.
- 719. Contracts.
- 720. Auditing claims.
- 721. Purchases and condemnation.
- 722. Penalties for being interested in contracts.
- 723. Scope of this article.

Board, appointment and qualification.

Sec. 715. The auditing board to the commissioner of public works consists of five members, each of whom is appointed by the governor, and holds office for four years from his appointment, and of whom all must not be members of the same political party. Their respective terms must be designated in their commissions. All vacancies in the board must be filled by the governor for the unexpired term only. They must select from their number a president and secretary, and must meet at Sacramento City once in every two months, and oftener, if required. No member is entitled to any compensation whatever, but they must be paid their respective traveling expenses, in attending meetings, to be audited by the board of examiners.

Corresponds to section one of the statute.

Basis of operations.

Sec. 716. For the purposes of this article, the report of the commissioner of public works, dated November sixteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-six, and accompanying reports and plans of engineers, must be adopted and made the basis of operations, and the plans therein specified for promoting drainage and improving and rectifying river channels must, as far as practicable, be carried out and finished, as herein provided. In addition to the work outlined and described in such report, the commissioner of public works and board of auditors are hereby authorized to perform other, further and additional work upon the Sacramento, San Joaquin, Feather, Yuba, Bear, Mokelumne, and Tuolumne rivers, and Petaluma, Alviso, and Napa creeks, and upon all tide waters entering and flowing into the bays of San Pablo, Suisun, and San Francisco, and also upon the navigable creeks, rivers, and sloughs of the State, of the character and nature similar to that outlined and described in such report, for the purpose of promoting drainage, rectifying channels, and improving navigation.

Corresponds to section two, as amended by the statute of 1901, p. 91.

Duties of commissioner of public works.

Sec. 717. The commissioner of public works has charge and superintendence of all work authorized by this article, and must employ and direct all employés, but no expenditure must be made without the sanction of the auditing board. He must determine the character and extent of the work to be done, in accordance with the report mentioned in the preceding section, and has full power to carry on and complete the same. He has power to employ such persons in and about the work provided for in the preceding section, as the auditing board may determine to be necessary, and at a compensation to be fixed by it.

Corresponds to section three and first sentence of section five.

Appropriations, for what purposes to be expended.

Sec. 718. All moneys heretofore appropriated, or which may be hereafter appropriated to be paid to such auditing board, must be expended for the following purposes: For the purchase, construction, and operation of one or more dredgers or machines and appliances to improve and rectify the river channels of the State, so as to promote drainage, and protect the towns and cities thereof from inundation, as described in said report of the commissioner of public works; to erect, build, and construct embankments and other works, where necessary, for carrying out the purposes of this article; to employ persons in and about such work, and to purchase such supplies as may be necessary for carrying on the same, and for doing the other work described in such report and in section seven hundred and sixteen.

Corresponds to section four of the statute, except that it does not undertake to make any specific appropriations.

Contracts.

Sec. 719. All contracts for the purchase of materials and supplies, or for such work as can be done by contract, where the expense thereof exceeds five hundred dollars, must be awarded to the lowest bidder, at a public letting thereof, after a notice to bidders published in one newspaper in the city of Sacramento, one in Stockton, and one in San Francisco, for at least one week, and two weeks must intervene between the last publication of such notice and the time for opening bids, and no bid must be accepted that is not fair and reasonable. All bids must be accompanied by such security as the auditing board may require, conditioned upon the bidder entering into the contract upon the terms of his bid, on notice of its acceptance, and furnishing a penal bond with good and sufficient sureties, to the satisfaction of the auditing board, in such sum as it may require, that he will faithfully perform his contract. If all the bids made at any one letting are deemed unreasonably high, the board may, in its discretion, decline to contract, and may again advertise, for such time, and in such papers, as it sees proper, for proposals, and may so continue to renew the advertisement until satisfactory contracts are made. In the meantime, it may contract for articles and supplies for immediate and temporary use, with any one whose offer is regarded as just and equitable, or may purchase in the open market. No bid must be accepted, nor any contract entered into in pursuance thereof, when such bid is higher than any other bid at the same letting, for the same class or schedule of articles, quality considered, when a contract can be had at a lower bid. When two or more bids for the same article or articles are equal in amount, the board may select the one which, all things considered, may be by it thought for the best interest of the State, or may divide the contract among such equal bidders as in its judgment may seem proper and right. The board has power to let a contract in the aggregate, or it may segregate the articles and enter into a contract with the bidder or bidders who may bid lowest on the several articles. It has power to reject the bid of any person who had a prior contract, and who did not, in the opinion of the board, faithfully comply therewith. If, however, any sudden emergency arises, render-

Corresponds to section five, except that the first sentence of that section has been added to section seven hundred and sixteen.

Auditing claims.

Sec. 720. It is not necessary to obtain the sanction of any other board or officer for the doing of any work or the letting of any contract, except as in this article specified, and all claims must be audited by the state board of examiners, as provided for by law.

Corresponds to section six of the statute.

Purchases and condemnation.

Sec. 721. The auditing board may condemn the right of way necessary for the purpose of doing the work outlined and described in said report of the commissioner of public works, and in section seven hundred and sixteen, and may purchase or condemn all land and material necessary to carry out the same, and may generally connect with, enlarge, or strengthen any work of construction, and may condemn any lands which it deems necessary for the purposes of this article, and such purposes are hereby declared a public use; but such board must not interfere with any existing reclamation work, or cut ditches or drains on any, or over any land situate in any swamp land, reclamation, levee, or protection district, without the consent of the board of trustees thereof. Whenever the auditing board cannot procure from the owner or owners thereof, without purchase, the right of way or material needed for the construction of such works, or cannot procure the consent to join or connect with any existing works, or procure lands necessary for the construction and completion of the system and plans described in said report, or in section seven hundred and sixteen, such auditing board may, in the name of the State of California, proceed to condemn the same under the provisions of title seven, part three of the Code of Civil Procedure, and amendments thereto, which are not existing or may hereafter be made; provided, that cities, towns, levee, swamp land, reclamation, and protection districts, and all municipal corporations having levees, reclamation or protection works, shall have and retain the exclusive management and control thereof, subject to the right to connect the work as herein provided.

Corresponds to sections seven and eight of the original act, except the description of the work to be done is broadened, to correspond with the description contained in section twenty, amended by statute of 1901, p. 91, hereinbefore codified as section seven hundred and sixteen.

Penalties for being interested in contracts.

Sec. 722. The commissioner of public works, or any member of the auditing board, or any appointee or employé of either, who becomes interested in any contract for the construction of any work provided for by this article, is guilty of a felony.

Corresponds to section nine of the statute.

Scope of this article.

Sec. 723. Nothing in this article in any manner affects the laws in force in reclamation and levee districts, nor must any levee be purchased or condemned under the provisions of this article.

Corresponds to section ten of the statute.

§ 726. That section seven hundred and twenty-six be repealed, because it states no rule of law.

§ 739. That section seven hundred and thirty-nine be amended to read:

Sec. 739. The annual salaries of the officers connected with the supreme court are as follows:

The reporter of its decisions, twenty-five hundred dollars; and the deputy reporter, twenty-four hundred dollars.

Two phonographic reporters, twenty-four hundred dollars each.

Two secretaries, twenty-four hundred dollars each.

Two bailiffs, fifteen hundred dollars each.

One librarian, fifteen hundred dollars.

Inserts "and the deputy reporter, twenty-four hundred dollars," thereby conforming the section to the statute of 1881, p. 9; also equalizes the salaries of phonographic reporters.

§ 749. That section seven hundred and forty-nine be amended to read:

Sec. 749. The clerk of the supreme court is elected at the same time as the governor, and holds his office for the term of four years commencing on the first Monday after the first day of January next following his election.

Substitutes "January" for "December," to conform the section to section twenty of article twenty of the constitution.

§ 750. That section seven hundred and fifty be amended to read:

Sec. 750. The clerk of the supreme court must perform such duties as are prescribed by law and as may be required by the rules and practice of the court.

The substance of the section is not changed.

§ 767. That section seven hundred and sixty-seven be amended to read:

Sec. 767. The justices of the supreme court must appoint a reporter of its decisions, to hold his office and be removable at their pleasure.

This section accords with section twenty-one of article six of the constitution.

§ 768. That section seven hundred and sixty-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 768. The reporter of the decisions of the supreme court may appoint a deputy, to hold office at the will of such reporter.

Codifies the statute of 1881, p. 9, chap. 13.

§ 769. That section seven hundred and sixty-nine be amended to read:

Sec. 769. The supreme court may appoint two phonographic reporters for the court, to hold office at its pleasure.

Omits the words "also in like manner" after "may."

§ 771. That section seven hundred and seventy-one be amended to read:

Sec. 771. The reporter of the decisions of the supreme court must prepare a report of all cases decided by the court.

Requires the reporter to report all cases, instead of such only as are directed by the court. We think the public are entitled to an official report of all cases decided. Such a report was clearly intended by the provisions of section two of article six of the state constitution, declaring that, "In the determination of causes all decisions of the court, in bank or in department, shall be in writing, and the grounds of the decision shall be stated." This requirement is without public value if the court may, in effect, suppress a decision or opinion by directing it not to be reported.

§ 773. That section seven hundred and seventy-three be amended to read:

Sec. 773. Each report must be made in manner and form as the court may direct; but in no case must such reporter omit any written decision of the court, unless the same shall have been set aside and a rehearing granted.

Inserts all after the word "direct."

§ 778. That section seven hundred and seventy-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 778. The reporter must have no pecuniary interest in the volumes of reports, but they must be published under the supervision of the court and reporter, by contract, to be entered into by the reporter, secretary of state, and attorney-general, with the person or persons who shall agree to publish and sell the said reports, for a period of ten years, on the terms most advantageous to the State and the public, and at a rate not to exceed two and a half dollars per volume of seven hundred pages.

Strikes out "four" and inserts "two and a half."

§ 780. That section seven hundred and eighty be amended to read:

Sec. 780. The contract must require the publisher to print and publish each volume in the style required by section seven hundred and seventy-seven, within sixty days from the time at which the manuscript is delivered by the reporter, to sell to the State the number of volumes required to be distributed by section four hundred and ten, at the price fixed in the contract, and to keep on hand and for sale, at the price stipulated in the contract, a sufficient number of copies of each volume to supply all demands for six years from the publication thereof, and to give bonds for the fulfillment of the terms of the contract, in the sum of ten thousand dollars.

Substitutes the words "the number of volumes required to be distributed by section four hundred and ten" for the words "three hundred copies."

§ 781. That section seven hundred and eighty-one be amended to read:

Sec. 781. On the publication of each volume of reports, the secretary of state must purchase, for the use of the State, the number of volumes required to be distributed by section four hundred and ten, at the price named in the contract, not exceeding two dollars and a half per volume, and after having distributed the same, as required by section four hundred and ten, must deposit the surplus copies, if any there be, in the state library.

The amendment is of the same purport as that in the preceding section.

§ 782. That section seven hundred and eighty-two be amended to read:

Sec. 782. If, after advertising as required by section seven hundred and seventy-nine, no proposals are received by the secretary of state, agreeing to print, publish, and sell said volumes at a price not exceeding two and a half dollars per volume, then the superintendent of state printing must print and bind twelve hundred copies of each volume, and deliver to the secretary of state all the copies printed by him; and the secretary of state must keep the copies of the edition not distributed under the provisions of section four hundred and ten, on sale at two and a half dollars per volume, at retail, and at such wholesale price as may be fixed by the governor, controller, and secretary of state, and must, at the end of each month, pay into the state treasury the proceeds of all sales made by him.

Substitutes "two and a half" for "four," and strikes out "state printer" and inserts "superintendent of state printing."

§ 783. That a new section, numbered seven hundred and eighty-three, be added, to read:

Sec. 783. The justices of the supreme court are hereby authorized to appoint a librarian for its library, to hold office during their pleasure. He is responsible for the care of such library, and must conduct its affairs under the direction of such justices.

Codifies the statute of 1883, p. 132.

§ 794. That section seven hundred and ninety-four be amended to read:

Sec. 794. It is the duty of notaries public:

1. When requested, to demand acceptance and payment of foreign, domestic, and inland bills of exchange, or promissory notes, and protest the same for non-acceptance and non-payment, and to exercise such other powers and duties as by the law of nations and according to commercial usages, or by the laws of any other state, government, or country, may be performed by notaries;

3. To take depositions and affidavits, and administer oaths and affirmations, in all matters incident to the duties of the office, or to be used before any court, judge, officer, or board in this State;

4. To keep a record of all official acts done by them;

5. To keep a record of the parties to, date, and character of every instrument acknowledged or proved before them;

6. When requested, and upon payment of their fees therefor, to make and give a certified copy of any record in their office;

7. To provide and keep official seals, upon which must be engraved the arms of this State, with the words "notary public," the name of the county for which they are commissioned, and the date upon which his commission expires, thus: "Commission expires ——, 19—."

8. To authenticate with their official seals all official acts.

Adds in subdivision seven the words "and the date upon which his commission expires, thus: 'Commission expires ——, 19—.'"

§ 798. That section seven hundred and ninety-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 798. The fees of notaries are as follows:

For drawing and copying every protest for the non-payment of a promissory note, or for the non-payment or non-acceptance of a bill of exchange, draft, or check, two dollars.

For drawing and serving every notice of non-payment of a promissory note, or of the non-payment or non-acceptance of a bill of exchange, order, draft, or check, one dollar.

For recording every protest, one dollar.

For drawing an affidavit, deposition, or other paper for which provision is not herein made, for each folio, fifteen cents.

For taking an acknowledgment or proof of a deed or other instrument, to include the seal and the writing of the certificate, for the first two signatures, one dollar each, and for each additional signature, fifty cents.

For administering an oath or affirmation, fifty cents.

For every certificate, to include writing the same, and the seal, one dollar.

Reduces the price per folio from thirty cents to fifteen cents.

§ 799. That section seven hundred and ninety-nine be amended to read:

Sec. 799. Each notary must execute an official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, which bond must be approved by a judge of the superior court of his county, and filed and recorded as other official bonds of county officers.

Substitutes the word "a" in place of "the" before "judge."

§ 816. That section eight hundred and sixteen be repealed.

§§ 821-831. That article five, consisting of sections eight hundred and twenty-one to eight hundred and thirty-one, be repealed, because none of the sections states any rule of law.

§ 841. That section eight hundred and forty-one be amended to read:

Sec. 841. No person is capable of holding a civil office who, at the time of his election or appointment, is not of the age of twenty-one years, and a citizen of this State. Women who are of the age of twenty-one years, and are citizens and residents of the State and of the United States, are eligible to all educational offices within the State, from which they are not excluded by the constitution.

Adds the last sentence for the purpose of codifying the statute of 1873-4, p. 356, chap. 256.

§ 842. That section eight hundred and forty-two be repealed, because it does not state any rule of law.

§ 852. That section eight hundred and fifty-two be amended to read:

Sec. 852. The following officers must reside at and keep their offices in the city of Sacramento: The governor; secretary of state; controller; treasurer of the state; attorney-general; surveyor-general; superintendent of state printing; superintendent of public instruction; and adjutant-general.

Strikes out "state printer" and inserts "superintendent of state printing"; also strikes out "justices of the supreme court, clerk of the supreme court, reporters of the supreme court," because the duties of these officers do not now require their presence at the state capitol any considerable portion of their time, and their residence there should, therefore, not be required.

§§ 854, 855. That sections eight hundred and fifty-four and eight hundred and fifty-five be repealed, because neither states any rule of law.

§ 904. That section nine hundred and four be amended to read:

Sec. 904. Before any officer enters on the duties of his office, he must take and subscribe the following oath:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the State of California, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of —— according to the best of my ability."

The word "solemnly" is inserted to conform the section to section three, article twenty, of the constitution.

§ 907. That section nine hundred and seven be amended to read:

Sec. 907. Whenever a different time is not prescribed by law, the oath of office must be taken, subscribed, and filed within ten days after the officer has received the certificate or commission of his election or appointment, or before the expiration of fifteen days from the commencement of his term of office, when no such certificate or commission has been received.

Strikes out "notice of his election or appointment," and inserts "received the certificate or commission of his election or appointment."

§ 909. That section nine hundred and nine be amended to read:

Sec. 909. Every oath of office, certified by the officer before whom the same was taken, must be filed within the time required by law, except when otherwise specially provided, as follows:

1. The oath of all officers whose authority is not limited to any particular county, or whose authority extends to more than one county, in the office of the secretary of state;

2. The oath of judges of the superior court, and county clerks, in the office of the secretary of state;

3. The oath of all other officers in the office of the county clerk of the county for which they are respectively elected or appointed.

Inserts in subdivision one the words "or whose authority extends to more than one county"; and adds subdivision three.

§ 920. That section nine hundred and twenty be amended to read:

Sec. 920. No officer, whether legislative, executive, or judicial, must be interested in any contract made by him in his official capacity, or made or authorized by any body or board of which he is a member.

Extends the qualification to all officers, instead of restricting it to members of the legislature and state, county, and township officers.

§ 921. That section nine hundred and twenty-one be amended to read:

Sec. 921. No officer must be interested in any sale made by him in his official capacity.

Extends the qualification to officers of every character, instead of limiting it to state, county, township, and city officers.

§ 923. That section nine hundred and twenty-three be amended to read:

Sec. 923. All officers, together with their deputies and clerks, are prohibited from buying or selling or in any manner receiving to their own use or benefit or to the use or benefit of any person or persons whatever, any state, county, or city warrants, scrip, orders, demands, claims, or other evidence of indebtedness against the state, or any county, city, township, district, or other political subdivision or public corporation thereof, except evidence of indebtedness issued to or held by them for services rendered as such officer, deputy, or clerk, and evidence of the funded indebtedness of such state, county, city, township, district, or other political subdivision or public corporation.

Extends the prohibition to all officers, together with their deputies and clerks, and also includes all evidences of indebtedness which may be issued by public corporations.

§ 924. That section nine hundred and twenty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 924. Every officer whose duty it is to audit or allow the accounts of any other officer must, before so doing, require such officer to make and file with him an affidavit that he has not violated any of the provisions of this article.

By the amendment the section is made applicable to all officers.

§ 925. That section nine hundred and twenty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 925. Officers charged with disbursement of public money must not pay any warrant or other indebtedness which has been purchased, sold, received, or transferred contrary to any of the provisions of this article.

The amendment makes the section applicable to every class of indebtedness which may be transferred contrary to the provisions of the article, whereas the present section extends only to warrants or other evidence of indebtedness against the State or a county or town.

§ 950. That section nine hundred and fifty be amended to read:

Sec. 950. Unless otherwise prescribed by statute, the official bonds of county, township, and other officers must by approved by a judge of the superior court of the county, recorded in the office of the county recorder, and then filed in the office of the county clerk.

Extends the provision of the section to all officers, instead of restricting it to county and township officers.

§ 955. That section nine hundred and fifty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 955. No officer whose duty it is to approve any official bond must accept or approve such bond unless each of the sureties thereto severally justifies before an officer authorized to administer oaths, as follows:

1. On a bond given by a state officer that such surety is a resident and freeholder or householder within this State; and on a bond given by any other officer that such surety is a resident and freeholder or householder within the county whose officer must approve the bond, or within an adjacent county;

2. That such surety is worth the amount for which he becomes surety, over and above all his debts and liabilities, in unincumbered property situated within this State, exclusive of property exempt from execution and forced sale;

3. A member of the board of supervisors must not be accepted as surety upon the official bond of any county, city and county, or township officer of his county; nor must the sheriff, clerk, tax collector, treasurer, recorder, auditor, assessor, or district attorney of the same county, or city and county, become sureties upon official bonds for each other;

4. A corporation such as is mentioned in section ten hundred and fifty-six of the Code of Civil Procedure of this State, may become and must be accepted as sole and sufficient surety upon any bond or undertaking authorized or required by the provisions of this code or of any law of this State, subject to the provisions of said section, and those of section ten hundred and fifty-seven of the same code.

Amends subdivision one so as to make it applicable to officers of every class, instead of restricting it to county and township officers.

§ 972. That section nine hundred and seventy-two be amended to read:

Sec. 972. Any surety on any official bond may be relieved from liability thereon afterwards accruing by complying with the provisions of the three sections following.

The amendment extends the section to officers of every class.

§ 1001. That section ten hundred and one be amended to read:

Sec. 1001. A vacancy in the office of either the lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, controller, treasurer, attorney-general, surveyor-general, clerk of the supreme court, superintendent of public instruction, or superintendent of state printing, must be filled by a person appointed by the governor, who shall hold his office for the balance of the unexpired term.

The words "lieutenant-governor" are inserted before "secretary of state," and "superintendent of public instruction or superintendent of state printing" after "supreme court."

§ 1003. That section ten hundred and three be amended to read:

Sec. 1003. Any person appointed to fill a vacancy in the board of managers of the state hospitals holds only for the unexpired term of his predecessor.

Strikes out "directors of the insane asylums" and inserts "managers of the state hospitals."

§ 1014. That section ten hundred and fourteen be amended to read:

Sec. 1014. Every public officer is entitled to the possession of all books, papers, moneys, and property pertaining to his office, or in the custody of a former incumbent, by virtue of his office.

Inserts the words "moneys and property."

§ 1015. That section ten hundred and fifteen be amended to read:

Sec. 1015. If any person, whether a former incumbent or another person, refuses or neglects to deliver to the actual incumbent, any such books, papers, moneys, or property, such actual incumbent may apply, by petition, to any court of record sitting in the county where the person so refusing or neglecting resides, or to any judge of the superior court residing therein, and the court or officer applied to must proceed in a summary way, after notice to the adverse party, to hear the allegations and proof of the parties, and to order any such books, papers, moneys, or property to be delivered to the petitioners.

Inserts the words "moneys or property."

§ 1016. That section ten hundred and sixteen be amended to read:

Sec. 1016. The execution of the order and the delivery of the books, papers, moneys, and property may be enforced by attachment as for a witness, and, also, at the request of the petitioner, by a warrant directed to the sheriff or a constable of the county, commanding him to search for such books, papers, moneys, and property, and to deliver them to the petitioner.

Inserts the words "moneys and property" in two places.

§ 1030. That section ten hundred and thirty be amended to read:

Sec. 1030. Unless otherwise provided by law, every officer must keep his office open for the transaction of business from nine o'clock A. M. until four o'clock P. M. each day, except holidays.

Substitutes "nine" for "ten."

§§ 1033-1035. That three new sections, codifying the statute of 1897, p. 5, as amended by the statute of 1901, p. 93, numbered ten hundred and thirty-three to ten hundred and thirty-five, be added, to read:

Sec. 1033. All state officers, boards, and commissioners, having in charge property belonging to the State, must make a verified inventory on or before the thirty-first day of December of each year, of all property purchased with state money, and in their keeping, and file such inventory with the state board of examiners, by whom it must be recorded in a book kept for that purpose. Any state officer or clerk, or member of any board or commission, having in charge property belonging to the State, who fails to make the inventory herein provided for, within the time limited, must, upon conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 1034. All county officers, including supervisors, superintendents of poor farms, hospitals, orphanages, or almshouses, must, on or before the thirty-first day of December of each year, make an inventory, showing in detail all county property in their possession or under their charge. In case of county officers and employes, such inventory must show the source from which such property was derived, and, if possible, the cost of each item. Each officer referred to in this section must, under oath, file his respective inventory with the county clerk, who must keep the same of record. Any person whose duty it is, under this section, to make and file the inventory herein provided for, who fails to perform such duty within the time limited, must, upon conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 1035. Outgoing officers, boards, commissions, and employés mentioned in sections ten hundred and thirty-three and ten hundred and thirty-four, must deliver to their successors in office an inventory of all state or county property in their possession, and the incoming officer must receipt for the same. Any person omitting to comply with the provisions of this section must be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor.

§§ 1043-1052*b*. That a new article be added next after section ten hundred and forty-one, consisting of sections ten hundred and forty-three to ten hundred and fifty-two b, codifying the statute of 1899, p. 63, chap. 54, to read:

ARTICLE Ia.

SPECIAL AND MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

SEC. 1043. Special elections defined.

1044. Municipal elections which must be conducted under this article.

1045. Municipal election precincts.

1046. Persons entitled to vote at special municipal elections.

1047. Persons entitled to vote without additional registration.

1048. Additional registration.

1049. Boards of election and their appointment.

1050. Registers to be used in special municipal elections.

1051. Change of residence from one precinct to another.

1052. Persons who are not entitled to vote.

1052*a*. General provisions of law applicable to special municipal elections.

1052*b*. Special elections other than municipal.

Special elections defined.

Sec. 1043. Special elections are such as are held to supply vacancies in any office or for any other special purpose, and are held at such times as may be designated by the proper board of officers.

Municipal elections which must be conducted under this article.

Sec. 1044. Except in all particulars otherwise provided for in the constitution, all municipal elections, where the same are held separate from general state elections, and all elections held under the authority of section eight of article eleven of the constitution, to elect boards of freeholders, or to vote upon proposed charters, or upon amendments to existing charters, must be conducted under the provisions of this article.

Corresponds to section one of the original act.

Municipal election precincts.

Sec. 1045. In the elections provided for in the preceding section, the election precincts must be the same as in the preceding general state election, except that the municipal board charged with the conduct and carrying on of elections, may consolidate such precincts to a number not exceeding six for each municipal election precinct. Such board must number the municipal election precincts separately, and each precinct must be known as "Municipal Election Precinct Number ——."

This section is intended to take the place of sections two and three of the original act, but differs from them in the following essential particulars: They provide that the municipal authorities may designate the municipal precincts as to them may seem best, and may from time to time change them. If, however, a municipal election precinct differs from that existing at the preceding general state election, there is no mode provided by law of obtaining a register therefor. A precinct register consists, in fact, of a book of affidavits prepared for and used at a general election. It is true that in some cities the county clerk has been persuaded, for the purposes of a municipal election, to unbind his books of affidavits and rearrange them to correspond with the election precincts as fixed by the municipal authorities. We can find no warrant of law for this, and think the propriety of permitting these books to be taken apart and rearranged after once being made perfect, is very doubtful. Hence we suggest that the municipal election precincts must consist either of the precincts existing at the preceding general state election or of two or more precincts so existing, consolidated into one. Under this system the books of affidavits prepared for the general state election may, with the supplements hereafter recommended, answer all or most of the necessities of special elections. Municipalities are, however, often divided into wards and officers elected for such wards only, and hence the law must be so modified that an election precinct cannot lie partly in two or more wards. To that end we suggest an amendment to section eleven hundred and twenty-seven.

Persons entitled to vote at special municipal elections.

Sec. 1046. All persons are entitled to vote at the elections mentioned in section ten hundred and forty-four who come within the terms or comply with the requirements of this article.

Corresponds to section four of the original act.

Persons entitled to vote without additional registration.

Sec. 1047. Every person who was a qualified elector at the general state election immediately preceding the holding of any of the elections mentioned in section ten hundred and forty-four, and who was upon the great register of the county, or city and county, where any such municipality is situated, as a qualified elector of any one of the precincts which compose a municipal election precinct, and who continues to reside within the exterior boundaries of such municipal election precinct until the time of the holding of the election herein provided for, is entitled to vote at such election without other or additional registration.

Corresponds to section five of the original act.

Additional registration.

Sec. 1048. All other persons claiming to be entitled to vote at any of the elections provided for in this article must be registered upon the great register of the county, or city and county, within which such municipality is situated, as an elector of and within one of the precincts which compose the municipal election precinct wherein he claims to be entitled to vote. Such registration must take place at least twenty-five days prior to the election; and it is the duty of the county clerk of the county, or city and county, within which such municipality is situated, and in those counties, or cities and counties, wherein the county clerk is not the officer charged with the duty of registering voters, then of the officers so charged, to keep his or their office open for at least thirty days prior to the twenty-fifth day preceding any such election, for the registration of voters who may desire to vote at such election.

Corresponds to section six of the original act.

Boards of election and their appointment.

Sec. 1049. The municipal board charged with the conduct of elections may appoint a board of election for each municipal election precinct, to consist of two inspectors and two judges, and also appoint two clerks and two ballot clerks, who must apportion among themselves the work and labor required to conduct such election within their respective municipal election precincts. But one poll-list need be kept, and but one register. These must be returned to the proper officers as a part of the official returns.

Corresponds to section seven of the original act.

Registers to be used in special municipal elections.

Sec. 1050. The register used in each municipal election precinct must consist of a book or books of affidavits used therein at the last preceding general state election, with the supplements thereto consisting of the affidavits of persons whose names have been placed upon the great register of the county, or city and county, since the last preceding general state election. Within ten days after the close of the registration provided for in section ten hundred and forty-eight, the county clerk or other officer charged with the duty of registering voters, must, as provided in section eleven hundred and thirteen, arrange, number, and bind the affidavits and duplicate affidavits of registration of the persons registered since the last general state election, into supplementary books of affidavits for the respective municipal election precincts, and must, before the day of election, transmit and cause to be delivered to the board of election in each precinct, the book or books of affidavits used therein at the last general state election, and also one of the supplementary books prepared by him for each precinct.

This section, though intended to take the place of section eight of the original act, differs very essentially from it. Under that section no means were provided for supplying any register of the municipal election precincts or for furnishing the officers thereof the names of the persons who had become entitled to vote by registering since the last general state election. The section which we propose is intended to supply precinct registers up to the date of the municipal election. It is still defective in not including some provision making known the persons whose names have been canceled upon the great register, or who, in the meantime, have removed from one precinct to another. With respect to cancellations, this defect is sought to be corrected by an amendment to section eleven hundred and five, requiring the clerk, on canceling the entry in the great register, to also mark the word "canceled" on the duplicate affidavit as well as on the original affidavit of registration. Provision should also be made under which a person who has moved from one precinct to another may make that fact known to the clerk or other registering officer, whose duty it should then be to cancel or otherwise mark the original affidavit of registration and duplicate in the book wherein it was first bound, and should take a further affidavit from the voter showing his removal from one precinct to another, and add that affidavit to the original book of affidavits of the precinct to which the removal was made. This latter object is sought to be accomplished by adding section ten hundred and fifty-one.

Change of residence from one precinct to another.

Sec. 1051. If a person registered subsequently changes his place of residence to another election precinct he may, not later than ten days prior to any such election, file with the county clerk or other officer charged with the duty of registration, an affidavit stating the fact of his registration, the place of his residence when registered, the place to which it has been changed, and the date of such change. Such affidavit must be in duplicate, signed by the affiant. Such copies must be added to the books of affidavits of the precinct to which the change of residence has taken place, and the clerk or other officer must mark or stamp on the original affidavit of registration, and the duplicate thereof, the fact of such change.

See note to section ten hundred and fifty.

Persons who are not entitled to vote.

Sec. 1052. No person is entitled to vote at any election provided for in this article, unless his name appears uncanceled upon the great register of the county, or city and county, and also upon the book of affidavits or supplement thereto for the precinct in which he offers to vote, nor unless, according to the laws of the State, he is entitled to vote thereat.

This is intended to take the place of section nine of the original act, but in addition thereto clearly declares that no one is entitled to vote unless his name appears within the book of affidavits or the supplement thereto.

General provisions of law applicable to special municipal elections.

Sec. 1052a. The provisions of law which would be applicable to the elections mentioned in section ten hundred and forty-four but for the passage of this article must nevertheless control the said elections as to the matters for which no provision is herein contained.

Corresponds to section ten of the original act.

Special elections other than municipal.

Sec. 1052b. At least one day prior to any special election other than one mentioned in section ten hundred and forty-four, the county clerk or other officer in charge of the registration of voters must furnish to the board of election of each precinct in the county, or city and county, one of the books of affidavits for such election precinct used at the last general state election, and no person is entitled to vote at such special election unless his name appears on such book, or unless he makes and files with the board of election his affidavit by him subscribed, stating that he is a citizen of the United States, twenty-one years of age; that he has resided in the State one year, in the county ninety days, and in the precinct thirty days next preceding the election.

The statute of 1899, p. 63, heretofore codified, provides for special elections in municipalities. The above section is intended to govern such elections held outside of municipalities. They are infrequent, and occur chiefly when members of the legislature or congress are to be elected to fill vacancies. (See sec. 12, art. IV, constitution of California, and sub. 4, sec. 1, art. I, of the constitution of the United States.) With respect to these special elections it is probably not desirable to require supplemental books of affidavits to be prepared, as the time therefor may be inadequate. We have therefore suggested that the persons who vote thereat shall consist of those whose names appear on the existing books of affidavits and of those who shall file affidavits stating the facts entitling them to vote.

§ 1054. That section ten hundred and fifty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 1054. Such proclamation must contain:

1. A statement of the time of election, and of the offices to be filled;

2. A brief and concise statement of any constitutional amendment or question which is to be submitted to the vote of the people, designating the same by their respective numbers;

3. An offer of rewards in the following form: "And I do hereby offer a reward of one hundred dollars for the arrest and conviction of any and every person violating any of the provisions of Title IV, Part I, of the Penal Code; such rewards to be paid until the total amount hereafter expended for the purpose reaches the sum of ten thousand dollars."

The amendment consists in inserting subdivision two.

§ 1072. That section ten hundred and seventy-two be amended to read:

Sec. 1072. Each member upon a board of election, except for a primary election, in any county, or city and county in the State, and each clerk thereof, must receive as compensation for his services upon such board, a sum not to exceed ten dollars, which sum must be paid out of the treasury of the county, or city and county, in which such persons act.

Inserts "for a primary election."

§§ 1074-1080. That Article IV, consisting of sections ten hundred and seventy-four to ten hundred and eighty inclusive, be repealed, because declared unconstitutional in Denman v. Broderick, 111 Cal. 96.

§ 1084. That section ten hundred and eighty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 1084. No native of China, no idiot, insane person, or person convicted of any infamous crime, and no person hereafter convicted of the embezzlement or misappropriation of public money, and no person who shall not be able to read the constitution in the English language, and write his name, shall ever exercise the privilege of an elector; provided, that the provisions of this section relative to an educational qualification shall not apply to any person prevented by a physical disability from complying with its requirements, nor to any person who had the right to vote on the twenty-eighth day of January, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, nor to any person who was sixty years and upward on the sixth day of November, eighteen hundred and ninety-four.

The amendment is to conform the section to the amendment of section one, article two of the constitution of the State, adopted November 6, 1894.

§ 1102. That section eleven hundred and two be repealed, because there is no longer any great register from which can be made the entries provided for by this section.

§ 1103. That section eleven hundred and three be amended to read:

Sec. 1103. The clerk must take in duplicate the affidavits specified in subdivision five of section ten hundred and ninety-seven, and require both the original and duplicate to be signed by the affiant.

The amendment distinctly requires the affidavit to be taken in duplicate, that being the manifest intention of section ten hundred and ninety-seven.

§ 1105. That section eleven hundred and five be amended to read:

Sec. 1105. There must be left opposite each name in the great register a blank for cancellation. Cancellation is made by writing in red ink across the face of the original and duplicate affidavits used in procuring registration, the word "canceled," and a statement of the reasons therefor.

The amendment requires the cancellation to be made on the duplicate as well as on the original affidavit.

§ 1106. That section eleven hundred and six be amended to read:

Sec. 1106. The clerk must cancel the entry in the following cases:

1. At the written request of the party registered;
2. When he knows of the death or removal of the person registered;
3. When the insanity of the person registered is legally established;
4. Upon the production of a certified copy of a judgment of the conviction of any elector of any infamous crime, or of the embezzlement or misappropriation of any public money, in full force against the person registered, or upon information of such conviction obtained as hereinafter provided;
5. Upon the production of a certified copy of a judgment directing the cancellation to be made;
6. Upon a certificate of the board of election of any precinct, sent up with the election returns, stating the death or removal, within their own knowledge, of the person registered;
7. When it appears by the returns made by the board and clerks of election that the respective party did not vote during the next preceding two years at any general or special election;
8. The clerk must cancel upon the books of affidavits of registration every name found thereon which is found upon the register of deaths provided for in section three thousand and seventy-nine of this code;
9. Every judge before whom proceedings were had which result in any male person being declared incapable of taking care of himself and managing his property, and for whom a guardian of his person and estate is accordingly appointed, or which result in such person being committed to a state hospital for the care and treatment of the insane, as an insane person, must file with the county clerk a certificate of that fact, and thereupon the clerk must cancel the name of such person upon the books of affidavits, if found thereon;
10. The county clerk must also, in the first week of September, in each year, examine the records of the courts having jurisdiction in cases of infamous crimes, and the embezzlement or misappropriation of public money within his county, and cancel upon the said books the names of all persons appearing thereon who have been convicted of an infamous crime, or of the embezzlement or misappropriation of public money in such court, and which conviction has been carried into effect.

Inserts the word "written" in subdivision one, and in subdivision nine substitutes "state hospital for the care and treatment of the insane" for the words "state insane asylum"; also strikes out "great register" and inserts "books of affidavits of registration."

§§ 1118, 1119. That sections eleven hundred and eighteen and eleven hundred and nineteen be repealed, because the subject-matters thereof are provided for in the primary election law of 1901, p. 606, chap. 198.

§ 1127. That section eleven hundred and twenty-seven be amended to read:

Sec. 1127. The board of supervisors or other board having charge and control of elections in each of the counties, and cities and counties, of the State, must, as soon before a general election as is convenient, proceed to divide such county, or city and county, into election precincts, of which there must be as many as shall be sufficient to make the number of votes polled at any one election precinct to be not more than two hundred, as nearly as can be ascertained; but no such election precinct must embrace territory lying within two or more wards of any municipal corporation.

The amendment consists in adding the words "but no such election precinct must embrace territory lying within two or more wards of any municipal corporation." Its object is to require officers of municipalities to form election precincts which shall not divide the precincts established by the supervisors for general elections.

§ 1132. That section eleven hundred and thirty-two be amended to read:

Sec. 1132. If the board fails to designate the house or place for holding the election, or if it cannot be held in the house or place designated, a justice of the peace residing in the precinct, or if there be none residing therein, then the justice of the peace residing nearest to such precinct, must, two days before the election, by an order under his hand (copies of which he must at once post in three public places in the precinct), designate the house or place, subject to the limitations contained in the preceding section.

The clause relating only to the city and county of San Francisco is omitted, because it is probably unconstitutional under the decision in Denman v. Broderick, 111 Cal. 96; and the words "a justice" have been substituted for the words "the justices," because there is usually but one justice residing within an election precinct.

§ 1143. That section eleven hundred and forty-three be repealed, because the matters are provided for in the preceding section.

§ 1148. That section eleven hundred and forty-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 1148. Before opening the polls each member of the board and each clerk must take and subscribe an oath to faithfully perform the duties imposed upon him by law. Any elector of the township may administer and certify such oath.

The word "him" substituted for "them" before the words "by law."

§ 1149. That section eleven hundred and forty-nine be amended to read:

Sec. 1149. Before opening the polls, the board must post in separate convenient places, easy of access, not less than four printed copies of the index to affidavits of registration of the precinct.

The words "great register of the county as last printed" are omitted, and the words "of the index to affidavits of registration of the precinct" inserted. The words "except in the city and county of San Francisco, wherein not less than four printed copies of the register of the ward shall be so posted" are omitted, because the provision is probably unconstitutional under Denman v. Broderick, 111 Cal. 96.

§ 1191. That section eleven hundred and ninety-one be amended to read:

Sec. 1191. The officer with whom such certificate is filed must preserve it in his office for the period of two years.

The section is broadened by making it applicable to every officer with whom a certificate may be filed.

§ 1192. That section eleven hundred and ninety-two be amended to read:

Sec. 1192. Certificates of nomination required to be filed with the secretary of state must be filed not more than sixty days and not less than forty days before the day fixed by law for the election of the persons in nomination, when the nomination is made by a convention, and not more than sixty days and not less than thirty days before the day of election, when the nomination is made by electors, as provided in section eleven hundred and eighty-eight. Certificates of nomination required to be filed with the county clerks, or with the clerk or secretary of the legislative bodies of any city or town, must be filed not more than fifty nor less than thirty days before the day of election, when the nomination is made by a convention, and not more than fifty days nor less than twenty days before the day of election, when the nomination is made by electors. The county clerk of the county wherein certificates of nominations for senators and members of the assembly and judges of the superior court are required to be filed, must, within five days after the filing of such certificate, make out a copy of such certificate of nomination, certify the same under his official seal, and forward such copy or copies to the secretary of state. Should a vacancy in the list of nominees of a convention occur, such vacancy may be filled by the convention; or if it has delegated to a committee the power to fill vacancies, such committee may, upon the occurring of such vacancy, proceed to fill the same; but no nomination must be made or certified at a period before the day of election less than the minimum number of days provided for filing certificates of nomination made under this code. The chairman and secretary of the convention, or of such committee, must thereupon make and file with the proper officer a certificate setting forth the cause of the vacancy, the name of the person nominated, the office for which he was nominated, the name of the person for whom the new nominee is to be substituted, the fact that the committee was authorized to fill vacancies, and such further information as is required to be given in an original certificate of nomination. The county clerk of the county wherein such certificate to fill a vacancy in the list of nominees of a convention for senators, or members of the assembly, or judges of the superior court, is filed, must, within five days after the filing of such certificate, make out a copy of such certificate, certify the same under his official seal, and forward such copy or copies to the secretary of state. When a certificate to fill any vacancy is filed with the secretary of state, he must, in certifying the nomination to the various county clerks, insert the name of the person who has been thus nominated to fill a vacancy in the place of that of the original nominee. Any person whose name has been presented as a candidate may, at least five days before the making of the publication of the nominations prescribed in this section, cause his name to be withdrawn from nomination by filing, in the office where the original certificate of nomination was filed, his request therefor, in writing, signed by him and acknowledged before any officer authorized to administer oaths; and no name so withdrawn must be printed on the ballot. Whenever any certificate of nomination is presented for filing to any officer authorized to file the same, he must forthwith, upon receipt of the same, and before filing, examine the same, and if there is any defect, omission, or reason why the same should not be filed, he must then and there forthwith designate, in writing, the defect, omission, or reason why such certificate cannot be filed, and return said certificate to the person presenting the same, with such written designation of defect, omission, or reason for not filing the same; and after the filing of any certificate of nomination, no officer required by law to transmit any nomination, or to make up or print any ballot, must fail or omit to transmit such nomination, or omit to print the name of any nominee or candidate named in any certificate of nomination which has been filed; and unless a certificate of nomination is returned as herein required, the officer to whom the same is properly presented must file the same as soon as he receives and examines the same as herein required, and must file it as of the day it is presented.

Omits the words "the county clerk of the county in which he resides" and inserts "any officer authorized to administer oaths."

§ 1197. That section eleven hundred and ninety-seven be amended to read:

Sec. 1197. There must be provided at each polling place, at each election at which public officers are voted for, but one form of ballot for all the candidates for public office, and every ballot must contain the names of all the candidates whose nominations for any office specified on the ballot have been duly made and not withdrawn, as provided in this code, together with the title of the office, arranged in tickets under the titles of the respective political parties, as certified in the certificates of nomination. The arrangement of the ballots must, in general, conform as nearly as practicable to the plan hereinafter given. The list of candidates of the several parties must be printed in parallel columns, each column to be headed by the party named, in such order as the secretary of state may direct, precedence, however, being given to the party which polled the highest number of votes for governor at the last preceding general election for such officer, and so on. The number of such columns must exceed by one the number of separate tickets of candidates to be voted for at the polling place for which the ballot is provided, except as otherwise provided in this section. The party name must be printed in display, the name or designation of the office in brier lower case, and the name of the candidate therefor in brier capital type. The title of the office, together with the name of the candidate therefor, must be printed in a space one half inch in depth, and at least two inches in width, defined by light horizontal ruled lines, with a blank space on the right thereof one half of an inch wide, inclosed by heavier dark lines, which space (called the voting square) must be of the same depth as the space containing the title of the office and the name of the candidate. When two or more persons are to be elected for the same office, for the same term, on the same party ticket, as, for instance, presidential electors, the title of the office must be printed before the first name only and in a space one half of an inch in depth, and separated from the spaces containing the names of the candidates by a heavy ruled line, and under it in the same space must be placed, in parentheses, the words "(vote for ———)," giving the number of the persons to be elected to such office; and the several spaces in which only such candidates' names are printed, and the voting spaces to the right thereof, must each be one fourth of an inch in depth between the horizontal ruled lines. On the right of each ballot must be a column in which must be printed only the titles of the offices for which candidates may be voted for by the electors at the polling place for which such ballot is printed. Such column is designated as the "blank column," and in such column the voting spaces must be omitted, but in all other respects such blank column must be a duplicate of the political party columns upon such ballot. In the space of such column, above the heavy ruled line, must be printed, in great primer roman condensed capitals, the words "blank column," and below such words must be printed, in brier capital type, the following: "The elector may write in the column below, under the title of the office, the name of any person whose name is not printed upon the ballot, for whom he desires to vote." The heading of each party ticket must be separated from the rest of the ticket by a heavy printed line; provided, however, that in the case of nominations provided for in section eleven hundred and eighty-eight, herein referred to as independent tickets, the ballots must be so arranged that at the right of the last column for nominations made pursuant to section eleven hundred and eighty-seven the several tickets of the names of the candidates nominated under section eleven hundred and eighty-eight must be printed in one or more columns according to the space required, having above each of the tickets the political or other name selected to designate such independent nominations. The independent tickets occupying the same column must be separated from each other by a solid black line one eighth of an inch wide. At the top of such column or columns for independent nominations must be printed, in type known as great primer roman condensed capitals, the words "independent nominations." Each column upon the ballot must be bordered on either side by a broad, solid printed line, one eighth of an inch wide, and the edge of the ballot on the left hand side must be trimmed off up to the border or solid line described, and on the right hand side must be perforated along the border or solid line above described. The ballots must be so printed as to give each elector a clear opportunity to designate, by stamping with a cross (X), in a blank inclosed space, heretofore designated as the voting space, on the right of and after the name of each candidate, his choice of particular candidates. If the name of the same person is printed more than once on a ballot as a candidate for the same office, the placing of a cross opposite such name in more than one of the different places where it is so printed must not be regarded as putting a distinguishing mark on the ballot, and it must be counted as one vote for such person. The ballots must be printed on the same leaf with a stub, and separated therefrom by a perforated line across the top of the ballot. On each ballot a perforated line must extend from top to bottom, along the border or solid line hereinbefore described, one half inch from the right hand side of such ballot, and upon the half inch strip thus formed there must be no printing, except the number of the ballot, which must be upon the back of such strip, in such position that it must appear on the outside when the ballot is folded. The number on each ballot must be the same as that on the corresponding stub, and the ballots and stubs must be numbered consecutively in each county. All ballots printed by county clerks, other than the separate ballots containing the names of candidates for city and county officers, printed by the county clerks of consolidated cities and counties, must have printed on the back, below the stub, and immediately at the left of the center of the ballot, in great primer roman condensed capitals, the words "general ticket," and underneath the respective number of congressional, senatorial, and assembly districts in which each ballot is to be voted; and all ballots printed by county clerks of consolidated cities and counties containing the names of candidates for city and county offices, and also all ballots printed by the clerk or secretary of a legislative body of any incorporated city or town, must have printed in the same manner, on the back, the words "municipal ticket." All municipal tickets must be printed upon paper of a different tint from that of the general ticket. On the top of the face of the ballot the following directions must be printed: "To vote for a person, stamp a cross (X) in the square at the right of the name." All of the ballots of the same sort prepared by any county clerk, or clerk or secretary of a legislative body, or other person having charge of preparing such ballots, for the same polling place, must be of precisely the same size, arrangement, quality and tint of paper, and kind of type, and must be printed with black ink of the same tint, so that when the stubs mentioned as aforesaid shall be detached therefrom, it will be impossible to distinguish any one of the ballots from the other ballots of the same sort; and the names of all candidates printed upon the ballot must be in type of the same size and character. If two or more officers are to be elected to the same office for different terms, the terms for which each is nominated must be printed upon the ballot as a part of the title of the office. If, at a general election an officer is to be elected for a full term, and another to fill a vacancy, the ballots containing the names of the candidates must, as a part of the title of the office, designate the term to fill which such candidates are severally nominated, and the name of the candidate to fill such vacancy must be printed next following the name of the candidate nominated for the full term. When no nomination has been made by a political party, as designated by section eleven hundred and eighty-six, for an office to be filled at the election, the title of such office must not be printed in such party column, and no space must be left thereon for the same. No ticket or list of candidates must be printed, under the name of any political party, or independent nominations, which contains more candidates for any office than there are persons to be elected to such office. Whenever any question or constitutional amendment is to be submitted to the vote of the people, there must be printed another column, or columns, with voting squares, at the right of the last or blank column, in which such question or constitutional amendment must be printed in the form and in the order designated by the proclamation of the governor, and opposite such question or constitutional amendment to be voted on, in separate lines, the words "yes" and "no" must be printed. If the elector shall have stamped a cross (X) in the voting square after the printed word "yes," he must be deemed to have voted in favor of the adoption of the question or constitutional amendment; if he shall have stamped a cross (X) after the printed word "no," he must be deemed to have voted against the adoption of the same. The ballot must be printed in the following form:

To vote for a person stamp a cross (X) in the square at the right of the name.

Inserts the words "before the first name only and"; also the words "and separated from the spaces containing the names of the candidates by a heavy ruled line, and under it in the same space must be placed, in parentheses, the words '(vote for ——)', giving the number of the persons to be elected to such office"; also the words "in the form and in the order designated by the proclamation of the governor." The object of this change will be obvious by comparing the above form with the form found in the Statutes of 1899, p. 138. Under the latter the voter is left in doubt as to how many persons are to be elected to offices where more than one person is to be elected. Also omits the provision requiring the words "no nomination" to be printed on the ticket when a political party fails to nominate a candidate for an office, because experience has shown that voters will mark a cross after such words, and that such ballots are thereby made void; and omits the provision prohibiting the same name from being printed twice on the ballot when the same person has received more than one nomination, because such provision has been adjudged invalid. Inserts the provision that stamping two or more times for the same person when his name is printed more than once on the ballot must not be regarded as a distinguishing mark.

§ 1204. That section twelve hundred and four be amended to read:

Sec. 1204. Any person desiring to vote must write his name and address (or if he is unable to write, must have the same written for him) on a roster of voters provided for that purpose, and announce the same to one of the ballot clerks, who must then, in an audible tone of voice, announce the same, and if the other ballot clerk finds the name on the index to the affidavits of registration he must, in like manner, repeat the name and address, whereupon a challenge may be interposed, as provided in section twelve hundred and thirty. If the challenge is overruled, the ballot clerk must give him a ticket, and the clerk must write on the index to the affidavits of registration, opposite the name of the voter, the number of the general ticket given him, and also the number of the municipal ticket given him, when any city, city and county, or town officer is to be elected, and the voter must be allowed to enter the place inclosed by the guard rail, as above provided. The ballot clerk must give him but one general ticket, and where any city, city and county, or town officers are to be elected, also one municipal ticket, and only one ballot of each kind; and in order to prevent voters from marking their ballot with a pencil, or otherwise contrary to law, it is the duty of the ballot clerk, whenever he delivers a ballot to any voter, to then orally, distinctly state to him, so that it may be heard by the bystanders, that he must mark the ballot with the stamp provided by law, or it will not be counted.

Strikes out "register" in two places and inserts "index to affidavits of registration."

§ 1205. That section twelve hundred and five be amended to read:

Sec. 1205. On receipt of his ballot, the elector must forthwith, and without leaving the enclosed space, retire alone to one of the places, booths, or compartments provided, to prepare his ballot. He must prepare his ballot by marking a cross after the name of the person or persons for whom he intends to vote, or by writing a name or names in the "blank column"; and in case of a constitutional amendment or other question submitted to the vote of the people, by marking in the appropriate margin a cross (X) against the answer which he desires to give. Such marking must be done only with a stamp, which, with necessary pads and ink, must be provided by the officers who are by this code required to furnish election supplies for each booth or compartment provided for the marking and preparation of ballots. Before leaving such booth or compartment, the elector must fold his ballot in such a manner that the number of the ballot and the indorsement on the back must appear on the outside thereof, without displaying the marks on the face thereof, and must keep it folded until he has voted. Having folded his ballot, the voter must deliver it folded to the inspector, who must announce in an audible tone of voice the name of the voter and the number of his ballot. The ballot clerk having the index to affidavits of registration in charge, if he finds the number to correspond with the number marked opposite the voter's name on the index to affidavits of registration, must, in like manner, repeat the name and number, and must mark opposite the name the word "voted." The inspector must then separate the slip containing the number from the ballot, and must deposit the ballot in the box. The numbers of all ballots must be immediately destroyed.

Omits the word "register" in two places, and inserts "index to affidavits of registration."

§ 1208. That section twelve hundred and eight be amended to read:

Sec. 1208. When it appears from the affidavit of registration that any elector has declared under oath, when he registered, that he cannot read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, he must, upon request, receive the assistance of two of the officers of election of different political parties, in the marking thereof, to be chosen as follows: One by the inspector then receiving the ballots, and the other by the judge of the opposite political party which at the last election cast the highest number of votes throughout the State, and in the event there are more judges than one of said party, then by the one of said judges who must be named by said inspector. Neither of the persons appointed must be of the same political party with the person appointing, nor must either of said persons so making said appointments appoint the other for said purposes. Such officers must thereafter give no information regarding the marking of said ballot. The officers making such appointments must make the same in writing, and sign the same, and upon the same paper the persons so appointed must subscribe and take the following oath before assisting such elector:

State of California, county of _____, assembly district number _____, _____ precinct, ss. _____ and _____ being duly sworn, each for himself, says that he is one of the officers of election appointed to assist _____ (here insert the name of the elector) in marking his ballot, and that he will not give any information, now or hereafter, regarding the same.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this _____ day of _____, A. D. 19—.

Said affidavits may be sworn to before any officer of election competent to administer an oath, and the same, with the indorsements thereon, must be returned to the county clerk, as provided in section twelve hundred and sixty-one. Lists of the voters who have been assisted in marking their ballots must be kept by the clerks keeping the poll-lists, and must be returned and preserved as the poll-lists are returned and preserved.

Omits the word "register" and inserts "affidavit of registration."

§ 1216. That section twelve hundred and sixteen be amended to read:

Sec. 1216. Whenever by the provisions of any law or charter the duties and powers of the county clerk of any county as to elections is vested in a board of election commissioners or other body or person, such board, body, or person must perform all the duties imposed, and have all the powers conferred, upon the county clerk by the provisions of this title, and all certificates of nomination and other papers directed to be filed with such clerk must be filed with such board, body, or person.

The section is recast, but its substance is not changed.

§§ 1225-1228. That sections twelve hundred and twenty-five to twelve hundred and twenty-eight be repealed, because the matters are differently provided for in sections twelve hundred and four and twelve hundred and five.

§ 1231. That section twelve hundred and thirty-one be amended to read:

Sec. 1231. If the challenge is on the ground that he is not the person whose name appears on the affidavit of registration, the inspector must tender him the following oath:

"You do swear (or affirm) that you are the person whose name is entered on the register."

Taking the oath tendered determines the challenge in favor of party challenged.

The words "affidavit of registration" are substituted for "great register."

§ 1236. That section twelve hundred and thirty-six be amended to read:

Sec. 1236. Challenges upon the grounds either:

1. That the person challenged is not the person whose name appears on the affidavit of registration;

2. That the party has before voted on that day, are determined in favor of the party challenged by his taking the oath tendered.

Same change as in the preceding section.

§ 1237. That section twelve hundred and thirty-seven be amended to read:

Sec. 1237. If the challenge is on the ground that the person challenged is not the person whose name appears on the affidavit of registration, he must take the oath tendered by the board. Challenges for causes other than those specified in the preceding section must be tried and determined by the board of election at the time of the challenge.

The words "affidavit of registration" are substituted for "great register."

§ 1242. That section twelve hundred and forty-two be repealed.

§ 1253. That section twelve hundred and fifty-three be amended to read:

Sec. 1253. The canvass must be commenced by taking out of the box the ballots unopened (except so far as to ascertain whether each ballot is single) and counting the same to ascertain whether the number of ballots corresponds with the number of names on the list of voters kept by the clerks. The inspector must then proceed to take out of the box the ballots, unopened, one at a time, numbering them on the backs in numerical order, commencing with number one, and writing with ink the initials of his own name upon the back of each ballot as taken out. He must pass each ballot, as soon as thus indorsed, to the additional inspector, who must in like manner, write thereon the initials of his own name, so that each ballot can be subsequently identified by either or both such inspectors.

Omits the words "In the city and county of San Francisco, at the closing of the polls, the inspector must administer to the additional members of the board of canvassers the oath prescribed in section one thousand one hundred and forty-eight, and likewise to two clerks appointed by such additional members."

§ 1255. That section twelve hundred and fifty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 1255. The ballots must be immediately replaced in the box, and if the ballots in the box exceed in number the names on the lists, one of the judges must publicly, and without looking in the box, draw out therefrom singly, and destroy unopened, a number of ballots equal to such excess; and the board of election must make a record, upon the poll-list, of the number of ballots so drawn and destroyed.

Omits "In the city and county of San Francisco the numbers appearing on the backs of the ballots so drawn must likewise be recorded."

§ 1257. That section twelve hundred and fifty-seven be amended to read:

Sec. 1257. After the lists are thus signed, the board must proceed to open the ballots, and count and ascertain the number of votes cast for each person voted for. At all elections where a general ticket and a municipal ticket are used, the canvass of the general ticket must be completed before the canvass of the municipal ticket is commenced. All ballots rejected for illegality must be indorsed with the cause of such rejection, and signed by a majority of the election board, and thereafter strung upon a string.

Omits after the word "indorsed" the words "upon the ballot."

§ 1261. That section twelve hundred and sixty-one be amended to read:

Sec. 1261. The board must, before it adjourns, inclose in a strong envelope and seal up and direct to the county clerk the book of affidavits of registration, the copy of the index to the affidavits of registration upon which one of the ballot clerks marked the word "voted" as the ballots were received, and all certificates of registration received by it; and also, in a separate envelope, one of the lists of the persons challenged, one copy of the list of voters, and the roster signed by the voters; and also, in a separate envelope, one copy of the tally-lists and list attached thereto. The board must also, before it adjourns, post conspicuously, on the outside of the polling place, a copy of the result of the votes cast at such polling place, signed by the members of the board and attested by the clerk, and must immediately transmit a copy thereof unsealed to the county clerk. It is a misdemeanor for any person to remove or deface such posted copy of the result, or to delay or change the copy to be delivered to the county clerk.

Strikes out the word "cover" and inserts the words "strong envelope"; strikes out the words "copy of the register" and inserts the words "the book of affidavits of registration, the copy of the index to the affidavits of registration"; strikes out the word "judges" and inserts the words "ballot clerks"; inserts the words "and also in a separate envelope" and the words "and the roster signed by the voters; and also in a separate envelope."

§ 1264. That section twelve hundred and sixty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 1264. The member to whom such packages are delivered must, without delay, deliver such packages, without their having been opened, to the county clerk, nearest postmaster, or sworn express agent, who must indorse on such package the name of the party delivering them, and date of such delivery. If delivered to a postmaster or express agent, such postmaster or express agent must forward the packages by the first mail or express to the county seat. In the city and county of San Francisco such packages must be delivered to the county clerk within three hours from the time of adjournment of the board, which time of adjournment must be indorsed upon such package and upon each poll-list, in ink, and signed by a majority of the members of such board.

The whole of the last sentence is omitted. It relates wholly to the city and county of San Francisco, which, by our proposed amendment, is made subject to the general provisions of the section.

§ 1268. That section twelve hundred and sixty-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 1268. As soon as the returns are canvassed, the clerk must take the copy of the index to the affidavits of registration and book of affidavits of registration returned and file them in his office.

The word "register" is omitted, and the words "of the index to the affidavits of registration and book of affidavits of registration" inserted.

§ 1285. That section twelve hundred and eighty-five be repealed, because the matters therein are sufficiently provided for in section twelve hundred and eighty-eight, as amended by statute of 1901, p. 289.

§ 1287. That section twelve hundred and eighty-seven be amended to read:

Sec. 1287. The clerk to whom the election returns of a district are made, must, on the twentieth day after such election, or sooner, if returns from all the counties in the district have been received, open in public such returns, and from them and the statement of the vote for such officers in his own county:

1. Make a statement of the vote of the district for such officers, and file the same, together with the returns, in his office;

2. Within three days after such filing transmit a certified copy of such statement to the secretary of state;

3. Make out and deliver, or transmit by mail, to the persons elected, a certificate of election (unless it is by law otherwise provided).

Inserts the words "within three days" at the commencement of subdivision two.

§ 1288. That section twelve hundred and eighty-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 1288. When there has been a general or special election for officers chosen by the electors of the State at large, or for judicial officers (except justices of the peace), or for members of the state board of equalization, or for railroad commissioners, or for senators and members of the assembly, each county clerk, so soon as the statement of the vote of his county is made out and entered upon the records of the board of supervisors, must make out a certified abstract, arranged by assembly districts, of so much thereof as relates to the votes given or cast for persons for said offices to be filled at such election. Whenever there is a general or special election held within this State, and any proposed constitutional amendment or proposition to be voted for by the electors of the State at large, each county clerk, so soon as the statement of the vote is made out and entered upon the record of the board of supervisors, must make out a certified abstract of such vote.

Inserts the words "arranged by assembly districts."

§ 1291. That section twelve hundred and ninety-one be amended to read:

Sec. 1291. Upon the receipt of such copy the governor must issue commissions to the persons who from it appear to have received the highest number of votes for offices, except that of governor or lieutenant-governor, to be filled at such election, and declare the result of the vote upon proposed constitutional amendments, or other questions voted upon, and file such declaration with the secretary of state.

Adds the words "and declare the result of the vote upon proposed constitutional amendments, or other questions voted upon, and file such declaration with the secretary of state."

§ 1312. That section thirteen hundred and twelve be amended to read:

Sec. 1312. The person appointed by the clerk, after he delivers the abstract and statement, is entitled to receive as compensation mileage at the rate of twenty cents a mile from the county seat to the seat of government. His account therefor, certified by the secretary of state, must be audited by the controller and paid out of the general fund in the state treasury.

Strikes out "thirty" and inserts "twenty."

§§ 1376-1382. That a new chapter, numbered XV, be added to title II of part III, consisting of sections thirteen hundred and seventy-six to thirteen hundred and eighty-two, to read:

CHAPTER XV.

AUTOMATIC VOTING MACHINES.

- SEC. 1376. Election by county or city to use, how made.
- 1377. Selection and purchase of, by commissioners.
- 1378. Election governed by what laws.
- 1379. Arrangement and position.
- 1380. Counting the vote.
- 1381. More than one may be used.
- 1382. Precinct and election officers where used.

Election by county or city to use, how made.

Sec. 1376. Any county, city and county, or city, in this State, may, by the legislative authority thereof, determine to use automatic voting machines at elections to be held therein in the manner provided by section six of article two of the constitution of this State. Such determination must be by resolution of the board making it, and a copy of such resolution, certified by the clerk of such board, must be immediately transmitted to the secretary of state, who must cause it to be published as an appendix to the statutes passed at the next session of the legislature. Such determination may at any time be rescinded in like manner by the board making it. After such determination to use has been made, the legislative authority of such county, city and county, or city, as the case may be, must order from the secretary of state a sufficient number of such machines to be used at the next election to be held in such county, city and county, or city, at least thirty days before such election, and to thereafter order such machines whenever the same are necessary.

Selection and purchase of, by commissioners.

Sec. 1377. A state commission is hereby created, to be composed of the governor, the secretary of state, and the attorney-general, whose duty it shall be to examine, test, and purchase automatic voting machines as hereinafter provided. Said commissioners shall receive no compensation for their services in addition to the compensation of said officers as now provided by law. Whenever any county, city and county, or city, elects to use automatic voting machines in the manner above provided, said commission must immediately fully and fairly test and examine all patterns of automatic voting machines which are available, and select such machine as they think best as the official automatic voting machine to be used at all elections in this State in counties, cities and counties, and cities, which have at that time elected, or shall thereafter elect, to use automatic voting machines at elections therein. The commission must not select any machine unless the owner thereof enters into a contract with the State of California to furnish to it, within a reasonable time after demand therefor, for the term of twenty years, and at a price to be fixed by such contract, a number of such machines (to be specified in such contract) which, in the opinion of such commission, will be sufficient to supply the needs of the entire State during such period, and also enters into a bond with two sufficient sureties for the faithful performance of such contract. Said commission may at any time rescind its action in selecting any particular machine, and may thereupon select some other machine as the official machine, but all machines which have already been purchased by the State, or the several counties and cities thereof, may be used in the same manner as if such selection had not been rescinded. After said commission has selected such official machine, and received from the owner thereof the contract and bond above mentioned, the commission must purchase from such owner, at a price not exceeding the price mentioned in such contract, a number of such machines sufficient to fill all orders which have been received from such counties and cities by the secretary of state, and must deliver the same to the secretary of state; and such commission must thereafter, in the same manner, purchase such machines whenever the same are ordered by such counties or cities. The secretary of state must thereupon deliver to the counties and cities so ordering such machines the number of machines ordered by such counties and cities, charging such counties and cities the same price therefor as that paid by said commission for the same. The price of such machines, when furnished to a county, shall be a county charge, and, when furnished to a city, a city charge.

Election governed by what laws.

Sec. 1378. After said commission has so selected such official machine, all elections held in counties, and all city elections held in cities, which have so elected to use automatic voting machines, must be held and conducted as in this chapter provided, and not otherwise. All the provisions of law as to other elections apply to and govern such elections so far as the same are applicable, unless otherwise herein provided.

Arrangement and position of.

Sec. 1379. Such machine must be so arranged that the ballot indicator may be substantially in the form of the ballot as provided by section eleven hundred and ninety-seven, and so that all the names on such ballot indicator may be seen by the voter at one time. The officer whose duty it now is to arrange such ballot must so arrange the ballot indicator that it will be substantially in the form provided in section eleven hundred and ninety-seven, but the parallel columns in said section mentioned may be made to run either vertically or horizontally, the name of the political party which nominated the candidate may be placed after the name of such candidate, and the type used on such ballot indicator may be larger than that specified in said section, but must be uniform in size. When such officer has so arranged such ballot indicator, he must have printed and distributed, in the same manner that sample ballots are now printed and distributed, a sufficient number of sample ballot indicators, which must be as nearly as may be fac similes of such ballot indicator. Such machine must also be equipped with a record sheet, which must be obtained from the secretary of state in the same manner that ballot paper is now procured, and must be water-marked in the same manner. The register compartment of such machine must be fitted with a combination lock, which can be opened only by the joint use of at least two keys. The same officer whose duty it is to deliver other election supplies must deliver to the board of election at each precinct one of such machines at least thirty minutes before the opening of the polls. The register compartment of such machine must thereupon be opened in the presence of such board and the public, and such board must see that the record sheet is in place and the counters set at 0, or zero. The register compartment must thereupon be closed and locked, and one of the keys thereof be delivered to the inspector of one political party and one to the inspector of the other political party; and if there is a third key it must be delivered to one of the clerks. The machine must thereupon be placed in substantially the same position that the ballot-box is now placed, and so that it must not be more than three feet from a wall of the room in which such election is to be held, in which there is no window or opening, with the ballot indicator facing such wall. Such machine must be so arranged that no one can see for whom a voter votes, and so that no one can reach the same except by passing through a gate controlled by one of the inspectors. No voter must remain at such machine more than two minutes. If he does so he must be requested to leave the same, and if he refuses he must be removed therefrom.

Counting the vote.

Sec. 1380. As soon as the polls are closed, a button locking all keys must be pressed, and a seal, bearing the names of the election officers, be placed over the releasing aperture. The board must then copy the number showing the number of times the releasing device has been used. The register compartment must thereupon be unlocked, and one of the inspectors must read, beginning with the candidate numbered one, the result in an audible voice to the other officers of election, as shown by the counters or registers, and the same must be recorded in the same manner as votes are recorded at other elections.

More than one may be used.

Sec. 1381. If for any reason any machine in use at any polling place gets out of order, another machine may be used, and in counting the vote the totals of all the machines used at such polling place must be added together.

Precinct and election officers where used.

Sec. 1382. At all elections where such automatic voting machines are used, the board of supervisors or other body having control of such elections may divide the county or city into precincts, so that more than two hundred votes may be polled at any one precinct; and such board must only appoint two inspectors and two clerks for each precinct, and must not appoint any judges or ballot clerks. The inspectors thus appointed constitute the board of election for such precinct.

§ 1379. That that section thirteen hundred and seventy-nine, which was approved March 30, 1899, be repealed, because it is intended to be superseded by the amendment of the same section approved on the next day. See Statutes of 1899, chap. 48.

§§ 1395a-1395c. That new sections be added, numbered thirteen hundred and ninety-five a to thirteen hundred and ninety-five c, codifying the statute of 1870, p. 546, as amended by the statute of 1872, p. 275, to read:

Sec. 1395a. The regents may establish four competitive scholarships, each embracing the full term of four years in the university, but, except to fill vacancies, only one of such scholarships must be issued at the commencement of each university year. All scholarships are subject to examination at the close of each university year, and if a student having the benefit of any scholarship is not found, by his acquirements, industry, and conduct, to deserve the continuance of the same, the president of the university must so report to the regents, who must declare the scholarship vacant, and it must thereafter be filled in the same manner as other scholarships.

Corresponds to section one of the statute as amended in 1872, p. 275.

Sec. 1395b. The competitive examinations for scholarships must be made by the faculty. The applicants for examination must be bona fide residents of California, and have been chiefly educated in the schools of this State, and must, at the time of application, satisfy the regents in respect to character and the inability of the applicant to provide for his own maintenance at the university.

Corresponds to section two of the act of 1870, p. 546.

Sec. 1395c. Each scholarship is entitled to three hundred dollars per annum, to be appropriated out of the funds belonging to the university, and to be applied, under the direction of the proper officer of the faculty, to the education and support of the scholar during his university course. The regents may, upon recommendation of the faculty, revoke any scholarship for improper conduct or violation of established rules, and may fill all vacancies which may occur in scholarships under competitive examination.

Conforms to section three as amended by the statute of 1872, p. 276.

§ 1415. That section fourteen hundred and fifteen be amended to read:

Sec. 1415. The endowment of the university is:

1. The proceeds of the sale of the seventy-two sections of land granted to the State for a seminary of learning;

2. The proceeds of the ten sections of land granted to the State for public buildings;

3. The income derived from the investments of the proceeds of the sale of the lands or of the scrip therefor, or of any part thereof granted to this State for the endowment, support, and maintenance of at least one college where the leading object shall be—without excluding other scientific and classical studies and including military tactics—to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts;

4. The income of the fund set apart by "An act for the endowment of the University of California," approved April second, eighteen hundred and seventy, which is continued in force, and all sums, whether principal or interest, heretofore or hereafter realized or derived from the sale of real estate in Oakland, Alameda county, known as the "Brayton property," and also all sums acquired under the act of congress approved August thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety, entitled "An act to apply a portion of the proceeds of the public land to the more complete endowment and support of the colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts established under the provisions of the act of congress approved July second, eighteen hundred and sixty-two";

5. The State of California, in its corporate capacity, may take by grant, gift, devise, or bequest, any property for the use of the university, and hold the same, and apply the funds arising therefrom, through the regents of the university, to the support of the university, as provided in article nine, section four, of the constitution;

6. The regents of the university, in their corporate capacity, may take, by grant, gift, devise, or bequest, any property for the use of the university, or of any college thereof, or of any professorship, chair, or scholarship therein, or for the library, an observatory, workshops, gardens, greenhouses, apparatus, a students' loan fund, or any other purpose appropriate to the university; and such property must be taken, received and held, managed, and invested, and the proceeds thereof used, bestowed, and applied by the said regents for the purposes, provisions, and conditions prescribed by the respective grant, gift, devise, or bequest;

7. The regents of the university may invest and re-invest any or all of the funds of the university in such manner and upon such security as they may deem best for its interests, but must, in good faith, respect all the conditions and limitations of such endowment and donation as have been or shall be made under conditions or limitations;

8. If by the terms of any grant, gift, devise, or bequest, such as are described in the preceding fifth and sixth subdivisions, conditions are imposed which are impracticable under the provisions of the Civil Code, such grant, gift, devise, or bequest shall not thereby fail, but such conditions shall be rejected, and the intent of the donor carried out as near as may be.

Inserts all after the word "force" in subdivision four, to conform to the statutes of 1872, p. 48, and 1878, p. 337; in subdivision seven the words "in productive, unincumbered real estate in this State, subject to the power of the legislature to control or change such investments, excepting such as by the terms of their acquisition must be otherwise invested" are omitted, and in place thereof are inserted the words "in such manner and upon such security as they may deem best for its interest, but must, in good faith, respect all the conditions and limitations of such endowment or donation as have been or shall be made under conditions or limitations."

§ 1416. That a new section, numbered fourteen hundred and sixteen, be added, to read:

Sec. 1416. The entire principal sums which have been or hereafter may be realized from the several sources specified in subdivisions one, two, three, and four of the preceding section constitute a perpetual fund, known as the "Consolidated Perpetual Endowment Fund of the University of California," the capital of which must remain forever undiminished. All stocks and bonds in which such fund is invested must be deposited in the state treasury to the credit of the fund, and kept separate and apart from all other funds. All interest, profits, or revenue arising from or growing out of such "Consolidated Perpetual Endowment Fund of the University of California" must be placed in the general fund of the university, and be subject to disbursement to meet the current annual expenses of the University of California.

This section is an attempt to state so much as remains in force of the statute of 1878, p. 337, respecting the perpetual endowment fund.

§ 1435. That section fourteen hundred and thirty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 1435. The regents have the exclusive control and management of all the funds, endowments, and donations of the university and are charged with the duty and responsibility of investing and re-investing the same. They must deposit in the state treasury, for safe-keeping, all such funds and securities as are required to be there deposited. The treasurer must receive and safely keep such funds and securities subject to the control and management of the regents, and he must deliver any or all of such securities and funds so deposited in the state treasury, to the treasurer of the regents of the University of California, upon presentation to him of a resolution of the regents, indorsed by the governor of the State, demanding the same or any portion thereof.

This amendment substitutes for the present section the provisions of sections one and two of the act of March 7, 1883, p. 54.

§ 1439. That section fourteen hundred and thirty-nine be repealed as obsolete.

§ 1450. That section fourteen hundred and fifty be amended to read:

Sec. 1450. The secretary must:

1. Reside and keep his office at the seat of the university;
2. Keep a record of the transactions of the board of regents, which must be open at all times to the inspection of any citizen of this State;
3. Have the custody of all books, papers, documents, and other property which may be deposited in his office;

4. Keep and file all reports and communications which may be made to the university appertaining to education, science, art, husbandry, mechanics, or mining;

5. Address circulars to societies and others, soliciting information upon the latest and best modes of culture of the products adapted to the soil and climate of the State, and on all subjects connected with forestry, field culture, horticulture, stockraising, and the dairy;

6. Correspond with established schools of mining and metallurgy in Europe and elsewhere, and obtain information respecting the improvements of mining machinery adapted to California;

7. Correspond with the Department of Agriculture and other departments at Washington, and with the representatives of the government of the United States abroad, to procure contributions to agriculture and forestry from these sources; receive and distribute seeds, plants, shrubbery, and trees adapted to our climate and soils, for the purpose of experiment;

8. Obtain contributions to the museums and the library of the university;

9. Keep a correct account of all the executive acts of the president of the university;

10. Keep an accurate account of all moneys received into the treasury or paid therefrom;

11. Distribute the seeds, plants, trees, and shrubbery received by him, and not needed by the university, equally throughout the State, to farmers and others who will agree to cultivate them properly and return to the secretary's office a reasonable proportion of the products thereof, with a statement of the mode of cultivation, and such other information as may be necessary to ascertain their value for cultivation in the State;

12. Publish from time to time in the newspapers of the State, free of charge, information relating to agriculture, the mechanic arts, mining, and metallurgy.

In subdivision five the word "forestry" is inserted before "field"; in subdivision six the words "and elsewhere" are inserted after "Europe"; in subdivision seven the words "patent office" are stricken out, and the words "department of agriculture and other departments" inserted; and also the words "and forestry" after the word "agriculture."

§§ 1478-1486*d*. That a new article, numbered VII, codifying the statute of 1877-8, p. 533, be added, to read:

ARTICLE VII.

HASTINGS COLLEGE OF LAW.

- SEC. 1478. Officers and their appointment.
 1479. Affiliation of, with the university.
 1480. Granting and issuing of diplomas.
 1481. Rooms and halls for use of the students and directors.
 1482. The dean.
 1483. Rights of students under their diplomas.
 1484. Appropriations to be made.
 1485. Purposes of the college.
 1486. Founders—professorships.
 1486a. Powers and duties of directors.
 1486b. Use of law library.
 1486c. Payments to be made in case of failure of appropriations, etc.
 1486d. The president of the board.

Officers and their appointment.

Sec. 1478. The law college founded and established by S. C. Hastings shall forever be known and designated as the Hastings College of Law. Its officers are a dean, registrar, and eight directors. Whenever any vacancy occurs in the directors, they must fill the same from the members of the Bar Association of San Francisco or otherwise; but such vacancies must be so filled that one of such directors shall be an heir or representative of said Hastings. The dean and registrar are appointed by the directors.

Corresponds to section one of the act. It was attempted to amend this statute by the act of 1883, p. 26, and by that of 1885, p. 203. The amendments, so far as called in question, were pronounced unconstitutional in People v. Kewan, 69 Cal. 215. For the purposes of this codification, we have assumed that both these amendatory statutes, in their entirety, are unconstitutional, and have based our codification solely upon the statute of 1878.

Affiliation of, with the university.

Sec. 1479. Such college is affiliated with the university of the State, and is the law department thereof.

Corresponds to section two of the act, except in the use of the present instead of the future tense, it being established that affiliation has long since been completed. (Foltz v. Hoge, 54 Cal. 28; People v. Kewan, 69 Cal. 215.)

Granting and issuing of diplomas.

Sec. 1480. The faculty of the university must grant, and the president must sign and issue, diplomas to the students of the college.

Corresponds to section three of the original act.

Rooms and halls for use of the students and directors.

Sec. 1481. There must be set apart for the use of the students of the college, some room or suitable hall at the university, and the board of supervisors of the city and county of San Francisco is authorized to supply a suitable hall therein for the students and directors.

Corresponds to section four of the act.

The dean.

Sec. 1482. The dean of the college is ex officio of the faculty of the university, to be designated as such by the directors of the college.

Corresponds to section five of the act.

Rights of students under their diplomas.

Sec. 1483. A diploma entitles the student to whom it is issued to a license to practice in all the courts of the State, subject to the right of the chief justice of the State to order an examination as in ordinary cases of applicants without such diploma.

Corresponds to section six of the act.

Appropriations to be made.

Sec. 1484. The sum of seven per cent per annum upon one hundred thousand dollars must be appropriated by the State and paid in two semi-annual payments to the directors of the college.

Corresponds to section eight of the act.

Purposes of the college.

Sec. 1485. The business of the college is to afford facilities for the acquisition of legal learning in all branches of the law, and to this end it must establish a curriculum of studies and must matriculate students who may reside at the university of the State, as well as students residing in other parts thereof.

Corresponds to section nine of the act.

Founders—professorships.

Sec. 1486. Professorships may be established in the name of any founder thereof, who pays to the directors the sum of thirty thousand dollars.

Corresponds to section ten of the act.

Powers and duties of directors.

Sec. 1486a. All the business of the college must be managed by the directors without compensation. The acting officers, including the dean and register, must be appointed and may be removed by the directors.

Corresponds to section eleven of the act.

Use of law library.

Sec. 1486*b*. The Law Library Association of the city and county of San Francisco must grant to the students the use of its library upon such terms and conditions as it may agree upon with the directors of the college.

Corresponds to section twelve of the act.

Payments to be made in case of failure of appropriations, etc.

Sec. 1486*c*. If the State fails to pay to the directors of the college the sum of seven thousand dollars per annum, as stipulated in section fourteen hundred and eighty-four, or if the college ceases to exist, the State must pay to the said Hastings, his heirs or legal representatives, the sum of one hundred thousand dollars, and all unexpended accumulated interest, unless such failure is caused by mistake or accident, or the omission of the legislature to make the appropriation at any one session.

Corresponds to section thirteen of the act.

The president of the board.

Sec. 1486*d*. The chief justice of the supreme court of the State is president of the board of directors, five of whom constitute a quorum to transact all business.

Corresponds to section fourteen of the act.

§ 1532. That section fifteen hundred and thirty-two be amended to read:

Sec. 1532. It is the duty of the superintendent of public instruction:

1. To superintend the schools of this State;
2. To report to the governor, on or before the fifteenth day of September preceding each regular session of the legislature, a statement of the condition of the state normal schools and other educational institutions supported by the State, and of the public schools;
3. To accompany his report with tabular statements, showing the number of school children in the State; the number attending public school, and the average attendance; the number attending private schools, and the number not attending school; the amount of state school fund apportioned, and the sources from which derived; the amount raised by county and district taxes, or from other sources of revenue, for school purposes; and the amount expended for salaries of teachers, for building schoolhouses, for district school libraries, and for incidental expenses;

4. To apportion the state school fund; and to furnish an abstract of such apportionment to the state controller, the state board of examiners, and to the county auditors, county treasurers, and county superintendents of the several counties of the State;

5. To draw his order on the controller in favor of each county treasurer, for school moneys apportioned to the county;

6. To prepare, have printed, and furnish all officers charged with the administration of the laws relating to public schools, and to teachers, such blank forms and books as may be necessary to the discharge of their duties, including blank teachers' certificates to be used by county boards of education;

7. To have the laws relating to public schools printed in pamphlet form, and to supply school officers and school libraries with one copy each;

8. To visit the several orphan asylums to which state appropriations are made, and examine into the course of instruction therein;

9. To visit the schools in different counties, and inquire into their condition;

10. To authenticate with his official seal all drafts or orders drawn by him, and all papers and writings issued from his office;

11. To have bound, at the state bindery, all valuable school reports, journals, and documents in his office, or hereafter received by him;

12. To report to the controller, on or before the tenth day of July of each year, the total number of children in the State between the ages of five and seventeen years, as shown by the latest reports of the county superintendents on file in his office;

13. To deliver over, at the expiration of his term of office, on demand, to his successor, all property, books, documents, maps, records, reports, and other papers belonging to his office, or which may have been received by him for the use of his office.

Omits all of subdivision nine after the word "condition," to prevent any conflict with section five hundred and sixteen, and the statute of 1895, p. 238, chap. 192.

§ 1544. That section fifteen hundred and forty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 1544. If he fails to make a full and correct report, as required under the provisions of subdivision thirteen of section fifteen hundred and forty-three, at the time fixed by the superintendent of public instruction, he forfeits one hundred dollars of his salary; and the board of supervisors, upon receiving from the superintendent of public instruction notice of such failure, must deduct the amount forfeited from his salary.

The word "fourteen" stricken out and "thirteen" inserted, to correct a mistake.

§ 1550. That section fifteen hundred and fifty be repealed, because unconstitutional in fixing a classification not known to the law. (Darcy v. Mayor, 104 Cal. 642.)

§ 1623. That section sixteen hundred and twenty-three be amended to read:

Sec. 1623. Boards of trustees and city boards of education are liable as such, in the name of the district, for any judgment against the district for salary due any teacher on contract, and for all debts contracted under the provisions of this chapter, and they must pay such judgment or liabilities out of the school moneys to the credit of such district; provided, that the contracts mentioned in this section are not in excess of the school moneys accruing to the district for the school year for which the contracts are made, otherwise the district is not liable.

Inserts the words "any city board of education."

§ 1697. That section sixteen hundred and ninety-seven be repealed, and its contents added to section eighteen hundred and seventy-eight.

§ 1705. That a new section, numbered seventeen hundred and five, be added, to read:

Sec. 1705. Females employed as teachers in the public schools of this State must in all cases receive the same compensation which is allowed to male teachers for like services when holding the same grade certificates.

Codifies the statute of 1873-4, p. 936.

§§ 1726-1732. That a new article, numbered XIV, consisting of sections seventeen hundred and twenty-six to seventeen hundred and thirty-two, codifying the statute of 1873-4, p. 751, be added, to read:

ARTICLE XIV.

COMPULSORY ATTENDANCE OF CHILDREN AT SCHOOL.

SEC. 1726. Duties of parents, guardians, and others.

1727. Notice to be given by presidents of boards of education and clerks of school district.

1728. Penalties to which parents, guardians, and others are subject.

1729. Duties of clerks to prosecute, and penalty for non-prosecution.

1730. Duties of census marshals and school teachers.

1731. Deaf and dumb or blind children.

1732. Jurisdiction of officers.

Duties of parents, guardians, and others.

Sec. 1726. Every parent, guardian, or other person having charge or control of any child between the ages of eight and fourteen years, must send it to the public school for at least two thirds of the time during each year a school is taught in the city, city and county, or school district. At least twelve weeks of such time must be consecutive, unless such child is excused from such attendance by the board of education of the city, or city and county, or the trustees of the school district in which such parent, guardian, or other person resides, upon it being shown that its bodily or mental condition is such as to prevent attendance at school or application to study for the period required, or that the parents or guardians are extremely poor, or sick, or that such child is taught in a private school or at home in such branches as are usually taught in the primary schools of the State, or has already acquired a good knowledge of such branches. No person is liable to the provisions of this article, in case a public school is not taught within the school district for three months during the year, within one mile, by the nearest traveled road, of his residence.

Corresponds to section one of the statute.

Notice to be given by presidents of boards of education and clerks of school districts.

Sec. 1727. The president of each board of education, and the clerk of each board of district trustees, must cause a copy of this article to be posted for three weeks in the month of June in each year, in three of the most public places in the city, city and county, or school district, or published for a like period in some newspaper therein. The expense of such publication, if made, must be paid out of the school fund of such city, city and county, or school district.

Corresponds to section two of the statute.

Penalties to which parents, guardians, and others are subject.

Sec. 1728. Any parent, guardian, or other person, who fails to comply with the provisions of this article, is guilty of a misdemeanor and liable to a fine of not exceeding twenty dollars for the first offense, and for the second and each subsequent offense, to a fine not less than twenty dollars nor more than fifty dollars, and also to the payment of the costs of the prosecution. Each fine, when collected, must be paid to the clerk of the board of education or of the district trustees.

Corresponds to section three of the statute.

Duties of clerks to prosecute, and penalty for non-prosecution.

Sec. 1729. The clerk of each board of education, and of each board of district trustees, must, on complaint of any teacher, prosecute all offenses subject to prosecution under the provisions of this article. Any clerk neglecting to prosecute such offenses within ten days after a written notice has been served on him by any teacher or taxpayer, within the limits of the authority of the board, is, unless the person so complained of is excused by the proper school board, liable to a fine of not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars, which fine must be prosecuted for in the name of the people of the State, and when collected must be paid to the clerk of the board of education or of trustees of the city, city and county, or school district, and be accounted for as provided in the preceding section. If the prosecution in such a case fails, the expenses thereof must be paid out of the school funds of the city, city and county, or school district in which the case arose.

Corresponds to section four of the statute.

Duties of census marshals and school teachers.

Sec. 1730. Each census marshal must furnish each board of education and all district trustees with a complete list of children living within the jurisdiction of the board, and note on such list all children not attending colleges, college schools, private schools, nor taught at home, who are liable to the provisions of this article. Each teacher, teaching within the limits of the jurisdiction of such board, must be supplied with a list of all children within his department or school, and must call such list each morning on the opening of the school, and note the absentees and the reason for their absence, if any, and at the close of each term of twelve weeks must make a full report to the board of education or the district trustees of all such cases of absence with the names, both of the children and of the parents, guardians, or other persons having the children in charge, and such board must thereupon forthwith proceed to prosecute such parents, guardians, or other persons according to the provisions of this article.

Corresponds to section five of the statute.

Deaf and dumb or blind children.

Sec. 1731. Every parent or guardian of any deaf and dumb or blind child, between the ages of six years and twenty-one years, must, under the penalties hereinbefore in this article specified, send such child to the institution provided by the State for the gratuitous instruction of deaf and dumb or blind children, for a period of not less than five years, unless such child has been excused by the authorities on the grounds specified in section seventeen hundred and twenty-six.

Corresponds to section six of the statute.

Jurisdiction of officers.

Sec. 1732. Any justice of the peace of the city, city and county, or school district has jurisdiction of offenses committed therein against the provisions of this article.

Corresponds to section seven of the statute.

§§ 1741-1746. That a new article, numbered XV, consisting of sections seventeen hundred and forty-one to seventeen hundred and forty-six, codifying sections, five, six, seven, and ten of the statute of 1885, p. 6, with amendments thereto, and section five of the statute of 1889, p. 141, and section four of the statute of 1893, p. 86, be added, to read:

ARTICLE XV.

STATE SERIES OF SCHOOL BOOKS.

- SEC. 1741. Adoption and use of the state series of school books.
- 1742. State school books—how and by whom may be obtained.
- 1743. Revolving fund to be provided by boards of supervisors.
- 1744. Cost at which books must be furnished.
- 1745. Compensation of superintendent of public instruction, for services.
- 1746. The state school book fund.

Adoption and use of the state series of school books.

Sec. 1741. Whenever any one or more of the state series of school books have been compiled or revised, the state board of education must issue an order requiring the uniform use of such book or books in the common schools of the State, but such order does not take effect until the expiration of at least one year from the time of the completion of the electrotpe plates of such book or books. Thereafter such book or books must be used in all the common schools of the State, and no school board or other school authority has power to authorize the use of, nor must any common school in this State use any books, as text-books for pupils, other than those directed to be used by such order of such school board, except books on such subjects as are not provided for by the text-books published by the State. The superintendent of public instruction must withhold from any city, city and county, or from any school district using school books in violation of the provisions of this article, all state school moneys to which it may be entitled, until it complies with the requirements of this section, and any moneys so withheld must be apportioned, in the same manner as other school moneys in the treasury. Nothing in this article must be construed to prevent any county, city and county, or school district from using any one or more of the state series of school books, whenever such book or books have been published.

This is a consolidation of section five of the statute of 1885 as amended by the statute of 1901, p. 453, with section four of the act of March 9, 1893, p. 85.

State school books—how and by whom may be obtained.

Sec. 1742. All orders for text-books must be on the superintendent of public instruction and be accompanied by cash, in payment for the same, at the price fixed by the state board of education as the cost price at Sacramento, and if the books are to be shipped by mail, the cost of postage must also accompany the order.

The following persons are entitled to order books:

1. County superintendents of schools, for the use of teachers, parents, and pupils in their county only;
2. Presidents of state normal schools, for their own use and that of the pupils in their respective schools only;
3. The secretary or clerk of any school district in the State, whether incorporated or operating under the general law of the State, for the use of the pupils in such district only; but no books ordered by the county superintendents or clerks of district boards of trustees, or presidents of state normal schools, must be sold at a price exceeding the cost price at Sacramento, with the actual cost of freight and cartage added;
4. Any retail dealer who first transmits to the state superintendent of public instruction an affidavit, duly subscribed by him, in substance as follows, to wit:

"State of California, } County of ———. }

"A. B., being first sworn, deposes and says, that he will not sell any of the state series of school books to any person beyond the limits of the State of California; and that he will not sell said series, or any part thereof, at a price exceeding the price fixed by the state board of education."

Such affidavit must be indorsed by the county superintendent in the following words, viz:

"I hereby certify that (A. B.) is a regular retail dealer in school books in ——— county. C. D., county superintendent."

The state superintendent of public instruction must furnish to each county superintendent, for the use of any dealer in his county who may apply for permission to sell the books of the state series, printed copies of the above affidavit, together with the list price of books fixed as the cost price at Sacramento; and any dealer who fails to comply with the conditions of such affidavit forfeits his right to any further purchase of said books from the State. The superintendent of public instruction must report to the state controller, on or before the fifth day of every month, the number of books sold by him during the preceding month, and pay the moneys received for the same into the state treasury. The superintendent of state printing must, on or before the fifth day of every month, report to the state controller the number and value of the books shipped by him on the order of the state superintendent of public instruction, and the number and value of the finished books on hand.

Corresponds to section six of the act of 1885, as amended by the statute of 1887, p. 145.

Revolving fund to be provided by boards of supervisors.

Sec. 1743. The boards of supervisors of the counties and cities and counties in this State must provide a revolving fund for the purpose of enabling the county school superintendents to furnish the state text-books, all moneys to be taken therefrom to be replaced by the moneys received from the sale of such books to the scholars of the public schools of his county, either by himself or by the teachers of the public schools or the clerks of boards of district trustees.

Corresponds to section seven of the act of 1885, as amended by the statute of 1887, p. 146.

Cost at which books must be furnished.

Sec. 1744. All school books compiled by the State must be furnished to the public school children of the State at the cost of printing, publishing, and distributing the same, such cost to be ascertained and fixed by the state board of education on or before the fifteenth day of June of each school year, and the cost of distribution must be taken to be the cost of postage required for mailing such books.

Corresponds to section ten of the act of 1885, as amended by the statute of 1887, p. 146.

Compensation of superintendent of public instruction for services.

Sec. 1745. The superintendent of public instruction is authorized to employ assistants in carrying out the provisions of this article, and the controller is directed to draw his warrant for a sum not exceeding two thousand dollars annually, on the general fund of the State, for the payment of such assistants.

Corresponds to section four of the act of 1887, p. 145.

The state school book fund.

Sec. 1746. All money which has been or may hereafter be received from the state series of school books must be kept by the state treasurer as a separate and distinct fund, to be known as the "state school book fund," which fund is subject to the following drafts, viz.: by the superintendent of state printing for all moneys needed for manufacturing any editions of any book of the state series, over and above the first fifty thousand copies manufactured of such book, the same to be drawn as provided in subdivision four of section twenty-five hundred and twenty-six. All demands on the state school book fund must be presented to the state board of examiners in itemized form for its approval, and upon the approval of the state board of examiners, the controller must draw his warrants upon the state treasurer for the payment of such demands, and the state treasurer must pay the same.

Corresponds to section five of the act of 1887, p. 139.

§ 1817. That section eighteen hundred and seventeen be amended to read:

Sec. 1817. The county superintendent of each county, other than those of the first class, must, on or before the first regular meeting of the board of supervisors in September in each year, furnish the supervisors and the auditor, respectively, an estimate, in writing, of the minimum amount of county school fund needed for the ensuing year. This amount he must compute as follows:

First—He must ascertain, in the manner provided for in subdivisions one and two of section eighteen hundred and fifty-eight, the total number of teachers for the county;

Second—He must calculate the amount required to be raised, at five hundred dollars per teacher. From this amount he must deduct the total amount of state apportionments, and the remainder shall be the minimum amount of county school fund needed for the ensuing year; provided, that if this amount is less than sufficient to raise a sum equal to six dollars for each census child in the county, then the minimum amount shall be such a sum as will be equal to six dollars for each census child in the county.

Strikes out the words “having a population of less than two hundred thousand inhabitants” and inserts the words “other than those of the first class,” because the classification now specified in the section is unconstitutional. (Darcy v. Mayor, 104 Cal. 642.)

§ 1818. That section eighteen hundred and eighteen be amended to read:

Sec. 1818. The board of supervisors of counties other than those of the first, second, and third classes, must, annually, at the time of levying other county taxes, levy a tax to be known as the county school tax, the maximum rate of which must not exceed fifty cents on each one hundred dollars of taxable property in the county, nor the minimum rate be less than sufficient to raise a minimum amount reported by the county superintendent, in accordance with the provisions of the preceding section. The supervisors must determine the minimum rate of the county school tax as follows: They must deduct fifteen per cent from the equalized value of the last general assessment roll, and the amount required to be raised, divided by the remainder of the assessment roll, is the rate to be levied; but if any fraction of a cent occur, it must be taken as a full cent on each one hundred dollars.

Strikes out the words “of each county having less than one hundred thousand inhabitants” and inserts the words “counties other than those of the first, second, and third classes.”

§ 1834. That section eighteen hundred and thirty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 1834. At such election the ballots must contain the words “For the tax,” and the voter must write or print after such words on his ballot the word “yes” or the word “no.”

The words “Tax—Yes, or Tax—No” stricken out, and in their place inserted the words “‘For the tax,’ and the voter must write or print after such words on his ballot the word ‘yes’ or the word ‘no.’”

§ 1835. That section eighteen hundred and thirty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 1835. If a majority of the votes cast upon the question of the tax levy are "For the tax—Yes," the officers of the election must certify the fact to the board of school trustees.

Inserts before the word "yes" the words "For the tax."

§ 1840. That a new section, numbered eighteen hundred and forty, be added, to read:

Sec. 1840. All moneys which have been or may hereafter be raised by special tax, for the purpose of erecting school buildings, that remain in the hands of the county treasurer after all bonds issued on account of such buildings have been redeemed, and all other indebtedness arising on account of such buildings has been liquidated, must be placed in the county school fund of the school district for which the moneys were raised, subject to the order of the trustees thereof.

Codifies the statute of 1883, p. 295, chap. 74.

§§ 1841, 1842. That two new sections, codifying the statute of 1891, p. 4, chap. 6, numbered eighteen hundred and forty-one and eighteen hundred and forty-two, be added, to read:

Sec. 1841. In all cases where the board of school trustees, board of school directors, board of education, or other governing body of any school district in this State, except municipal corporations of the first class, has or may hereafter have power to raise money by taxation without the vote of the people, in addition to the funds provided by the State and county for school or educational purposes, such money must be raised and such taxes levied and collected in the following manner, to wit: The board of trustees or board of education must, within the limits fixed by law, estimate the amount of money so to be raised by taxation and required by their respective districts for school purposes during the year next ensuing, which year must begin on the first Monday in January at twelve o'clock m. The meeting for making such estimate must be held between the first and twentieth days of September in each year. The estimate showing the amount of money to be raised, and the purpose for which it is to be used, must be entered upon the records of the board making it, signed by a majority of the board and attested by its clerk or secretary. He must immediately furnish to the board of supervisors of the county in which the district is situated, a copy of such record containing such estimate, which must show the name of the district, the amount of money to be raised, and the purposes for which it is to be used.

Sec. 1842. The board of supervisors, upon receipt of the estimate provided for in the preceding section, must, at the time of levying the county taxes, levy a tax upon all the taxable property in the school district requiring such money, sufficient to raise the amount. The rate of taxation must be ascertained by taking fifteen per cent for anticipated delinquencies from the aggregate assessed value of the property in the district, as it appears on the assessment roll of the county, and then by dividing the amount to be raised by the remainder of such aggregate assessed value. The taxes so levied must be computed and entered on the assessment roll by the county auditor, and collected at the same time and in the same manner as state and county taxes, and when collected must be paid into the county treasury for the use of the district for which the money was collected. The treasurer must, upon demand, pay out such moneys to the district entitled thereto, in the same manner as other school moneys are paid out by him.

§ 1872. That a new section, numbered eighteen hundred and seventy-two, be added, to read:

Sec. 1872. Women over the age of twenty-one years, who are citizens of the United States and of this State, are eligible to all educational offices within the State.

Codifies the statute of 1873-4, p. 356.

§ 1877. That section eighteen hundred and seventy-seven be amended to read:

Sec. 1877. All printing or binding required under this chapter, except as provided in subdivision eight of section seventeen hundred and seventy-one, must be executed by the superintendent of state printing, in the form and manner and at the prices of other state printing, and be paid for in like manner.

The words "state printer" omitted and "superintendent of state printing" inserted.

§ 1878. That section eighteen hundred and seventy-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 1878. The school year begins on the first day of July, and ends on the last day of June next thereafter. A school month is twenty school days, or four weeks of five days each.

The words "next thereafter" inserted.

§ 1883. That section eighteen hundred and eighty-three be amended to read:

Sec. 1883. Such election must be conducted in conformity to the provisions of sections one thousand five hundred and ninety-six, one thousand five hundred and ninety-seven, one thousand five hundred and ninety-eight, one thousand five hundred and ninety-nine, one thousand six hundred, one thousand six hundred and one, and one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four, except that the words to appear upon the ballots must be: "For the bonds," and the voter must write or print after such words on his ballot the word "yes" or the word "no."

The words "Bonds—Yes, or Bonds—No" stricken out, and in their place inserted the words "'For the bonds,' and the voter must write or print after such words on his ballot the word 'yes' or the word 'no.'"

§ 1885. That section eighteen hundred and eighty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 1885. The board of supervisors, by an order entered upon its minutes, must prescribe the form of such bonds, and of the interest coupons attached thereto, and must fix the time when the whole or any part of the principal thereof shall be payable, which must not be more than forty years from the date thereof.

The word "forty" substituted for "twenty."

§§ 1891–1894*h*. That a new article, numbered XXII, codifying the statute of 1895, p. 170, chap. 166, consisting of sections eighteen hundred and ninety-one to eighteen hundred and ninety-four h, be added, to read:

ARTICLE XXII.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS' ANNUITY AND RETIREMENT FUND.

- SEC. 1891. Commissioners of the public school teachers' retirement fund.
- 1892. Meetings and reports of commissioners.
- 1893. Warrants and lists of persons entitled to benefits.
- 1894. Additional powers of commissioners.
- 1894*a*. Committee on retirement, and its duties.
- 1894*b*. Applications for retirement and certificates thereon.
- 1894*c*. Witnesses—compelling attendance of.
- 1894*d*. Qualifications for retirement and amount of annuities.
- 1894*e*. Pro rata dividends—when must be declared.
- 1894*f*. Annuity fund—how to be provided.
- 1894*g*. Classification of annuity funds.
- 1894*h*. Persons who are bound by this article.

Commissioners of the public school teachers' retirement fund.

Sec. 1891. The superintendent of public or common schools, the county or city and county treasurer, and the chairman of the board of supervisors of any county, or the mayor of any city and county, and their successors in office, constitute the board of trustees of the "public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund," to manage it as hereinafter directed. Such board must be known as the "Public School Teachers' Retirement Fund Commissioners," and its members must serve without extra compensation, and they are liable on their official bonds for the performance of the duties imposed by this article. The district attorney of every county, or city and county, must attend to all suits, matters and things, in which such board of commissioners may be legally interested, and give his advice or opinion in writing, whenever required by such board.

Corresponds to section one as amended by the statute of 1897, p. 225.

Meetings and reports of commissioners.

Sec. 1892. The county or city and county treasurer is ex officio treasurer of the school teachers' annuity and retirement fund. The board of retirement fund commissioners must hold quarterly meetings on the third Saturday in January, April, July, and October of each year, at the office of the county or city and county superintendent of public or common schools. Such board must, biennially, at its meeting in January, select from its members a chairman and secretary. A majority of its members constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. It must report annually to the board of trustees the condition of such retirement fund, and the receipts and disbursements on account thereof, with a full and complete list of the beneficiaries of the fund and the amounts paid to each of them.

Corresponds to section two as amended by statute of 1897, p. 225, which, as thus amended, purports to consolidate sections two and four of the statute of 1895.

Warrants and lists of persons entitled to benefits.

Sec. 1893. Such board of public school teachers' retirement fund commissioners must issue warrants, signed by its chairman and secretary, to the persons entitled thereto, for the amounts of money ordered paid to such persons from such fund by said board, stating therein for what purpose such payment is made, and the treasurer must pay such warrants on presentation. Such board must keep a record of all its proceedings, which must be open to public inspection. It must, at each quarterly meeting, make a list of all persons entitled to payment out of the funds provided by this article, and enter such list in a book to be kept by them for that purpose, to be known as the public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund book, which list must be sworn to as correct by the chairman and the secretary of such board, and be open to public inspection.

Corresponds to the new section three to be found in the statute of 1897, p. 226.

Additional powers of commissioners.

Sec. 1894. In addition to the powers hereinbefore granted to such board, it has the further power (1) to provide for the payment, out of the hereinbefore described annuity fund, of necessary expenses, such as printing, stationery, and postage stamps; and in counties, or cities and counties, where the number of those subject to the burdens of this article is greater than two hundred, to employ a clerk at a salary not to exceed fifty dollars per annum; (2) to make such needful rules and regulations for the transaction of its business, from time to time, as may be necessary.

Corresponds to section four of the statute of 1901, p. 677.

Committee on retirement, and its duties.

Sec. 1894a. Those subject to the burdens of this article in each county, or in each city and county, at a meeting called for the purpose by the superintendent of public schools of such county, or of such city and county, on the first Saturday in May following the creation of the fund hereinafter specified, must elect by ballot five of their number, who constitute a committee on retirement; the members of such committee must, immediately after their election, classify themselves by lot so that one shall serve for one year, two shall serve for two years, and two shall serve for three years; and annually at a meeting to be called in the same manner on the first Saturday in May of each year after the first meeting, the successor or successors of the member or members of such committee whose term of office is about to expire, must be elected for a term of three years. Such committee must always consist of at least one class teacher from some primary school, one from some grammar school, and one from some high school in the county, or city and county, whenever possible. In the event of a vacancy the superintendent of schools must appoint until the next annual election.

Corresponds to section five of the statute of 1901, p. 677.

Applications for retirement and certificates thereon.

Sec. 1894b. The board of education of any incorporated city or town, and the board of trustees of any school district outside of said city or town, must refer all applications for retirement to said committee on retirement, or may, of its own motion, submit the name of any person or persons, whom it desires to have retired, to such committee on retirement, and it thereupon is the duty of such committee to investigate the case and report to such board of education or board of trustees, whether or not such teacher should be retired, and the annuity to which such teacher is entitled, if entitled to any. At least three members of such committee must concur in the report, if it be in favor of granting such annuity. This report of such committee is final. Such board of education or board of trustees must thereupon certify and send this report to the public school teachers' retirement fund commissioners, who are bound by its decision.

Corresponds to section six of the statute of 1897, p. 227.

Witnesses, compelling attendance of.

Sec. 1894c. In addition to the powers heretofore granted to such committee on retirement, it has the power (1) to subpoena and compel witnesses to attend and testify before it on all matters relating to the operation of this article, and any member of such committee may administer an oath or affirmation to such witness in the form prescribed in courts of justice; (2) to make such rules and regulations for the transaction of its business as may from time to time be necessary.

Corresponds to section seven of the statute of 1897, p. 227.

Qualifications for retirement and amount of annuities.

Sec. 1894d. Any public school teacher who has been a contributor under the provisions of this article, and who has ceased professional work for a time, may again become a contributor upon return to professional work in the public schools of this State, or in any one of the offices mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h, and must thereupon be credited with his previous service and contribution; provided, that no person may be a contributor to any annuity fund who does not hold a valid certificate or diploma to teach in the public schools of this State.

The annuitants under this article are classed as follows:

Class One. 1. Any teacher who has served in the public schools of this State for thirty years as teacher, and who has been subject to the burdens imposed by this article for thirty years, is entitled to retire under the provisions of this article;

2. Any teacher who has served in the public schools of this State and who has served in one or more of the offices mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h, and the aggregate period of whose service in such public schools and in such office or offices is thirty years, and who has been subject to the burdens imposed by this article during such thirty years, is entitled to retire under the provisions of this article; provided, however, such teacher has held a valid certificate or diploma to teach in the public schools of this State during all of such period. Annuitants of class one are entitled to receive from the public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund the sum of thirty dollars per month in counties, and fifty dollars per month in cities and counties, payable quarterly.

Class Two. Any teacher who has served in the public schools of this State for thirty years and who was unable to contribute to an annuity fund for thirty years, by reason of the non-establishment or non-existence of such fund, and any teacher who has served in the public schools of this State and who has served in one or more of the offices mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h, and the aggregate period of whose service in such public schools and in such office or offices is thirty years, and who has held a valid certificate or diploma to teach in the public schools of this State during all of such period, and who was unable to contribute to an annuity fund for thirty years by reason of the non-establishment or non-existence of such fund, must, upon application to the board, be retired, and must receive from the public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund the sum of thirty dollars per month in counties and fifty dollars per month in cities and counties, payable quarterly; provided, that such applicant for retirement was, on the twenty-sixth day of March, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, a contributor to, or within ninety days thereafter became a contributor to, an annuity fund in the county, or in the city and county, where he was teaching, and has paid at the time of his retirement a sum aggregating what he would have paid in thirty years; provided further, that annuities under this class must not begin until four years after the retired teacher becomes a contributor.

Class Three. Any public school teacher who has served for thirty years, twenty-five of which have been in the public schools of California, or partly in the public schools of California and partly in one or more of the offices mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h, and who has been subject to the burdens imposed by this article for twenty-five years, must receive at the close of thirty years' service (upon payment into the teachers' annuity and retirement fund of a sum of money equal to the difference between what he has paid and the amount which one has paid who has been under the burden of this article for thirty years) the sum of thirty dollars per calendar month in counties, and fifty dollars per month in cities and counties, payable quarterly.

Class Four. Any public school teacher or officer mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h under the burdens of this article, who removes to another county in this State, may continue to be a contributor to the teachers' annuity and retirement fund in the county, or in the city and county, from which he removed, as long as he continues his professional work; and it is hereby made the duty of the county treasurer of the county, or city and county, wherein the teacher or school officer agreed to become subject to the burdens of this article, to receive such contributions of such non-residents and to place them to the credit of the teachers' annuity and retirement fund.

Class Five. Any teacher who ceases to serve in the public schools of any county, or city and county, or who ceases to serve in one of the offices mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h, in the county, or city and county, where he has been subject to the burdens imposed by this article, and who has served in the public schools of this State for thirty years, or who has served partly in the public schools of this State and partly in one or more of the offices mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h for an aggregate period of thirty years, is entitled to retire, and to receive from the public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund of the county, or city and county, to which he has contributed for at least four years, an annuity equal to such proportion of the maximum annuity granted under this article, as the time he has been subject to the burdens imposed by this article in such county, or city and county, bears to the period of thirty years.

Class Six. If any teacher after the expiration of fifteen years, and before the expiration of thirty years, of service in the public schools of this State, or of service partly in such public schools and partly in one or more of the offices mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h, is compelled by reason of incapacity to retire from public school service, or from one of such offices mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h, while holding a valid certificate or diploma to teach in the public schools of this State, such retiring teacher, if a contributor to the annuity fund at the time of retirement, is entitled to as many thirtieths (30ths) of the full annuity as he has had years of service, by paying into the annuity fund the contributions to such fund corresponding to those years of service rendered at a time when or in a place where it was impossible to make such contributions by reason of the non-existence of an annuity fund.

Class Seven. Any public school teacher who has been subject to the burdens imposed by this article for a period of at least four years, and who has served in the public schools of this State for a period of fifteen years, or partly in such public schools and partly in one or more of the offices mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h for a period of fifteen years, and who has held a valid certificate to teach in the schools of this State during all such period, and who has been declared incapacitated, by the committee on retirement, from performing the duties of a teacher, or the duties of the office which he may be occupying, if he should be occupying one of the offices mentioned in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four h, is entitled to retire and to receive an annuity from the public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund equal to such proportion of the maximum annuity granted under this article as the time he has been subject to the burdens imposed by this article bears to the period of thirty years.

Class Eight. Teachers of evening schools receiving a salary of fifty dollars or less are subject to one half of the burdens and are entitled to one half the benefit of this article; provided, that any teacher who is employed both in a day and in an evening school must be considered, for the purposes of this article, to be employed in a day school only; provided further, that an evening school teacher, who at any time before retirement under the provisions of this article becomes a day school teacher, must, upon retirement as a day school teacher, be credited for half time for his evening school service under the class in which he may be retired.

High school and other public school teachers in counties, cities, or cities and counties, who have been or are unable, by reason of any imperfection in the terms of this article, or of the several acts heretofore existing relating to the creation and administering of a public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund, to become contributors, must be allowed, upon admission under the terms of said acts and of this article, and upon the payment of the amounts they would have paid had they been contributors, to date the time of their admission from the time of the organization of the teachers' annuity and retirement fund in their county, city, or city and county. City treasurers are hereby directed to pay into the teachers' annuity and retirement fund the contributions of teachers and school officers whose salaries are paid by or through city treasurers in the same manner as is provided in this article, to be paid by the treasurer of a county, or city and county. Compliance with these provisions shall render any high school or other teacher eligible to the benefits provided in any one of the eight classes of annuitants to which such teacher may be qualified.

Any annuity must be suspended if the recipient returns to the profession of teaching. Any annuity less than two-thirds of the maximum annuity must cease at the expiration of one year from the time at which the committee on retirement, constituted in section eighteen hundred and ninety-four a, decides that the recipient has been restored to the capacity of performing the duties of a teacher.

All teachers now employed in the public schools who filed the notice on the twenty-sixth day of March, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, or within ninety days thereafter, in counties, or in cities and counties, and all other public school teachers who become contributors within ninety days after the establishment of the fund herein specified in all other counties, and who have paid at the time of their being retired an amount equal to what they would have paid had they been subject to the burdens imposed for thirty years, must not suffer any reduction of annuities.

Corresponds to section eight, as found in the Statutes of 1901, pp. 677-681.

Pro rata dividends—when must be declared.

Sec. 1894*e*. If at the end of any quarter year there is not a sufficient amount of money in the "annuity fund," hereinafter described, to pay all warrants or demands of annuitants in full, then the money in that fund must be divided pro rata among them, and the sum received by each annuitant must be in full discharge of all claims against said fund to that date.

Corresponds to section nine of the statute of 1897, p. 228.

Annuity fund—how to be provided.

Sec. 1894f. The school teachers' annuity and retirement fund herein provided for, consists of the following, with the income and interest thereof: (I) Twelve dollars ($12) per school year, of the salaries paid to all those subject to the burdens of this article, in each county, or city and county, shall be deducted from the warrants for salary, and paid by the treasurer of the county, or city and county, to the public school teachers' retirement fund commissioners of said county, or city and county, and it is the duty of the secretary of the board of education in every incorporated city or town, or city and county, and the secretary of the board of trustees of every school district outside of such city or town, or city and county, to note in each warrant the amount to be deducted by the treasurer; (II) All moneys received from gifts, bequests, and devises, or from any other source; (III) All money, pay, compensation, or salary forfeited, deducted, or withheld from the warrant or demand for salary of any teacher or teachers for and on account of absence from duty from any cause, which the board of education of any incorporated city or town, or the board of trustees of any school district outside of such city or town, may appropriate and set apart for the aforesaid fund; and such boards of education, or boards of trustees, are hereby empowered to appropriate such moneys, or any part thereof, for such fund; provided, that in cities and counties, after the establishment of an annuity fund therein, it is the duty of boards of education to appropriate monthly at least one half of such moneys for such fund.

Corresponds to section ten of the statute of 1897, p. 229.

Classification of annuity funds.

Sec. 1894g. The public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund herein provided for must be divided into two distinct funds or accounts, (1) the permanent fund, and (2) the annuity fund.

(1) The permanent fund:

A. The permanent fund consists of: (I) Twenty-five per cent of all contributions from those affected by this article; (II) Twenty-five per cent of all gifts, bequests, or devises, unless otherwise ordered by the donor or testator; (III) Twenty-five per cent of all moneys deducted from the salary of teachers because of absence from duty.

B. When the permanent fund amounts to the sum of fifty thousand dollars, then all moneys thereafter received must go into the annuity fund, except such gifts, devises, or bequests as may be specially directed by their donors or testators to be placed in the permanent fund.

C. It is the duty of the public school teachers' retirement fund commissioners to invest the aforesaid permanent fund in interest-bearing bonds issued by the federal, state, county, city and county, or municipal governments, and to apply the interest thereon as herein directed.

(2) The annuity fund:

A. The annuity fund consists of: (I) The income derived from the permanent fund; (II) All other moneys belonging to the public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund not hereinbefore directed to be placed in the permanent fund; (III) All money in the fund provided for in this article.

B. The annuity fund is the only one from which annuitants can be paid.

C. If at the end of any fiscal year there remains any surplus in the annuity fund, said surplus must be deposited by the public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund commissioners in any savings bank or savings banks designated by them.

Corresponds to section eleven of the statute of 1897, p. 229.

Persons who are bound by this article.

Sec. 1894h. This article is binding (1) upon such public school teachers, and such other officers of the school department as possess teachers' certificates, who sign and deliver or have heretofore signed and delivered to the public school teachers' retirement fund commissioners, and to the secretary of the board of education of the incorporated city or town, or city and county, or to the secretary of the board of trustees of the school district in which they are employed, a notice in substantially the following form:

_____, 19--.

To the Public School Teachers' Annuity and Retirement Fund
Commissioners of _____ County (or city and county):

You are hereby notified that I agree to be bound by, and desire to avail myself of, the provisions of the act of the legislature of the State of California, approved _____, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, entitled "An act to amend an act approved March twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, entitled 'An act to create and administer a public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund in the several counties, and cities and counties, in the State.'"

_____,
Public school teacher.

And provided, that at least thirty teachers within the county, or city and county, have filed the notice hereinbefore set forth; provided further, that in all counties, or in cities and counties, where there is a less number of teachers than thirty, this article is binding on all those who signify their intention of being bound thereby.

(2) In cities and counties it is binding upon all teachers elected or appointed to teach in the public schools of such cities and counties.

(3) Annuities heretofore granted must be continued for the same amount as heretofore paid; subject, however, to the conditions imposed by sections eighteen hundred and ninety-four e and eighteen hundred and ninety-four g of this article.

Corresponds to section twelve of the statute of 1897, p. 230.

§§ 1894*i*–1894*m*. That a new article, numbered XXIII, codifying the statute of 1889, p. 32, chap. 24, consisting of sections eighteen hundred and ninety-four i to eighteen hundred and ninety-four m, be added, to read:

ARTICLE XXIII.

VACCINATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Sec. 1894*i*. Vaccination must be required.

1894*j*. Notice to be given respecting vaccination.

1894*k*. List of children not vaccinated. Provision for vaccine virus.

1894*l*. Expenses—how to be paid.

1894*m*. Reports to be made to the state board of health.

Vaccination must be required.

Sec. 1894*i*. The board of trustees of school districts and board of education in cities or cities and counties, must exclude from the benefits of the common schools therein any child or person who has not been vaccinated, until the time when he shall be successfully vaccinated. Any practicing or licensed physician may certify that such child or person has used due diligence and cannot be vaccinated so as to produce a successful vaccination, and thereupon he must be excepted from the provisions of this article.

Corresponds to section one of the act.

Notice to be given respecting vaccination.

Sec. 1894*j*. The trustees or local board, annually, and at special times to be fixed by the state board of health, must give at least ten days' notice, by posting in two or more public and conspicuous places within their jurisdiction, that provision has been made for the vaccination of any child of suitable age who desires to attend the common schools and whose parents or guardians are pecuniarily or otherwise unable to procure vaccination therefor.

Corresponds to section two of the act.

List of children not vaccinated. Provision for vaccine virus.

Sec. 1894k. Such trustees or board must annually ascertain the number of persons in their respective school districts or subdivision of the city school government, being of age suitable to attend common schools, who have not been already vaccinated, and make a list of the names of such children and persons. Such trustees or board must also provide for the vaccination of all such children or persons in their respective school districts and get a reliable vaccine virus wherewith to vaccinate such of them as have not been vaccinated, and when so vaccinated must give a certificate of vaccination, which is evidence thereof for the purpose of complying with section eighteen hundred and ninety-four i.

Corresponds to section three of the act.

Expenses—how to be paid.

Sec. 1894l. The necessary expenses incurred under the provisions of this article must be paid out of the common school moneys apportioned to the district, city, or town. If there is not sufficient money, the trustees must notify the board of supervisors of the amount of money necessary, and that board must, at the time of levying the county taxes, levy a tax upon the taxable property in the district, sufficient to raise the amount needed. The rate of taxation is to be ascertained by taking fifteen per cent for delinquencies from the assessment, and the rate must be based upon the remainder. The tax so levied must be computed and entered upon the assessment roll by the county auditor, and collected at the same time and in the same manner as state and county taxes, and then paid into the county treasury for the use of the district.

Corresponds to section four of the act.

Reports to be made to the state board of health.

Sec. 1894m. The trustees of the several school districts of the State must include in their annual report to the secretary of the state board of health the number in their several districts, between the age of five and seventeen years, who are vaccinated, and the number unvaccinated.

Corresponds to section five of the act.

§§ 1894*n*-1894*v*. That a new article, numbered XXIV, codifying the statute of 1885, p. 49, consisting of sections eighteen hundred and ninety-four n to eighteen hundred and ninety-four v, be added, to read:

ARTICLE XXIV.

GIFTS FOR FOUNDING SCHOOLS.

- SEC. 1894*n*. Grants in trust for purposes of, authorized.
 1894*o*. Provisions which may be inserted in grant for.
 1894*p*. Trustees and their authority.
 1894*q*. Grantor may provide that himself or his wife be trustee for.
 1894*r*. Reservation of right to alter the terms of grant.
 1894*s*. Trustees—when may become custodians of minors. Grant—how to be executed.
 1894*t*. Suits to annul or affect conveyances for.
 1894*u*. Exemption of property from forced sale.
 1894*v*. Devise or bequest of property to the State.

Grants in trust for purposes of, authorized.

Sec. 1894*n*. Any person desiring, in his lifetime, to promote the public welfare by founding, endowing, and maintaining, within this State, a university, college, school, seminary of learning, mechanical institute, museum, botanic garden, public park, or gallery of art, or any or all thereof, may, to the end, and for such purpose, by grant, in writing, convey to a trustee, or any number of trustees, named in such grant (and to their successors), any property, real or personal, belonging to such person, and situated or being within this State.

Corresponds to section two, as amended by the statute of 1891, p. 454, chap. 229, omitting all after the word "State" in the third line from the bottom.

Provisions which may be inserted in grant for.

Sec. 1894*o*. The person making such grant may therein designate:

1. The nature, object, and purposes of the institution or institutions to be founded, endowed, and maintained;
2. The name by which it or they must be known;
3. The powers and duties of the trustees, and the manner in which they must account, and to whom, if accounting be required; but such powers and duties must not be held to be exclusive of other powers and duties which may be necessary to enable such trustees to fully carry out the object of such grant;
4. The mode and manner, and by whom, the successors to the trustee or trustees named in the grant are to be appointed;

5. Such rules and regulations for the management of the property conveyed as the grantor may elect to prescribe; but such rules must, unless the grantor otherwise prescribe, be deemed advisory only, and must not preclude such trustees from making such changes as new conditions may, from time to time, require;

6. The place or places where, and the time when, the buildings necessary and proper for the institution or institutions must be erected, and the character and extent thereof.

The person making such grant may therein provide for all other things necessary and proper to carry out the purposes thereof, and especially may such person provide for the trades and professions which must be taught in such institutions, and the terms upon which deserving scholars of the public and private schools of the various counties of this State may be admitted to all the privileges of such institutions, as a reward for meritorious conduct and good scholarship; and also for maintaining free scholarships for children of persons who have rendered service to or who have died in the service of this State; and also for maintaining free scholarships for children of mechanics, tradesmen, and laborers, who have died without leaving means sufficient to give such children a practical education, fitting them for the useful trades or arts; and also the terms and conditions upon which students in the public and private schools, and other deserving persons, may, without cost to themselves, attend the lectures of any university established; and also the terms and conditions upon which the museums, and art galleries, and conservatories of music, connected with any such institution, shall be open to all deserving persons without charge, and without their becoming students of the institution.

Consists of section three of the original act.

Trustees and their authority.

Sec. 1894p. The trustee or trustees named in such grant, and their successors, may, in the name of the institution or institutions, as designated in such grant, sue and defend, in relation to the trust property, and in relation to all matters affecting the institution or institutions endowed and established by such grant.

Consists of section four of the original act.

Grantor may provide that himself or his wife be trustee for.

Sec. 1894q. The person making such grant by a provision therein may elect, in relation to the property conveyed, and in relation to the erection, maintenance, and management of such institution or institutions, to perform during his life all the duties and exercise all the powers which, by the terms of the grant, are enjoined upon and vested in the trustee or trustees therein named. If the person making such grant, and making the election aforesaid, be a married person, such person may further provide that if the wife of such person survive him, then such wife during her life may, in relation to the property conveyed, and in relation to the erection, maintenance, and management of such institution or institutions, perform all the duties and exercise all the powers which, by the terms of the grant, are enjoined upon and vested in the trustee or trustees therein named, and in all such cases the powers and duties conferred and imposed by such grant upon the trustee or trustees therein named, must be exercised and performed by the person making such grant, or by his wife during his or her life, as the case may be; provided, however, that upon the death of such person, or his surviving wife, as the case may be, such powers and duties devolve upon and must be exercised by the trustees named in the grant, and their successors.

Consists of section five of the original act.

Reservation of right to alter the terms of grant.

Sec. 1894r. The person making such grant may therein reserve the right to alter, amend, or modify the terms and conditions thereof, and the trusts therein created, in respect to any of the matters mentioned or referred to in subdivisions one to six, inclusive, of section eighteen hundred and ninety-four o, and may also therein reserve the right, during the life of such person or persons, of absolute dominion over the personal property conveyed, and also over the rents, issues, and profits of the real property conveyed, without liability to account therefor in any manner whatever, and without any liability over against the estate of such person; and if any such person be married, such person may in said grant further provide that if his wife survive him, then such wife during her life may have the same absolute dominion over such personal property, and such rents, issues, and profits, without liability to account therefor in any manner whatever, and without liability over against the estate of either of the spouses.

Corresponds to section six of the original act.

Trustees—when may become custodians of minors. Grant—how to be executed.

Sec. 1894s. The person making such grant may therein provide that the trustees named in the grant, and their successors, may, in the name of the institution or institutions, become the custodian of the persons of minors, and when any such provision is made in a grant, the trustees and their successors may take such custody and control in the manner and for the time and in accordance with the provisions of sections two hundred and sixty-four to two hundred and seventy-six, inclusive, of the Civil Code of this State. Any such grant may be executed, acknowledged, and recorded in the same manner as is now provided by law for the execution, acknowledgment, and recording of grants of real property.

Combines sections seven and eight of the original act.

Suits to annul or affect conveyances for.

Sec. 1894t. No suit, action, or proceeding must be commenced or maintained by any person to set aside, annul, or affect such conveyance, or to affect the title to the property conveyed, or the right to the possession, or to the rents, issues, and profits thereof, unless the same be commenced within two years after the date of filing such grant for record; nor may any defense be made to any suit, action, or proceeding commenced by the trustee or trustees named in such grant, or their successors, privies, or persons holding under them, which defense involves the legality of such grant, or affects the title to the property thereby conveyed, or the right to the possession, or the rents, issues, and profits thereof, unless such defense is made in a suit, action, or proceeding commenced within two years after such grant has been filed for record.

Corresponds to section nine of the original act.

Exemption of property from forced sale.

Sec. 1894u. The property conveyed by such grant must not, after a lapse of two years from the date of the filing for record of the grant, be subject to forced sale under execution, or judicial proceedings of any kind, against the grantor or his privies, unless the action under which the execution is issued or the proceedings under which the sale is ordered have been commenced within two years after such grant has been filed for record. Nor must such property be subject to execution or forced sale under any judgment obtained in any proceedings instituted within such two years, if there be other property of the grantor subject to execution or forced sale sufficient to satisfy such judgment; provided, nothing in this section contained shall be construed to affect mechanics' or laborers' liens.

Corresponds to section ten of the original act.

Devise or bequest of property to the State.

Sec. 1894v. Any person or persons making any such grant, may, at any time thereafter, by last will or testament, devise and bequeath to the State of California all or any of the property, real and personal, mentioned in such grant, or in any supplemental grant, and such devise or bequest can only take effect in case, from any cause whatever, the grant is annulled, or set aside, or the trust therein declared, for any reason fails. Such devise or bequest is hereby permitted to be made by way of assurance that the wishes of the grantor or grantors be carried out, and in the faith that the State, in case it succeeds to the property, or any part thereof, will, to the extent and value of such property, carry out, in respect to the objects and purposes of any such grant, all the wishes and intentions of the grantor or grantors; provided, that no wish, direction, act, or condition expressed, made, or given by any grantor or grantors, under or by virtue of this article, as to religious instruction to be given in such school, college, seminary, mechanical institute, museum, or gallery of art, or in respect to the exercise of religious belief, on the part of any pupil or pupils of such school or institution of learning, shall be binding upon the State; nor must the State enforce, or permit to be enforced or carried out, any such wish, direction, act, or condition.

Corresponds to section eleven of the original act.

§ 1941. That section nineteen hundred and forty-one be amended to read:

Sec. 1941. The commander-in-chief is authorized and has power to establish and prescribe such rules and regulations, forms and precedents, not inconsistent with the provisions of the codes, as he may deem proper for the use, government, and instruction of the national guard, and to carry into full effect the provisions of the codes relative thereto. Such rules, regulations, forms, and precedents must, from time to time, be revised as may be deemed necessary, and be promulgated in orders, and compiled in such form as may be deemed advisable for the information of the national guard. He may annually order an encampment for discipline and drill either by division, brigade, regiment, battalion, or unattached company. All encampments must be held at the state camp of instruction, unless otherwise ordered by him.

The amendment consists in the addition of the last two sentences, thus codifying the statute of 1899, p. 148, chap. 112.

§ 2003. That that section two thousand and three, approved March 11, 1897, be repealed, because it is superseded by the section of the same number as amended April 1, 1897 (Statutes of 1897, p. 261).

§§ 2136-2192. That chapter I of title V of part II be repealed, and in place thereof be codified the statute of 1889, p. 329, so far as it relates to the support of insane persons, and the act of 1897, p. 311, entitled "An act to establish a state commission in lunacy"; and that such chapter consist of sections twenty-one hundred and thirty-six to twenty-one hundred and ninety-two, to read:

 2191. Return of insane person to other state or country.
 2192. Private institutions.

Commission in lunacy, of whom consists.

Sec. 2136. The state commission in lunacy consists of five members, to wit: the general superintendent of the state hospitals, the secretary of the state board of health, and the three members of the state board of examiners. In the absence of the governor, at any meeting of the commission, the secretary of the state board of examiners is authorized to act in his place, with the same powers and with like effect as the governor might exercise, if present; and in the like absence of the attorney-general, the assistant attorney-general may act in his place, with like authority as he might exercise, if present. All the members, other than the general superintendent, must serve without salary.

Consists of so much of section three of article one of the act of 1897 as provides who the members of the commission shall be.

The superintendent, his appointment, qualification, and salary.

Sec. 2137. The general superintendent of the state hospitals for the insane is appointed by the governor, to hold office for four years, and must not hold any other office. He must be a reputable physician, and graduate of an incorporated medical college, who has had at least ten years' actual practice in his profession, and six years' actual experience in the care and treatment of the insane, at least one year of which must have been in the state hospitals of this State. His salary is four thousand dollars per annum, and cannot be changed during his term of office, and he must also be allowed his actual traveling and incidental expenses, to be audited by the other members of the commission.

Consists of that part of section three, article one, relating to the general superintendent.

Office and meetings of the commission.

Sec. 2138. The secretary of state must provide the commission with a suitably furnished office in the state capitol, in which it must hold stated meetings at least once in every three months. It may hold other meetings at such office, or elsewhere, at such times as it may deem necessary.

Consists of so much of section four, article one, as relates to the office and meetings of the commission.

The seal of the commission.

Sec. 2139. The commission must have and keep an official seal. Every process, order, or other paper issued or executed by the commission, may, by its direction, be attested with its seal by the secretary, or by any member of the commission, and when so attested must be deemed to be duly executed by the commission.

Corresponds to section five of article one.

Expenses and salary of commission.

Sec. 2140. The salary of the general superintendent and the reasonable expenses of the commission, and of the necessary clerical assistance, must be paid by the treasurer of state on the warrant of the controller, out of any money appropriated for the support of the insane, pro rata, from the amount appropriated for the maintenance of each state hospital.

Consists of the last sentence of section four of article one.

Powers of commission.

Sec. 2141. The commission has power:

1. To employ a secretary, a stenographer, and such other employés as it may deem necessary;

2. To appoint, by its order, a competent person to examine the books, papers, and accounts, and also into the general condition and management of any institution in this chapter mentioned, to the extent deemed necessary and specified in such order;

3. To fix the annual salaries of the resident officers and treasurer of the state hospitals, which must be uniform in all state hospitals, and to classify the other officers and employés in grades, and determine the salaries and wages to be paid in each grade, which must be uniform in all such hospitals.

Subdivision one is from section four of article one; subdivision two from section six of article one; subdivision three from section eight of article one.

Duties of commission.

Sec. 2142. The duties of the commission are:

1. To take charge of the execution of the laws relating to the care, custody, and treatment of the insane, as provided in this chapter, not including feeble-minded persons and epileptics as such, and idiots;

2. To examine all public and private institutions authorized by law to receive and care for the insane, and inquire into their methods of government, and the treatment of all inmates thereof;

3. To examine into the condition of all buildings, grounds, or other property connected with such institutions, and into all matters relating to their management. For the purposes specified in this subdivision, each commissioner is entitled to free access to the grounds, buildings, and all books and papers relating to any such institution, and every person connected therewith must give such information and afford such facilities for any such examination or inquiry, as the commissioners may require;

4. To make such regulations in regard to the correspondence of the insane in custody as in its judgment will promote their interests, which regulations must be complied with and enforced by the proper authorities of each institution; but no restriction must be placed upon the correspondence of such insane with the superior judge and district attorney of the county from which they were committed;

5. To adopt, for all hospitals, uniform by-laws, rules and regulations, books of record, and for steward's department, blank forms, both clinical and otherwise, questions for examination of employés, and for competitive examination in all the different branches of medicine and surgery, and especially in diseases affecting the mind and nervous system, of all assistant physicians and internes, otherwise than the first and second assistants, for the special use of the hospital;

6. To keep in its office a record showing the name, residence, and certificate of each duly qualified medical examiner, and to immediately file, when received, each duly certified copy of a medical examiner's certificate, and advise him of its receipt and filing;

7. To keep in its office a record showing:

(1) The name, residence, sex, age, nativity, occupation, civil condition, and date of commitment of every patient in custody in the several institutions for the care and treatment of insane persons in the State, and the name and residence of the person making the petition for commitment, and of the persons signing the medical certificate, and of the judge making the order of commitment;

(2) The name of the institution where each patient is confined, the date of admission, and whether brought from home or another institution, and if from another institution, the name of such institution, by whom brought, and the patient's condition;

(3) The date of the discharge of each patient from such institution, and whether recovered, improved, or unimproved, and to whose care committed;

(4) If transferred, for what cause, and to what institution; and if dead, the date and cause of death;

8. To report and recommend to the legislature the necessary prospective needs for the care, custody, and treatment of the poor and indigent insane; and for the purpose of preventing overcrowding, it must recommend to the legislature the establishment of cottages at such of the existing state hospitals as in its judgment will best meet the requirements of such insane;

9. To furnish the legislature an estimate of the probable number of patients who will become inmates of the respective state hospitals during the two years beginning July first, next ensuing, and the cost of all additional buildings and equipments, if any, which will be required to carry out the provisions of this chapter relating to the care, custody, and treatment of the poor and indigent insane of the State;

10. To biennially report to the legislature its acts and proceedings for the two years ending June thirtieth, last preceding, with such facts regarding the management of the institutions for the insane as it deems necessary for the information of the legislature, including estimates of the amounts required for the use of such hospitals and the reasons therefor; and also the annual reports made to the commission by the board of managers of each state hospital.

Subdivisions one to three are from section six of article one, adding, in subdivision two, the words "and private"; subdivision four corresponds to the first two sentences of section eight of article one; subdivision five is the last sentence of section eight of article one; subdivision six corresponds to the next to the last sentence of section nine, article one; subdivision seven corresponds to section ten of article one; subdivisions eight and nine correspond to the first three sentences of section twelve of article one; subdivision ten corresponds to section thirteen of the same article.

Special investigation by commission.

Sec. 2142a. When the commission has reason to believe that any person adjudged insane is wrongfully deprived of his liberty, or is cruelly or negligently treated, or inadequate provision is made for his skillful medical care, proper supervision, and safe-keeping, it may ascertain the facts, or may order an investigation of the facts by one or all of its members. It, or the commissioner conducting the proceeding, may issue compulsory process for the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, and exercise the powers conferred upon a referee in a superior court. If the commission deems it proper, it may issue an order to any state hospital, directing and providing for such removal or treatment, or both, as shall be therein specified. Such order must be presented to the judge of the superior court of the county in which the insane person is confined, for his approval, who may require notice in such manner and to such persons as he may direct, to be given of the application for such approval. If he finds such order just and reasonable he must approve it, and such approval is binding upon any and all institutions and persons to which it is directed, and any wilful disobedience of such order is a criminal contempt, and punishable as such. Whenever the commission undertakes an investigation into the general management and administration of any state hospital for the insane, or places of detention for the alleged insane, it may give notice to the attorney-general of any such investigation, who must appear personally or by deputy, and examine witnesses who may be in attendance. The commission, or any member thereof, may at any time visit and examine the inmates of any county, city and county, or city almshouse, to ascertain if insane persons are kept therein.

Corresponds to section twelve of article three, except that the word "approval" has been substituted for "removal," to correct a clerical error.

Visits, examinations, and reports.

Sec. 2143. The general superintendent of the state hospitals for the insane must visit every institution at least twice in each year. Visits may be made by the commissioners jointly, or singly, at such times as the visiting commissioner or commissioners may choose. Each visit must include, to the fullest extent deemed necessary, an inspection of every part of each institution, and all the outhouses, places, buildings, and grounds belonging thereto, or used in connection therewith. The president of the commission, or a majority of the members thereof, must, from time to time, make an examination of all records and methods of administration, the general and special dietary, the stores and methods of supplies, and, as far as the circumstances will permit, of every patient confined therein, especially those admitted since the preceding visit, giving such as may require it, suitable opportunity to converse with the commissioners, apart from the officers and attendants. They must, as far as they deem necessary, examine the officers, attendants, and other employés, and make such inquiries as will determine their fitness for their respective duties. At the next regular or special meeting of the commission, after any such visit, the visiting commissioner, or commissioners, must report the result thereof, with such recommendations for the better management or improvement in such institutions as they may deem necessary. But such recommendations must not be contrary to the medical doctrines of the particular school of medicine adopted by such institutions. The commissioners must, from time to time, meet the managers or responsible authorities of such institutions, or as many of the members as practicable, in conference, and consider, in detail, all questions of management and improvement of the institutions, and must also send to them, in writing, if approved by a majority of the commissioners, such recommendations in regard to the management and improvement of the institutions as they may deem necessary or desirable.

Corresponds to section seven of article one.

Information to be furnished to the commission.

Sec. 2144. The authorities for the several institutions for the insane must furnish to the commission the facts mentioned in subdivision six of section twenty-one hundred and forty-two, and such other obtainable facts as the commission may, from time to time, in the discharge of its duties, require of them, with the opinion of the superintendent thereon, if requested. The superintendent or other person in charge of a hospital must, within ten days after the admission of an insane person thereto, cause a copy of the medical certificate and order on which such person was received, to be forwarded to the office of the commission, and when a patient is discharged, transferred, or dies, such superintendent, or person in charge, must, within three days thereafter, send the information to the office of the commission, in accordance with the forms prescribed by it.

Corresponds to section eleven of article one, except that in section eleven the requirement is to furnish the commission "the facts mentioned in the last preceding chapter." There is no preceding chapter, and we inferred that the word "chapter" was inadvertently used for the word "section," and have changed the codification accordingly.

State hospitals.

Sec. 2145. The following hospitals for the care and treatment of the insane are established, and are hereby declared to be corporations:

1. The Stockton State Hospital at the city of Stockton, formerly known as the Stockton State Insane Asylum at Stockton;
2. Napa State Hospital, near the city of Napa, hitherto known as the Napa State Asylum for the Insane at Napa;
3. Agnews State Hospital, near the city of San José, formerly known as the State Insane Asylum at Agnews;
4. Mendocino State Hospital, near the city of Ukiah, hitherto known as the Mendocino State Insane Asylum at Ukiah;
5. Southern California State Hospital, near the city of San Bernardino, hitherto known as the Southern California State Insane Asylum for the Insane and Inebriates, San Bernardino.

Corresponds to section one of article two, except that we have omitted in each case the declaration of the statute that all property belonging to the pre-existing asylum and all moneys to its credit are transferred to the hospital which by this act is made its successor.

The property of the hospitals.

Sec. 2146. Each of the corporations mentioned in the preceding section may acquire and hold in its corporate name, by gift, devise, or bequest, property to be applied to the maintenance of insane persons and for the general use of the corporation. All lands necessary for the use of state hospitals must be acquired by condemnation as lands for other public uses are acquired, except those acquired by gift, devise, or purchase, and the terms of every purchase must be approved by the commission. No public street or road for railway or other purposes, except for hospital use, must be opened through the lands of any state hospital, unless the legislature by special enactment consents thereto.

Corresponds to section eleven of article four.

Managers of the state hospital and their appointment.

Sec. 2147. Each hospital has a board of five members appointed by the governor, each of whom holds office for the term of four years from and after his appointment, and the terms of not more than two must expire in any one year. If a vacancy occurs otherwise than by the expiration of a term, it must be filled by appointment for the unexpired term. Any manager is subject to removal by the governor, upon good cause shown and opportunity to be heard.

Corresponds to section two of article two, with a clause for removal added, taken from section three of the same article. The first sentence of section two is omitted, for the reason that its provisions are sufficiently stated in section four of the original act, codified as section twenty-one hundred and fifty of this chapter.

Managers—eligibility of, and causes of forfeiture of office.

Sec. 2148. No person is eligible to the office of manager, who is a member of the legislature or an elective state officer, and if he becomes such after his appointment his office is thereby vacated. If any manager fails for three months to attend the regular meetings of the board, unless he is ill or absent from the State, his office becomes vacant, and the board, by resolution, must so declare, and must forthwith transmit a certified copy of such resolution to the governor.

Corresponds to section three of article two as amended by statute of 1899, p. 316, except that the provision regarding removal by the governor has been inserted in the preceding section.

Managers' compensation.

Sec. 2149. The managers are entitled to ten dollars per day for their attendance at meetings of the board, and while in the actual service of the State, and to their necessary traveling expenses, to be paid as are other current expenses of the hospital.

Is taken from section four of article two.

Powers and duties of the managers.

Sec. 2150. Subject to the powers of the commission, each board of managers has general control and direction of the property and concerns of the institution for which it is appointed, not otherwise provided by law. It is the duty of the board of managers:

1. To take care of the interests of the hospital, and see that its design and its by-laws, rules, and regulations are carried into effect, according to law;

2. To establish such by-laws, rules, and regulations, subject to the approval of the commission, as it may deem necessary and expedient for regulating the appointment and duties of officers and employés of the hospital, and for the internal government, discipline, and management of the same;

3. To maintain an effective inspection of the hospital, for which purpose a majority of the board must visit the hospital at least every month, and the whole board once a year, and at such other times as may be prescribed in the by-laws;

4. To keep, in a book provided for the purpose, a fair and full record of its doings, which must at all times be open to the inspection of the commissioners in lunacy, or either house of the legislature;

5. To cause, within ten days after each meeting of such managers, or a committee thereof, a copy of the minutes and proceedings of such meeting to be sent forthwith to each member of such board and to the commission;

6. To enter, in a book kept by them for that purpose, the date of each of their visits, and the condition of the hospital and patients, and all the managers present must sign such entry;

7. To make to the commission, on or before the fifteenth day of August of each year, a detailed report of their visits and inspections, with suitable suggestions and such other matters as may be required of them by the commission, for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June preceding the date of such report.

Corresponds to section four of article two, except that the provisions therein respecting the property of the hospital are here omitted, having been incorporated in section twenty-one hundred and fifty-six, and that the provision respecting the compensation of managers has been incorporated in section twenty-one hundred and forty-nine.

Limitation upon the powers of managers.

Sec. 2151. No money must be expended by the managers of any state hospital for the erection of additional buildings or for unusual repairs or improvements, except upon plans and specifications approved by the commission. The cost of such buildings as are occupied by patients, including the necessary equipment for heating, lighting, ventilating, fixtures, and furniture, must in no case exceed five hundred and fifty dollars per capita for the patients to be accommodated therein.

Corresponds to the last two sentences of section twelve of article one.

Appointments by the managers.

Sec. 2152. Each board of managers must appoint for the hospital under its control, as often as vacancies may occur therein:

1. A medical superintendent, who must be a graduate of an incorporated medical college, and a well-educated physician, of good moral character, who has had not less than three years' experience in the care and treatment of the insane. The medical superintendent of the homeopathic hospital must be a homeopathic physician, and he must, in other respects, possess the same qualifications as other medical superintendents;

2. A treasurer, who is also ex-officio secretary of the board, and who must keep all the books, records, and papers pertaining to the business of his office, and maintain such office wherever the board of managers directs. He must give an undertaking to the people of the State, in such sum as the board requires, for the faithful performance of his trust, with sureties to be approved by it.

Any medical superintendent or treasurer may be removed by a majority vote of the board of managers for cause; such cause must be stated in writing and served upon the official charged. He must thereafter be given an opportunity to be heard. If removed upon such hearing, his removal is final.

Corresponds to section five of article two as amended by the statute of 1899, p. 160.

The medical superintendent, and his duties.

Sec. 2153. The medical superintendent of each hospital is its chief executive officer. In his absence or sickness the first assistant physician, or other officer designated by the medical superintendent, must perform his duties and be subject to his responsibilities. Subject to the by-laws, rules, and regulations established by the board of managers, the medical superintendent has general superintendence of the buildings, grounds, and farm, together with their furniture, fixtures, and stock, and the direction and control of all persons therein, and must:

- (a) Personally maintain an effective supervision and inspection of all parts of the hospital, and generally direct the care and treatment of the patients. To this end the superintendent must personally examine the condition of each patient within five days after his admission to the hospital, and must visit all the wards or apartments for patients at such times as the rules and regulations of the hospital prescribe;

(b) Appoint, by and with the consent of the board of managers, assistant physicians, one of whom, where there are three or more other assistant physicians, must be a woman; and must also appoint internes, the number to be determined by the commission, as follows:

1. A first and a second assistant physician, each of whom must be a graduate of an incorporated medical college, well educated in his profession, of good moral character, and experienced in the treatment of mental diseases. The first assistant physician must, for five years immediately preceding his appointment, and the second assistant physician for four years immediately preceding his appointment, have been engaged in the actual practice of his profession;

2. Assistants other than the first and second physicians and internes, who must be graduates of an incorporated medical college, well educated in their profession, of good moral character, and subject to competitive examination in all the different branches of medicine and surgery, and especially in diseases affecting the mind and nervous system. The questions for such examination must be prepared by the general superintendent, subject to the approval of the commission;

3. At the homeopathic state hospital a first and second and other assistant physicians and internes, all of whom must be graduates of an incorporated college of the homeopathic school of medicine, of good moral character, and otherwise possessed of the same qualifications hereinbefore required of assistants and internes respectively in the other hospitals;

4. A supervisor, matron, and steward, and all employés, none of whom must be his relatives, or that of any member of the board of managers, either by consanguinity or marriage, who shall be subject to such examination as he deems for the best interest of the hospital, the questions to be prepared by the general superintendent, subject to the approval of the commission;

(c) Transmit, by mail, to the state lunacy commission, within five days after such discharge has been approved by the board of managers, information of any such discharge, and the cause thereof. The commission must preserve the name of any such officer or employé, with the facts relating to his discharge, in a book provided for that purpose;

(d) Give such orders and instructions as he may deem best calculated to insure good conduct, fidelity, and economy in every department of labor and expenses;

(e) Maintain salutary discipline among all who are employed in the institution, and enforce strict compliance with his instructions and uniform obedience to all rules and regulations of the hospital;

(f) Cause full and fair accounts and records of the entire business and operations of the hospital to be kept regularly, from day to day, in books or forms provided for that purpose;

(g) See that all such accounts and records are fully up to the last day of June in each year, and that the principal facts and results, with his report thereon, are presented to the managers within thirty days thereafter, who must incorporate them in their report to the commission;

(h) Keep a book, in which he must cause to be entered at the time of reception of any patient, his name, residence, and occupation, and the date of such reception, by whom brought, and by what authority, and on whose petition committed, and an abstract of all orders, warrants, requests, petitions, certificates, and other papers accompanying such person;

(i) To prepare and keep the pay rolls of the hospitals, and to collect all moneys; keep the accounts for the support of the patients, and expenses incurred in their behalf; furnish the treasurer statements thereof as they fall due; turn all moneys collected over to the treasurer, and report same to the board of managers at each meeting; notify the treasurer of the death or discharge of reimbursing or pay patients, within five days after such death or discharge;

(j) Prepare triplicate estimates of the amount, kind, and quality of furniture and household furnishing goods, provisions, fuel, forage, clothing or material for clothing, and other material required for the twelve months ending June thirtieth of each year, which must be approved by the board of managers, unless a different time is allowed by the commission. He must submit two of the triplicate estimates to the commission, and file the third in his office. The commission may revise the estimate for supplies, either as to quality or quantity thereof, and must certify that it has carefully examined the same, and that the articles contained in such estimate, as approved by it, are actually required for the use of the hospital; whereupon, after having approved the estimates, the commission must, beginning upon the fifteenth day of the month preceding the month in which contracts are to be let, advertise for four successive weeks, for contracts for furnishing such supplies; said advertising being in brief, referring to the class of supplies and the fact that all contemplated bidders can receive schedules by applying to the superintendents or secretaries of the various hospitals, or the state commission. All contracts must be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, or bidders, upon their giving to the board of managers a bond, amounting to one fourth of their actual bids, as security for the faithful performance of the same. The board of managers reserves the right to reject any and all bids submitted to them;

(k) Prepare monthly triplicate estimates, as approved by the board of managers, two of which must be submitted to the commission, and the other filed in the superintendent's office, for necessary expenditures required for the hospital of which he is superintendent, for the ensuing month. The commission may revise these estimates for supplies, either as to the quality, quantity, or price thereof, and must certify that they have been carefully examined, and that the articles contained in such estimates, as approved by it, are actually required for the use of the hospital; whereupon the board of managers must direct its superintendent to secure the supplies according to the approved estimates.

Corresponds to section six of article two of the statute of 1899, p. 161, except that subdivisions one and two of subdivision (b) are consolidated in a single subdivision numbered one, and the numbers of subdivisions three, four, and five changed to two, three, and four. The last sentence of subdivision four is omitted for the purpose of transferring it to section twenty-one hundred and fifty-three, and subdivision six is omitted for the purpose of transferring it to section twenty-one hundred and fifty-five, and subdivision seven is transferred to section twenty-one hundred and fifty-six.

Salaries.

Sec. 2154. The annual salary of the medical superintendent must not exceed thirty-five hundred dollars, of the first assistant physician three thousand dollars, of other assistant physicians twenty-five hundred dollars, and of internes six hundred dollars. All salaries and wages must be included in the monthly estimates and paid in the same manner as other expenses of the state hospitals. The medical superintendents, the assistant physicians, and stewards, and their families, must be furnished room, household furniture, laundry service, drugs when ill, provisions, fuel, and lights, at and from the supplies of the hospital.

Corresponds to the last sentence of subdivision four of subdivision (b) of section six of article two and the last two sentences of section eight of the same article.

Removals.

Sec. 2155. The medical superintendent may remove any resident officer in his employ for cause, pending the meeting of the board of managers. The removal of employés, other than resident officers, must be reported to the board of managers for its action, which is final; and in the case of resident officers, notice in writing must be immediately given to the resident officer removed and to each member of the board of managers. At the next meeting of the board, or at the meeting to which it is regularly postponed, such removal must be considered and the person removed be heard; after which the managers must determine the matter, and their judgment is final. If an officer or employé is removed, the superintendent must make a record thereof, with the reasons therefor, under the appropriate head, in one of the books of the hospital. Any officer or employé of a state hospital taking an active part in politics, directly or indirectly, must be summarily removed from such hospital.

Corresponds to subdivision six of subdivision (b) of section six of article two.

Resident officers.

Sec. 2156. The medical superintendent, assistant physicians, stewards, supervisors, and matrons must maintain their residence in the hospital or on the premises, and are designated as the resident officers of the hospital.

Corresponds to subdivision seven of subdivision (b) of section six of article two.

Consultation of superintendents.

Sec. 2157. The medical superintendents of the several hospitals, or their representatives, and in the discretion of each board of managers, one member of each board to be designated by it, must meet at least every three months on a day to be appointed by the commission, at its office or such other place as it may designate, to consult with it in reference to matters pertaining to the care and maintenance of the state hospitals.

Corresponds to section six of article two.

Contingent fund—how used.

Sec. 2158. All moneys received by the board of managers of any state hospital, other than that appropriated by the State, must be kept by said board, in a separate fund, named the contingent fund; and the same must, by the said board, be expended for such supplies, expenses, buildings, and improvements, as are required for the best interests of such hospital, and for the improvement thereof, and of the grounds and buildings connected therewith. The medical superintendent must make triplicate estimates, in minute detail, as approved by the board of managers, of such supplies, expenses, buildings, and improvements, two of which must be submitted to the commission, and the third placed on file in his office. The commission may revise the estimates of such supplies, and must certify that it has carefully examined the same, and that the supplies, expenses, buildings, and improvements contained in such estimates, as approved by it, are required for the best interests of such hospital; whereupon the board of managers, after having received the revised and approved estimates, must proceed to purchase such supplies, make such expenditures, or construct such improvements or buildings without further authority, and if approved must make a draft or drafts upon the treasurer of such hospital, as the money may be required for the purposes mentioned in such estimates, which draft or drafts must be paid by the treasurer out of any money contained in the contingent fund to be used for the above-mentioned purposes. The building act of eighteen hundred and seventy-six does not apply to any improvement, structure, or building made under the provisions of this chapter.

Is taken from section ten of article two.

Duties of the treasurer.

Sec. 2159. The treasurer of each hospital must:

1. Have the custody of all moneys received from the State, or elsewhere, for the benefit of the hospital, or any of its inmates, and keep an accurate account thereof;
2. Have the custody of all bonds, notes, mortgages, and other securities and obligations belonging to the hospital;
3. Receive all money for the care and treatment of patients, and other sources of revenue to the hospital;
4. Deposit all such money in a bank designated by the managers, conveniently near the hospital, in his name, as treasurer, and send each month, to the commission and to the board of managers, a statement showing the amount so received and deposited, and from whom and for what received, and when such deposits were made. Such statement of deposit must be certified by the proper officer of the bank receiving such deposit. The treasurer must make an affidavit to the effect that the sum so deposited is all the money received by him, from any source of hospital income, up to the time of the last deposit appearing on such statement. The bank designated by the board of managers to receive such deposits must, before any deposit is made, execute a bond to the people of the State, in a sum approved by the board of managers, for the safe-keeping of the funds deposited;

5. Pay out the money deposited for the uses of the state hospital, upon the voucher of the steward, approved by the superintendent, in accordance with the estimates made by the superintendent, and revised and approved by the board of managers and by the commission;

6. Keep full and accurate accounts of all receipts and payments, in the manner directed in the by-laws, and according to books and forms approved, prescribed, and furnished by the commission;

7. Balance all accounts on his books annually, on the last day of June, and make a statement thereof, and an abstract of the receipts and payments of the past year, and deliver the same, within ten days, to the finance committee of the managers, who must compare the same with the books and vouchers, and verify the results by further comparison with the books of the steward, and certify, in regard to the correctness thereof, to the managers at their next meeting;

8. Render an account to the State of the books and the funds and other property in his custody, whenever required by the managers or by the commission;

9. Upon the order of the board of managers, execute a release and satisfaction of a mortgage, judgment, or other lien or debt, in favor of the hospital, when the same has been paid.

Corresponds to section eleven of article two.

Financial statements.

Sec. 2160. The treasurer of each state hospital must, on or before the fifteenth day of each quarter, make to the board of managers, and to the commission, a full and perfect statement of all the receipts and expenditures, specifying the several items, for the last preceding quarter. Such statement must be verified by the affiavit of the treasurer attached thereto, in the following form:

"I, ———, treasurer of the ——— State Hospital, do solemnly swear that I have deposited in the bank designated by law for such purpose, all the moneys received by me on account of the hospital during the last quarter, and I do further swear that the foregoing is a true abstract of all the moneys received, and payments made by me, or under my direction, as such treasurer, during the quarter ending on the ——— day of ———, 19—."

There must also be attached the affidavit of the steward, to the effect that the goods and other articles therein specified were ordered, or purchased, and received by him, or under his direction, at the hospital, and that neither he, nor any person in his behalf, had any pecuniary or other interest in the articles purchased; that he received no pecuniary or other benefit therefrom in the way of commission, percentage, deductions, or presents, or in any manner whatever, directly or indirectly; that the articles and bills conform in all respects to the invoiced goods received and ordered by him, both in quality and quantity. Such statement must be accompanied by the vouchers showing the payments of the several items contained in the statement, and approval thereof by the superintendent, the amount of such payments, and for what the payments were made. Such approval may be contained on the audit sheet, which shall refer to each voucher approved by the superintendent, giving the number of voucher, the name of the claimant, and the amount at which it was approved. Such vouchers must be examined by the board of managers, and by the commission, and compared with the estimates made for the quarter for which the statement is rendered, and, if found correct, must be indorsed and forwarded by the commission, with the statement, to the state board of examiners. If any voucher is found objectionable, the board of examiners must indorse its disapproval thereon, with the reasons therefor, and return it to the treasurer, who must present it to the superintendent for correction, and when corrected, return it to the board of examiners. All such vouchers must be filed in the office of the state board of examiners.

Consists of section twelve of article two.

Actions for money due.

Sec. 2161. The treasurer, when directed by the board of managers of any state hospital, may bring an action in its name to enforce any cause of action existing in its favor. For that purpose he may direct the district attorney of any county in which the action may properly be brought, to commence and prosecute it to final judgment.

This is suggested in place of section thirteen of article two, but differs from it in this, that section thirteen undertakes to classify different causes of action, which is entirely unnecessary, and it further requires the consent of the attorney-general. It seems that the bringing of actions in favor of a state hospital ought to be within the control of some officer specially in charge of such hospital or its finances, and that there is no necessity for requiring the consent of the attorney-general. To obtain such consent would seem to involve much unnecessary routine, especially with respect to suits to enforce liability for the support of inmates of the hospitals.

The steward, and his powers and duties.

Sec. 2162. The steward of each hospital, under the direction of its medical superintendent, is accountable for the careful keeping and economical use of all furniture, and, under like direction, must make all purchases for the hospital according to the provisions of sections twenty-one hundred and fifty-three and twenty-one hundred and fifty-eight, receive the same, preserve the original bills and receipts therefor, and keep an accurate account of all such proceedings.

Corresponds to section fourteen of article two.

Purchase of supplies.

Sec. 2163. All purchases of supplies for the use of the hospital must be made for cash, or on credit or time not exceeding sixty days, except by the consent of the state board of examiners; every voucher shall be duly filled up, and with every abstract of vouchers paid, there must be proof, on oath, that every voucher was properly filled, and the money paid. No expenditure for supplies, or other purposes, must be made by the board of managers of any state hospital for the benefit of such hospital, by contract or otherwise, unless in conformity with the provisions of this chapter, in relation to estimates. No manager or officer of the hospital must be interested, directly or indirectly, in the furnishing of material, labor, or supplies for the use of the hospital, nor must any manager or officer act as an attorney or counsel for such hospital. The state hospitals may manufacture such supplies and materials, to be used in any of such hospitals or other public institutions, as can be economically made therein.

Corresponds to section fifteen of article two.

Oaths of office.

Sec. 2164. Each superintendent, treasurer, and steward, before entering upon his duties as such, must take the constitutional oath of office, and file the same in the office of the secretary of state.

Corresponds to section sixteen of article two.

Prohibition of actions.

Sec. 2165. No civil action must be brought against the commission, or a commissioner in lunacy, or an officer or manager of a state hospital, because of any act done or failure to perform any act, while discharging his official duties, without leave of the controller first had and obtained. Any just claim for damages against such commission or commissioner, officer or employé, for which the State would be legally or equitably liable, may be paid out of any moneys appropriated for the care of the insane.

Corresponds to section seventeen of article two.

Recommendations, and their filing.

Sec. 2166. The authorities for each institution of the insane must place on file in the office of the institution, the recommendations made by the commissioners as a result of their visit, for the purpose of consultation by such authorities, and for reference by the commissioners upon their visit to such institution.

Corresponds to section eighteen of article two.

Detention hospitals.

Sec. 2167. The board of supervisors of each county, and city and city, must maintain in the county, or city and county, or in a receiving hospital situate therein, a suitable room or rooms for the detention, board, care, and treatment of the alleged insane, for a period of not less than one nor more than twenty days. These rooms and their furnishings must be subject to the approval of the commission, and each person having charge and control of any such hospital or rooms and their furnishings, must allow the commission to make such investigations thereof as it may at any time deem necessary. Nothing in this section must be construed to mean that insane persons may not be detained, cared for, boarded, and treated, by and with the consent of the commission, in their own homes, or homes of their relatives or friends, or in a licensed private hospital.

Corresponds to section one of article three.

Medical examiners.

Sec. 2167a. Each judge of the superior court may grant certificates in accordance with the form prescribed by the commission, showing that the persons named therein are reputable physicians and graduates of incorporated medical colleges, and have been in active practice of their profession at least five years, and when certified copies of such certificates have been filed with the commission, the persons therein named become known as "medical examiners," and there must at all times be at least two of such medical examiners in each county.

This section provides, in express terms, what seems to be implied in section nine of article one of the original act, that the certificates are to be granted by the superior judges.

Charges of insanity, and proceedings thereon.

Sec. 2168. Whenever it appears by affidavit to the satisfaction of a magistrate of a county, or city and county, that any person therein is so far disordered in his mind as to endanger health, person, or property, he must issue and deliver to some peace officer, for service, a warrant directing that such person be arrested and taken before a judge of the superior court of the county, for examination. Such officer must thereupon arrest and detain such person until his examination can be had, as hereinafter provided. He must be forthwith taken before a judge of the superior court, who must then inform him that he is charged with being insane, and inquire of him whether he desires to make any defense to such charge or produce any witnesses in relation thereto. If he answers in the affirmative, the judge must fix such time and place for the hearing as will give reasonable opportunity for the production and examination of such witnesses. If, on the other hand, such person does not answer in the affirmative, the judge may then, or at such other time as he may fix, proceed with the hearing.

The first sentence corresponds to section twenty-two hundred and twenty of the Political Code. The balance of the section is intended to provide means of unquestionably bringing the alleged insane person within the jurisdiction of the judge, and giving him an opportunity to defend against the charge, and thus avoid the objections to the present law which were sustained in Ex parte Lambert, 134 Cal. 626.

Attendance and examination of witnesses.

Sec. 2169. The superior judge may, for any hearing, issue subpoenas and compel the attendance of witnesses, and must compel the attendance of at least two medical examiners, who must hear the testimony of all witnesses, make a personal examination of the alleged insane person, and testify before the judge as to the result of such examination, and to any other pertinent facts within their knowledge. The judge must also cause to be examined before him as a witness, any other person whom he has reason to believe has any knowledge of the mental condition of the alleged insane person or of his financial condition or that of the persons liable for his maintenance. The alleged insane person must be present at the hearing, if able to attend.

The matter in this section is not to be found in the present law, but is believed to be necessary to insure the accused a sufficient hearing, to guarantee that the proceeding against him amounts to due process of law.

Certificate of examiners.

Sec. 2170. If the medical examiners, after making the examination and hearing the testimony, believe such person to be dangerously insane, they must make a certificate, under their hand, showing as nearly as possible:

1. That such person is so far disordered in his mind as to endanger health, person, or property;
2. The premonitory symptoms, apparent cause or class of insanity, the duration and condition of the disease;
3. The nativity, age, residence, occupation, and previous habits of the person;
4. The place whence the person came and the length of his residence in the State.

Such certificates must be made in the form prescribed by, and, if they can be had, upon blanks furnished by the general superintendent of the state hospitals.

Corresponds to sections twenty-two hundred and fifteen and twenty-two hundred and sixteen of the Political Code, except that the words "general superintendent of the state hospitals" have been substituted for the words "medical superintendent of the asylums."

Order of commitment.

Sec. 2171. The judge, after such examination and certificate made, if he believes the person so far disordered in his mind as to endanger health, person, or property, must adjudge him insane, and make an order that he be confined in a hospital for the care and treatment of the insane, designated in such order, and the order must be accompanied by a written statement of the judge as to the financial condition of the insane person and of the persons legally liable for his maintenance, as far as can be ascertained. A copy of such order and of such accompanying statement must be filed with and recorded by the county clerk of the county in which such order was made, who shall also keep, in convenient form, an index book, showing the name, age, and sex of the person so ordered to be confined in any such hospital, with the date of the order and the name of the hospital in which the person is ordered to be confined. No fees must be charged by the clerk for performing any of the duties provided for in this section.

Corresponds to section twenty-two hundred and seventeen of the Political Code, with the addition of a provision from section three of article three of the act, requiring the judge to accompany his order with a statement respecting the financial condition of the insane person, etc.

Execution of the order of commitment.

Sec. 2172. The insane person, together with the order and accompanying statement of the judge and the certificate of the physicians, must be delivered to the sheriff of the county, and by him must be delivered to the officer in charge of the hospital to which such person is committed; but no female insane person shall be taken to any hospital without the attendance of some other female or of some relative of such insane person.

Corresponds to section twenty-two hundred and eighteen of the Political Code.

Right to refuse person committed.

Sec. 2173. The superintendent or person in charge of any state hospital may refuse to receive any person upon any order, if the papers presented do not comply with the provisions of the preceding section.

Corresponds to the last two sentences of section three of article three.

Except as herein otherwise designated, we have disregarded the provisions of section two and three of that article, and have, in the main, substituted in place thereof the provisions of the Political Code relating to the same subject, believing they are all that are required, and that they will not be subject to the objections made in the case of Ex parte Lambert, 134 Cal. 626.

Jury trial.

Sec. 2174. If a person ordered to be committed, or any friend in his behalf, is dissatisfied with the order of the judge committing him, he may, within five days after the making of such order, demand that the question of his sanity be tried by a jury before the superior court of the county in which he was committed. Thereupon that court must cause a jury to be summoned and to be in attendance at a date stated, not less than five nor more than ten days from the date of the demand for a jury trial. At such trial the cause against the alleged insane must be represented by the district attorney of the county, and the trial must be had as provided by law for the trial of civil causes before a jury, and the alleged insane person must be discharged unless a verdict that he is insane is found by at least three fourths of the jury. If the verdict of the jury is that he is insane, the judge must adjudge that fact and make an order of commitment as upon the original hearing. Such order must be presented, at the time of commitment of such insane person, to the superintendent or person in charge of the hospital to which the insane person is committed, and a copy thereof be forwarded by such superintendent to the commission, and filed in its office. Proceedings under the order must not be stayed, pending the proceedings for determining the question of sanity by a jury, except upon the order of a superior judge, with provision made therein for such temporary care and custody of the alleged insane person as may be deemed necessary. If the superior judge, by the order granting the stay, commits the accused insane to the custody of any person other than a peace officer, he may, by such order, require a bond for his appearance at the trial. If a judge refuses to grant an application for an order of commitment of an insane person alleged to be dangerous to himself and others if at large, he must state his reasons for such refusal, and any person aggrieved thereby may demand a trial of the question of the insanity of such accused insane, in the manner hereinbefore provided for a jury trial when demanded by or on behalf of the accused insane.

This section corresponds to section four of article three of the Lunacy Commission Act, with the following exceptions: It contemplates that the trial shall take place in the county whence the person was committed; it omits the provision requiring security to be deposited or bond given for the payment of the costs of the jury trial, if the order of commitment is sustained, and also the provision requiring a deposit of the jury fees to be made by the person demanding a jury trial. The provisions requiring a deposit of costs and security therefor are commented on unfavorably in the Lambert case. The theory of the present statute, that the trial shall take place in the county in which the hospital is located, and the cause against the insane person be represented by the district attorney thereof, we think to be entirely wrong in principle. Unless the accused was a resident of that county, there can be no witnesses therein, other than the officers and attendants of the state hospital, who have any knowledge respecting him or his mental condition, and it is contrary to the theory of trials of persons whose liberty is at stake to require them to proceed and produce witnesses at points distant from their homes and neighbors.

Costs of proceedings.

Sec. 2175. The cost necessarily incurred in determining the insanity of a poor or indigent person and securing his admission into a state hospital, and the expense of providing proper clothing for him in accordance with the rules and regulations adopted by the commission, is a charge upon the county, or city and county, whence he is committed. Such costs include the fees of the medical examiners allowed by the judge ordering the commitment. If the person sought to be committed is not a poor or indigent person, the costs of the proceedings are a charge upon his estate, or must be paid by persons legally liable for his maintenance, unless otherwise ordered by the judge. If the alleged insane person is adjudged not to be insane, the judge may, in his discretion, charge the costs of the proceedings to the person making the application for an order of commitment, and judgment may be entered against him for the amount thereof and enforced by execution.

Corresponds to section five of article three, except that the words "town and city" are omitted, as we do not understand that it is the intention to make the respective townships, villages, and cities responsible, nor do we see how a town, city, county, or city and county can be regarded as having secured a commitment. The section as it now is was copied, like many other sections of the statute, from the laws of New York, without considering the difference between them and our laws in other respects.

Liability of relatives and guardians of insane persons.

Sec. 2176. The father, mother, husband, wife, or children of an insane person, if of sufficient ability, and the guardian of his estate, if it is sufficient for the purpose, must cause him to be properly and suitably cared for and maintained, and must pay the costs and charges of his commitment and transportation to a state hospital.

Consists of that part of section six of article two seeking to impose liability. The balance of this section, being that part relating to certain duties of the commission respecting the insane in care of their relatives, will be transferred to section twenty-one hundred and seventy-seven.

Insane persons in care of their relatives or guardians—Duty of the commission.

Sec. 2177. The commission may inquire into the manner in which any insane person, not confined in a state hospital, is cared for and maintained; and if, in its judgment, he is not properly and suitably cared for, it may apply to a judge of the superior court for an order to commit him to a hospital under the provisions of this chapter. Such order must not be made unless the judge finds, and certifies in the order, that the insane person is not properly or suitably cared for by his relatives or guardian, or that it is dangerous to the public to allow him to be cared for and maintained by such relatives or guardian.

Duties of district attorneys.

Sec. 2178. The district attorney in each county in which an order of commitment is made must, on the filing of a copy of such order with the county clerk, make diligent inquiry into the ability of the person committed to pay the charges and costs of his maintenance and care while in a state hospital, and must notify the secretary of the commission of the result of such inquiry.

Corresponds to section one of the statute of 1889, p. 329. This statute is probably repealed by the Lunacy Commission Act, which in itself is defective in not making adequate provision for enforcing the liability of an insane person, or of his relatives, for his support while in the hospital. This section and the four next succeeding it are proposed in the hope of supplying the deficiency.

Appointment of guardian.

Sec. 2179. If a person committed to a state hospital has no guardian, the district attorney of the county must, when directed by the secretary of the commission, or on ascertaining that such insane person has property of sufficient value to pay for his support and maintenance, apply to the superior court of the county for the appointment of a guardian of his estate, and such court must, on the hearing of such application, appoint some suitable person such guardian.

See section twenty-one hundred and seventy-eight.

Fixing amount to be paid for support.

Sec. 2180. The commission must, by its orders from time to time made, fix the sum per month to be paid for each person confined in the state hospitals other than persons therein under section twenty-one hundred and eighty-six, which must be paid quarterly in advance, out of the estate of the insane person, or if his estate is not sufficient, then by the persons made liable under section twenty-one hundred and seventy-six.

See section twenty-one hundred and seventy-eight.

Orders to be made for payments by guardians.

Sec. 2181. If a person confined in a state hospital has a guardian, the district attorney of the county in which the guardian was appointed must apply to the superior court thereof for, and the court must grant, an order requiring such guardian to pay to the treasurer of the hospital the sum which the commission, acting under section twenty-one hundred and eighty, has fixed to be paid for persons confined therein, and the court, on the application of the district attorney, or on its own motion, may take all such proceedings as may be required for the enforcement of such order, including the sale of the property of the insane person, whether real or personal.

See section twenty-one hundred and seventy-eight.

Suits against relatives.

Sec. 2182. If the insane person has no estate out of which payment of the amount fixed by section twenty-one hundred and eighty can be enforced, then his relatives made liable by section twenty-one hundred and seventy-one may be compelled to pay such amount by actions against them, or any of them, brought in the name of the hospital in which he is confined, and such actions must be prosecuted by the district attorney of the county whenever directed by the secretary of the commission.

See section twenty-one hundred and seventy-eight.

Duties of officers respecting insane poor.

Sec. 2183. All peace officers and other persons having similar duties relating to the insane poor are charged with the duty of seeing that all poor and indigent insane persons within their respective municipalities are speedily granted the relief conferred by this chapter, and when so ordered by a superior judge, must see that they are, without unnecessary delay, transferred to the proper state hospitals provided for their care and treatment. Before sending a person to any such hospital, they must see that he is in a state of bodily cleanliness and comfortably clothed with new clothes in accordance with the regulations prescribed by the commission. It may by order direct that any person whom it deems unsuitable therefor shall not be employed as an attendant for such insane person. After the patient has been delivered to the proper officers of the hospital, the care and custody of the county or municipality from which he is sent, cease.

Corresponds to section seven of article three of the Lunacy Commission Act, except that the provision therein respecting the attendance of females is omitted, because it has already been inserted in section twenty-one hundred and seventy-two, and the provision respecting homeopathic treatment, not being germane to this section, is transferred to section twenty-one hundred and eighty-four.

Homeopathic treatment.

Sec. 2184. When the relatives, friends, or guardians of an insane person desire him to receive homeopathic treatment, he may be committed to the Southern California State Hospital from any county of the State, in the discretion of the judge granting the order of commitment, if the crowded condition of that hospital does not preclude his admission to the detriment of other patients.

See section twenty-one hundred and eighty-three.

Admission under special agreements.

Sec. 2185. The managers of state hospitals may authorize the superintendent to admit thereto, under special agreement, insane persons, who are residents of the State, other than poor and indigent insane persons, when there is room for such insane therein. But no patient must be permitted to occupy more than one room in any state hospital, nor must any patient, his friends or relatives, be permitted to pay for his care and treatment therein, a sum greater than ten dollars per week. Such patients, when so received, are subject to the general rules and regulations of the hospital. The amount agreed upon for the maintenance of such insane person in a state hospital must be secured by a properly executed bond, and bills therefor must be collected monthly.

Consists of section nine of article three.

Superintendent's duty to examine new patients.

Sec. 2186. Every superintendent, or person in charge of a state hospital, must, within three days after the reception of a patient, make or cause to be made a thorough physical and mental examination of such patient, and state the result thereof, on blanks prepared and exclusively set apart for that purpose. He must also make, or cause to be made, from time to time, examination of the mental state, bodily condition, and medical treatment of such patient, in such manner, and state its results, upon such blank forms, as shall be approved by the commission, during the time such patient remains under his care, and in the event of the death or discharge of such person, he must state, upon such blank forms, the circumstances thereof, and make such examinations at such other intervals of time and in such form as may be required by the commission.

Consists of section ten of article three.

Transfer of patients.

Sec. 2187. When the building of any state hospital becomes overcrowded with patients, or the number of buildings is reduced by fire, or other casualties, or for other sufficient cause, the commission may, in its discretion, cause the transfer of patients therefrom or direct that patients required to be sent thereto, be transferred to another state hospital, where they can be conveniently received, or make, in emergencies, temporary provision for their care, preference to be given in such transfer to a hospital in an adjoining rather than a remote district. The expense of such transfer is chargeable to the State, and the bills for the same, when approved by the commission, must be paid by the treasurer of state on the warrant of the controller, out of any moneys provided for the care or support of the insane.

Consists of section eleven of article three.

Habeas corpus.

Sec. 2188. Any one in custody as an insane person is entitled to a writ of habeas corpus, upon a proper application made by a relative or some friend in his behalf to the superior judge of the county in which the hospital is located. Upon the return of such writ, the fact of his insanity must be inquired into and determined. The medical history of the patient, as it appears in the clinical records, must be given in evidence, and the superintendent in charge of the state hospital wherein such person is held in custody, and any other person, must be sworn touching the mental condition of such person.

Consists of section thirteen of article three.

Discharge of patients.

Sec. 2189. The superintendent of a state hospital, on filing his written certificate with the secretary of the board of managers, may discharge any patient, except one held upon an order of a court or judge having criminal jurisdiction in an action or proceeding arising out of a criminal offense, at any time, as follows:

1. A patient who, in his judgment, has recovered;
2. Any patient who is not recovered, but whose discharge, in the judgment of the superintendent, will not be detrimental to the public welfare, or injurious to the patient.

Before making such certificate, the superintendent must satisfy himself, by sufficient proof, that the friends or relatives of the patient are willing and financially able to receive and properly care for such patient after his discharge. When the superintendent is unwilling to certify to the discharge of an unrecovered patient, upon request, and so certifies in writing, giving his reasons therefor, any superior judge of the county in which the hospital is situated may, upon such certificate, and an opportunity of a hearing thereon being accorded the superintendent, and upon such other proofs as may be produced before him, direct, by order, the discharge of such patient, upon such security to the people of the State as he may require for the good behavior and maintenance of the patient. The certificate and the proof, and the order granted thereon, must be filed in the clerk's office of the county in which the hospital is situated, and a certified copy of the order in the hospital from which the patient is discharged. The superintendent may grant a parole to a patient, not exceeding thirty days, under general conditions prescribed by the commission. The commission may, by order, discharge any patient who is not insane, nor a proper case for treatment within the meaning of this chapter. A poor and indigent patient discharged by the superintendent because he is an idiot or an epileptic, not insane, or because he is not a proper case for treatment within the meaning of this chapter, must be returned to the county from which he was committed, to be cared for as are other indigent poor. A patient committed to a hospital under the provisions of chapter six, title ten, part two, of the Penal Code, must, upon the certificate of the superintendent that such person has recovered, approved by the superior judge of the county from which the patient was committed, be redelivered to the sheriff of such county, and dealt with as provided for by said chapter six of the Penal Code.

Consists of section fourteen of article three.

Clothing of discharged patients.

Sec. 2190. No patient must be discharged from a state hospital without suitable clothing adapted to the season in which he is discharged; and, if it cannot otherwise be obtained, the steward must, upon the order of the superintendent, furnish the same and money, not exceeding twenty-five dollars, to defray his necessary expenses until he can reach his relatives or friends, or find employment to earn a subsistence.

Consists of section fifteen of article three.

Return of insane person to other states or countries.

Sec. 2191. If an order is issued by any judge, committing to a state hospital a poor or indigent person who has not acquired a legal residence in this State, the board of managers must return such insane person, either before or after his admission to a state hospital, to the country or state to which he belongs, and for such purpose may expend as much of the money appropriated for the care of the insane as may be necessary, subject to the recommendation of the state lunacy commission and the approval of the state board of examiners.

Consists of section sixteen of article three.

Private institutions.

Sec. 2192. No person, association, or corporation, must establish or keep an institution for the care, custody, or treatment of the insane, for compensation or hire, without first obtaining a license therefor from the commission. Every application for such license must be accompanied by a plan of the premises proposed to be occupied, describing the capacities of the buildings for the uses intended, the extent and location of grounds appurtenant thereto, and the number of patients proposed to be received therein, with such other information, and in such form, as the commission may require. The commission must not grant any such license without first having made an examination of the premises proposed to be licensed. It must be satisfied that they are substantially as described, and are otherwise fit and suitable for the purposes for which they are designed to be used, and that such license should be granted. The commission may at any and all times examine and ascertain how far a licensed institution is conducted in compliance with the license therefor, and after due notice to the institution, and opportunity for it to be heard, the commission, having made a record of the proceeding upon such hearing, may, if the interests of the inmates of the institution so demand, for just and reasonable cause then appearing, and to be stated in its order, amend or revoke any such license by an order to take effect within such time after the service thereof upon the licensee, as the commission determines. The authorities of each institution for the insane must place on file in the office of the institution the recommendations made by the commissioners, as a result of their visits, for the purpose of consultation by such authorities, and for reference by the commissioners upon their visits.

Consists of section seventeen of article three.

§§ 2194-2212. That a new chapter, numbered Ia, be added, containing sections twenty-one hundred and ninety-four to twenty-two hundred and twelve, codifying the statute of 1887, p. 69, with the amendments thereto made 1897, pp. 155, 231; 1901, p. 795, to read:

CHAPTER Ia.

CALIFORNIA HOME FOR THE CARE AND TRAINING OF FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN.

- SEC. 2194. The object of the home.

- 2202. The superintendent, and his duties.
- 2203. Further reports by the superintendent.
- 2204. Admission of children and others.
- 2205. Duties of county auditors and treasurers.
- 2206. Additional admissions.
- 2207. Visitations and examinations.
- 2208. Payment of claims.
- 2209. Claims for expenses.
- 2210. Adjustment and payment of salaries.
- 2211. Reservations respecting certain inmates.
- 2212. Duties of controller and treasurer.

The object of the home.

Sec. 2194. The object of the "California Home for the Care and Training of Feeble-Minded Children" is such care, training, and education of those received, as will render them more comfortable and happy and better fitted to care for and support themselves. To this end the trustees must furnish them such agricultural and mechanical education as they may be capable of receiving and all that the facilities offered by the State will allow, including farm work, shops, and the employment of trade teachers, who may at any time be discharged for cause. The home must, on the conditions in this chapter prescribed, receive and care for feeble-minded children between the ages of five and twenty-one years, and idiots, epileptics, and mentally enfeebled paralytics, irrespective of age.

Corresponds to section nine of the original act, with the addition of the last sentence, which is an attempt to express the purpose of the act in view of the supplemental act of 1897 as amended by the statute of 1901, p. 795.

The trustees, and their appointment.

Sec. 2195. The home is under the control of a board of trustees, consisting of five members appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, each of whom holds office for the term of four years from and after his appointment. All vacancies, other than those due to the expiration of a term, must be filled by appointment of the governor for the balance of the term only. Women may be trustees, officers, or employés of such home.

Corresponds to section one of the original act.

Trustees, their qualification, compensation, and presiding officer.

Sec. 2196. The trustees must qualify and take the usual oath of office. They must select one of their number president, to hold office for one year. They receive no compensation, but are entitled to their necessary traveling expenses while in the performance of their official duties.

Corresponds to section two of the original act.

Powers of trustees.

Sec. 2197. The powers of the trustees are:

1. To take and hold in trust for the State all property granted, given, bequeathed, or devised to the use of the home, and to manage and dispose thereof in accordance with the wishes of the donor or testator, if expressed, but if none is expressed, then to use and invest such property and its proceeds for the best interests of the home;

2. To establish, and from time to time change, such rules and regulations as may be deemed expedient for the management of the home, and for securing economy and accountability in its affairs, which rules and regulations must be strictly observed by all officers and employés;

3. To fix the compensation of all officers and employés whose compensation is not herein specially named, and to require bonds when desirable, and to fix the amount and determine the sufficiency thereof;

4. To contract, subject to the limitations hereinafter provided, for provisions, clothing, medicine, fuel, and all other supplies required for the support of the home, necessary for any period not exceeding one year;

5. To, on or before the fifteenth day of November, annually make a report to the governor of the condition and progress of the home, together with an exhibit in detail of all receipts and expenditures for the preceding fiscal year.

Subdivision one corresponds to section three of the original act; subdivisions two and three to section five; subdivision four to the first sentence of section ten; and subdivision five to section eleven.

Contracts for supplies.

Sec. 2198. All contracts for supplies must be limited to bona fide dealers in the articles contracted for, and must be given to the lowest bidder at a public letting thereof for a fair and reasonable price not greater than the usual market rates. Notice of the time, place, and condition of letting each contract must be given twice each week for two consecutive weeks in a daily paper published in the city of San Francisco, and once each week for two consecutive weeks in a paper published at the county seat of the county where the home is located.

Corresponds to all of section ten except the first sentence.

Election and duties of secretary and of treasurer.

Sec. 2199. A secretary and a treasurer must be elected by the board, neither of whom must be a member thereof. The secretary must keep true and correct minutes of all meetings and transactions of the board, enter the same in a suitable book provided for that purpose, and perform such other duties as the board may require of him.

Corresponds, so far as the duties of the secretary are concerned, to the provisions of section four of the original act, as amended in 1899. The provisions of that section respecting the bonds of the secretary and the treasurer will be omitted, upon the ground that sufficient provision is made therefor in subdivision three of section twenty-one hundred and ninety-seven.

Duties of treasurer.

Sec. 2200. The treasurer must have the custody of all moneys, bonds, notes, mortgages, and other securities and obligations belonging to the home. He must keep full and accurate accounts of receipts and payments in the manner directed by the by-laws and such other rules as the trustees prescribe. He must balance his accounts at the close of each fiscal year, and make a statement of the balances therein, and an abstract of all receipts and payments of the past year, which he must, upon demand, deliver to the auditing committee of the board of trustees, who must compare the same with his books and vouchers, and verify it by a further comparison with the books of the superintendent, and certify their findings upon such examination to the trustees at the annual meeting. He must further render an account of the state of his books and of the funds and other property in his custody whenever required to do so by the trustees.

Corresponds to section four as amended in 1899.

Appointment of superintendent and matron.

Sec. 2201. The board must appoint a matron and fix her salary, not exceeding nine hundred dollars per annum. It must also appoint a superintendent, whose annual salary must be twenty-four hundred dollars. Before entering upon the discharge of any duty, he must give a bond to the State in the sum of ten thousand dollars, with sureties to the satisfaction of the board of trustees, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties. Either the superintendent or the matron may be removed by the board for cause.

Is taken from section six of the original act.

The superintendent and his duties.

Sec. 2202. The superintendent is the chief executive officer of the home. He has the general superintendence of the buildings, workshops, grounds, and farm, together with their furniture, implements, fixtures, and stock, and the direction and control of all persons employed in or about the same, subject to the laws and regulations established by the trustees. He must employ and discharge, subject to the approval and supervision of the board of trustees, such teachers, attendants, assistants, artisans, and laborers, as he may think proper and necessary for the economical and efficient carrying into effect of the design of the institution, and prescribe their several duties and places. He must also, from time to time, give such orders and instructions as may appear best calculated to induce good conduct, fidelity, and economy in any department of labor and expense, and is enjoined to maintain salutary discipline among all who are employed by the institution or home; and to enforce strict compliance with such instructions and uniform obedience to all the rules and regulations of the home. He must cause full and fair accounts and records of all his doings and of the entire business and operations of the institution, together with the condition and prospects of the pupils, to be kept regularly, from day to day, in books provided for that purpose, and must see that all such accounts and records are fully made up to the date of each half fiscal year, and that the principal facts and results, with an official report thereon, are laid before the board at its semi-annual meetings, unless otherwise specially ordered. He must conduct the official correspondence, and keep a record of the applications received and the pupils admitted, and is accountable for the careful keeping and economical use of all furniture, stores, and other articles provided for the home, and must prepare and present to the board at its semi-annual meeting a true and complete inventory of all personal property belonging to the home. He must, on or before the fifth day of each month, prepare a true and correct report, verified by his oath, of all inmates supported, cared for, trained, and educated in such home for the preceding month, and whose support, care, training, and education in such home are provided to be paid for by the several counties whence they came. This report must give the names and residences of all such inmates, together with the dates of their admission, and the department of the home in which they are detained, and the special grade of mental deficiency with which each is afflicted. Copies of this report must be filed in the offices of the state board of examiners, the controller, and the treasurer of state, but must not be printed, or used, nor permitted to be used, for any other purpose than the special information of the officers designated. The superintendent must also, within the time above designated, prepare a report, verified by his oath, showing substantially the facts set forth in the above report, which must be filed with the county auditors of the several counties from which the commitments have been made to the institution, showing the name of each inmate supported, and for which such county is liable to the State for support and maintenance. The exercise of all the powers of the superintendent is subject to the approval of the trustees.

Consolidates so much of section six, as amended by the statute of 1889, p. 155, and of section one of the statute of 1897, p. 551, as amended by the statute of 1901, p. 795, as relates to the duties of the superintendent.

Further reports by the superintendent.

Sec. 2203. The superintendent must, annually, after the close of the fiscal year, and before the date at which the trustees are required to make their annual report, make to the trustees a report, giving the name, age, sex, nativity, residence, and date of reception of each pupil in the institution within the preceding year, and, as far as can be ascertained, the causes of imbecility; also the number discharged, with the date and reason therefor in each case, together with the name of each paying pupil, and the amount charged for him, and the amounts paid or unpaid; and also such other information and suggestions as may seem proper; which report must be kept on file in the office of the secretary of the board, but must not be printed.

Corresponds to section twelve of the original act.

Admission of children and others.

Sec. 2204. Whenever any parent, guardian, or other person charged with the support of an imbecile or feeble-minded child between the ages of five and twenty-one years, or of any idiot, epileptic, or mentally enfeebled paralytic, irrespective of age, desires him to be admitted into such home, he may petition the superior court of the county in which he resides, for an order admitting such person to such home. The judge must inquire into the condition or status of such person, and if he finds him to be an imbecile or feeble-minded child between the ages above named, or an idiot, epileptic, or mentally enfeebled paralytic, irrespective of age, and that he has been a resident of the State for one year next preceding the presentation of the petition, such judge must make an order that he be received, maintained, and educated in such home, and on the presentation of such order the superintendent must receive him therein, if the home is not already full, or the fund available for its support exhausted; but the idiot, epileptic, or paralytic need not be received if, in the judgment of the management of the home, he is not a suitable subject for admission thereto. The judge must inquire into the financial condition of the parent, guardian, or other person charged with the support of any such child, and if he finds him able, in whole or in part, to pay its expenses at such home, he must make a further order requiring such parent, guardian, or other person charged with the support of such child to pay to the home at stated periods such sums as, in the opinion of the judge, are proper during such time as the child may remain in such home. This order may be enforced by such further orders as the judge deems necessary, and may be varied, altered, or revoked in his discretion, and the board may cause the peremptory discharge of any person who has been an inmate or patient for the period of one month. For each child or other person committed to such home, the judge must make such orders as are requisite to secure the payment, by the county from which he is committed, to the state treasury, of the sum of ten dollars monthly for and during each month, or part of month, such person so committed remains an inmate of the home, but in the absence of such order, or unless otherwise specially set forth therein, the signing and delivery by the judge of a commitment is prima facie evidence of the intent that the payment of such monthly support shall be a charge against the county, or city and county, from which the commitment was made.

This section consolidates section seven of the act of 1887 with so much of section one of the act of 1897, p. 251, as amended by the statute of 1901, p. 795, as relates to admissions to the home. The latter act, in the last clause thereof, authorizes the peremptory discharge of any person who has been an inmate for the period of one month. We have assumed that this takes the place of the last clause of section seven of the act of 1887, which was in terms directed to children only, and authorized their return after two months. The propriety of this provision is exceedingly questionable, as it appears to give arbitrary discretion to the management to turn out whomsoever it pleases, however regular may have been his commitment to the home.

Duties of county auditors and treasurers.

Sec. 2205. Each county auditor must include in his state settlement report rendered to the controller in the months of May and December the amount due to the State under this chapter by reason of commitments to the home; and the county treasurer, at the time of the settlement with the State in such months, must pay to the state treasurer, upon the order of the controller, the amounts found to be due to the State by reason of the commitments herein referred to.

Is taken from section one of the act of 1897 as amended by the statute of 1901, p. 795.

Additional admissions.

Sec. 2206. The board of trustees, when the accommodations of the home permit, if such action does not conflict with the interests or welfare of committed cases or applicants awaiting admission, may admit, for any stated period of time, without judicial commitment, such persons as are before and hereinafter specified as eligible for admission, upon such terms of special payment, gift, bequest, donation, legacy, transfer of real or personal property, or other lawful procedure, as may appear to them to be to the best interests of the State, and may further secure to the home, for the time such persons so admitted are inmates of the home, such revenue or compensation as fully covers the actual cost to the home for all care, treatment, education, and support therein involved.

Consists of section four of the statute of 1897, p. 253.

Visitations and examinations.

Sec. 2207. There must be visitations and thorough examinations of all the departments of the institution monthly by one or more of the trustees, and quarterly by a majority of them. At each visitation there must be made a detailed statement of the condition of the home, signed by the trustee or trustees making the statement, and placed on file, which statement must at all times be open to the inspection of legislative committees charged with the duty of examining public institutions. The trustees, during their monthly visitation, must examine the books and accounts, and no account or claim must be paid until it has been examined and certified as correct by at least two of the trustees.

Consists of section thirteen of the original act.

Payment of claims.

Sec. 2208. No bill must be paid except upon accounts, certificates, or vouchers, duly certified by the superintendent and approved by the board of trustees.

Consists of section fourteen of the original act.

Claims for expenses.

Sec. 2209. All claims, excepting those for salaries, wages, and the contingent expenses of the officers of the home, incurred on account of the regular support of such home, must be presented monthly before the state board of examiners, in the usual way, as now provided by law, and as the state board of examiners may hereafter advise and direct; but the aggregate amount of all such claims must not exceed, in any given month, the aggregate sum due the State for that month from the counties of this State for such inmates actually in the home, as provided for in section twenty-two hundred and four.

Consists of section two of the act of 1897, p. 252.

Adjustment and payment of salaries.

Sec. 2210. The State must, by legislative appropriation, provide for the payment of all salaries and wages of all officers and employes employed by said home, and for the payment of all traveling and other contingent expenses incurred by the officers of the home while attending to business belonging to or appertaining solely to the home. But the salaries and wages herein provided to be paid by the State must not, in any event, exceed in amount such salaries or wages as the State pays for the same or for similar lines of work in the other public institutions of this State; and the state board of examiners is hereby directed to make such rescaling of all salaries and wages paid in said home, including those already provided for by law, and which provisions are hereby repealed, as may place said salaries and wages, in each and every particular, upon a parity with the salaries and wages paid in and by the other public institutions of this State for the same or for similar service; and where the service rendered is unlike, or widely different from any services rendered in any other public institution, then the state board of examiners must designate what is the just and proper remuneration for such particular and special service referred to, and the sum or sums so fixed by the state board of examiners is the regular salary, wage, or compensation thereto belonging.

Consists of section three of the act of 1897, p. 252.

Reservations respecting certain inmates.

Sec. 2211. Nothing in this chapter contained interferes with or affects the status of such inmates as may now be in such home under terms of life tenure, or such other inmates as may be deemed by the management self-supporting by the value of their labor, or who may pay in whole or in part such sums as, in the judgment of the management, cover the cost of their support. For all cases the board of trustees is authorized and directed to secure from the proper officers of the several counties whence the inmates were committed or received, such arrangements for recommitment under the terms of this chapter as may prevent such inmates becoming a sole charge upon the State; and the board of trustees is further authorized to discharge, at its discretion, any person whose support is unprovided for by the terms of this chapter.

Corresponds to section five of the act of 1897, p. 253.

Duties of controller and treasurer.

Sec. 2212. The controller of state is hereby authorized to draw his warrants in favor of the board of trustees, upon its presentation of claims in the usual manner on account of the supporting of the said home as herein provided for, and the treasurer of state is hereby directed to pay the same.

Consists of section seven of the act of 1897, p. 253.

§§ 2213-2224. That a new chapter be added, numbered Ib, codifying the statute of 1887, p. 160, to consist of sections twenty-two hundred and thirteen to twenty-two hundred and twenty-four, to read:

CHAPTER Ib.

THE INDUSTRIAL HOME OF THE ADULT BLIND.

SEC. 2213. Objects.

2214. Who entitled to admission.

2215. The board of directors.

2216. Powers of directors.

2217. Duties of directors.

2218. The president.

2219. The superintendent.

2220. The physician.

2221. Bonds.

2222. Payment of salaries and expenses.

2223. Delivery of moneys.

2224. Resolutions of election and dismissal.

Objects.

Sec. 2213. The objects of the Industrial Home of the Adult Blind are: First, the instruction of such blind admitted thereto in some trade or trades, to enable them to contribute to their own support; and second, the furnishing of a working home for the adult blind, who, after learning a trade or trades, desire to remain at the home as workmen; but all who so remain must pay to the State, through the board of directors, the cost of their maintenance at the home. The rate of wages to be paid these workmen, as well as the amounts which they must pay for their maintenance, must be fixed by the board.

Corresponds to section one of article two of the act.

Who entitled to admission.

Sec. 2214. Every person who has been a resident of the State for three years prior to his application for admission is, if of suitable age, character, and qualifications, entitled to the benefit of instruction in such home free of charge, though he is not of such physical strength as to be able to work every day.

Aged and enfeebled blind persons may be received and maintained in the home at the discretion of the directors, free of cost, or at a nominal charge, if such admission and maintenance do not conflict with the interests of the home. The board may also admit blind persons from other States, but such admission must be under such conditions as will not entail cost on this State, and must not be allowed if it will exclude qualified blind residents of the State.

Corresponds to, and consolidates, section two of article two and section ten of article three of the original act. It will be observed that while the statute purports to authorize the admission only of persons of suitable age, character, and qualification, it nowhere undertakes to prescribe any test to determine either.

The board of directors.

Sec. 2215. The industrial home is under the control of a board of directors, consisting of five members, appointed by the governor. They receive no compensation for their services.

Consolidates section four of article one and section fourteen of article three. This section does not fix the official term of the directors, and it must, therefore, be controlled by section sixteen of article twenty of the constitution, and hence be during the pleasure of the appointing power.

Powers of directors.

Sec. 2216. The board of directors has power:

1. To make by-laws for its government and the government and direction of the home, and prescribe conditions for the admission of applicants thereto, and the admission pursuant to such conditions, having regard to an equitable representation from each county of the State;

2. To designate the trades which must be regularly taught in the institution;

3. To elect a general superintendent and all subordinate officers and employés, and to determine the number thereof when not fixed by this chapter;

4. To elect a physician, not a member of the board, whose salary must not exceed twelve hundred dollars per annum;

5. To elect a secretary, whose salary must not exceed six hundred dollars per annum, who must give bond in the sum of five thousand dollars;

6. To prescribe in particular the duties of the superintendent, physician, and secretary;

7. To purchase, from time to time, such materials as may be suitable for the requirements of the manufacturing and other departments of the home, to audit the bills therefor, and forward them to the state board of examiners;

8. To fix the market price of all wares manufactured in the home, and of all wares manufactured elsewhere by non-resident beneficiaries, and to provide for and regulate the sale of all such manufactured wares;

9. To fix the compensation of common laborers and of all other employés in the home, whose wages are not herein established;

10. To grade and fix the price of skilled and unskilled labor and the amount of work required in the various departments to constitute a day's labor, and to permit the inmates to work at piece work;

11. To authorize work to be let out to blind people, so that such beneficiaries as in their judgment may require it, may receive it at their residence, and for such piece work to pay liberal prices, so as to yield, as near as possible, the compensation of resident laborers; but in no case, to incur any indebtedness for labor contracts with the beneficiaries, resident or otherwise, when there is not sufficient money on hand to pay the same;

12. To take, receive, manage, and invest all moneys or property hereafter bequeathed or donated to said home, in accordance with the wishes of the testator or donor; or if no conditions are attached to the bequests or donations, then to invest such moneys or proceeds of property for the best interests of the home. If any donation or bequest is trammelled with any religious conditions of a sectarian character, or conditioned in any manner antagonistic to the provisions of this chapter, or in conflict with any necessary rule or regulation of the home, the board may refuse to accept such donation or bequest, and is hereby authorized to reject the same. Donations or bequests may be received by the state treasurer, or by the president of the board of directors; but no donation or bequest accompanied by any condition must be received until it has been ordered approved and received by the board, and notice thereof given by the secretary to the state controller. Any bequest or donation received or collected by the president of the board must be immediately paid over by him to the state treasurer, and at the same time the president must forward to the state controller a statement thereabout, verified by his oath. All moneys received by the state treasurer must be placed to the credit of the "Fund of the Industrial Home of Adult Blind."

The investment of funds by the board can be made only in the same manner as the approval of claims, subject likewise to the action of the state board of examiners thereon.

Subdivision one consolidates subdivision first of section one and the last clause of section thirteen of article two; subdivision two corresponds to subdivision second of section one; subdivision three to subdivision first of section two; subdivision four to subdivision second; subdivision five to subdivision third of the same section; subdivision six corresponds to section three; subdivision seven to section eight; subdivision eight to the first sentence of section nine; subdivision nine to the last sentence of section nine; subdivision ten to section eleven; subdivision eleven to section twelve, and subdivision twelve to section fifteen.

Duties of directors.

Sec. 2217. The duties of such board are:

1. To make inquiry into the department of labor and expense, the condition of the home and its prosperity, and to employ all reasonable means to make the same self-supporting;

2. To hold stated meetings at the home at least once in every month;

3. To keep at the home a record of their proceedings, which must be accessible to the public during the hours of nine A. M. to four P. M., excepting on legal holidays;

4. To report annually, in the month of December, to the governor a statement of receipts and expenditures, the condition of the home, the number of inmates, and the number of beneficiaries doing work at their own residences, and such other matters touching the management of the home as they may deem proper. The annual report must be verified by the oath of the president of the board of directors. The superintendent of state printing is authorized to print annually two thousand copies of such report, which copies the board must circulate in the manner appearing to them to be in the best interests of the home;

5. To provide dormitories for males and females in separate departments;

6. To contract for provisions, fuel, and all other supplies needed for any period of time not exceeding one year; and such contracts must be limited to bona fide dealers in the several classes of articles contracted for. Such contract must be given to the lowest responsible bidder, at a public letting thereof, if the price bid is fair and not greater than the usual market prices. Each bid must be accompanied by such security as the board requires. Notice of the time, place, and letting of each contract must be given for at least two consecutive weeks in a daily paper published in the city of San Francisco, and in one newspaper published in the city or town where the home is located. If all the bids at any letting are deemed by the board unreasonably high, it may decline to contract, and may again advertise for proposals, and so continue to renew the advertisement until satisfactory contracts are made; and in the meantime the board may contract with any person whose contract is just and equitable, but no contract thus made must extend beyond sixty days. No bid must be accepted when it is higher than any other bid, made at the same letting, for the same class or schedule of articles. When two or more bids are equal in amount, the board may divide the contract between the bidders;

7. To designate the number of employés, prescribe their duties, and fix their compensation, and to approve or disapprove the appointments made by the superintendent.

Subdivision one consists of section four; subdivision two of section five; subdivision three of section six; subdivision four of section seven; subdivision five of the first clause of section thirteen; subdivision six of section twenty; and subdivision seven of all of section twenty-one, with the addition of the words "or disapprove."

The president.

Sec. 2218. The board of directors must elect one of their number president. As such he is ex-officio a member of each standing committee, and must appoint all committees unless otherwise ordered by the board. He must make careful and diligent inquiry into the management of the home, and report the result thereof at each meeting of the board, with such recommendations as he may wish to make concerning such management.

Consolidates sections sixteen and nineteen of article three.

The superintendent.

Sec. 2219. The superintendent is the chief executive officer of the home. He must be a man of good education and of good moral character and business experience. His salary is twenty-one hundred dollars per annum. He must execute an official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars. His powers and duties are as follows:

1. To superintend the grounds, buildings, workshops, manufacturing departments, and property of the home;
2. To certify to the board of directors the number of instructors and employés needed in the manufacturing departments, and to recommend to the board the appointment of suitable persons for these positions;

3. To dismiss any domestic, servant, or person employed at the home—other than an instructor or employé in the manufacturing department—whenever in his judgment the good of the home demands it;

4. To prescribe and enforce the duties of all instructors, employés, domestics, servants, and laborers employed at the home;

5. To admit inmates only upon the certificate of the attending physician, or by order of the board, as hereinafter provided; to control the inmates, and to prescribe and enforce a system of instruction and labor;

6. To suspend any employé or instructor pending a recommendation to the board for his permanent dismissal, and to appoint substitutes during the absence of any or all employés;

7. Pending a recommendation to the board for his final dismissal, to suspend the privileges of, and to remove from the premises, any inmate whose presence appears to be in conflict with the interests of the home. Should any inmate so suspended or removed be in destitute condition, the superintendent must, upon his demand, furnish him with suitable lodgings and board elsewhere, until the decision of the board is made thereon. The bill therefor must be presented to the board for payment, in the same manner as other claims;

8. To reside at the home;

9. To keep a daily record of his official acts in the manner prescribed by the board, and to present the same to the board at each monthly meeting, verified by his oath, in accordance with the blanks furnished by the board for that purpose, and to make in the monthly reports such recommendations as he may deem proper. The monthly report must contain a statement of all stock, goods, and supplies of any nature received at the home during the month;

10. To turn over to the board, at the close of each month, together with the balance sheet, all moneys derived by him from the sale of manufactured goods, and all revenues derived by him from any source whatsoever in behalf of and for the benefit of the home, and to take the secretary's receipt therefor;

11. To make up and present to the board, in the month of July of each year, his annual accounts and statement of the affairs of the home, verified by his oath. The annual statement must be an epitome of the monthly reports, and must contain the number and names of all inmates, officers, and employés, and their respective dates of admission or beginning of employment, and the respective dates of dismissals made during the year. It must contain a full review of all receipts and expenditures, and an invoice of all goods and stock and supplies on hand. It must contain, also, the average weekly cost of board per capita of all persons residing at the home, without considering the labor credits, and the average annual cost of instruction per capita. It must show clearly the relation of the gross products to the gross cost, and the percentage lacking in order to become self-supporting. For the making up of such statement, the superintendent shall have full access to the secretary's and other books of the home, and such statement must be independent of each and all of the other annual reports;

12. To make requisitions on the board of directors for articles and goods needed at the home, and to order the same as directed by the board. It may, by resolution spread upon its minutes, authorize the superintendent, in case of emergency, to make purchase of material and supplies for the home without such previous requisition. He must, in addition, perform such further services as may be required of him by the board.

Consists of subdivisions first to twelfth of article four.

The physician.

Sec. 2220. The physician must examine at his office, at a stated hour daily, and at the home, at a stated hour upon the days of his visits, all applicants for admission, as to their blindness. If the applicant appears to be a proper subject for admission to the benefits of the home, the physician must forthwith deliver to him his certificate of admission, directed to the board and to the superintendent of the home. Upon presentation of the certificate the superintendent must admit the applicant as a beneficiary. Any applicant rejected by the attending physician has the right of appeal to the board. The physician must present to the board, monthly, a statement of the sanitary condition of the home, and must therein specify the days and dates of his visits, and the age and nativity of each person to whom he has issued, during the month, a certificate of admission, together with the cause or causes of blindness, physical condition, and also as to whether any such inmates would be benefited by medical treatment, as well as any other matters which the board may deem proper to require of him. The monthly statements must be made upon blanks furnished by the board for that purpose. He must present to the board, in the month of July, his annual report, which must be an epitome of his monthly reports, and in which he must specify, with particularity, all sickness at the home during the year; and such observations and recommendations may be therein made as seem to him pertinent to the sanitary welfare of the home. The attending physician must, in no instance, permanently treat any inmate for blindness, or any optical affection, without permission in each case first being given by the board, at the request of the person so afflicted. The attending physician must visit the home once every day.

Consists of article five of the act.

Bonds.

Sec. 2221. The official bonds in this chapter required must be approved by the board of directors, and filed and recorded in the office of the secretary of state. The approval of the bond must be by indorsement thereon by the president, and reference thereon made by the secretary, to such action of the board.

Consists of section four of article two.

Payment of salaries and expenses.

Sec. 2222. The salaries of the superintendent, secretary, and physician, and all other expense accounts, including the wages of workmen at trades, and of employés, must be paid monthly out of the moneys appropriated by the legislature for the support of the home, or from accumulations from the industries of the home, or from donations and bequests to the home, made without restraining conditions, whenever resort to such donations or bequests is necessary. All such claims, excepting salaries of said officers, must be first approved by the board of directors, and must be so indorsed by the secretary and attested by the president, and must immediately thereafter be forwarded to the secretary of the state board of examiners. When the claims have been approved by that board, the controller must issue his warrant therefor, directed to the state treasurer, in favor of the board of directors. The state treasurer is authorized to pay such warrant only when indorsed by the secretary, and attested by the president of the board. No claim for wages of employés, or of workmen at trades, must be audited by the board of directors until after it receives from the foreman his monthly time certificate, duly verified by his oath, and stating the amount of labor performed by the employé or workman.

Consists of section three of the original act as amended by the statute of 1889, p. 147.

Delivery of moneys.

Sec. 2223. Every officer and employé of the home, and any other person acquiring possession, by any means whatever, of moneys belonging to the home, must, at the close of each month, deliver the same to the board of directors, accompanied by a statement thereof, verified by his oath, taking the secretary's receipt therefor. The board of directors must, at least once in every month, forward to the state treasurer all moneys in their charge belonging to the home. The secretary of the board must, at the same time, forward to the state controller a statement thereof, verified by his oath. All such moneys received by the state treasurer must be placed to the credit of the "Fund of the Industrial Home of Adult Blind."

Consists of section seventeen of article three.

Resolutions of election and dismissal.

Sec. 2224. Immediately upon the election or dismissal of any officer, whose salary is fixed by the provisions of this chapter, the board must cause the secretary to forward to the controller of state a certified copy of the resolution of such election or dismissal, which the controller must file in his office.

Consists of section eighteen of article three of the original act.

§§ 2225-2232. That a new chapter, numbered 1c, codifying the statute of 1897, p. 44, consisting of sections twenty-two hundred and twenty-five to twenty-two hundred and thirty-two, be added, to read:

CHAPTER 1c.

THE WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS HOME OF CALIFORNIA.

SEC. 2225. Object.

2226. Directors, their appointment and qualification.

2227. Election and compensation of officers.

2228. Powers of the board.

2229. Duties of the board.

2230. State aid.

2231. Auditing of claims.

2232. Moneys paid to treasurer.

Object.

Sec. 2225. The object of the Women's Relief Corps Home at Evergreen, Santa Clara county, is for the support of ex-army nurses, and of the wives, widows, mothers, and dependent, destitute unmarried daughters and sisters of the Union veterans who served honorably in the civil war. No person is entitled to aid under this chapter except by reason of her services as an army nurse, or by reason of the military or naval services of her husband, father, brother, or son, nor unless she has been continuously a resident of this State for one year next prior to her admission to the home.

Corresponds to sections one and eleven of the original act, so far as they relate to admissions to the home.

Directors, their appointment and qualification.

Sec. 2226. The home is managed and controlled by a board of eleven directors, appointed by the governor, to hold office for two years from and after their appointment, unless sooner removed by him for cause. Each must, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, file with the secretary of state his oath of office, in the form prescribed by law.

Corresponds to sections three, four, and five of the original act, except that the provision for the election and compensation of officers is transferred to section twenty-two hundred and twenty-seven.

Election and compensation of officers.

Sec. 2227. The board of directors must elect from their number a president, a vice-president, a secretary, and a treasurer, each of whom holds office for one year from his election. No member of the board, nor any officer, must receive any compensation for his services.

Corresponds to the last two sentences of section three.

Powers of the board.

Sec. 2228. The board of directors must be known by the name and style of "The Board of Directors of the Women's Relief Corps Home Association of California," and by this name may sue and be sued in any of the courts of the State, and all property held by the board is held in trust for the Women's Relief Corps Home of California, and for the use and benefit of such home. Such board has power to manage such home, administer its affairs, make laws for its government, and adopt rules and regulations for its management, and a majority of its members constitute a quorum to transact its business.

Is taken from section six of the original act.

Duties of the board.

Sec. 2229. The board must:

1. Hold at least one meeting each month for the transaction of business pertaining to the home;
2. Cause to be kept a book or "general register," in which must be entered the date of admission, name, age, and place of birth of each inmate, and also the military or naval history, if it can be obtained, of the husband, father, or brother of such widow, wife, mother, maiden daughter, or sister, or of the ex-army nurse who is or may hereafter be admitted to such home, and the estate or income, if any, to which she may be entitled;
3. Cause to be kept a full record of its meetings; also a book entitled "monthly accounts," in which must be entered all moneys received from any and all sources, segregated under proper heads; also all disbursements made, specifying for what purpose, the amounts so disbursed entered in detail, segregated under proper heads, and each entry to be made under proper dates;
4. Keep a pay roll of the employés and the amount disbursed to each, at what rate of wages, and for the length and kind of service;
5. Furnish to the state board of examiners, at the time of making a demand or presenting a claim for state aid, a transcript of such books and pay rolls, verified by the oath of its president and secretary, covering the time for which such claim or demand is made;
6. To make a report, on the fifteenth day of August of each year, to the governor, containing a statement of all receipts and expenses, the condition of the home, the number of inmates during the year ending with June thirtieth, and such other matters as may be required by him. All reports must be verified by the oath of the president and secretary of the board.

Subdivision one is taken from and corresponds to subdivision first of section six; subdivision two corresponds to subdivision second of section six; subdivision three to subdivision third of section six; subdivision four to subdivision fourth of section six; subdivision five to subdivision fifth of section sixth, and subdivision six to section nine.

State aid.

Sec. 2230. For each inmate maintained in the home, if entitled to such maintenance under section twenty-two hundred and twenty-five, it is entitled to twelve and a half dollars each month from appropriations made for that purpose. No inmate for whose support there is paid, independent of state aid, the sum of twelve dollars and fifty cents or more per month, must be entitled to any aid under this chapter. But if such sum be less than twelve dollars and fifty cents per month, aid must be granted for such sum only as is necessary to make the full amount for support, including the State aid, twelve dollars and fifty cents per month.

Consolidates the provisions of sections one and eight.

Auditing of claims.

Sec. 2231. Every claim for aid under this chapter must be presented to and audited and allowed by the state board of examiners, and when allowed in whole or in part, it is the duty of the controller to draw his warrant for the amount thereof in favor of the president and treasurer of the board of directors, and it is the duty of the state treasurer to pay the same, on due presentation.

Consists of section seven of the original act.

Moneys paid to treasurer.

Sec. 2232. All moneys received by the directors or any officer of the home (except such as may be paid to them by the State for disbursement), including pension moneys belonging to the pensioners in the home, must be paid over to the treasurer of the board, to be used for the support and maintenance of the home.

Consists of section ten of the original act.

§§ 2233-2233k. That a new chapter, numbered Id, codifying the statute of 1897, p. 106, to consist of sections twenty-two hundred and thirty-three to twenty-two hundred and thirty-three k, be added, to read:

CHAPTER Id.

THE VETERANS' HOME.

SEC. 2233. Property of, its use and control.

2233a. Name and style of the board.

2233b. Powers of the directors.

2233c. Duties of the directors.

2233d. Qualification of officers.

2233e. Expenses of officers.

2233f. Admissions.

2233g. Non-resident inmates.

2233h. Duties of state treasurer.

2233i. Auditing and approval of bills.

2233j. Duties of treasurer.

2233k. Contracts for supplies.

Property of, its use and control.

Sec. 2233. All the property heretofore acquired by the State at or near Yountville, in the county of Napa, from the Veterans'

Home Association, must continue to be used as a home for aged and indigent soldiers, sailors, and marines of the United States army and navy, under the exclusive management and control of the State, by a board of eleven directors, appointed by the governor, a majority of whom constitutes a quorum for the transaction of business, and each of whom holds office for the term of four years from his appointment. In the event of a vacancy in the office of a director, before the expiration of his term, it must be filled by the governor for the unexpired portion of the term only. Each director must, within thirty days after receiving notice of his appointment, file with the secretary of state his oath of office.

Corresponds to sections two and three of the original act, except that we have added what we suppose to be implied, viz., that the beneficiaries must have been in the army or navy, and we have omitted the form of oath, on the ground that the form of official oath is elsewhere sufficiently prescribed. The provision respecting a quorum is from section four.

Name and style of the board.

Sec. 2233a. The board of directors must be known and styled "The Board of Directors of the Veterans' Home of California," and by that name may sue and be sued in any of the courts of the State. All property held by such board is held in trust for the State and for the use and benefit of such home.

Corresponds to the first sentence of section four.

Powers of the directors.

Sec. 2233b. The board of directors has power:

1. To manage the home, make by-laws for the government of the board not in conflict with the laws of the State, adopt rules and regulations for the government of the home, to conform as nearly as possible to the rules and regulations by which the United States Soldiers' Home and branches thereof are governed;

2. To elect a president and vice-president from their number, to hold office for two years;

3. To elect, once every two years, a commandant, a secretary, a treasurer, and a medical director, to hold office for two years; neither must be a member of the board of directors, and each must be a Union, Mexican, or Spanish war veteran;

4. To remove for cause, any officer elected by it, but only after a full and fair hearing by the board;

5. To fill for the unexpired term, all vacancies, whether occurring by death, resignation, or removal;

6. To prescribe the duties and fix the compensation of all officers and employes elected or appointed by it, and to change the same from time to time;

7. To maintain an office in the city of San Francisco, at an expense for rent, light, fuel, telephone, and janitor, not to exceed six hundred dollars per annum.

Subdivision one corresponds to the second sentence of section four; subdivisions two, three, four, five, and six are from section five; and subdivision seven corresponds to section fourteen of the original act.

Duties of the directors.

Sec. 2233c. The duties of the board of directors are:

1. To keep records, reports, and accounts which conform to the requirements of the board of managers of the National Home for Disabled Volunteers;

2. To keep a full and correct record of all its proceedings, which must be open at all times to the inspection of any citizen desiring to examine the same;

3. To keep the home open to inspection by the board of managers of the National Home for Disabled Volunteers;

4. To hold stated meetings at the home quarterly, and as often as in its judgment the business may demand, and also to hold at least one meeting at the office in San Francisco each month, and as much oftener as may be necessary, for the auditing of bills and the transaction of business;

5. To appoint such sub-committees as in the judgment of the board may be necessary;

6. To keep a record, to be called "the general register," in which must be recorded the following as to applicants for admission: Number, name, age, place of birth, occupation, date of admission, date of rejection if not admitted, residence at time of admission, length of residence in the State immediately prior to admission, residence at time of entering service, date of enlistment, company, regiment, branch or arm of service, date of discharge, disease, wounds or disability, married or single, pensioner or not, rate of pension, estate or income, fraternal society, if any, to which he belongs, date of discharge from home, and reason therefor, place of and date of death, and place of burial, and remarks;

7. To fix a schedule of wages by which veterans able and desiring to do light work may be employed; to audit all claims for labor and supplies legally chargeable against the home, and it may also audit the expense of procuring the officers' bonds, if any such expense is incurred, and must direct the payment of their salaries, and do all things necessary for the proper conduct of the business of maintaining the home;

8. To report, on the fifteenth day of August of each year, to the governor, a statement of all receipts and expenditures, the condition of the home, the number of veterans received and discharged during the year ending with June thirtieth, and such other matters touching the management, conduct, and interest of the home, as it may deem proper, or as may be required by the governor; also to make such other reports from time to time as the governor may require. All reports herein provided for must be verified by the oath of the president, and must be certified by the secretary of the board.

Subdivisions one, two, three, four, five, and six are from section four; subdivision seven corresponds to section six; subdivision eight to section seven.

Qualification of officers.

Sec. 2233*d*. Before entering upon their duties, the commandant, secretary, treasurer, and medical director must each take the oath of office, and must file with the board an undertaking in such an amount as it may determine, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties. The undertaking must be signed by at least two sureties, or it may be the undertaking of some authorized surety company. In either case it must be approved by the board.

Consists of section five of the original act.

Expenses of officers.

Sec. 2233*e*. Each director and officer of the board must receive his actual necessary traveling expenses in attending the meetings of the board, or in traveling on business authorized by it, to be paid out of any moneys appropriated for the support of the home.

Corresponds to section thirteen of the original act.

Admissions.

Sec. 2233*f*. The board of directors may make such rules governing the admission of applicants as in its judgment may be deemed just, proper, and for the best interests of the home, but no person must be admitted to reside therein (families of officers and employes excepted) who is not an honorably discharged United States soldier, sailor, or marine, and who has not been a bona fide resident of the State of California for a period of one year immediately preceding his application, except those provided for in section twenty-two hundred and thirty-three g.

Corresponds to section twelve of the original act.

Non-resident inmates.

Sec. 2233*g*. The board of directors may, at its option, receive in the home, disabled or indigent veterans, soldiers, or marines who served in the Civil or Mexican wars, or in any other war of the Union, and who are residents of any other State or Territory, upon condition that each must pay to the State for his maintenance and support the same rate per capita that the maintenance and support in such home costs the State per capita. Such payments to be made by the person admitted, or by the governor or treasurer of the State whence he comes.

Corresponds to section sixteen of the act.

Duties of state treasurer.

Sec. 2233*h*. All moneys received by the State from the federal government for the use of the home, together with all moneys appropriated by the State for its support and maintenance, must be received by the state treasurer and placed to the credit of a fund to be entitled "fund for the support and maintenance of the Veterans' Home of California."

Corresponds to section eight of the act.

Auditing and approval of bills.

Sec. 2233*i*. All bills and charges against the board for supplies, salaries, or other expenses incurred by it, must first be audited by such board, and thereafter forwarded to the state board of examiners for its approval, and when so approved, the controller must immediately issue his warrant in payment therefor, which warrant must be paid out of any moneys in such fund.

Corresponds to section nine of the act.

Duties of treasurer.

Sec. 2233*j*. All moneys received by the directors or any officer of the home (except such as may be paid to them by the State for disbursement), including pension moneys belonging to the pensioners in the home, and all other trust moneys, must be immediately paid over to the treasurer of the board. Upon the first day of each month he must forward to the state treasurer all moneys then in his possession as treasurer, except pension moneys and other trust funds, the canteen fund, and the moneys hereinafter referred to as subject to their direct disbursement and designated as the "emergency fund," together with a statement of the sources whence the same has been received. Such money must be immediately deposited by the state treasurer to the credit of the fund hereinbefore designated as the "fund for the support and maintenance of the Veterans' Home of California."

Corresponds to section ten of the act.

Contracts for supplies.

Sec. 2233k. All supplies, except those not of a general character, and not exceeding in value the sum of five thousand dollars in any one year, must be furnished the home on contract, let to the lowest responsible bidder; notice to bidders must be published for a period of two weeks in a newspaper of general circulation, published in each of the following cities, to wit: Napa, Sacramento, and San Francisco. Such notice must state that the board will receive bids for the needed supplies, setting forth the kind, quality, and quantity of each article required, and that the same must be delivered at the railroad station at Yountville, free of charge, at such time and in such quantity as the board may direct. The notice must also state with whom the bids are to be filed, the time and hour when and the place where the bids will be opened and the contract awarded. At the time and place appointed, the board must proceed to open all bids, and must award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder in each line of supplies called for. The board may reject any bid which does not conform to the requirements of the published notice, and if, in its judgment, all bids for any line of supplies are unsatisfactory, it may reject all such bids and readvertise as in the first instance. Bids must be called for and contracts let in the months of June and December, or as near that time each year as practicable, and no contract must be entered into for a longer period than six months. Before entering into a contract with any successful bidder, the board must require an undertaking from such bidder, payable to the State of California, in such sum as it deems sufficient to secure the faithful performance of the contract. Such bonds must be approved by the board. For the purchase of supplies, not of a general character, the making of necessary and emergency repairs, the construction of minor improvements, and the defraying of incidental expenses, the board has the power to expend each year a sum not to exceed in the aggregate five thousand dollars without first submitting said items to the approval of the board of examiners, and the controller is hereby authorized and directed to issue his warrants from time to time, drawn in favor of the treasurer of the board, and payable out of the fund herein referred to, for such expenses, upon a requisition therefor, signed by the president and secretary of the board. Such warrants must not exceed, however, in any one year, the sum of five thousand dollars. At the end of every three months the board must file with the board of examiners a detailed statement, showing the expenditure, by items, of all sums of money so used. The treasurer of the board, upon receiving any moneys from the state treasurer, under the foregoing provision, must enter the same in his books in an account to be designated "emergency fund," and must pay the same out only upon drafts signed by the president and secretary of the board.

Corresponds to section eleven of the act.

§ 2242. That section twenty-two hundred and forty-two be amended to read:

Sec. 2242. The regents of the university may make up, from duplicate specimens under their control, a geological cabinet for the use of the asylum.

Omits from the beginning of the section the words "state geologist and," because the office of state geologist seems to have been abolished.

§ 2255. That section twenty-two hundred and fifty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 2255. The powers and duties of the board are as follows:

1. To make by-laws, not inconsistent with the laws of the State, for their own government, and the government of the asylum;

2. To elect the principal teacher;

3. To elect a treasurer, who must not be a member of the board of directors;

4. To elect a physician for the asylum, for the term of two years, who must not be a member of the board of directors;

5. To remove, at pleasure, any teacher or employé;

6. To fix the compensation of teachers and employés;

7. To make diligent inquiry into the departments of labor and expense, the condition of the asylum, and its prosperity;

8. To hold stated meetings at the asylum at least once in every three months;

9. To keep a record of their proceedings;

10. To report to the governor a statement of the receipts and expenditures, the condition of the asylum, the number of pupils, and of such other matters touching the duties of the board, as they deem advisable;

11. To take, receive, manage, and invest all moneys and property heretofore devised, bequeathed, or otherwise donated to said asylum in accordance with the wishes of the testator or donor, or if he has attached no condition, then to invest such moneys or the proceeds of such property for the best interest of such asylum.

Adds subdivision eleven, codifying the statute of 1878, p. 686, chap. 466.

§§ 2283-2290. That a new chapter, numbered II a, codifying the statutes of 1880, p. 13, and 1883, p. 57, to consist of sections twenty-two hundred and eighty-three to twenty-two hundred and ninety, be added, to read:

CHAPTER II a.

ORPHAN ASYLUMS.

SEC. 2283. Appropriation of aid.

2284. Times of payment of aid.

2285. Books to be kept by institutions.

2286. State board of examiners' duties.

2287. Presentation and allowance of claims.

2288. Payment of damages.

2289. Institutions and children entitled to aid.

2290. Foundling asylums.

Appropriation of aid.

Sec. 2283. There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, to each and every institution in this State conducted for the support and maintenance of minor orphans, half orphans, or abandoned children, and to each and every county, city and county, city, or town maintaining such orphans, half orphans, or abandoned children, or any or all of such classes of persons, aid as follows: For each whole orphan supported and maintained in any such institution, one hundred dollars per annum; and for each half orphan or abandoned child, seventy-five dollars per annum; but each abandoned child must have been an inmate thereof for one year prior to receiving any support as provided in this chapter.

Corresponds to section one of the original act.

Times of payment of aid.

Sec. 2284. The aid herein granted must be paid in semi-annual installments, commencing on the first Mondays in January and July of each year.

Corresponds to section two of the original act.

Books to be kept by institutions.

Sec. 2285. Every institution entitled to aid under this chapter must keep the following books, which at all times must be open to the state board of examiners, or to any person appointed by them to examine the same, or to any committee of the legislature, or to any clerk or officer thereof duly authorized to make such examination:

1. A book in which must be entered the date of admission, name, age, sex, and place of birth of each and every orphan, half orphan, and abandoned child, who is or may hereafter be received or admitted in such institution, and the date of discharge of any such child, when such discharge is made, the parentage, if known; the estate, if any, to which the child is heir, and the insurance, if any, on father's or mother's life; so far as can be ascertained, the place where either parent or both died, nativity of the parents, where married, the marriage certificate, where recorded, when they came to California or Nevada, place of residence in California, and habits of sobriety;

2. A book entitled "monthly accounts." In it must be entered, on the debtor side, all the moneys received from any and all sources segregated under the proper heads; on the credit side must be entered all disbursements made, specifying for what purposes made, and the amount entered in detail so disbursed, segregated under their proper heads;

3. A pay roll of the employés, and the amounts disbursed to each;

4. A book in which must be entered in detail the amounts paid for the specific support of every orphan, half orphan, or abandoned child, and the date of such payments;

5. A transcript of the books and pay roll, verified under oath by the manager or person in charge of such institution entitled to or claiming state aid under this chapter, must be made and forwarded to the state board of examiners at the time of making demand or presenting claim for state aid, covering the time for which such claim or demand for state aid is made;

6. A list of all the inmates other than employés or orphans supported wholly or in part by any institution presenting a claim for state aid under this chapter, must also be forwarded with such claim for aid.

Corresponds to section three of the original act.

State board of examiners' duties.

Sec. 2286. The state board of examiners is authorized, in behalf of the State, at any time to inquire, either in person or by authorized agent, into the management of any such institution; and any institution refusing, upon due demand, to permit such inquiry, must not thereafter receive any aid under this chapter. All expenses incurred in visiting said asylums must be audited and allowed by the state board of examiners out of the appropriations for the support of orphans, half orphans, and abandoned children.

Corresponds to section four of the original act.

Presentation and allowance of claims.

Sec. 2287. Every claim for aid under this chapter must be presented to and audited and allowed by the state board of examiners. Such claim must contain:

1. The name and location of the institution making the claim;
2. The name of the person or persons having charge or control thereof;
3. The number of orphans, half orphans, or abandoned children therein;
4. The date of admission and age of each;
5. The amount, if any, that the institution is receiving for the specific support of any orphan, half orphan, or abandoned child therein.

Such claim, and the statements therein contained, must be verified by the oath of the person or persons, or some of them, in charge of such institution, and the board of examiners may, in their discretion, require the production of the books of such institution in support of such claim.

Corresponds to section five of the original act.

Payment of claims.

Sec. 2288. If such claim is audited and allowed, in whole or in part, by said board, it is the duty of the controller to draw his warrant for the amount allowed in favor of such institutions, and it is the duty of the treasurer to pay the same on presentation. No money appropriated by the State to any institution claiming aid under this chapter, must be expended either in improvements or in the erection of new buildings by such institutions.

Corresponds to and consolidates sections six and eight of the original act.

Institutions, and children entitled to aid.

Sec. 2289. In order that the provisions of this chapter shall not be abused, it is hereby declared:

1. That no institution which has less than twenty inmates of either or all of the classes mentioned in section twenty-two hundred and eighty-three, must be deemed an institution for the support and maintenance of minor orphans, half orphans, or abandoned children, within the intent and meaning of this chapter;

2. That no child over the age of fourteen years shall be deemed a minor orphan, half orphan, or abandoned child within the intent and meaning of this chapter;

3. That no child for whose specific support there is paid to any such institution the sum of ten dollars or more per month shall be deemed a minor orphan, half orphan, or abandoned child within the intent and meaning of this chapter.

Corresponds to section seven of the original act.

Foundling asylums.

Sec. 2290. The provisions herein made for the support of orphans, half orphans, and abandoned children must be held to include foundlings, and other abandoned infants, who become or may have been the inmates of any regularly established foundling asylum, without regard to the time in which such infants have been inmates of such institutions, and the relief herein provided must be given for any fraction of a year, pro rata. The limitation of twenty inmates, mentioned in section twenty-two hundred and eighty-nine, must, in relation to such foundling asylum, be construed to mean not less than twenty admissions in the course of each year. For each abandoned or foundling infant who now is, or who becomes an inmate of such foundling asylum, there must be paid by the State the sum of twelve dollars and fifty cents per month from the time of its entrance therein until such infant dies or becomes adopted, or reaches the age of eighteen months, after which age such asylum must receive the same sum for such infant as is allowed for full orphans.

Codifies the statute of 1883, p. 57.

§ 2293. That section twenty-two hundred and ninety-three be amended to read:

Sec. 2293. The powers and duties of the board are as follows:

1. To make rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, for its government and for the government of the library;

2. To appoint a librarian, who must designate one of his deputies as chief deputy;

3. Whenever necessary, to authorize the librarian to appoint an additional deputy and other assistants;

4. To sell or exchange duplicate copies of books;

5. To keep in order and repair the books and property in the library;

6. To draw from the state treasury, at any time, all moneys therein belonging to the library fund;

7. To prescribe rules and regulations permitting persons other than those named in section twenty-two hundred and ninety-six, to have the use of books from the library;

8. To collect and preserve statistics and other information pertaining to libraries, which shall be available to other public libraries within the State applying for the same;

9. To make to the governor, biennially, a report of its transactions.

The amendment consists in adding subdivisions seven and eight, and adding at the end of subdivision three the words "and other assistants."

§ 2298. That section twenty-two hundred and ninety-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 2298. The controller, when notified by the state librarian that any officer or employé of the State for whom he draws a warrant for salary has failed to return any book taken by him (or for which he has given an order) within the time prescribed by the rules, or the time within which it was agreed to be returned, and which notice shall give the value thereof, must, after first informing said officer or employé of such notice, upon failure by him to return the said book, deduct from the warrant for the salary of said officer or employé, twice the value of such book, and place the amount so deducted in the state library fund. In case of the neglect or refusal on the part of any officer or employé of the State to return a book for which he has given an order or a receipt or has in his possession, the state librarian is authorized to purchase for the library a duplicate of said book, and to notify the controller of such purchase, together with the cost of the same. Upon the receipt of such notice from the librarian, the controller must deduct twice the cost of said duplicate book from the warrant for the salary of said officer or employé, and place the amount so deducted in the state library fund. The state librarian is empowered to bring suit in his official capacity for the recovery of any book or books, or for three times the value thereof, together with costs of suit, against any person having the same in his possession or being responsible therefor. In case the librarian has purchased a duplicate of any book as provided in this chapter, he is authorized to bring suit as aforesaid for three times the amount so expended for said duplicate, together with costs of suit.

Substitutes "three" for "two" in the last two sentences.

That a new chapter, numbered V, codifying the statutes of 1880, p. 49, 1897, p. 30, as amended 1899, p. 106, to consist of sections twenty-three hundred and seventeen to twenty-three hundred and seventeen k, be added, to read:

CHAPTER V.

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

SEC. 2317. The society and its board of control.

2317*a*. Qualification and terms of office of the state board.

2317*b*. Fiscal year.

2317*c*. Duties and powers of the state board.

2317*d*. Marshals and police officers.

2317*e*. Information to be collected and disseminated and reports to be made.

2317*f*. Printing of reports of transactions.

2317*g*. Reports to be made to the state board.

2317*h*. Schedules and blanks for reports of subordinate societies.

2317*i*. Proceedings for sale of property.

2317*j*. Exchange of property, when authorized.

2317*k*. Failure of title of exchanged property.

The society and its board of control.

Sec. 2317. The State Agricultural Society is a state institution, and is under the control of the state board of agriculture. That board consists of twelve members, each of whom is appointed by the governor, and holds office for the term of four years from his appointment. Vacancies occurring in the board from any cause must be filled by the governor, by appointment, for the unexpired term only.

Codifies and consolidates sections one and two of the original act.

Qualification and terms of office of the state board.

Sec. 2317a. Within ten days after their appointment, the persons so appointed must qualify, as required by the constitution, and meet at the office of the State Agricultural Society and organize by the election of one of their members as president of the board, and of said society, who holds his office for the term of one year, and until his successor is elected and qualified. The board must also elect a secretary and treasurer, not of their number, each of whom holds office at the discretion of the board.

Corresponds to section three of the original act.

Fiscal year.

Sec. 2317b. The fiscal year of the society is from the first of February to the first of February.

The first two sentences of the section are omitted, because they relate solely to the original organization of the board in 1880, and have ceased to be of any utility.

Duties and powers of the state board.

Sec. 2317c. The state board of agriculture is charged with the exclusive management and control of the State Agricultural Society as a state institution; must have possession and care of its property, and be entrusted with the direction of its entire business and financial affairs. It must define the duties of the secretary and treasurer, fix their bonds and compensation, and has power to make all necessary changes in the constitution and rules of the society to adapt the same to the provisions of this chapter and to the management of the society, its meetings and exhibitions. It must provide for an annual fair or exhibition by the society of all the industries and industrial products of the State, at the city of Sacramento; but in no event must the State be liable for any premium awarded or debt created by said board of agriculture.

Corresponds to section five of the original act.

Marshals and police officers.

Sec. 2317d. The board has power to appoint all necessary marshals and police to keep order and preserve peace at the annual fairs of the society, and the officers so appointed are vested with the same authority for the preservation of order and peace, on the grounds, and in the buildings of the society, that executive peace officers are vested with by law.

Corresponds to section six of the original act.

Information to be collected and disseminated and reports to be made.

Sec. 2317e. The board must use all suitable means to collect and disseminate all kinds of information calculated to educate and benefit the industrial classes, develop the resources, and advance the material interests of the State, and must, on or before the first day of February of each year, report to the governor a full and detailed account of its transactions, statistics, and information gained, and also a full financial statement of all funds received and disbursed. It must also make such suggestions and recommendations as experience and good policy may dictate for the improvement and advancement of the agricultural and kindred industries.

Corresponds to section seven of the original act.

Printing of reports of transactions.

Sec. 2317f. The superintendent of state printing must each year print and bind in cloth four thousand volumes of said transactions, and deliver the same to said board of agriculture for distribution and exchange. He must also do such job printing as the board may require to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

Corresponds to section eight of the original act.

Reports to be made to the state board.

Sec. 2317g. The directors or boards of managers of each county and district agricultural society or association, and of each county, district, or state horticultural and stock-breeding association or society, organized and acting under the laws of this State, must report annually, on or before the first day of April, to the state board of agriculture, the name and postoffice address of each officer of such society or association; and on or before the first day of December must report to such board of agriculture the transactions of the society, including the premiums offered, the list of stock and articles exhibited, and the premiums paid; the amount of receipts and expenditures for the year, the new industries inaugurated, and any and all facts and statistics showing the development and extent of the industries, products, and resources of the county or district embraced within the management of such society or association. The provisions of this chapter do not apply to any board of commissioners or other body organized under the laws of this State, the object of which is to promote vinicultural industries, unless such board or body voluntarily requests the privilege of making such reports as are called for by this chapter, in which case such board or body may enjoy such privileges as are accorded to other institutions devoted to agriculture.

Corresponds to section nine of the original act.

Schedules and blanks for reports of subordinate societies.

Sec. 2317h. To facilitate such reports, the state board of agriculture must prepare and furnish such societies with necessary schedules and blanks for such reports, and said state board must include such reports from societies and associations, or so much thereof as it may deem advisable, in its report to the governor.

Corresponds to section ten of the original act.

Proceedings for sale of property.

Sec. 2317i. Whenever any state agricultural society under state control desires to sell the whole or any portion of its real estate held by it in fee, or by a trustee for its use, or in which it may have any title, interest, or claim, it may file its complaint in the superior court of the county in which such lands are situated, setting forth the nature of the title under which the land to be affected by the decree of the court is held, and what claim such society or association has therein; and that it is the desire of such society or association to sell such real estate, and praying for judgment authorizing it to sell the same. In such action the trustee or trustees holding title in trust for such society or association, or their successors, or the survivor or survivors of them, or such other persons deriving title from the trustees, as the case may require, must be made parties defendant; and upon the service of the summons upon such defendants personally, or by publication, or upon their appearance, the court has full jurisdiction in the premises. Such society or association may include as defendants in such action, in addition to such persons or parties as appear of record to have, and other persons or parties who are known to have, some claim in, or lien on the lands described in the complaint; also all other persons or parties unknown, claiming any right, interest, or lien in such land, and the plaintiff may describe such defendants in the complaint as follows: "Also all other persons or parties, unknown, claiming any right, title, estate, lien, or interest in the real estate described in the complaint herein." Service of the summons may be had upon all such unknown persons or parties defendant by publication, as provided by law in case of non-resident defendants. All such unknown persons or parties, so served, have the same rights as are provided by law in case of all the other defendants upon whom service is made by publication or personally, and the action must proceed against such unknown persons or parties in the same manner as against the defendants who are named, upon whom service is made by publication, and with like effect; and any such unknown persons or parties who have or claim any right, estate, lien, or interest in the property in controversy at the time of the commencement of the action, duly served as aforesaid, are bound and concluded by the judgment in such action as effectually as if the action were brought against such defendant by his or her name, and personal service of the summons obtained, notwithstanding any such unknown person may be under legal disability. The court has full power and authority to order the property sold. In case of a sale the court must appoint a commissioner to make the sale, and must direct the manner in which the sale shall be conducted. When any property is held in trust by any such agricultural society or association, such property must be sold separately from any that may be held in fee. The commissioner must make a report of sale to the court, which, after such notice as it may deem proper, must proceed to hear the same, and if it finds that the sale was fairly conducted, and the price bid was proportionate to the value of the land sold, it must make and enter a decree confirming the sale, and directing the commissioner to execute a deed to the purchaser. The deed executed by said commissioner, under and in pursuance of the decree of the court, is valid and effectual to convey to the purchaser an absolute title in fee simple to the premises. Before the filing of any such complaint it is necessary for such agricultural society, or any person or corporation claiming the title to such land, to prepare, sign, and properly acknowledge a good and sufficient deed or deeds sufficient to vest in the State all title, interest, or claim which such society may have in and to any land to be affected by the proceedings hereby authorized to be instituted; such deed or deeds to be conditioned that the title, claim, or interest of such society embraced in such deed or deeds must be held by the State of California in trust for the benefit of such society; which said deed or deeds must be deposited with the state treasurer, to be by him held in escrow pending the final conclusion of such proceedings in such court. If the court in which such proceedings are had, orders such land to be sold as herein provided for, the state treasurer must forthwith file such deed or deeds with the county recorder of the county, or city and county, in which such land is located. If there are any liens upon or claims against the property, the court must order them paid out of the proceeds of sale. The residue remaining, after paying the costs and expenses of sale, and such liens and claims against the property as the court may order paid, must be paid into the state treasury, where it must remain until required for the purchase of other property for the use of such society or association, upon the order of the state controller; and it must be drawn therefrom only upon authorization passed by the board of directors or trustees of such society or association by and with the approval of the state board of examiners, and upon warrants duly drawn by the state controller. If, through any defect in the proceedings, or otherwise, the title should not pass, the State will indemnify the purchaser by repaying to him the amount paid by him; but such purchaser or purchasers must file their claim or claims for the repayment of such purchase price with the state board of examiners within five years after the payment of such purchase price to the state treasurer in the first instance. The surplus of proceeds of sale, paid into the state treasury, must be drawn out on certificate, signed by a majority of the directors, or governing body of such society or association, and also of the state board of examiners, stating that it is desired for the payment for other property for the use of such agricultural society; and upon receipt of such certificate, the treasurer must pay to the said directors, or governing body, or person designated by them, all or such part of such surplus as may be required for the purchase of other property. If all or any portion of the real estate, and the improvements thereon, held by any state agricultural society under state control, has been acquired in the name of such society, or of any person, association, or corporation, in trust for the use of said or any other agricultural society, originally, or at any time, by the use of money derived from taxation of the taxable property of any city and county, county, or city, then, and in that event, the surplus proceeds of any sale of such property must be invested in other real estate within the same county, or city and county, for the same purpose, and not otherwise, or elsewhere. In no event is the State liable for the payment of any expense, interest, or attorney's fees, incurred by any one, on any account, by or on behalf of any such agricultural society in their behalf; and it is incumbent on such society to make provision for the payment of the expenses, costs, attorney's fees, and any interest that may be necessary to be paid any purchaser, by reason of repayment of any purchase money on account of failure of title to such lands; such provision for the payment of expenses, attorney's fees, costs, and anticipated interest to be provided for prior to the issue of any summons, or order of publication in any action contemplated by this chapter.

Codifies section one of the statute of 1897, p. 30, as amended by the statute of 1899, p. 106.

Exchange of property, when authorized.

Sec. 2317j. If any real estate contemplated in the preceding section, purchased by the proceeds of taxes collected from the taxable property of any city and county, county, or city, has been ordered sold, as in said section provided, and has been offered for sale in the mode therein specified, for a period of sixty days or more, and not all sold for want of an adequate price, the board of directors, or governing body of such society or association, is hereby authorized and empowered to exchange all or any part of such real estate for other land suitable for the use of such society or association, within the same county, or city and county, upon such terms as may be reasonable and just, and the deed or deeds executed for the conveyance of such real estate in exchange must be executed by the board of directors of such society or association, or a majority thereof, and by the commissioner appointed in the proceedings provided for in the preceding section for the sale of such property, and such exchange of property must be approved by a judge of the superior court of the county, or city and county, in which the proceedings provided for were had.

Codifies section two of the act of 1899, p. 109.

Failure of title of exchanged property.

Sec. 2317k. In case of the exchange of any portion of such property, as provided for in section twenty-three hundred and seventeenj, the real estate received in such exchange must be subject to the indemnification of any person who receives any of the said real estate of said agricultural society in such exchange, in case of any defect in the proceedings, or otherwise, whereby the title to such real estate of such society should not pass, and in such case of exchange the State of California is absolved from any obligation to pay any part of any purchase price or value of exchanged property. No claims for failure of title for any reason must be entertained after five years from the date of such exchange.

Codifies section three of the act of 1899, p. 109.

§§ 2318-2318*j*. That a new chapter, numbered VI, codifying the statute of 1897, p. 304, to consist of sections twenty-three hundred and eighteen to twenty-three hundred and eighteen j, be added, to read:

CHAPTER VI.

DISTRICT AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATIONS.

Sec. 2318. Classification of districts.

2318*a*. Districts consisting of two or more counties.

2318*b*. Formation and powers of new associations.

2318*c*. Officers of associations.

2318*d*. Appointment of district boards for new districts.

2318*e*. Organization of new districts. Election of officers.

2318*f*. Classification of officers of new associations. Fiscal year.

2318*g*. Powers and duties of associations.

2318*h*. Reports of district associations and their secretary.

2318*i*. Sales of property of district associations.

2318*j*. Certificates of stock, when may be issued.

Classification of districts.

Sec. 2318. The several counties of this State are divided and classified into agricultural districts, and numbered as follows, to wit: The counties of San Francisco and Alameda constitute district No. 1; the county of San Joaquin, district No. 2; the county of Butte, district No. 3; the counties of Sonoma and Marin, district No. 4; the counties of San Mateo and Santa Clara, district No. 5; the county of Los Angeles, district No. 6; the county of Monterey, district No. 7; the county of El Dorado, district No. 8; the county of Humboldt, district No. 9; the county of Siskiyou, district No. 10; the counties of Plumas and Sierra, district No. 11; the county of Lake, district No. 12; the counties of Sutter and Yuba, district No. 13; the county of Santa Cruz, district No. 14; the county of Kern, district No. 15; the county of San Luis Obispo, district No. 16; the county of Nevada, district No. 17; the counties of Mono, Inyo, and Alpine, district No. 18; all that portion of Santa Barbara county lying east of the Gaviota and south of the Santa Ynez mountains constitutes agricultural district No. 19; the county of Placer, district No. 20; the counties of Fresno and Madera, district No. 21; the county of San Diego, district No. 22; the county of Contra Costa, district No. 23; the counties of Tulare and Kings, district No. 24; the county of Napa, district No. 25; the county of Amador, district No. 26; the counties of Shasta and Trinity, district No. 27; the counties of San Bernardino and Riverside, district No. 28; the county of Tuolumne, district No. 29; the county of Tehama, district No. 30; the county of Ventura, district No. 31; the county of Orange, district No. 32; the county of San Benito, district No. 33; the county of Modoc, district No. 34; the counties of Merced and Mariposa, district No. 35; the county of Solano, district No. 36; all that portion of Santa Barbara county not included in agricultural district No. 19 constitutes agricultural district No. 37; the county of Stanislaus, district No. 38; the county of Calaveras, district No. 39; the counties of Yolo and Sacramento, district No. 40; the county of Del Norte, district No. 41; the county of Glenn, district No. 42; the county of Lassen, district No. 43; the county of Colusa, district No. 44; the county of Mendocino, district No. 45.

Codifies section one as amended by the statute of 1901, p. 304, except that the provision relating to the years in which fairs must be held in Plumas and Sierra counties is transferred to section twenty-three hundred and eighteen g.

Districts consisting of two or more counties.

Sec. 2318a. Where two or more counties constitute an agricultural district, each county must be represented in the district board of directors by at least two resident citizens, as directors in said board. When, by reason of the formation of a new agricultural district, a director of one district becomes a resident of another, his term of office as director will expire in sixty days after the formation of the new agricultural district. Whenever the board of directors of two or more agricultural districts, by a majority vote of each board, elect to unite, the said several districts may associate as one district, and hold a fair in any of said districts, and may for such purpose draw the appropriation for all of said districts, and expend the same for said fair.

Corresponds to section two of the original act.

Formation of new associations, and their powers.

Sec. 2318b. Any fifty or more persons, representing a majority of the counties within any one of the districts above constituted, may form an association, for the improvement of the material industries within such district, and when so formed, the association shall be known and designated by the name of ——— agricultural association, and by such name and style shall have perpetual succession, and power and authority to contract and be contracted with, to sue and be sued, to have and use a common seal, to purchase, hold, and lease real estate, with such buildings and improvements as may be erected thereon, and may sell, lease, and dispose of the same at pleasure. Such real estate, except as hereinafter provided, must be used by such association for the purpose of holding exhibitions of horses, cattle, and other stock, and of the agricultural, horticultural, viticultural, mechanical, manufacturing, and domestic products of such district, with a view to the improvement of all industries in the same. But the said association has the power, and is hereby authorized, to sell and convey any portion of the real estate held by it, by whatever title derived, which may not be necessary for the permanent use of said association for the purposes aforesaid.

Corresponds to section three of the original act.

Officers of associations.

Sec. 2318c. The officers of such association must consist of eight directors, who constitute a district board of agriculture for district number ———; a president, who must be one of their number, and a secretary and treasurer, not of their number.

Corresponds to section four of the original act.

Appointment of district boards for new districts.

Sec. 2318d. Within ten days after the formation of any new agricultural association within any of the districts above constituted in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, and notice of such formation to the governor, the governor must appoint eight resident citizens of such district as members of a district board of agriculture for said district, whose term of office is four years, except as hereinafter provided.

Corresponds to section five of the original act.

Organization of new districts. Election of officers.

Sec. 2318e. Within ten days after their appointment, the persons so appointed must qualify as required by the constitution, and must meet at a place within the district and organize by the election of one of their number as president of the board and association, who must hold his office of president one year, and until his successor is elected; they must also elect a secretary and treasurer.

Corresponds to section six of the original act.

Classification of officers of new associations. Fiscal year.

Sec. 2318f. At the same meeting the members of the board must, by lot or otherwise, classify themselves into four classes of two members each. The term of office of the first class expires at the end of the first fiscal year; of the second class, of the second fiscal year; of the third class, of the third fiscal year; and of the fourth class at the end of the full term of four years. The fiscal year extends from December first to the first of December following. All officers of agricultural districts now in office hold their office for the term for which they were appointed, except in the cases specified in section twenty-three hundred and eighteen a. All agricultural associations heretofore established are continued in force, and, so far as applicable, made agricultural associations under this chapter.

Corresponds to section seven of the original act, omitting the classification of officers which has heretofore been effected.

Powers and duties of associations.

Sec. 2318g. Each association so formed and organized is hereby declared, and must be recognized, a state institution, and the board so appointed and qualified has the exclusive control and management of such institution, for and in the name of the State, and must have possession and care of all the property of the association, and fix the terms of office and the bonds of the secretary and treasurer, and determine their salaries and duties. It has the power to make all necessary by-laws, rules, and regulations, for the government of the association and the management of its prudential and financial affairs. It must provide for an annual fair or exhibition by the association of all the industries and industrial products in the district, at such time and place as it deems advisable, except that in Sierra county the fairs must be held in the even, and in Plumas county in the odd-numbered years. The State is, in no event, liable for any premium offered or award made, or for any debt contracted by any district board of agriculture, or agricultural association. Nothing in this section must be so construed as in any way to affect or modify any of the provisions of section twenty-three hundred and eighteen j.

Corresponds to section eight of the original act.

Reports of district associations and their secretaries.

Sec. 2318h. When any district board of agriculture is organized and classified as hereinbefore provided for, its secretary must report such classification and organization to the state board of agriculture and to the governor. He must also report to the governor any vacancies that may occur in such board, who must thereupon fill it for the unexpired term. Each district association must report to the state board of agriculture, on or before the first day of January of each year, a detailed statement, together with a complete statistical review of the agricultural resources of each county in the district for the year ending December thirty-first; such review to contain the acreage and yield of all agricultural products for the year previous, and such other data as may be asked for by the state board of agriculture, in the furtherance of its duties.

Corresponds to section nine of the original act, omitting the provisions respecting the classification of officers.

Sales of property of associations.

Sec. 2318i. Whenever any such association desires to sell any portion of its real estate not needed for the permanent use of the association, for the purposes specified in section twenty-three hundred and eighteen b, and such real estate be held by such association under a deed or deeds of trust conveying the said lands in trust, to be held in perpetuity as a place for holding agricultural exhibitions or fairs, or for other permanent purposes of such association, such association may file its complaint in the superior court of the county in which such lands are situated, setting forth the nature of the title under which they are held, and that it is the desire of the said association to sell and dispose of such real estate, and praying for judgment authorizing it to sell and convey the same. In such action the trustee or trustees in such deed or deeds, or the survivor or survivors of them, or the heirs, or administrators, or executors of deceased trustees, as the case may require, must be made parties defendant; and upon service of the summons upon such defendants, personally or by publication, or upon their appearance, the court has full jurisdiction in the premises, and the deed executed under and in pursuance of the judgment of the court is valid and effectual to convey to the purchaser the title of said association, and that of all of its predecessors in title made parties to the suit.

Corresponds to section ten of the original act.

Certificates of stock, when may be issued.

Sec. 2318j. Every such association which has heretofore issued certificates of the capital stock of such association, and which certificates have been accepted by the members of such association in lieu of certificates of membership therein, may elect to have a capital stock, and may issue certificates of stock therefor, in the same manner and with like effect as corporations formed under the provision of chapter one, article one, of the Civil Code. In order to effect such change, a meeting of the holders of such alleged certificates of capital stock may be called, at which the holders of such alleged stock are entitled to one vote for each share of such stock appearing in their names, respectively, upon the books of such association. Upon the receipt of a written application, signed by the holders of one fourth of the shares of such alleged capital stock of such association, requesting him to do so, the secretary of such association must give notice of the time and place of holding such meeting, by publication in some newspaper printed and published in such county, or city and county, in which the principal place of business of such association is located, at least once a week for three successive weeks next prior to the holding thereof. Such notice must state that the object of the meeting is, (1) to determine whether such corporation elects to have a capital stock as provided by this chapter; (2) the amount of such capital stock, and (3) the number of shares into which the same shall be divided. At such meeting, should the holders of a majority of the shares of such alleged capital stock vote in favor of having a capital stock, and fix the amount thereof, and the number of shares into which it must be divided, then such corporation must issue certificates of capital stock to the amount fixed at such meeting, divided into the number of shares provided by said meeting, to the holders of such alleged capital stock, in the same proportion as such alleged stock appears in the names of such holders, respectively, upon the books of such association. A copy of the notice calling such meeting, the affidavit of publication thereof, the proceedings of such meeting, the amount of capital stock voted, number of shares into which the capital stock was divided, and to whom assigned, duly certified by the chairman of such meeting, and the secretary of such association, under the seal thereof, must be filed with the secretary of state and the clerk of the county where such association has its principal place of business.

Thereafter such association is possessed of all rights and powers, and is subject to all the obligations and restrictions, as if it had been originally created a corporation with a capital stock, including the right to elect a board of directors authorized to exercise such control of all the property of such association, as provided in chapters one, two, three, and four of the Civil Code. Such association has no authority to sell any portion of the real estate owned and held by it, by whatever title derived, which may be necessary for the permanent use of such association, for the purposes aforesaid. In the event that such association, after the issuance of a capital stock as aforesaid, is offered aid at any time from the State by appropriation, for the purpose of holding an annual district fair, and such association, by a vote of the board of directors, elected as hereinafter provided, adopts a resolution accepting such appropriation, then and in that event said annual fair must be held under the control and management of the district board of agriculture of such district; but said district board of agriculture has no other authority, control, or management of or over the property of such association, and the authority which it may exercise over said property continues only during the time occupied in holding the said district fair, which time must not extend over more than one week annually. When any corporation has elected to issue capital stock under this chapter, the president thereof must, within ten days after filing with the secretary of state the certificate hereinbefore provided, call a meeting of the stockholders of such corporation for the purpose of electing a board of directors of such corporation, which board of directors must hold their office until their successors are elected and qualified, and thereafter a board of directors of such corporation must be elected annually, on the day of the month upon which the election of said first board of directors elected as aforesaid is held, unless a different day for holding such election is fixed by the board of directors of such corporation, by its by-laws, properly adopted.

Corresponds to section eleven of the original act.

§§ 2319-2319*l*. That a new chapter, numbered VII, codifying the statute of 1883, p. 289, and its amendments, to consist of sections twenty-three hundred and nineteen to twenty-three hundred and nineteen l, be added, to read:

CHAPTER VII.

STATE BOARD OF HORTICULTURE.

- SEC. 2319. State board of horticulture. Division of State into districts.
- 2319a. Members of the board, their qualifications and terms of office.
 - 2319b. Officers and their selection.
 - 2319c. Powers and duties of the board.
 - 2319d. Regulation for inspection and disinfection.
 - 2319e. Clerk of the publishing and quarantine bureau.
 - 2319f. Quarantine guardians and their deputies.
 - 2319g. Secretary and clerk.
 - 2319h. Reports of the board.
 - 2319i. Treasurer's duties.
 - 2319j. The executive committee. Expenses.
 - 2319k. Reports of county boards.
 - 2319l. Experiments, and the expenses thereof.

State board of horticulture. Division of State into districts.

Sec. 2319. The state board of horticulture consists of nine members appointed by the governor: two from the state at large and one from each of the seven horticultural districts, which are constituted as follows:

First—The Sonoma district includes the counties of Sonoma, Marin, Lake, Mendocino, Humboldt, Del Norte, Trinity, and Siskiyou;

Second—The Napa district includes the counties of Napa, Solano, and Contra Costa;

Third—The San Francisco district includes the city and county of San Francisco, and the counties of San Mateo, Alameda, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito, and Monterey;

Fourth—The Los Angeles district includes the counties of Los Angeles, Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, San Bernardino, San Diego, Riverside, and Orange;

Fifth—The Sacramento district includes the counties of Sacramento, Yolo, Sutter, Colusa, Butte, Tehama, Shasta, and Glenn;

Sixth—The San Joaquin district includes the counties of San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Merced, Fresno, Tulare, Kern, Madera, and Kings;

Seventh—The El Dorado district includes the counties of El Dorado, Amador, Calaveras, Tuolumne, Mariposa, Placer, Nevada, Yuba, Sierra, Plumas, Lassen, Modoc, Alpine, Mono, and Inyo.

Corresponds to section one of the original act.

Members of the board, their qualifications and terms of office.

Sec. 2319a. The members appointed from each district must be residents thereof, and be specially qualified by practical experience and study in connection with the industries dependent upon horticulture. Each holds office for the term of four years. In the event of a vacancy it must be filled by the governor for the unexpired portion of the term only.

Corresponds to section two of the original act.

Officers and their selection.

Sec. 2319b. The board must biennially elect a president, a vice-president, a chairman of the finance committee, and appoint from without its own number a secretary, who must be ex officio horticultural officer, and elect of its own number a treasurer, who must give a bond to the State, with sureties approved by the board, in the sum of ten thousand dollars, for the faithful discharge of his duties. Vacancies occurring in any office must be filled by appointment made by the president of the board with the consent of the executive committee, until the next meeting of the board.

Corresponds to section three as amended by the statute of 1889, p. 89, and section fifteen as added by the same statute.

Powers and duties of the board.

Sec. 2319c. The board may receive, manage, use, and hold donations and bequests for promoting the objects of its formation. It must meet semi-annually, and as much oftener, and at such places, as it may deem expedient, to consult and adopt such measures as may best promote the horticultural industries of the State. It may, but without expense to the State, select and appoint competent and qualified persons to lecture in each of the horticultural districts named in section twenty-three hundred and nineteen, for the purpose of illustrating practical horticultural topics and imparting instruction in the methods of culture, pruning, fertilizing, and also in the best methods of treating the diseases of fruit and fruit trees, cleansing orchards, and exterminating insect pests. The office of the board must be kept open to the public, subject to the rules of the board, every day, excepting legal holidays, and must be in charge of the secretary during the absence of the board.

Corresponds to section four of the original act.

Regulation for inspection and disinfection.

Sec. 2319d. For the purpose of preventing the spread of contagious diseases among fruit and fruit trees, and for the prevention, treatment, cure, and extirpation of fruit pests and the diseases of fruit and fruit trees, and for the disinfection of grafts, scions, orchard débris, empty fruit boxes and packages, and other suspected material or transportable articles, dangerous to orchards, fruit, and fruit trees, said board must make regulations for the inspection and disinfection thereof, which regulations must be circulated in printed form by the board among the fruit-growers and fruit-dealers of the State, be published at least twenty days in two daily newspapers of general circulation in the State not of the same city or county, and posted in three conspicuous places in each county in the State, one of which must be at the county court-house thereof. Such regulations when so posted must be held to impart notice of their contents to all persons within this State, and are binding upon all persons.

Corresponds to section five of the original act.

Clerk of the publishing and quarantine bureau.

Sec. 2319e. Said board must appoint from without their number a competent person, especially qualified for the duties of his office, to be known as clerk of the publishing and quarantine bureau of the state board of horticulture, to hold office at the pleasure of the board, who must be qualified, by experience and education as a compiler, to correct reports and essays, and to present in a logical order all the information to be published. He must give his whole time to such work, and such other duties as may be required of him by the board and by reason of his official position, and has power to enforce all rules and regulations regarding the spread of insect pests, and quarantining districts or nurseries found to be infected. He must be paid for his services as clerk of the publishing and quarantine bureau of the state board of horticulture one hundred and seventy-five dollars per month, to be paid as other state officers.

Corresponds to section six as amended by the statute of 1889, p. 90.

Quarantine guardians and their deputies.

Sec. 2319f. The said board, and in case of necessity during the recess of the board, the said clerk of the publishing and quarantine bureau, may appoint such quarantine guardians as may be needed to carry out the provisions of this chapter, whose duties it must be to see that the regulations of the board, and the instructions of the clerk of the publishing and quarantine bureau, are enforced and carried out; said clerk may appoint, in case of emergency, a deputy, who has the same power as his own, whose salary must not exceed three dollars per day for each day's services performed, said services to be paid for by the state board of horticulture. The said quarantine guardians must report to said clerk, or to the state board, all infractions or violations of said directions, regulations, and of the law in regard to quarantine, disinfection, and destruction of insect and other pests injurious to fruit, fruit trees, or vines, and precautions against the spreading of all the aforesaid named pests and diseases. The salary of quarantine guardian must not exceed three dollars per day, and must be paid by the owners of orchards and other places and localities under quarantine regulations; and they may maintain an action therefor before any justice of the peace in any township in which any quarantine locality is wholly or in part situated, but in no case must they have any claim upon the State for such services.

Corresponds to section seven as amended by the statute of 1889, p. 90.

Secretary and clerk.

Sec. 2319g. It is the duty of the secretary to attend all meetings of the board and of the executive committee, and to preserve records of its proceedings and correspondence; to collect books, pamphlets, and periodicals, and other documents containing information relating to horticulture, and to preserve the same; to collect statistics and other information showing the actual condition and progress of horticulture in this State and elsewhere; to correspond with agricultural and horticultural societies, colleges, schools of agriculture and horticulture, and other persons and bodies, as he may be directed by the board; and prepare, as required by the board, reports for publication. He must appoint, subject to the approval of the board, a competent person as clerk, and he must be held responsible for the acts of such clerk. He must be paid for his services as such secretary and ex officio horticultural officer a salary of one hundred and seventy-five dollars per month. His clerk must be paid a salary (as such clerk) of fifty dollars per month, each to be paid as other state officers.

Corresponds to section eight as amended by the statute of 1889, p. 90.

Reports of the board.

Sec. 2319h. The board must annually, in the month of January, report to the legislature a statement of its doings, with a copy of the treasurer's account for the year preceding, and abstracts of the reports of the inspector of fruit pests and secretary.

Corresponds to section ten as amended 1885, p. 4, except that "biennially" is stricken out and "annually" inserted, to conform to section sixteen as added by the statute of 1889, p. 71.

Treasurer's duties.

Sec. 2319i. The treasurer must receive all moneys belonging to the board, and pay out the same only for bills approved by the chairman of the finance committee, and must annually render a detailed account to the board.

Corresponds to section eleven as amended by the statute of 1885, p. 4.

The executive committee. Expenses.

Sec. 2319j. The president (and in his absence the vice-president) and the two commissioners for the State at large, constitute the executive committee; said committee has charge of the management of the affairs of the board while the board is not in session. The members of such committee must receive their actual traveling expenses in attending quarterly meetings of the executive committee. The other members of the board must receive their actual traveling expenses (only) in attending semi-annual meetings of the board.

Corresponds to section fourteen as added by the statute of 1889, p. 91.

Reports of county boards.

Sec. 2319k. The county boards of horticulture must make quarterly reports in writing to the state board of the condition of fruit interests in their several districts, what is being done to eradicate insect pests, also as to disinfecting, and as to quarantine against new insects, and as to carrying out of all laws relative to the greatest good of the fruit interest. Said board must publish such reports in bulletin form, or may incorporate so much of the same in their annual reports as may be of general interest.

Corresponds to section seventeen as added by the statute of 1889, p. 91.

Experiments, and the expenses thereof.

Sec. 2319l. The board must determine the expenditures necessary to be made in experiments in the different districts. On application of one or more of the fruit-growers in any of such districts, it must select some person to make such experiments, and must pay the expenses thereof. The board may allow traveling expenses, not exceeding one thousand dollars for any one year, when it or the executive committee deems it necessary to send either the clerk of the bureau or the secretary to direct and supervise such experiments.

Corresponds to section eighteen as added by the statute of 1889, p. 92.

§§ 2320-2320e. That a new chapter, numbered VIII, codifying the statute of 1897, p. 244, to consist of sections twenty-three hundred and twenty to twenty-three hundred and twenty e, be added, to read:

CHAPTER VIII.

BOARDS OF HORTICULTURAL COMMISSIONERS.

SEC. 2320. Appointment of board by supervisors.

2320a. Inspection of places infected by fruit pests, and proceedings to abate the nuisance created thereby.

2320b. Local districts and inspectors. Quarantine guardians.

2320c. Reports of county boards.

2320d. Salaries and expenses.

2320e. Records and reports of county boards.

Appointment of board by supervisors.

Sec. 2320. Whenever a petition is presented to the board of supervisors of any county, signed by twenty-five or more persons, each of whom is a resident freeholder and possessor of an orchard, stating that certain or all orchards, or nurseries, or trees of any variety, are infested with scale insects of any kind, injurious to fruit, fruit trees, and vines, codling-moth, or other insects that are destructive to trees, and praying that a commission be appointed by them, whose duty it must be to supervise the destruction of said scale insects as herein provided, the board of supervisors must, within twenty days thereafter, appoint a board of horticultural commissioners, consisting of three members, who must be qualified for the duties of horticultural commissioner. Upon the petition of twenty-five resident freeholders and possessors of an orchard, the board of supervisors may remove any of said commissioners for cause, after a hearing of the petition.

Corresponds to section one of the act.

Inspection of places infected by fruit pests, and proceedings to abate the nuisance created thereby.

Sec. 2320a. It is the duty of the county board of horticultural commissioners in each county, whenever it deems it necessary, to cause an inspection to be made of any orchard or nursery, or trees, plants, vegetables, vines, or fruits, or any fruit-packing house, storeroom, salesroom, or any other place or articles in their jurisdiction, and if found infested with scale insects, or codling-moth, or other pests injurious to fruit, plants, vegetables, trees, or vines, or with their eggs or larvæ, they must notify the owner or owners, or person or persons in charge or in possession of the said places, or orchards or nurseries, or trees, plants, vegetables, vines, or fruits, or articles as aforesaid, that the same are infested with said insects or other pests, or any of them, or their eggs or larvæ, and they must require such person or persons to eradicate or destroy the said insects, or other pests, or their eggs or larvæ, within a certain time to be specified. Such notices may be served upon the person or persons, or either of them, owning or having charge, or having possession of such infested place or orchard, or nursery, or trees, plants, vegetables, vines, or fruits, or articles as aforesaid, by any commissioner, or by any person deputed by the said commissioners for that purpose, or they may be served in the same manner as a summons in a civil action. Any and all such places or orchards, or nurseries, or trees, plants, shrubs, vegetables, vines, fruits, or articles thus infested, are hereby adjudged and declared to be a public nuisance; and whenever any such nuisance exists at any place within their jurisdiction, or on the property of any non-resident, or on any property the owner or owners of which cannot be found by the county board of horticultural commissioners, after diligent search, within the county, or on the property of any owner or owners upon which notice aforesaid has been served, and who refuse or neglect to abate the same within the time specified, it is the duty of the county board of horticultural commissioners to cause such nuisance to be at once abated, by eradicating or destroying said insects, or other pests, or their eggs or larvæ. The expense thereof is a county charge, and the board of supervisors must allow and pay the same out of the general fund of the county. Any sum so paid becomes a lien on the property and premises from which said nuisance has been removed or abated in pursuance of this chapter, and may be recovered by an action against such property and premises. A notice of such lien must be filed and recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the said property and premises are situated, within thirty days after the right to the said lien has accrued. An action to foreclose such lien must be commenced within ninety days after the filing and recording of such notice of lien, which action must be brought in the proper court by the district attorney of the county, in the name and for the benefit of the county making such payment or payments, and when the property is sold, enough of the proceeds must be paid into the county treasury of such county to satisfy the lien and costs; and the overplus, if any there be, must be paid to the owner of the property, if he is known, and if not, into the court for his use when ascertained. The county board of horticultural commissioners is hereby vested with power to cause any and all such nuisances to be at once abated in a summary manner.

Corresponds to section two of the act.

Local districts and inspectors. Quarantine guardians.

Sec. 2320b. Said county boards of horticultural commissioners have power to divide the county into districts, and to appoint a local inspector, to hold office at the pleasure of the commissioners, for each of said districts. The state board of horticulture may issue commissions as quarantine guardians to the members of said county board of horticultural commissioners and to the local inspectors thereof. The said quarantine guardians, local inspectors, or members of said county boards of horticultural commissioners, have full authority to enter into any orchard, nursery, place or places where trees or plants are kept and offered for sale or otherwise, or any house, storeroom, salesroom, depot, or any other such place in their jurisdiction, to inspect the same, or any part thereof.

Corresponds to section three of the act.

Reports of county boards.

Sec. 2320c. It is the duty of said county board of horticultural commissioners to keep a record of its official doings, and to make a report to the state board of horticulture, on or before the first day of October of each year, of the condition of the fruit interests in their several districts, what is being done to eradicate insect pests, also as to disinfecting, and as to quarantine against insect pests and diseases, and as to carrying out all laws relative to the greatest good of the fruit interest. Such board may publish such reports in bulletin form, or may incorporate so much of the same in its annual reports as may be of general interest.

Corresponds to section four of the act.

Salaries and expenses.

Sec. 2320d. The salary of all inspectors working under the county board of horticultural commissioners is two dollars and fifty cents per day. In the case of the commissioners themselves, their compensation is four dollars per day, when actually engaged in the performance of their duties, and itemized necessary traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of their regular duties as prescribed in this chapter.

Corresponds to section five of the act.

Records and reports of county boards.

Sec. 2320*e*. It is the duty of the county board of horticultural commissioners to keep a record of its official doings, and make a monthly report to the board of supervisors; and the board of supervisors may withhold warrants for salaries of said members and inspectors thereof until such time as such report is made.

Corresponds to section six of the act.

§§ 2321–2323*i*. That a new chapter, numbered V, codifying the statutes of 1889, pp. 228, 404; 1893, p. 54; 1897, pp. 99, 213; 1901, pp. 82, 515, to consist of sections twenty-three hundred and twenty-one to twenty-three hundred and twenty-three i, be added, to read:

 2323g. Clerk's duties respecting the rock crushing plant.
 2323h. Drawing of moneys for rock crushing plant.
 2321i. Rebuilding or repairing rock crushing plant.

Number and organization of prisons.

Sec. 2321. There are in this State two state prisons, one of which must be known as the State Prison at San Quentin, and the other as the State Prison at Folsom. All the offices and accounts of the two prisons must be kept separate and apart from each other, and each prison must have a similar official staff and be similarly organized.

Corresponds to section one of the original act.

Directors and their appointment and qualification.

Sec. 2321a. The state prisons are under the management of five directors, who are appointed by the governor as vacancies occur in the board, by and under the advice of the senate, and each holds his office for the term of ten years from and after his appointment, and until his successor is appointed and qualifies. In case of the death or resignation of a director, his successor must be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice of the senate, to fill the unexpired term. Each director must, within ten days after receiving written notice of his appointment, subscribe an oath of office, which must be filed with the secretary of state.

Corresponds to section two of the original act.

The president and his duties.

Sec. 2321b. The board must annually elect one of its number president. He must preside at the meetings of the board, and perform such other duties as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the rules and regulations for the government of the board.

Corresponds to section three of the original act.

Quorum.

Sec. 2321c. Three members of the board constitute a quorum for the transaction of all business, but no order is valid unless three or more members concur therein.

Corresponds to section four of the original act.

Duties of the directors.

Sec. 2321d. The duties of the directors are:

1. To determine the necessary officers and employés of the prisons other than those of wardens and clerks, and specify their duties and fix their salaries;

2. To prescribe rules and regulations, not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the State, for the government of the prisons, and to revise and change the same from time to time as circumstances may require;

3. To board and lodge the officers and employés, or allow them a money commutation in lieu thereof;

4. To, by at least three of their number, visit the prisons once in each month, and oftener, if necessary, at such times as they may select;

5. To audit all claims for supplies, services, and expenses of officers and employés, and all other demands against the prisons;

6. To enter, or cause to be entered, on their journal, by the clerks, all official acts, and to sign such journal entries by at least three of their members;

7. To report to the governor; on or before the first day of December of each year, the condition of the prisons, together with a detailed statement of receipts and expenditures, and such suggestions concerning the prisoners as appear to be necessary and expedient, and also the names of any and all persons confined in such prisons who, in their judgment, ought to be pardoned and set at liberty on account of good conduct, unusual term of sentence, or any other cause which, in their opinion, entitles the prisoner to pardon;

8. To appoint a warden and clerk for each prison, to hold office for four years after their respective appointments.

This section unites sections five and twenty-nine, and also includes those parts of sections six and eight authorizing the directors to appoint a clerk and warden. It omits the provision of section five that the warden may make temporary rules in cases of emergency, because that provision should be placed in the section treating of the powers of wardens. It also omits the provision authorizing the maintenance of an office in San Francisco, and the employment of a secretary therefor, on the ground that such provision has been found unnecessary.

Powers of the directors.

Sec. 2321e. The board of directors has power:

1. To contract for a supply of gas and water for the prisons, upon such terms as the board deems for the best interests of the State, or, at its option, to manufacture gas or furnish water;
2. To erect and construct electrical apparatus or other illuminating works in its discretion, with or without contract therefor, on such terms as it deems just;
3. To erect any building or other structure deemed necessary by it, or to alter or improve the same, and to pay therefor from the funds appropriated for the use and support of the prisons, or from the earnings thereof, without advertising or contracting therefor; and no building or structure, the cost of which will exceed five thousand dollars, must be erected or constructed without first obtaining the consent of the governor, secretary, and treasurer of state, or a majority thereof;
4. To give, for meritorious service, to any convict discharged or about to be discharged, a sum, in addition to that already allowed, not to exceed ten dollars;
5. When any of the shops or buildings in which convicts are employed is destroyed in any way, or injured by fire or otherwise, to rebuild or repair the same immediately, by and with the advice or consent of the governor, the attorney-general, and the secretary of state, the expense thereof to be paid out of any funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated;
6. To establish rules and regulations under which any prisoner who has not previously been convicted of a felony and served a term in a penal institution, and who has served one calendar year of the term for which he was sentenced, may be allowed to go upon parole outside of the buildings and inclosures, but to remain, while on parole, in legal custody and under the control of the board of directors and subject at any time to be taken back within the inclosure of the prison; and also to make and enforce such rules and regulations and retake and imprison any convict so upon parole, and a written order certified by the president of the board is a sufficient warrant for all officers named therein to take and return to actual custody any conditionally released or paroled prisoner; but no prisoner imprisoned under a sentence for life must be paroled until he has served at least seven calendar years. It is the duty of all chiefs of police, marshals of cities and villages, sheriffs of counties, and all police, prison, and peace officers and constables, to execute any such order in like manner as ordinary criminal process.

Consists of the first sentence of section one of the act of 1901, p. 82, and unites sections twenty-two and twenty-eight of the original act.

Qualification of wardens.

Sec. 2321*f*. Each warden appointed by the board must, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, take and subscribe an oath or affirmation that he will faithfully discharge the duties of his office as prescribed by law and the rules and regulations of the board of directors, and give a bond to the State in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, with two or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the board of directors and by the attorney-general, conditioned for the faithful performance of such duties.

Corresponds to section six of the original act, except that it omits a specification of the term of office, that having been provided for in subdivision eight of section twenty-three hundred and twenty-one d.

Duties of warden.

Sec. 2321*g*. The duties of each warden are:

1. To reside at the state prison to which he is assigned, in such house provided and furnished at the expense of the State, as may be ordered by the board of directors;

2. To fill all subordinate positions created by the order of the board of directors by the appointment of suitable persons thereto;

3. Under the order and direction and in the name of the board, to prosecute all suits necessary to protect the rights of the State in matters or property connected with the prisons or their management;

4. To supervise the government, discipline, and police of the prison, and enforce all orders and regulations of the board in respect thereto;

5. To keep a registry of convicts, in which must be entered the name of each convict, the crime of which he is convicted, the period of his sentence, from what county and by what court sentenced, his nativity, to what degree educated, at what institution and by what system, an accurate description of his person, and whether he has been previously confined in a state prison of this or any other State, and if so, when and how discharged.

6. To report to the governor, before the twentieth of each month, the names of all prisoners whose terms are about to expire, giving in such report the terms of their sentences, the date of imprisonment, the amount of total credits to the date of such report, and the date when their sentences will expire by limitation of service;

7. To make temporary rules in a case of emergency, to remain in force until the next meeting of the board;

8. To receive and receipt for all revenues of the prison, unless in this chapter otherwise provided, and to cause the moneys so received to be properly entered on the books by the clerks;

9. To keep a correct account of all moneys and valuables upon each prisoner when delivered at the prison, and to pay the amount, or the proceeds thereof, and return the same to him when discharged, or to his legal representative in case of his death, and in the event of the death of such convict without being released and of no legal representative demanding such property within five years, then to pay the same to the state prison fund;

10. To pay all moneys received or collected by him into the state treasury, to the credit of a fund to be known as the state prison fund, at least as often as once each month, except so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the expenses and money allowed discharged prisoners and the current expenses of maintaining and operating the prisons and the expenses of their officers and employés, and to require vouchers for all moneys by him expended, and safely keep the same on file in his office in the prison;

11. Within thirty days prior to the expiration of the sentence of any convict who has served a prior term in the state prison or house of correction, to forward to each sheriff and chief of police of the State a photograph of such convict, together with a minute description of his person and marks of identification, and a statement of the nature of the crime for which he is imprisoned;

12. To perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the board.

Consolidates present sections six and sixteen and subdivision three of section nineteen, and the provision respecting temporary rules, and section five of the original act, and the statute of 1897, p. 213, chap. 98.

Salary of wardens.

Sec. 2321h. The salary of each warden may be fixed, at the discretion of the board of directors, at not less than twenty-

- four hundred dollars nor more than three thousand dollars per annum.

Corresponds to section nine of the original act.

Clerks and their official oaths and bonds.

Sec. 2321i. Each clerk appointed by the board must take an oath of office and enter into a bond to the State with sureties, to be approved by the board, in the sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned that he will faithfully discharge the duties required of him.

Corresponds to section eight of the original act, omitting the term of office, that having been provided for in subdivision eight of section twenty-three hundred and twenty-one d.

Duties of clerks.

Sec. 2321j. Each clerk must keep the accounts of the prison to which he is appointed, in such manner as to exhibit clearly all its financial transactions, and perform such other duties as may, from time to time, be required of him by the board.

Corresponds to section nine of the original act.

Prohibitions against certain appointments.

Sec. 2321k. No person must be appointed to any office by the wardens or be employed in the prisons, in behalf of the State, who is a contractor or agent, or who is interested directly or indirectly in any business carried on therein; nor must any officer or employé of the prison be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract or purchase made, or authorized to be made, by any one for or on behalf of the prisons. No male person who is not a qualified elector of the State must be appointed by the wardens to any office in or about the prisons, nor must any one be appointed or employed who is in the habit of the intemperate use of liquors or other intoxicants, and a single act of such use justifies his discharge or removal, and it is the duty of the warden to discharge him.

Consolidates sections ten and twenty-five, and inserts the additional words "or other intoxicants," because it is now well known that intoxicants are by no means restricted to liquors.

Removal of wardens, clerks, and other officers and employés.

Sec. 2321l. Wardens and clerks may be removed by the board at any time for misconduct, incompetency, or neglect of duty. All other officers are employed and removable at the pleasure of the wardens.

Corresponds to section eleven of the original act.

Salaries and compensation.

Sec. 2321*m*. The salaries or compensation of all officers and employés not herein otherwise provided for must be fixed by the board as it deems just and equitable in each case, but the salary of no clerk must exceed eighteen hundred dollars per annum. No officer or employé must receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation for his services other than that prescribed by the board, nor must he receive any compensation whatever, directly or indirectly, for any act or service which he may do or perform for or on behalf of any contractor or agent, or employé of either. For any violation of the provisions of this section the officer, agent, or employé must be discharged from his office or service, and every contractor, employé or agent of a contractor employed therein must be expelled from the prison grounds and not again permitted within the same as contractor, agent, or employé.

Consists of and consolidates sections thirteen and twenty-three of the original act.

Gifts to and from convicts, and other dealings with them, prohibited.

Sec. 2321*n*. No officer or employé of the State, or contractor or employé of a contractor, must, without permission of the board, make any gift or present to a convict, or receive such from a convict, or have any barter or dealings with a prisoner. For every violation of the provisions of this section the party guilty thereof incurs the penalty prescribed in section twenty-three hundred and twenty-one m.

Corresponds to section twenty-four of the original act.

Bonds of officers and employés, where to be deposited.

Sec. 2321*o*. All the bonds of officers and employés of the prison must be deposited with the secretary of state.

Corresponds to section twenty-seven of the original act.

Contracts for supplies.

Sec. 2321*p*. The board of directors is required to contract for provisions, clothing, medicines, forage, fuel, and all other staple supplies needed for the support of the prisons for any period of time, not exceeding one year, and such contracts must be limited to bona fide dealers in the several classes of articles contracted for. Contracts for such articles as the board may desire to contract for must be given to the lowest bidder at a public letting thereof, if the price bid is a fair and reasonable one, and not greater than the usual market value and prices. Each bid must be accompanied by such security as the board may require, conditioned upon the bidder entering into a contract upon the terms of his bid, on notice of the acceptance thereof, and furnishing a penal bond with good and sufficient sureties in such sum as the board may require, and to its satisfaction that he will faithfully perform his contract. If the proper officer of the prison rejects any article as not complying with the contract, or if a bidder fails to furnish the articles awarded to him when required, the proper officer of the prison may buy other articles of the kind rejected or called for in the open market, and deduct the price thereof over the contract price from the amount due to the bidder, or charge the same up against him. Notice of the time, place, and conditions of the letting of contracts must be given for at least two consecutive weeks in two newspapers printed and published in the city and county of San Francisco, and in one newspaper printed and published in the city of Sacramento, and in the county where the prison to be supplied is situated. If all the bids made at such letting are deemed unreasonably high, the board may, in its discretion, decline to contract, and may again advertise for such time and in such papers as it sees proper for proposals, and may so continue to renew the advertisement until satisfactory contracts are made; and in the meantime the board may contract with any one whose offer is regarded as just and equitable, or may purchase in the open market. No bid must be accepted, nor a contract entered into in pursuance thereof, when such bid is higher than any other bid at the same letting for the same class or schedule of articles, quality considered, and when a contract can be had at such lower bid. When two or more bids for the same article or articles are equal in amount, the board may select the one which, all things considered, may by it be thought best for the interests of the State, or it may divide the contract between the bidders as in its judgment may seem proper and right. The board has power to let a contract in the aggregate, or it may segregate the items, and enter into a contract with the bidder or bidders who may bid lowest on the several articles. The board has the power to reject the bid of any person who had a prior contract, and who had not, in the opinion of the board, faithfully complied therewith.

Corresponds to section fourteen of the original act.

Moneys, how to be drawn and when to be reported.

Sec. 2321*q*. For all sums of money required to be paid, other than for the uses named in subdivision ten of section twenty-three hundred and twenty-one g, as well as for such use when there is not sufficient money in the hands of the warden, drafts must be drawn on the controller of state, signed by at least three of the directors, and the controller must draw his warrant on the state treasurer, who must pay the same out of any moneys belonging to the state prison fund or appropriated for the use or support of the state prisons. The amount of all moneys retained by the wardens and the aggregate amount paid out must be reported quarterly to the controller, and the proper entry made on the controller's books.

Consists of section fifteen of the original act, omitting the first two sentences, which have been made subdivision ten of section twenty-three hundred and twenty-one g.

Reports to controller of moneys paid to treasurer of state.

Sec. 2321*r*. On payment of any moneys into the state treasury, as provided in this chapter, the wardens and state treasurer must report to the controller of state the amount so paid, and the state treasurer must give the wardens a receipt therefor, which receipt must be filed with the controller. The wardens must report to the controller the amount of money paid into said treasury by them during each month, and must also report to said controller the amounts received and disbursed by them every three months, and during the period for which such report must be made, which quarterly report must be signed by the warden and at least three of the directors.

Corresponds to section seventeen of the original act.

Employment of convicts.

Sec. 2321*s*. All convicts may be employed by authority of the board of directors, under charge of the wardens respectively and such skilled foremen as each may deem necessary, in the performance of work for the State, or in the manufacture of any article or articles for the State, or the manufacture of which is sanctioned by law. At San Quentin, no articles must be manufactured for sale except jute and hemp fabrics. At Folsom, after the completion of the dam and canal, the board may commence the erection of structures for jute manufacturing purposes. The board of directors is hereby authorized to purchase, from time to time, such tools, machinery, and materials, and to direct the employment of such skilled foremen, as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, and to dispose of the articles manufactured and not needed by the State, for cash, at private sale, in the manner provided by law.

Consists of section eighteen of the original act.

Treatment of prisoners.

Sec. 2321*t*. In the treatment of the prisoners the following general rules must be observed:

First—Each convict must be provided with a bed of straw or other suitable material, and sufficient covering of blankets, and must be supplied with garments of coarse, substantial material, of distinctive manufacture, and with sufficient plain and wholesome food of such variety as may be most conducive to good health;

Second—No punishment must be inflicted, except by the order and under the direction of the wardens;

Third—The rules and regulations prescribing the duties and obligations of the prisoners must be printed and hung up in each cell and shop;

Fourth—Each convict, when he leaves the prison, must be supplied with the money taken from him when he entered, and which he has not disposed of, together with any sum which may have been earned by him for his own account, allowed to him by the State for good conduct or diligent labor, or may have been presented to him from any source; and in case the prisoner has not funds sufficient for present purposes, he must be furnished with five dollars in money, a suit of clothes, costing not more than ten dollars, and transportation by the cheapest route to the place where sentenced from, if the prisoner desires to return there, or to any other place of the same cost; and he is entitled, if he so elects, to immunity from having his hair cut, or from being shaved, for three calendar months immediately prior to his discharge. It is not lawful for the officers of the prison to furnish or permit to be furnished, to any one, for publication, the name of any prisoner about to be discharged.

When the warden and such other officers as may be designated by the directors to act with him in such cases are of opinion that any convict is insane, they must make proper examination, and if they remain of the opinion that he is insane, the warden must certify the fact to the superintendent of one of the state hospitals for the insane, and forthwith send such convict to said hospital for care and treatment. If, at the expiration of the term of sentence, the insane convict is still in such hospital, he must be allowed to remain there until discharged cured. The warden must send to the directors a copy of such certificate, and thereafter a statement as to his subsequent acts regarding such insane convict. The superintendent of the state hospital must receive the insane convict and keep him until cured, and notify the directors of such receipt, giving name, date, and where from, and from whose hands received. When, in the opinion of the superintendent, such insane convict is cured of insanity, he must immediately notify the directors thereof, and notify the warden of the prison whence he was received, who must immediately send for, take, and receive the said convict back into the prison, the time passed at the hospital counting as a part of such convict's sentence. Before discharging any convict who may be insane at the time of the expiration of his sentence, the warden must first give notice, in writing, to a judge of the superior court of the county in which the state prison is located, over which he has control, of the fact of such insanity; whereupon said court must forthwith make an order, and deliver the same to the sheriff of said county, commanding him to remove such insane convict and take him before said court. Upon the receipt of such order, it is the duty of said sheriff to execute, and return the same forthwith to the court by whom it was issued, and thereupon that court must cause proceedings to be had as prescribed in sections twenty-one hundred and sixty-nine to twenty-one hundred and seventy-two of this code, and if it satisfactorily appears that such convict is insane, said court must order him to be confined in one of the state hospitals for the insane. The sheriff must receive the same compensation as for transferring a prisoner to the state prison, to be paid in the same manner. If any judge, after having been notified by the warden, neglects to cause such order to be made, as herein provided, or any such sheriff neglects to remove such insane convict, as required by the provisions of this section, the warden must cause such insane convict to be removed before a superior court of a county in which the state prison is located, in charge of an officer of the prison, or other suitable person, for the purpose of examination; and the cost of such removal must be paid out of the state treasury, in the same manner as when removed by the sheriff, as herein provided.

Consists of section nineteen, omitting subdivision three thereof, which has been made subdivision nine of section twenty-three hundred and twenty-one §.

Labor of prisoners. Credits of prisoners, and forfeitures thereof.

Sec. 2321u. The state board must require of every able-bodied convict confined in a state prison as many hours of faithful labor in each and every day during his term of imprisonment as shall be prescribed by the rules and regulations of the prison. Every convict who has no infraction of the rules and regulations of the prison or laws of the State, recorded against him, and who performs in a faithful, orderly, and peaceable manner the duties assigned to him, must be allowed from his term, instead and in lieu of the credits heretofore allowed by law, a deduction of two months in each of the first two years, four months in each of the next two years, and five months in each of the remaining years of said term, and pro rata for any part of a year, where the sentence is for more or less than a year. The mode of reckoning credits must be as shown in the following table:

Credits.

No. of Years of Sentence.	Good Time Granted.	Total Good Time Made.	Time to be Served, if Full Time is Made.
First year	2 months.	2 months.	10 months.
Second year	2 months.	4 months.	1 year and 8 months.
Third year	4 months.	8 months.	2 years and 4 months.
Fourth year	4 months.	1 year.	3 years.
Fifth year	5 months.	1 year and 5 months.	3 years and 7 months.
Sixth year	5 months.	1 year and 10 months.	4 years and 2 months.
Seventh year	5 months.	2 years and 3 months.	4 years and 9 months.
Eighth year	5 months.	2 years and 8 months.	5 years and 4 months.
Ninth year	5 months.	3 years and 1 month.	5 years and 11 months.
Tenth year	5 months.	3 years and 6 months.	6 years and 5 months.

And so on through as many years as may be the term of the sentence. Each convict is entitled to these deductions, unless the board of directors finds that for misconduct or other cause he should not receive them. But if any convict commits any assault upon his keeper, or any foreman, officer, convict, or person, or otherwise endangers life, or is guilty of any flagrant disregard of the rules of the prison, or commits any misdemeanor, or in any manner violates any of the rules and regulations of the prison, he forfeits all deductions of time earned by him for good conduct before the commission of such offense, or that, under this section, he may earn in the future, or forfeits such part of such deductions as to the board may seem just; such forfeiture, however, must be made only by the board after due proof of the offense and notice to the offender; nor must any forfeiture be imposed when a party has violated any rule or rules without violence or evil intent, of which the directors are the sole judges. The board has power to restore credits forfeited, for such reasons as by it seems proper.

Corresponds to section twenty of the original act.

United States criminals.

Sec. 2321*v*. All criminals sentenced to the state prisons by the authority of the United States must be received and kept according to the sentence of the court by which they were tried, and the prisoners so confined are subject in all respects to discipline and treatment as though committed under the laws of this State. The wardens are hereby authorized to charge and receive from the United States, for the use of the State, an amount sufficient for the support of each prisoner, the cost of all clothing that may be furnished, and one dollar per month for the use of the prisoner. No other or further charge must be made by any officer for or on account of such prisoners.

Corresponds to section twenty-one of the original act.

Revocation of paroles and re-arrest of prisoners.

Sec. 2321*w*. The governor of the State has the power to cancel and revoke the parole of any prisoner, and his written order is sufficient to authorize any of the officers named therein to retake and return a prisoner to the state prison, and such an order has the same effect and must be executed in like manner as the order of the state board of prison directors. If any paroled prisoner leaves the State without the permission of the board, he must be deemed an escaped prisoner, and arrested as such.

Consists of the last clause of the act of 1901, p. 82.

Annual reports.

Sec. 2321*x*. There must be printed annually, for the use of the prisons, five hundred copies of the annual report of the board of directors, and the clerk must transmit one copy thereof annually to each of the state prisons in the United States.

Corresponds to section twenty-six of the original act.

Revolving fund for purchase of jute and hemp.

Sec. 2322. The board must maintain a permanent revolving fund for the purchase and manufacture of jute and California-grown hemp for the state prisons by using such fund exclusively for such manufacture and purchase, and by paying into the fund the moneys received from the sale of any goods manufactured from jute or hemp, so that the fund shall always contain one hundred thousand dollars before any of the proceeds from sale of the manufactured goods are used for any purpose other than the purchase of such jute and hemp.

Codifies the statutes of 1889, p. 228, chap. 200; 1893, p. 54, chap. 42, and 1901, p. 515, chap. 160.

Price and sale of jute and hemp goods.

Sec. 2322a. The board must, from time to time, fix the price and give public notice thereof at which the jute and hemp goods will be sold by the State, and such price must not be more than one cent per bag in excess of the net cost of producing the same, exclusive of prison labor. The state prison authorities must confine the sale of jute and hemp goods to consumers direct, and no order must be filled for any one individual or firm, during any one year, for more than five thousand grain bags, except on request of the warden, and the unanimous approval of the board.

Consolidates section one of the act of 1893, p. 54, and section one of the act of 1901, p. 515.

Demands and orders for jute and hemp goods.

Sec. 2322b. Demands by consumers for jute or hemp goods must be promptly filled in the order in which they are made. When the supply is short, the demands must be registered at the prison in the order of their arrival and filled from the output of the mill in the order of registration; but on or after the fifteenth day of June of each year, the warden may, by and with the consent of a majority of the board of directors, fill orders for larger quantities to actual consumers as they may in their judgment deem expedient. Orders of farmers must be given precedence over all others. Ten per cent of the purchase price must accompany each order, and the remaining portion paid upon the delivery of the goods.

Corresponds to section two of the statute of 1893, p. 54, chap. 42, including hemp, as provided by the statute of 1901, p. 515.

Affidavits to orders for jute or hemp goods.

Sec. 2322c. All orders for jute or hemp goods must be accompanied by an affidavit, subscribed and sworn to before some notary public or justice of the peace residing in the township in which the applicant resides, setting forth that the amount of goods contained in the order is for the individual and personal use of the applicant. Any applicant who falsely or fraudulently procures jute or hemp goods under the provisions of this chapter is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Corresponds to section three of the statute of 1893, p. 54, including hemp, as provided by the statute of 1901, p. 515.

Rock or stone crushing plant, and powers of the board relating thereto.

Sec. 2323. The board must regulate, govern, and have full control of the rock or stone crushing plant established at the prison at Folsom, the product thereof, the revenues derived therefrom, and all moneys appropriated therefor, and it is authorized to perform such other acts and duties as may be necessary to carry out the full intent and meaning of this chapter.

Consolidates sections one and twelve of the statute of 1897, p. 99, chap. 97.

Rock or stone crushing plant, how to be operated.

Sec. 2323a. The rock or stone crushing plant must be operated by convict labor and by the application of the mechanical or water power belonging to the state prison at Folsom, together with such free labor as the board deems necessary for superintending, directing, and guarding the convicts employed thereon.

Corresponds to section two of the statute of 1897, p. 99.

Sale of crushed rock.

Sec. 2323b. The board is authorized to sell or otherwise dispose of the crushed-rock product of said plant, but in all cases must give preference to orders received from bureaus of highways for crushed rock for road material for highway purposes. The sale price for all crushed rock sold for road purposes must be the cost of production, with ten per cent added, delivered on board cars or other vehicles of transportation at the rock-crushing plant, but no rock must be sold for highway or other purposes for less than thirty cents per ton.

Consolidates sections three and four of the act of 1897, p. 99, substituting the word "material" for "metal" in two places.

Ascertaining cost of crushed rock.

Sec. 2323c. The cost of production provided for in the preceding section must be ascertained by estimating the cost of explosives, oil, fuel, tools, repairs, free labor, supplementary machinery, the preparation and maintenance of beds, boxes, crates or other unloading devices for carriage to and delivery from cars of said crushed rock, the leasing of railroad cars, and the cost of such other materials, supplies, and expenses as may be required and used in producing each ton of crushed rock ready for sale and delivery.

Corresponds to section five of the act of 1897, p. 99.

Leasing of railway cars for handling crushed rock.

Sec. 2323d. The board is authorized to lease railroad cars with equipments suitable for the rapid and economical handling of crushed rock, whenever, in its judgment, the interest of the people of the State will be conserved thereby in the matter of highway construction by the use of such crushed rock.

Corresponds to section six of the act of 1897, p. 99, omitting the last sentence respecting the cost of leasing, that being already provided for in the preceding section.

Crushed rock permanent revolving fund.

Sec. 2323e. The amount of five thousand dollars hereinbefore appropriated is set apart to provide and maintain a permanent revolving fund for the purpose of operating and maintaining the rock-crushing plant at Folsom. The money taken from such fund must be used exclusively for operating and maintaining such rock-crushing plant. So much of the money received from the sale of crushed rock as is necessary to that end must be returned to such revolving fund as needed to keep the same constantly at such figure of five thousand dollars.

Corresponds to section seven of the act of 1897, p. 99.

Surplus in crushed rock revolving fund.

Sec. 2323f. Whenever there is in the revolving fund a surplus or balance over the amount of five thousand dollars, it must be paid, not less frequently than semi-annually, into the state treasury, to the credit of the fund known as the "State Prison Fund of Folsom Prison," for the use and support of such prison.

Corresponds to section eight of the act of 1897, p. 99.

Clerk's duties respecting the rock-crushing plant.

Sec. 2323g. The clerk of the state prison at Folsom must keep such records, books, and accounts as may be necessary to at all times clearly exhibit the financial, business, and other transactions of the rock-crushing plant. Such records, books, and accounts must be kept separate and distinct from those relating to other prison affairs.

Corresponds to section nine of the act of 1897, p. 99.

Drawing of moneys for rock-crushing plant.

Sec. 2323*h*. For all sums of money required to be paid for and respecting such rock-crushing plants drafts must be drawn on the controller of state, signed by at least three members of the board of directors. Such drafts must be sent to the state board of examiners, to be by them approved, and after approval by them the controller of state must draw his warrant in behalf of the board of prison directors, on the state treasurer, who must pay the same on presentation. The state board of examiners must not approve any of such drafts until it is presented with an itemized statement showing specifically the services rendered, by whom performed, time employed, distances traveled, and necessary expenses thereof; if for articles purchased, the statement must give the name of each article, together with the price paid therefor, of whom purchased, and date of purchase.

Corresponds to section ten of the act of 1897, p. 99.

Rebuilding or repairing rock-crushing plant.

Sec. 2323*i*. If any of the buildings, machinery, or structures appertaining to or comprising the rock-crushing plant is destroyed in any way, or injured by fire or otherwise, it may be rebuilt or repaired immediately under the direction of the board, by and with the consent of the governor, the attorney-general, and the secretary of state, and the expense thereof, not to exceed the sum of ten thousand dollars, must be paid out of any funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated by law; and the provisions of no other act shall apply to, or govern, or limit this section or any of the powers or duties herein conferred.

Corresponds to section eleven of the act of 1897, p. 99.

§§ 2325–2325*r*. That a new chapter, numbered VI, codifying the statute of 1889, p. 100, to consist of sections twenty-three hundred and twenty-five to twenty-three hundred and twenty-five r, be added, to read:

CHAPTER VI.

PRESTON SCHOOL OF INDUSTRY.

- Sec. 2325. Location and control of.
 2325*a*. Duties of trustees.
 2325*b*. Exception of trustees from operation of other statutes.
 2325*c*. Compensation, expenses, prohibition.
 2325*d*. Salaries of officers and employés.
 2325*e*. Superintendent, military inspector, secretary.
 2325*f*. The superintendent—his appointees and duties.
 2325*g*. Manner of conducting the school.
 2325*h*. Instruction.
 2325*i*. Commitments, expenses of maintenance.
 2325*j*. Transfer from state prison.
 2325*k*. Duties of clerks of the superior courts.
 2325*l*. Dismissals.
 2325*m*. Conditional dismissals.
 2325*n*. Return of incorrigible boys for sentence.
 2325*o*. Aiding escape.
 2325*p*. Contracts for supplies.
 2325*q*. Warrants for expenditures.
 2325*r*. Fees for commitments.

Location and control of.

Sec. 2325. The Preston School of Industry is located near Ione, in the county of Amador, and is under the government of a board of trustees, consisting of three members appointed by the governor, each to hold office for four years from the date of his appointment, and his term of office must be designated in such appointment.

Corresponds to sections one and three of the original act, as amended by statute of 1893, p. 39, omitting the last clause, respecting oaths of office, which is transferred to the next section.

Duties of trustees.

Sec. 2325*a*. Each trustee must, before entering upon the performance of the duties of his office, take an oath faithfully to discharge them. The board must meet once in every three months for the transaction of business, and special meetings may be called by the president when deemed necessary. There are conferred and devolved upon the board of trustees all the powers, duties, and responsibilities conferred and devolved upon the state board of prison directors by an act entitled "An act to establish a school of industry, to provide for the maintenance and management of the same, and to make an appropriation therefor," approved March eleventh, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine. The board of trustees is authorized to do all those lawful acts from time to time necessary to promote the prosperity of the institution and the well-being and reformation of its inmates, including the organization of trade schools, the purchase and use of fixed and movable machinery, the erection of necessary buildings for machinery and other purposes, the improvement and management of a farm, orchard, and garden, the purchase of necessary supplies for the institution and materials for manufacture and the performance of all other necessary and lawful acts not otherwise prohibited which may be required to comply with the purposes of this chapter, but nothing herein permits said board to incur any indebtedness or obligation in excess of the appropriations allowed by law for the establishment and maintenance of such school.

The provision respecting oaths of office is taken from section three of the original act, as amended by statute of 1893, p. 39; that relating to meetings from section eleven of the original act; the provision conferring on the board of trustees the powers and duties heretofore vested in the state board of prison directors is from section seven of the amendatory act of 1893, p. 41; and the last sentence, expressing the general duties and powers of the board, is from section seven of the act of 1889, p. 106.

Exception of trustees from operation of other statutes.

Sec. 2325*b*. This chapter must be construed as the sole and exclusive law on the subject-matter therein contained, unless specially or otherwise herein provided, and none of the provisions of the act entitled "An act to regulate contracts on behalf of the State in relation to erections and buildings," approved March twenty-third, eighteen hundred and seventy-six, or any other act, unless herein specially referred to, applies to, governs, or limits this chapter, or any of the powers or duties therein conferred upon such board of trustees.

Corresponds to section seven of the original act.

Compensation, expenses, prohibition.

Sec. 2325*c*. The members of the board receive no compensation for their services, but must be allowed their reasonable expenses incurred in the discharge of their official duties. No member of the board, nor any employé of the institution, must be interested in any contract or enterprise in connection therewith.

Corresponds to section ten of the original act, and contains, in the last sentence the prohibition now in section six of the original act.

Salaries of officers and employés.

Sec. 2325*d*. The board of trustees must fix the salaries of the superintendent, the military instructor, the secretary, and the commissary; but that of the superintendent must not exceed three thousand dollars, of the military instructor, twelve hundred dollars, and of the secretary and commissary, fifteen hundred dollars per annum, respectively. No other officer or employé must receive more than twelve hundred dollars per annum. The power of the board to fix the compensation of officers and employés, as provided in section twenty-three hundred and twenty-five h, is subject to these limitations.

Corresponds to the last part of section ten of the act as amended in 1893.

Superintendent, military instructor, secretary.

Sec. 2325*e*. The board must elect a superintendent, military instructor, and secretary. The superintendent and secretary must each give bonds for the faithful performance of his duties, as the board may determine; the bond of the superintendent to be not less than ten thousand dollars, and that of the secretary not less than five thousand dollars. The military instructor must be a good disciplinarian, skilled in military tactics. He must receive from the governor a commission with the rank of major; he must perform such duties and receive such salary as the board may prescribe.

Corresponds to section eleven of the original act, except that the last sentence thereof, relating to the meetings of the board, has been transferred to section twenty-three hundred and twenty-five a.

The superintendent—his appointees and duties.

Sec. 2325*f*. The superintendent, before entering upon the performance of his duties, must make and file with the board an oath that he will faithfully and impartially discharge them. Thereupon he is, subject to the regulations prescribed by the board, invested with the custody of the lands, buildings, and all other property belonging to or under the control of the institution. He must appoint, except as hereinafter provided, all officers and employés of the institution, to hold office during his pleasure. He must provide a book in which must be registered the name, residence, occupation, and religious creed of every boy received in the school, the date of his reception and the date and condition of his discharge, the names, residences, and occupation of his parents, whether he was apprenticed or not, and if so apprenticed, the name, residence, and occupation of the person to whom he was apprenticed. The superintendent has charge of all persons committed to the institution by any magistrate or court, and must use his best efforts to employ, instruct, discipline, and reform all such persons, and must discharge such other duties as the board may direct, and is at all times subject to removal by the board for incapacity, immorality, negligence of duty, or cruelty to inmates. The superintendent must, on the first day of January, April, July, and October of each year, transmit to the state treasurer a statement of all commitments to such school, showing the name of the person committed, the date of the commitment, the county from which it is made, and the amount due to the State from the county, by reason of such commitments, and the controller must add to the amounts due to the State from each county, such sum as may be shown to be due by reason of commitments to such school therefrom.

Corresponds to section thirteen of the original act, except that it omits the sentence respecting the amount of the salary of the superintendent; also consolidates with such section thirteen, section four of the statute of 1895, p. 122.

Manner of conducting the school.

Sec. 2325g. The school must be maintained separate and distinct from the state prisons, so far as relates to the custody, management, discipline, employment, and education of its inmates, and no convict undergoing sentence in either of the state prisons must be permitted to associate with or be so employed as to mingle with any person undergoing commitment in the school; it must be conducted on such plan as to the board seems best calculated to carry out the intentions of this chapter, and its inmates are subject to military discipline, including daily drill. They must be clothed in military uniform of such pattern and material as may be prescribed by the board, but under no circumstances in convict stripes.

Combines sections six and nine of the original act.

Instruction.

Sec. 2325h. The board must maintain a department of instruction for the inmates of the school, with a course of study corresponding, as far as practicable, with the course of study in the public schools of the State, not higher than the course prescribed in the grammar schools. It must adopt a system of government, embracing such laws and regulations as are necessary for the guidance of the officers and employes, for the regulation of the hours of study and labor, for the preservation of order, for the enforcement of discipline and military training, for the preservation of health, and for the industrial training of the inmates. The ultimate purpose of all such instruction, discipline, and industry must be to qualify the inmates for honorable and profitable employment after their release from the institution, rather than to make it self-sustaining. The board must also determine the number of officers and employes required, prescribe their duties and fix their compensation.

Corresponds to section twelve of the original act.

Commitments. Expenses of maintenance.

Sec. 2325i. When any boy of sound mind, more than eight and less than eighteen years of age, is found guilty, by a magistrate or court of competent jurisdiction, of any offense punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, except when the penalty is death or imprisonment for life, and who, in the opinion of such court or magistrate, is a fit subject for confinement in such school, such magistrate or court, if not a superior judge or court, may suspend judgment or sentence and report the case to a superior judge of the county, who must examine the case and the circumstances thereof, and may thereupon either direct such court or magistrate to proceed to judgment or sentence, or may commit such boy to such school for a period not exceeding the time when he may attain his twenty-first birthday, unless sooner discharged by law, or as in this chapter provided. Such superior judge must also determine whether or not the parent or guardian of such boy is able to pay the county in which the commitment is made for his maintenance during the term of his commitment, and when the judge so determines, such parent or guardian is liable to pay into the treasury of such county the sum of eleven dollars per month, in advance, for each month such boy remains in confinement in such school, and the district attorney of the county in which the commitment is made, must, unless such sum is otherwise paid, proceed to collect it from such parent or guardian, by action, in the name of such county, in any court of competent jurisdiction. If the conviction of such boy is in a superior court, the judge thereof may, instead of proceeding to judgment or sentence, commit him to such school in like manner and for like term as if the conviction had been in some subordinate court, and proceed also to make the determination as to whether his parent or guardian is able to pay the county for his maintenance while in such school. For each person committed to such school, the county from which the commitment is made must pay into the state treasury one hundred and thirty-two dollars per annum, and at that rate for each fraction of a year. The board of trustees is authorized to make rules, reducing, as a reward for good conduct, the time during which any person has been committed to such school.

This section is an attempt to consolidate and harmonize section fifteen of the act of 1889 and sections one and two of the act of 1895, p. 122, chap. 131, relating to commitments to the State School at Whittier and to the Preston School of Industry. Section one of the last named act makes it the duty of the district attorney to proceed to collect from such parent or guardian "in the manner that other indebtedness against the county is collected," but as the sum to be paid is an indebtedness to and not against the county, this provision is an inadvertence, and we have changed it so as to read that the district attorney must bring an action in the name of the county against the parent or guardian in any court of competent jurisdiction. The last sentence of section thirteen of the act of 1889 is omitted, for the reason that the duty thereby imposed on committing courts and magistrates is by the act of 1895 imposed on the clerk of the superior court. Section sixteen of the act of 1889 is omitted, because of the change made by the law of 1895, requiring the superior judge to commit, and hence the provision of section sixteen is necessarily repealed in so far as it requires him to approve a commitment already made by the justice of the peace or other magistrate.

Transfer from state prison.

Corresponds to section twenty of the act of 1889.

Duty of clerks of the superior courts.

Sec. 2325k. The clerk of the superior court of the county from which the commitment is made, must certify to the county auditor the name, age, and date of commitment of each person committed by the superior judge thereof, and the amount due to the state from the county, by reason of such commitments, and before the first day of May and December of each year, must file with the treasurer of the county a statement of the number of commitments, with the date thereof, and the amount due from the county by reason of such commitments. The county treasurer, at the time of his settlements with the State during the months of May and December of each year, must pay to the state treasurer, through the state controller, the amount so found to be due to the State, by reason of commitments to such school as herein provided.

Corresponds with section three of the act of 1895, p. 123.

Dismissals.

Sec. 2325l. The board of trustees of such school, whenever it deems any inmate thereof to have been so far reformed as to justify his discharge, must give him an honorable dismissal and cause an entry of the reasons therefor to be made in the book of records prepared for that purpose. All persons thus honorably dismissed, and all those who have served the full term of their sentences, are thereby released from all penalties and disabilities resulting from the offenses or crimes for which they were committed. Upon the final discharge of any inmate, as provided in this section, the superintendent must immediately certify such discharge in writing, and transmit such certificate to the magistrate or court by which such inmate was found guilty, as provided in section twenty-three hundred and twenty-five i, and such magistrate or court must thereupon dismiss the accusation and the action pending against such person.

Corresponds to section seventeen of the act of 1889.

Conditional dismissals.

Sec. 2325m. The board of trustees may issue a certificate of conditional dismissal and parole, to any worthy boy confined in the institution on the following conditions: It may bind him by articles of indenture to any suitable person who will agree to educate him and to instruct him in some useful art or trade, or it may return him to his parents or place him under the care of any reputable citizen, a resident of the State, after such person, parent, guardian, or resident citizen has become bound to such board, with good and sufficient sureties, conditioned for the proper custody, care, education, and moral and industrial training of such boy. The time of the conditional release must be made subject to good behavior and continued reformation on the part of the boy paroled. If he violates his parole or becomes habitually disobedient and incorrigible, he may be returned to the school to serve the unexpired term of his sentence, on complaint of his custodian and the written requisition of the superintendent of the school, and if received from either of the state prisons may be returned thereto. Every paroled boy who properly observes the conditions of his parole until the date of the expiration of the time of his commitment, is entitled to all the benefits and immunities in this chapter provided.

Corresponds to section eighteen of the act of 1889.

Return of incorrigible boys for sentence.

Sec. 2325n. If any boy, during the time of his commitment in the school, is found to be incorrigible, or to be an improper subject for detention therein, he may be returned to the magistrate or court by which he was found guilty, and upon written complaint of the board of trustees of the school, attested by the superintendent and filed with the original complaint, such court or magistrate must enter such judgment as would have been lawful when the offender was first found guilty, and if committed from either of the state prisons, he may be returned to the prison whence received, to serve out his unexpired term.

Corresponds to section nineteen of the act of 1889.

Aiding escape.

Sec. 2325o. Any one knowingly permitting or aiding any boy to escape from such school, or knowingly promoting his departure therefrom, or concealing him with the intent of enabling him to elude pursuit, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and must, upon conviction, be punished according to law. Any fugitive from such school or from a party to whom he has been bound out or apprenticed, may be arrested and returned to the institution by any person, upon written request or order of the superintendent, directed to such person.

Corresponds to section twenty-one of the act of 1889.

Contracts for supplies.

Sec. 2325p. The board of trustees is required to contract for provisions, clothing, medicine, forage, fuel, and other staple supplies of the school, for any period of time not exceeding one year, and such contracts must be limited to bona fide dealers in the several classes of articles contracted for. Contracts for such articles as the board may desire to contract for must be given to the lowest bidder at a public letting thereof, if the price bid is a fair and reasonable one, and not greater than the usual market value and prices. Each bid must be accompanied by such security as the board may require, conditioned upon the bidder entering into a contract upon the terms of his bid, on notice of the acceptance thereof, and furnishing a bond, with good and sufficient sureties, in such sum as the board may require, and to its satisfaction, that he will faithfully perform his contract. If the proper officer rejects any article as not complying with the contract, or if a bidder fails to furnish the articles awarded to him when required, the proper officer of the school may buy other articles of the kind rejected or called for, in the open market, and deduct the price thereof over the contract price from the amount due to the bidder, or charge the same against him. Notice of the time, place, and conditions of the letting of contracts must be given for at least two consecutive weeks in three newspapers, one printed and published in the city and county of San Francisco, one in the city of Sacramento, and one in the county of Amador. If all bids made at such letting are deemed unreasonably high, the board may, in its discretion, decline to contract, and may again advertise for such time and in such papers as it sees proper for proposals, and may so continue to renew the advertisement until satisfactory contracts are made; and in the meantime the board may contract with any one whose offer is regarded as just and equitable, or may purchase in the open market. No bid must be accepted, nor any contract entered into in pursuance thereof, when such bid is higher than any other bid at the same letting for the same class or schedule of articles, quality considered, and when a contract can be had at such lower bid. When two or more bids for the same article or articles are equal in amount, the board may select the one which, all things considered, may by it be thought best for the interest of the State, or it may divide the contract between the bidders, as in its judgment may seem proper and right. The board has power to let a contract in the aggregate, or it may segregate the items and enter into a contract with the bidder or bidders who may bid lowest on the several articles. The board may reject the bid of any person who had a prior contract, and who had not, in the opinion of the board, faithfully complied therewith.

Corresponds to section twenty-two of the original act, as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 40.

Warrants for expenditures.

Sec. 2325*q*. The controller of state must, on requisition of the board of trustees, draw his warrant on the state treasurer, in favor of the board, to pay for the necessary expenses in the maintenance of such school, and the state treasurer must pay the same from the appropriations made therefor.

Corresponds to section twenty-four, except that it omits the words "the establishment," on the ground that the school has already been established, and the expenditures must, unless authorized by special acts hereafter, be for its maintenance.

Fees for commitments.

Sec. 2325*r*. In all proceedings relating to commitments under this chapter, the fees and compensation of the sheriff and other officers are such as are allowed by law for like proceedings and services in criminal cases.

Corresponds to section twenty-six of the original act.

§§ 2326–2328. That chapter five, consisting of sections twenty-three hundred and twenty-six to twenty-three hundred and twenty-eight, be repealed, because it does not state any rule of law, and constitutes mere matters of indexing, and as such not now correct.

§§ 2326–2326*z*. That a new chapter, numbered VII, codifying the statutes of 1889, p. 111; 1893, p. 328; and 1895, p. 122, to consist of sections twenty-three hundred and twenty-six to twenty-three hundred and twenty-six z, be added, to read:

CHAPTER VII.

THE WHITTIER STATE SCHOOL.

SEC. 2326. Location, name, and purpose.

2326*a*. Trustees, their appointment and terms of office.

2326*b*. Powers of board of trustees.

2326*c*. Duties.

2326*d*. Trustees' compensation.

2326*e*. Prohibitions.

2326*f*. The superintendent and his duties.

2326*g*. The treasurer and his duties.

2326*h*. Commitments by the superior court.

2326*i*. Commitment at instance of grand jury.

2326*j*. Judges, when may arrest proceedings.

2326*k*. Private examinations.

2326*l*. Right of trustees to receive minors in other cases.

2326*m*. Payments to be made by counties.

2326*n*. Determination of ability to pay for maintenance.

2326*o*. Duties of county clerks, auditors, and treasurers.

2326*p*. Proceedings when further inmates cannot be received.

2326*q*. Record of commitments.

2326*r*. Dismissal of inmates.

2326*s*. Conditional dismissals and paroles.

2326*t*. Return of incorrigibles.

2326*u*. Cost of transportation.

2326*v*. Aiding escapes.

2326*w*. Applications for discharge.

2326*x*. Duties of sheriffs.

2326*y*. Proceedings against minor's estates.

2326*z*. Auditing of demands.

Location, name, and purpose.

Sec. 2326. There is established and must be maintained at Whittier, in Los Angeles county, an institution for the discipline, education, improvement, reformation, and protection of juvenile delinquents in the State, known as "The Whittier State School," and that name is a sufficient designation of the institution in all contracts, writings, and proceedings.

Corresponds to section one of the original act, as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 328.

Trustees, their appointment and terms of office.

Sec. 2326a. The general supervision and government of The Whittier State School is vested in a board of trustees, consisting of three members appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate, each to hold office for four years from the date of his appointment, and his term of office must be designated in such appointment. If a vacancy occurs in such board when the senate is not in session, the governor must fill such vacancy for the unexpired term, subject to the approval of the senate at its next regular session. Each trustee, before entering upon the performance of the duties of his office, must take an oath faithfully to discharge them.

Corresponds to section two of the act of 1889.

Powers of board of trustees.

Sec. 2326b. The trustees of such state school constitute a body corporate and politic for the following purposes: To receive, hold, use, and convey, or disburse moneys and other property, real and personal, in the name of such corporation, but in trust for the use, and by the authority of the State, and to control, manage, and direct the several trusts committed to them respectively, including the organization, government, and discipline of all officers, employés, and other inmates of such institution, with power to make contracts, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, to have and to use a common seal and alter the same at pleasure, and exercise all the powers usually belonging to such corporations and necessary for the successful discharge of the obligations devolved by law upon them; but they have no power to bind the State by any contract or obligation beyond the amount of appropriations which may at the time have been made for the purposes expressed in the contract or obligation, nor to sell or convey any part of the real estate belonging to the institution, without the consent of the legislature, except that they may release any mortgage, or convey any real estate which may be held by them as security for any money or upon any trust, the terms of which authorize such release or conveyance. The legislature has power, at any time, to amend, alter, revoke, or annul the grant of corporate powers herein contained.

Corresponds to section three of the act of 1889.

Duties.

Sec. 2326c. The duties of the board of trustees are:

1. To hold a regular meeting once every three months, at such time and place as it may direct, and special meetings when called by the president of the board;

2. To annually elect from its members, a president and a vice-president, to hold office for one year;

3. To elect a treasurer, not one of its members, to hold office for two years, unless sooner removed by it, for good cause;

4. To make all needful rules and regulations concerning its meetings and the modes of transacting its business;

5. To take charge of such institution, to see that its affairs are properly conducted, that strict discipline is maintained, and that suitable employment and education are provided for its inmates;

6. To make contracts for the purchase of furniture, apparatus, tools, stock, provisions, and everything necessary to equip the institution for the purposes specified in this chapter, and to maintain and operate the same, but not to incur any expense or contract any debt beyond appropriations made or donations given, and then only in such manner as may be prescribed in this chapter, or the instrument of donation;

7. On or before the first day of December preceding each regular session of the legislature, to make to the governor a full and detailed report of its doings and of the expenses of the institution, with such other information relating thereto as it deems interesting and useful to the State, which report must be communicated by the governor to the next succeeding session of the legislature;

8. To appoint a superintendent, not one of its members, and to fix his salary, not to exceed thirty-six hundred dollars per annum, and to appoint such other officers and assistants as the wants of the institution may from time to time require, and prescribe their duties and fix their salaries as may be reasonable;

9. To arrange the buildings used for the school, and the grounds about the same, so that one portion thereof may be used for the proper confinement, care, and education of the male inmates, and another for the proper confinement, care, and education of the female inmates, and to the absolute exclusion of all communication of every kind between the sexes;

10. To make rules, reducing, as a reward for good conduct, the time for which any person has been committed to such school.

Subdivision one corresponds to section eleven of the original act; subdivisions two and three to section eight as amended 1893, p. 329; subdivisions four and six to section seven as amended by the last named statute; subdivision seven to section ten of the original act, omitting the clause respecting salary, which will be inserted in section twenty-three hundred and twenty-six d; subdivision eight to section nine as amended in 1893, p. 329; subdivision nine to section fourteen as amended by the same statute; subdivision ten to section sixteen, as amended in 1893, p. 330.

Trustees' compensation.

Sec. 2326*d*. The trustees are not entitled to any salary, but must be allowed all necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties.

Corresponds to the last sentence of section ten.

Prohibitions.

Sec. 2326*e*. No trustee, officer, or employé in the institution must be, directly or indirectly, interested in any contract, purchase, or sale made by, or business carried on in behalf of, or for said institution. Every contract, purchase, or sale made in violation of this section is void, and all moneys paid to such trustee, officer, or employé, or other person for his benefit, in whole or in part, in consideration of any such purchase, contract, or sale, may be recovered back by civil suit in the name of the people of the State against such trustee, officer, employé, or person acting in his behalf. It is also made the duty of the governor or the board of trustees, as the case may be, upon proof satisfactory of the fact of such interest, to immediately remove the delinquent trustee, officer, or employé, and report the facts to the attorney-general, who must take such legal steps in the premises as he deems expedient.

Corresponds to section six of the original act.

The superintendent and his duties.

Sec. 2326*f*. The superintendent, before entering upon the duties of his office, must take an oath faithfully to discharge them, and execute a bond, with sureties, to be approved by the board, in a sum to be fixed by it, conditioned for the faithful performance of all his duties as such superintendent. He is ex-officio secretary of the board, and must take charge of all books and papers, and reside at the institution. He has charge of the land, buildings, furniture, apparatus, tools, stocks, provisions, and every other species of property belonging to the institution, subject to the direction and control of the board, and must account to it in such manner as it may require, for all property entrusted to him. All moneys received by him must be deposited with the treasurer; his books must, at all times, be open to the inspection of the board, which must, at least once in every three months, carefully examine them, and all accounts, vouchers, and documents connected therewith, and make a report of the result of such examination in a book provided for that purpose. He has charge of the inmates of the institution, and must discipline, govern, instruct, employ, and use his best efforts to reform them, and he is at all times subject to removal by the board for incapacity, cruelty, negligence, immorality, or any other good cause. He must, on the first day of January, April, July, and October of each year, transmit to the state treasurer a statement of commitments to such school, showing the name of each person committed, the date of the commitment, the county from which it was made, and the amount due to the State from the county, by reason of such commitments, and the controller of state must add to the amounts due to the State from each county, such sum as may be shown to be due by reason of commitments to such school therefrom.

Corresponds to section twelve; also consolidates with such section, section four of the statute of 1895, p. 122.

The treasurer and his duties.

Sec. 2326g. The treasurer, before entering upon the duties of his office, must take an oath faithfully to discharge them, and must execute a bond, with sureties, to be approved by the board, in at least double the sum for which he may be responsible as treasurer, conditioned for the faithful performance of all his duties. He must take charge of all of the funds of the institution, receiving the same, and disbursing them on the written order of the superintendent, and must account to the board, in such manner as it may require, for all funds entrusted to him from whatever source. His books must at all times be open to the inspection of the board and the superintendent, who must, at least once in every six months, carefully examine them, and all accounts, vouchers, and documents connected therewith, and make a report of the result of such examination. The treasurer must be a resident of Los Angeles county, and must receive for his services a salary of six hundred dollars per annum.

Corresponds to section thirteen.

Section fifteen, though amended in 1893, is believed to have accomplished its purpose, and therefore is not here codified.

Commitments by the superior court.

Sec. 2326*h*. If any boy or girl, between the ages of eight and eighteen years, is found guilty of any crime in any superior court of the State, who, in the opinion of such court, is a fit subject for commitment to such school, the court may suspend judgment or sentence, except when the penalty is death or imprisonment for life, and commit such minor to such school, for a period embracing his or her minority, unless sooner discharged by law, or as in this chapter provided. No minor must be so committed who is suffering from any contagious, infectious, or other disease which will probably endanger the lives or health of the other inmates, nor must any minor be committed to such school unless the judge of such court is satisfied that the mental and physical condition and qualifications of the minor are such as to render it probable that the minor will be benefited by the reformatory and educational discipline of the school.

Corresponds to section sixteen as amended in 1893, p. 330, except that the last two sentences are omitted, the first because it relates to the duties of the trustees and is transferred to subdivision ten of section twenty-three hundred and twenty-six c, and the last, because by the statute of 1895, p. 122, the duties there prescribed have been imposed on the clerks of the superior courts. The section so imposing them is hereafter codified as section twenty-three hundred and twenty-six o.

Commitment at instance of grand jury.

Sec. 2326*i*. If any accusation of the commission of any crime is made before any grand jury, against any minor under the age of eighteen years, and the charge appears to be supported by evidence sufficient to put the accused upon trial, the grand jury may, in its discretion, instead of finding an indictment, return to the superior court that it appears that the accused is a suitable person to be committed to the care and guardianship of said school. That court may thereupon order such commitment, if satisfied on examination from the evidence that it ought to be made.

Corresponds to section seventeen as amended in 1893, p. 332.

Judges, when may arrest proceedings.

Sec. 2326j. If any minor, between the ages of eight and eighteen years, is arraigned for trial in any court having competent jurisdiction, on a charge of crime, other than the commission of, or attempt to commit, a capital offense, the judge, if it is a superior court, may, in his discretion, without the consent of the accused, arrest at any stage of the cause any further proceedings on the part of the prosecution, and commit the accused to the care and guardianship of such school. If the proceeding is not in the superior court, the court or judge may report the case to a superior judge of the county, who must examine the case and the circumstances thereof, and may either direct such court or judge to proceed with the case, or may commit the accused to the care and guardianship of such school with like effect as if he had been first arraigned for trial in the superior court.

Corresponds to section eighteen as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 332, and modified by section one of the statute of 1895, p. 122.

Private examinations.

Sec. 2326k. Any minor, between the ages of eight and eighteen years, accused of any offense punishable by imprisonment, is, with a view to the question whether he ought to be committed to such school, entitled to a private examination and trial before a court having competent jurisdiction, to which only the parties to the case, and the parents or guardian of the accused, and their attorneys, must be admitted, unless one of the parents, the guardian, or other legal representative of the minor demands a public trial, in which case the proceedings must be in the usual manner.

Corresponds to section nineteen as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 322.

Right of trustees to receive minors in other cases.

Sec. 2326l. The board of trustees may also, under such rules as it may prescribe, receive into the care and guardianship of such institution, whenever it may be convenient to do so, minors between the ages of eight and eighteen years, committed to custody in any of the following modes:

1. Minors committed by any judge of a superior court on the complaint, in writing, filed and due proof thereof made by the parent or guardian of such minor, showing that by reason of the incorrigible and vicious conduct or nature of such minor, he is beyond the control and power of such parent or guardian, and that from a regard for the future welfare of such minor and the protection of society, it appears that such minor should be placed in the care of such institution ;

2. Minors committed by any judge of a superior court where complaint, in writing, has been filed and due proof of the same has been made showing that such minor is a proper subject for the care and guardianship of such institution, in consequence of vagrancy, or of incorrigible or vicious conduct, in cases where, from moral depravity or otherwise, the parent or guardian having the control of such minor is incapable of exercising, or is unwilling to exercise, the proper care or discipline over such minor, or in cases where such minor has no parent, guardian, or other protector ;

3. Minors committed by any judge of a superior court where complaint, in writing, has been filed, and due proof of the same has been made by the mother or guardian, when the father is dead or has abandoned his family, or is an habitual drunkard, or does not provide for the support of such minor, and it appears that such minor is destitute of a suitable home and of adequate means of obtaining an honest living, or is in danger of being brought up to lead an idle and immoral life, and where such mother or guardian is unable to provide the proper support and care for such minor.

Corresponds to section twenty as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 332.

Payments to be made by counties.

Sec. 2326m. For each person committed to such school the county from which the commitment is made must pay into the state treasury the sum of one hundred and thirty-two dollars per annum, and at that rate for each fraction of a year.

Corresponds to section two of the statute of 1895, p. 123.

Determination of ability to pay for maintenance.

Sec. 2326n. Each superior judge must, at the time of committing any minor to such school, also determine whether the parent or guardian of such minor is able to pay the county in which the commitment is made, for his maintenance during the term thereof, and when the judge so determines, such parent or guardian is liable to pay into the treasury of such county the sum of eleven dollars per month, in advance, for each month such minor remains in confinement in such school; and the district attorney of the county in which the commitment is made must, unless such sum is otherwise paid, proceed to collect it from such parent or guardian, by action or proceeding in the name of the county, in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Corresponds to the latter part of section one of the statute of 1895, p. 122, chap. 131.

Duties of county clerks, auditors, and treasurers.

Sec. 2326o. The clerk of the superior court of the county from which the commitment is made, must certify to the county auditor the name, age, and date of commitment of each person committed by the superior judge thereof, and the amount due to the State from the county by reason of such commitments, and must, before the first day of May and December of each year, file with the treasurer of the county a statement of the number of commitments, with the date thereof, and the amount due from the county by reason of such commitments, and the county treasurer must, at the time of settlements with the State, during the months of May and December of each year, pay to the state treasurer, through the state controller, the amount so found to be due to the State.

Corresponds to section three of the statute of 1895, p. 122.

Proceedings when further inmates cannot be received.

Sec. 2326p. Before conveying any minor to such institution, the person having charge of him must ascertain from the superintendent whether he can be received, and if he cannot, then the commitment must be revoked and the case disposed of as if no proceedings had been taken under this chapter.

Corresponds to section twenty-one as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 333.

Record of commitments.

Sec. 2326q. In all cases of commitment under this chapter, no other record must be made, unless demanded by the infant, his parent or guardian, than that, in substance, such infant, naming him, who, on a day therein named, was of the age of ——— years, having been brought before such court or officer, and it having been ascertained by the testimony of the witnesses that such infant was a suitable person to be committed to the instruction and discipline of such institution, therefore such infant was ordered to be committed to such institution.

Corresponds to section twenty-two of the original act.

Dismissal of inmates.

Sec. 2326r. The board, whenever it deems any inmate of the institution to be so far reformed as to justify his discharge, must give him an honorable dismissal, and cause an entry of the reasons for such dismissal to be made in the book of records prepared for that purpose. All persons thus honorably dismissed, and all those who have served the full term of their respective sentences, are thereby released from all penalties and disabilities resulting from the offense or crime for which they have been committed. Upon the final discharge of any inmate, as provided in this section, the superintendent, where any sentence or judgment was previously suspended, must immediately certify such discharge in writing, and transmit such certificate to that court where the charge was pending, and it must thereupon dismiss the accusation. Upon the discharge of any person except those committed under section twenty-three hundred and twenty-six l, the superintendent must provide him with suitable clothing and five dollars in money, and procure transportation for him to his home, if a resident in this State, or, at his option, to the county from which he was convicted.

Consolidates section sixteen b, as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 330, and section twenty-three.

Conditional dismissals and paroles.

Sec. 2326s. The board may issue certificates of conditional dismissal and parole to any worthy minor confined in the institution, on the following conditions: It may bind such minor by articles of indenture to any suitable person who will engage to educate him and to instruct him in some useful art or trade, or it may return him to his parents, or it may place him under the care of any reputable person who is a citizen and resident of this State, after such person, parent, guardian, or resident citizen has become bound to such board, with good and sufficient sureties, conditioned for the proper custody, care, education, and moral and industrial training of such paroled minor. The time of such conditional release is made subject to good behavior and continued reformation on the part of the person thus paroled. Any minor who violates his parole, or who becomes habitually disobedient and incorrigible, may be returned to such school to serve the unexpired term of his sentence, on complaint of his custodian and the written requisition of the superintendent of such school. Every paroled minor who properly observes the conditions of his parole until the date of the expiration of his term of commitment is entitled to all the benefits and immunities in this chapter provided. If at any time it is determined by the board of trustees that any minor who has been committed to the care or guardianship of any third person, as in this section previously provided, is not being properly treated or cared for, according to the terms and conditions under which such minor was intrusted to such third person, then, by a resolution of such board, entered upon its minutes, and upon a requisition of the superintendent of such institution issued thereon, such minor may be recalled to such school, and is released from all obligations to such third person. And in such case the board has the right to maintain all necessary actions or proceedings against the third person and his bondsmen to recover the penalty in whatever bonds may be given by reason of the failure of such third person to perform the conditions under which such minor was intrusted to his care; and in the event of minors who may have been bound out by the board of trustees by articles of indenture, the board must institute and maintain all proper actions and proceedings to cancel and annul such articles of indenture.

Corresponds to section sixteen c as added by the statute of 1893, p. 331.

Return of incorrigibles.

Sec. 2326*t*. Any minor found, during the time of commitment, to be incorrigible, or, in the judgment of the board of trustees, determined to be an improper subject for detention in such school, must be returned to the court where the charge was made against him, and upon written complaint of such board, attested by the superintendent of such school, and filed with the original complaint, it becomes the duty of such court to enter such judgment as would have been lawful at the time when the minor was first committed.

Corresponds to section sixteen d as added by the statute of 1893, p. 331.

Cost of transportation.

Sec. 2326*u*. Whenever any minor is committed to such institution at the instance of his parents, the cost of keeping him, including the cost of transportation to and from the institution, must be paid by such parents, unless by reason of the poverty of the parents, or for other good cause, the board of trustees otherwise directs.

This provision is taken from section twenty-four of the act, as amended in 1893, p. 333. The balance of the provisions of that section we believe to be impliedly repealed by the statute of 1895, p. 122, chap. 131, which has been codified herein. The provisions with respect to liability of guardian are codified in section twenty-three hundred and twenty-six y.

Aiding escapes.

Sec. 2326*v*. If any person procures the escape of a person committed to the school, or advises, connives at, aids, or assists any such escape, or conceals any person so committed, after such escape, he must, on conviction thereof in any superior court, be punished by a fine of not less than two hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than two months nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, or if the person so convicted is under the age of sixteen years, he must be sentenced to such school as in this chapter provided.

Corresponds to section twenty-six as amended in 1893, p. 334.

Applications for discharge.

Sec. 2326*w*. If any parent, guardian, or master to whom a minor has been apprenticed, or any person occupying the position of parent, protector, or guardian in fact, or in reality, by blood or marriage, not more remote than first cousin to such minor, feels aggrieved by his commitment to such institution, under section twenty-three hundred and twenty-six l, he may apply, in writing, to the board of trustees, for the discharge of the minor. The application must be filed with the superintendent, who must inform the trustees thereof, and it must be heard and determined by the trustees at such time and place as they appoint for that purpose, not later than the next regular meeting of the board. The application must state the grounds of the applicant's claim to the custody of the minor, and the reasons for claiming such custody. Within ten days after hearing the application, the trustees must announce their opinion thereon, and if it is that the welfare of the minor would be promoted by granting the application, they must make an order to that effect, otherwise they must deny the application. The applicant may, upon denial of his application, by first giving security for the payment of all costs (the security to be approved by the clerk of the proper court), commence an action in the superior court of the county in which the institution is situated, against the trustees thereof, to recover the custody of the minor. The complaint in such action must state the fact and manner of the minor's commitment, the making of the application to the trustees for his custody, and the overruling of such application by them, as well as the grounds upon which the applicant relies for the custody of the minor. Such action must be prosecuted in like manner as other civil actions, and the cost thereof must be paid by the applicant without reference to the result of the action, unless the court states in its judgment that the refusal of the trustees to grant the application was plainly unreasonable, or that the original commitment was manifestly improper and unnecessary.

Corresponds to section twenty-seven as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 334.

Duties of sheriffs.

Sec. 2326x. The sheriff of any county wherein an order is made by the superior judge, committing any minor to such school, must execute any writ of commitment issued by such judge, and is entitled to receive, as compensation therefor, the fees provided by law for the transportation of prisoners to the state prison. When the commitment is made under section twenty-three hundred and twenty-six l, the parent, guardian, or other protector of the minor may, at his option, and in cases where he is liable, or where the estate of such minor is sufficient, execute the writ of commitment, after having been duly sworn therefor, with like powers and effect as the sheriff would possess in such cases, but without expense to the State. In case of a female having no guardian, parent, or other protector, who, in the opinion of the court, is a proper person to safely conduct her to such school, the court must appoint some suitable woman of satisfactory character and discretion, to take the custody of such minor, and deliver her to such school, and be entitled to the same compensation therefor as is otherwise provided to be paid to the sheriff in all cases where, if such minor were a boy, and were delivered by the sheriff to such school, he would be entitled to receive compensation under the terms of this chapter.

Corresponds to section twenty-eight as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 335.

Proceedings against minor's estates.

Sec. 2326y. In all cases, whether or not a superior judge has determined that the parent or guardian of the minor is able to pay the expenses of the minor's maintenance in such institution, if it appears that any minor, during the term of confinement at such school, had, or has, property sufficient to cover his expenses, or some part thereof, his estate is subject to the payment of such expenses, and the superior court must, by proper order entered in the matter of the estate and guardianship of such minor, cause his guardian to apply so much of such estate as may be from time to time necessary, to pay such expenses and cost of maintenance. In each case the proceedings must be similar to those required of guardians in ordinary sales of property belonging to wards. When any money is realized by virtue of such sale, the court must, by proper order, cause the same, or a sufficient amount thereof, to be paid to the trustees of such institution, or, in case any expense of said minor has been borne already by the State or county, then such court must order such county or State to be fully reimbursed for such expense, by causing a sufficient amount therefor to be placed in the state or county treasury.

Corresponds to section twenty-nine as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 336.

Auditing of demands.

Sec. 2326z. The board of trustees must examine, audit, and, if proper, allow the demands arising under the terms of this chapter, and the state controller must draw his warrants therefor, payable out of the proper fund, and the state treasurer must pay the same out of any appropriations made for that purpose.

Corresponds to section thirty as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 336.

§§ 2327-2327c. That a new chapter, numbered VIII, to consist of sections twenty-three hundred and twenty-seven to twenty-three hundred and twenty-seven c, be added, to read :

CHAPTER VIII.

JOINT BOARD OF TRAINING SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

- SEC. 2327. Joint board, members and meetings of.
2327a. Duties of the joint board.
2327b. Orders and regulations, who to put in force.
2327c. Compensation of members of joint board.

Joint board, members and meetings of.

Sec. 2327. There is hereby created a joint board of training school trustees for the Whittier State School and the Preston School of Industry, to be composed of the governor, the superintendent of public instruction, the state controller, and the president of each board of trustees of said schools. The superintendent of public instruction is ex officio secretary of such board, and must keep a full record of all proceedings of the joint meetings of the board, and must notify the secretary of each board of trustees of the proceedings and action of the joint board. The joint board must meet on the second Friday in the month of May, nineteen hundred and three, at Sacramento, California, and must meet thereafter at least once in each year at such place as the board may determine. Special meetings may be called by the governor for the transaction of any urgent business affecting the welfare of either or both of such schools. At any meeting a majority of the board must constitute a quorum.

Duties of the joint board.

Sec. 2327a. It is the duty of each joint board:

1. To adjust and equalize the salaries of the officers and employés of such schools, and to fix the number thereof in each school;
2. To act at the request of any members thereof or by any officer of such schools, as a board of arbitration in matters concerning the management of each of such schools as may need adjustment;
3. To prescribe a series of text-books, which must include, as far as the same are published, the state series;
4. To prescribe a course of study, which must conform as nearly as practicable to that pursued in the public schools of the State;
5. To pass any general regulation for the welfare of such schools and the inmates thereof;
6. To classify the male inmates thereof so as to place in one school all those under the age of fourteen years, and in the other all those over that age;
7. To classify the inmates of each school so as to put in operation the cottage system in the government and discipline thereof.

Orders and regulations, who to put in force.

Sec. 2327b. The board of trustees of such school must put into operation the orders and regulations adopted by the joint board created by this chapter, in accordance with section twenty-three hundred and twenty-seven a thereof.

Compensation and members of joint board.

Sec. 2327c. The members of the joint board receive no compensation for their services, but must be allowed all necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

§ 2349. That section twenty-three hundred and forty-nine be amended to read:

Sec. 2349. The following streams and waters are declared public ways: So much of a slough as lies between Simonds canal, in the town of Alviso, and the bay of San Francisco; Petaluma river, from its mouth to the southerly line of Washington street in the city of Petaluma; the Sonoma river, between its mouth and a point opposite Fowler's hotel in the town of San Luis; the Napa river, between its mouth and the toll-bridge; the Suisun river, between its mouth and the town of Suisun embarcadero; the Sacramento river, between its mouth and the mouth of Middle creek; the Feather river, between its mouth and a point fifty feet below the bridge crossing Feather river first above the mouth of the Yuba river; the Yuba river, between its mouth and a point at the mouth of the slough at the foot of F street, in the city of Marysville; the San Joaquin river, between its mouth and Sycamore point; the Stockton slough, between its mouth and the west line of El Dorado street, in Stockton; the Mokelumne river, between its mouth and the first falls; the Tuolumne river, between its mouth and Dickinson's ferry; Deer creek, between the house of Peter Lassen and its mouth; Big river, three miles from its mouth; Noyo river, three miles from its mouth; Albion river, three miles from its mouth; San Antonio creek, in the county of Alameda, from its mouth to the old embarcadero of San Antonio; the Arroyo del Medo, in the county of Santa Clara, from its mouth to the upper line of the town of New Haven; Mission creek, in the county of San Francisco; that portion of Channel street in the city of San Francisco, and lying east of and between the easterly line of Harrison street and the water front of the bay of San Francisco, the width thereof to be sixty feet from Harrison street to the northeasterly line of Seventh street, and one hundred and forty feet from the northeasterly line of Seventh to the city front; that certain creek running through tide-land survey numbered sixty-eight, and swamp and overflowed land survey numbered one hundred and forty-five, from its mouth to the head of tide-water therein; San Leandro Creek, from its mouth at San Francisco bay to Andrews' landing; San Lorenzo creek, from its mouth at San Francisco bay to Roberts' landing; Johnson's creek, from its mouth at San Francisco bay to Simpson's landing; the north branch of Alameda creek, from its mouth to Eden landing; San Rafael and Corte Madera creeks, in Marin county, from their mouths as far up as tide-water flows therein; the Neuces creek, from its mouth at Suisun bay to a point one half mile above the warehouse of George P. Loucks; Diablo creek, from its junction with the Neuces, to a point opposite the warehouse of Frank Such, in Contra Costa County; the Arroyo de San Antonio, or Keys creek, in Marin county, from its mouth at Tomales bay to the warehouses on the point at Keys embarcadero; all the streams and sloughs emptying into Elk river, and all streams and sloughs south of Eureka, in Humboldt county, which are now or at any time have been used for the purpose of floating logs or timber, and all the sloughs south of Humboldt point, in said county, that at high water have a depth of two feet of water, and wide enough to float and admit a boat carrying five tons or more freight; Novato creek, or estuary, in Marin county, from its mouth to Sweetzer's landing; Salinas river and Elkhorn slough, or Estero Viejo, in Monterey county, from its mouth as far up as tide-water flows; First Napa creek, Second Napa creek, and Third Napa creek, in Sonoma county, between Napa and Sonoma rivers; Moro Cojo slough, in Monterey county, from Salinas river to tide-water; Gallinas, or Guyanas, slough or creek, in Marin county, from its mouth to the line of the Sonoma and Marin railroad; Clear Lake, in Lake county; Mokelumne river, from the San Joaquin river to a point on said Mokelumne river one mile below Dry creek.

Adds all after the words "First Napa creek," and is intended to codify the statutes of 1873-4, p. 790; 1875-6, p. 483; 1877-8, p. 630, and 1869-70, p. 22.

§§ 2351-2354. That there be added four new sections, codifying the statute of 1889, p. 85, chap. 81, numbered twenty-three hundred and fifty-one to twenty-three hundred and fifty-four, to read:

Sec. 2351. Upon application of any individual, association, or corporation, interested, the board of supervisors of any county may, by ordinance, declare all or any portion of any river or stream lying within the county which has not been declared by law to be navigable, and which is not in fact navigable for commercial purposes, to be a public highway for the floating and transportation of logs, timber, and lumber, and it thereupon becomes a public highway for such purpose, subject only to the reservations hereinafter contained; and the board may also, at the same time, or at any time thereafter, direct the widening, deepening, straightening, removing obstructions from, building of dams and booms in, and otherwise improving such streams as may be necessary to render them fit and suitable for the purpose intended, and enter into contracts for the performance of such work according to law.

Corresponds to section one of the original act.

Sec. 2352. If any owner of land adjacent to or across which such stream flows does not consent to the use of the stream for such purpose, and the making of the improvements directed, with the right to pass along the banks of the stream for the purpose of doing the work and keeping the same in repair, and properly superintending and managing the use of such highway for the purpose intended, and the taking, at a fair rate of compensation, of such timber and other materials along the bed and banks of the stream as may be necessary for the construction and repair of the improvements, and grant the same to the county by suitable instrument in writing, on application, the board of supervisors may contract for and purchase any or all of such rights; or, if they cannot purchase at a satisfactory price, may authorize proceedings to be commenced in the name of the county to condemn them in the manner directed by title seven, part three, of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Corresponds to section two of the original act.

Sec. 2353. Instead of itself securing the various rights, and making the improvements necessary, the board may enter into a contract with any corporation, association, or individual, leasing the use of such highway, with the right to collect tolls for the rafting, floating, and booming of logs, timber, and lumber thereon, at rates of toll for transporting and for booming to be fixed by the board, for a period of years from the completion of the work, to be fixed by it, in consideration of an agreement in such contract to be contained that the lessee will secure the right of way and other necessary rights from land-owners, and make all improvements necessary for the successful carrying on of the business and use of the stream for the purpose intended, without any expense to the county, and keep the same in good repair during the period of such lease.

Corresponds to section three of the original act.

Sec. 2354. Within twenty days from the making of such contract, and before it goes into effect, the lessee must enter into a bond in such sum as may be fixed by the board, and with sureties approved by it, conditioned for the faithful performance of the covenants and agreements on the part of the lessee in such contract contained. He has power to proceed in the name of the county to condemn and secure the right of way, and other rights and privileges referred to in section twenty-three hundred and fifty-two, in the manner directed by the provisions of title seven, part three, of the Code of Civil Procedure. Such lessee during the term of such lease must receive and float, or allow to be floated, in such stream, all floatable logs, timber, and lumber that may be offered for transportation therein by any person; provided, the same be plainly marked with a distinctive mark. He has the right to charge and collect for his own use tolls therefor, and for booming the same, at rates fixed by the board of supervisors, and inserted in the lease, and has a lien thereon for such tolls, which may be enforced in the manner provided in section three thousand and fifty-two of the Code of Civil Procedure. Upon expiration of the lease, the lessee must turn the property, with all improvements, over to the county, in good repair.

Corresponds to sections four, five, six, and seven of the original act.

§ 2368. That section twenty-three hundred and sixty-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 2368. When any vessel is at anchor in the nighttime in any of the harbors or ports within the jurisdiction of this State, the master or other person at the time in charge of the vessel must cause a conspicuous light to be shown in her rigging at least twenty feet above her deck, and another light from her taffrail, under penalty of fifty dollars for every neglect.

The words "to be" are inserted before "shown."

§ 2404. That section twenty-four hundred and four be amended to read:

Sec. 2404. Sheriffs, and all persons employed by them, or aiding in the recovery and preservation of wrecked property, are entitled to a reasonable allowance as salvage for their services, and to all expenses incurred by them in the performance of such services, out of the property saved; and the officer having the custody of such property must detain it until the same are paid or tendered. But the whole salvage claimed must not exceed one half of the value of the property or proceeds on which it is charged; and every agreement, order or adjustment allowing a greater salvage is void, unless ordered and allowed by the superior judge.

The word "county" stricken out and "superior" inserted.

§ 2414. That section twenty-four hundred and fourteen be amended to read:

Sec. 2414. The fees and expenses of the contest must be paid by the person upon whose application it was had, and are a charge on the property saved. Each referee is entitled to such per diem and expenses as the superior judge deems just.

The word "county" stricken out and "superior" inserted.

§§ 2429-2444. That in place of present article V there be adopted a new article, to consist of sections twenty-four hundred and twenty-nine to twenty-four hundred and forty-four, to read:

ARTICLE V.

PILOT COMMISSIONERS AND PILOTS.

- SEC. 2429. Boards of pilot commissioners, and their appointment.
- 2430. Commissioners' terms of office.
- 2431. Organization, offices, and meetings of the commissioners.
- 2432. Witnesses, and the administering of oaths.
- 2433. Powers of the board.
- 2434. Secretary's duties.
- 2435. Commissioners forbidden to have interest in pilot boats and steam tugs.
- 2436. Pilots, who may be.
- 2437. Examining and licensing of pilots and renewing licenses.
- 2438. Bonds of pilots.
- 2439. Pilotage fees, liability for.
- 2440. Indemnifying pilots for losses.
- 2441. Pilots must exhibit their licenses.
- 2442. Pilots carried to sea or unnecessarily detained.
- 2443. Penalties imposed on pilots.
- 2444. Penalty for acting as a pilot without authority.

Boards of pilot commissioners, and their appointment.

Sec. 2429. There must be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate:

1. A board of pilot commissioners for the ports of San Francisco, Mare Island, Vallejo, and Benicia, to consist of three experienced shipmasters or nautical men, citizens of the United States, and resident in either of the cities of San Francisco, Oakland, Alameda, Vallejo, or Benicia;
2. A board of pilot commissioners, to consist of three members, for Humboldt bay and bar, two thereof to be business men and one a competent shipmaster or nautical man, and all to be citizens of the United States and residents of Eureka or vicinity;

3. One commissioner, a citizen of San Diego or vicinity, who must be a competent shipmaster or nautical man; such commissioner, together with the mayor and the president of the chamber of commerce of the city of San Diego, constitute the board of pilot commissioners for the port of San Diego.

It will be found that the sections in this article are rearranged as recommended by our predecessors in their report of the Political Code heretofore made by them. The article as it now stands, like many other parts of the code, has an unnatural arrangement. It is headed "Pilots and Pilot Commissioners," and very singularly, while the latter body is the more important and controls the former, the provisions respecting it do not commence the article, but follow the various sections respecting pilots. The above section twenty-four hundred and twenty-nine consolidates provisions of section twenty-four hundred and forty and twenty-four hundred and forty-one, and also codifies the statute of 1871-2, p. 650, respecting San Diego, and of 1889, p. 416, providing for the appointment of pilots and defining their duties and fixing their compensation at the port of Wilmington and bay of San Pedro. The matters now in section twenty-four hundred and twenty-nine are transferred to section twenty-four hundred and thirty-six.

Commissioners' terms of office.

Sec. 2430. The commissioners hold their offices during the pleasure of the power appointing them, not exceeding four years from the date of their commissions.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and forty-two. The contents of present section twenty-four hundred and thirty are transferred to section twenty-four hundred and thirty-seven.

Organization, offices, and meetings of the commissioners.

Sec. 2431. The commissioners must organize as boards, respectively, by the election of presidents, secretaries, and treasurers. They must provide offices for themselves, in which meetings must be held as follows: The San Francisco board once in each month in San Francisco; the San Diego board at San Diego, also once in each month; and the Humboldt board, at Eureka, on the first Mondays in January, April, July, and October in each year. Regular meetings may be adjourned from time to time as the business of the board may require. Special meetings may be held in the manner provided by the by-laws. At all meetings a majority of such board constitutes a quorum for the transaction of business.

Contains the provisions of present section twenty-four hundred and forty-three; also provisions concerning secretaries and the adjournment of regular meetings, taken from section twenty-four hundred and forty-five; also that part of section four of the statute of 1871-2, p. 650, relating to the board of pilot commissioners for San Diego. The matter now in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-one is transferred to section twenty-four hundred and thirty-eight.

Witnesses, and the administering of oaths.

Sec. 2432. The president of each board is authorized to administer oaths in regard to any matter properly before it, and to issue subpoenas in like cases for witnesses. A witness disobeying such subpoena served on him must pay to the board one hundred dollars, for which judgment may be recovered by the president thereof in a civil suit.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and forty-two. The matters now in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-two are transferred to section twenty-four hundred and thirty-nine.

Powers of the board.

Sec. 2433. Each board must make by-laws and rules for the government of pilots appointed by it, not inconsistent with the laws of this State and of the United States, and furnish a copy thereof to each pilot appointed by it. It may adjourn its regular meetings from time to time. The Humboldt board must hold a special meeting on notice of any member, published in a newspaper in Humboldt county five days prior to the proposed meeting. The San Francisco board may appoint a secretary and fix his compensation, not to exceed two hundred and fifty dollars per month. The secretary of the Humboldt board must be one of the members thereof.

Corresponds to section twenty-four hundred and forty-five, with the insertion therein of the words "not inconsistent with the laws of this State or of the United States, and furnish a copy thereof to each pilot appointed by it." The matters now in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-three are transferred to section twenty-four hundred and forty.

Secretary's duties.

Sec. 2434. The secretary of each board must keep a journal of all its proceedings and acts, and a register of all pilots appointed, their residence and date of license; and must, under order of the board, issue licenses to be signed by the president, and countersign the same. The secretary of the Humboldt board is the treasurer thereof.

This is present section twenty-four hundred and forty-six. The matters now in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-four are transferred to section twenty-four hundred and forty-one.

Commissioners forbidden to have interest in pilot boats.

Sec. 2435. Neither the commissioners nor their secretaries must have any interest in any pilot boat or steam tug, nor in the earnings thereof, other than for compensation as herein provided. Any one violating this section forfeits his office.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and forty-seven. The contents of section twenty-four hundred and thirty-five are transferred to section twenty-four hundred and forty-three.

Pilots, who may be.

Sec. 2436. No person must be appointed a pilot unless he is an American citizen, over the age of twenty-one years, with a practical knowledge of the management of sailing vessels and steamboats, and of the tides, soundings, bearings, and distances of the several shoals, bars, rocks, points of land, lighthouses, and fog signals of the ports and harbors for which he is appointed, of good moral character, and temperate, with the skill and ability necessary to discharge the duties of pilot.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and twenty-nine. The matters now in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-six are transferred to section twenty-four hundred and eighty.

Examining and licensing pilots and renewing licenses.

Sec. 2437. Pilots appointed by commissioners must be carefully examined as to their qualifications, and, if found to be qualified and worthy, must receive licenses as pilots for the term of twelve months, which license must be thereafter annually renewed until the commissioners have good cause to withhold such renewal; and whenever the commissioners deem they have such cause, or intend for any reason to withhold such renewal, the secretary of the board of commissioners must serve notice, in writing, on such pilot, specifying the causes, at least ten days before the expiration of his license; and such pilot shall thereupon be entitled to a full hearing before said board.

Corresponds to section twenty-four hundred and thirty. The contents of section twenty-four hundred and thirty-seven are transferred to section twenty-four hundred and forty-three.

Bonds of pilots.

Sec. 2438. Every pilot must execute an official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, to be approved by the officer or board appointing him. The bonds of pilots appointed by commissioners must be filed with such commissioners.

Consists of matters now in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-one. The contents of section twenty-four hundred and thirty-eight are transferred to section twenty-four hundred and eighty-four.

Pilotage fees, liability for.

Sec. 2439. All vessels, their tackle, apparel, and furniture, and the master and owners thereof, are jointly and severally liable for pilotage fees, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Includes the matters now in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-two. The contents of present section twenty-four hundred and thirty-nine are transferred to section twenty-four hundred and forty-four.

Indemnifying pilots for losses.

Sec. 2440. If any pilot, in endeavoring to assist or relieve any vessel in distress, suffers loss or damage in his boats, sails, tackle, rigging, or appurtenances, the master, owner, or consignee of such vessel must pay the cash value of such loss or damage, to be ascertained by the commissioners.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and thirty-three, the matters now in section twenty-four hundred and forty having been transferred to section twenty-four hundred and thirty-nine.

Pilots must exhibit their licenses.

Sec. 2441. Every pilot, on boarding a vessel, when required by the master thereof, must exhibit his commission or license as a pilot. A refusal so to do subjects him to a forfeiture of his commission or license, and to a recovery of fifty dollars on his bond in a suit instituted for that purpose by the authority appointing him.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and thirty-four, the matters now in section twenty-four hundred and forty-one having been transferred to section twenty-four hundred and twenty-nine.

Pilots carried to sea or unnecessarily detained.

Sec. 2442. Every pilot carried to sea against his will, or unnecessarily detained on board of a vessel when a pilot boat is in attendance to receive him, is entitled to receive the sum of eight dollars per day while necessarily absent or detained, not to exceed in the aggregate the sum of one thousand dollars in any one case, which sum may be recovered by action against the master or owner of the vessel so taking him away.

Corresponds to the matters in present section twenty-four hundred and thirty-five, the contents of present section twenty-four hundred and forty-two having been transferred to section twenty-four hundred and thirty.

Penalties imposed on pilots.

Sec. 2443. When cruising off or standing out to sea, pilots must go to a vessel nearest to shore, or in the most distress, under a penalty of one hundred dollars; for refusing to go on board a vessel when required, a like penalty of one hundred dollars may be imposed; in either case, upon conviction, the pilot may be suspended or expelled, at the discretion of the commissioners.

Corresponds to the matters now in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-seven, the contents of present section twenty-four hundred and forty-three having been transferred to section twenty-four hundred and thirty-one.

Penalty for acting as a pilot without authority.

Sec. 2444. Any person not the master or owner, and not holding a commission or license as a pilot, who pilots any vessel into or out of any harbor or port of this State for which there are commissioned or licensed pilots, must be punished therefor as provided in section three hundred and seventy-nine of the Penal Code, and must pay to the pilot entitled to pilot such vessel, the amount of pilotage or towage collected by him.

Consists of the matters now in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-nine, those in present section twenty-four hundred and forty-four having been transferred to section twenty-four hundred and thirty-two.

§§ 2457-2491. That present articles VI and VII, consisting of sections twenty-four hundred and fifty-seven to twenty-four hundred and ninety-one, be repealed, and that in their stead there be added a new article VI, to consist of sections twenty-four hundred and fifty-seven to twenty-four hundred and eighty-four, to read:

ARTICLE VI.

PILOT REGULATIONS.

- SEC. 2457. Number of pilots to be licensed.
 2458. Boats to be kept by pilots.
 2459. Duties of pilots. Unlawful boarding of vessels.
 2460. Accounts to be rendered and payments made by pilots.
 2461. Suspension of pilots.
 2462. Causes for depriving pilots of licenses.
 2463. Complaints against pilots, and proceedings thereon.
 2464. Renewal of licenses, proceedings on refusal of.
 2465. Pilotage, rates of within and about harbor of San Francisco.
 2466. Pilotage, rates of into or out of San Francisco harbor.
 2466a. Pilotage, rates of into or out of San Diego.
 2466b. Pilotage, rates of into or out of Humboldt bay.
 2466c. Pilotage, rates of into or out of San Pedro.
 2467. Vessels in tow in bay of San Francisco.
 2468. Pilotage rates, exemptions from.
 2469. Pilots, rights of preference between.
 2470. Pilot bringing vessel in entitled to take her out.
 2471. Suits for penalties and forfeitures from pilots.
 2472. Compensation and expenses of Humboldt board.
 2473. Publication of receipts and expenditures.
 2474. Pilot negligently losing vessel or running her on shore.
 2475. Pilot's claim for extra services.
 2476. Pilots boarding vessels displaying signals.
 2477. Charges for licenses.
 2478. Duties and liabilities of pilots at Humboldt bay.
 2479. Pilot bringing vessel into Humboldt bay, priority acquired by.
 2480. Claims against the commissioners.
 2481. Loss or negligence at Humboldt bay.
 2482. Pilots for port of Wilmington and bay of San Pedro.
 2483. Regulations for pilots other than San Francisco and Humboldt.
 2484. Pilots' liabilities on their official bond.

Number of pilots to be licensed.

Sec. 2457. The San Francisco board must examine and license, in the manner prescribed, not less than fifteen nor more than twenty pilots for the port of San Francisco, and not more than two pilots for the ports of Mare Island, Vallejo, and Benicia; the San Diego board not more than four pilots, and the Humboldt board such number of pilots as are necessary.

The words "San Francisco board" substituted for "board of commissioners," and adds the words "the San Diego board not more than four pilots, and the Humboldt board such number of pilots as are necessary," thereby codifying section five of the act of 1871-2, p. 650, establishing pilots and pilot regulations in San Diego, and also includes the provisions now in section twenty-four hundred and seventy-six and there applicable to Humboldt only.

Boats to be kept by pilots.

Sec. 2458. Pilots must at all times keep, for their exclusive use, boats of such description and good condition as directed by the commissioners, or where they are appointed by the governor, such as are required by the service at the respective ports.

The words "or where they are appointed by the governor, such as are required by the service at the respective ports" added.

Duties of pilots. Unlawful boarding of vessels.

Sec. 2459. Every pilot in charge of a vessel arriving in any port or harbor of this State must safely moor the vessel in such position as the master of the vessel or harbormaster, if there be one, may direct. He must prevent all persons (except officers of the state or federal governments, owners or consignees of the vessel or cargo, and persons admitted on the express order of the master) from boarding such vessel until she has been safely moored. Any person who, in opposition to the master's orders, persists in boarding such vessel, or who, having boarded her, refuses to leave on command of such master or pilot, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and the pilot in charge of such vessel may arrest such person and take him immediately before a court of competent jurisdiction, to be proceeded against according to law.

The words "this State" substituted for "San Francisco"; after the word "harbormaster" are inserted the words "if there be one"; all the present section after the word "moored" omitted, and in place thereof is inserted the second sentence shown above. This change makes the section applicable to all ports and harbors of the State, instead of restricting it to San Francisco.

Accounts to be rendered and payments made by pilots.

Sec. 2460. Every pilot must, once in each month, on blanks to be furnished by the board of pilot commissioners; render to the board a verified account of all moneys received by him, or by any other person for him, or on his account; and pilots of the ports of San Francisco, Mare Island, Vallejo, and Benicia, must, in addition, pay five per cent thereof to the San Francisco board in full compensation for its official services, for the services of the secretary and treasurer, and all incidental expenses thereof. Such account must give the name of each vessel piloted, and the master thereof, and of each vessel for which pilotage has been charged or collected, and the amount charged to or collected from each, and any rebate made and allowed and the amounts thereof, where the same is registered, the depth of its draught, its tonnage, whether inward or outward bound, and whether the amount so received, collected, or charged is for full pilotage or half pilotage, and the secretary must record such account in full detail in a book prepared for that purpose, which book must at all times be open to public inspection.

Strikes out the words "of the harbor of San Francisco, Mare Island, Vallejo, and Benicia," and inserts after the word "account" the words "and pilots of the ports of San Francisco, Mare Island, Vallejo, and Benicia." The duty of making accounts is extended by this amendment to all pilots.

Suspension of pilots.

Sec. 2461. The board has power summarily to suspend pilots for misconduct, inattention to their duty, intoxication, or violation of any of the rules and regulations provided by the board for the government of pilots, and to revoke the license of pilots upon due proof as hereinafter provided. The board must immediately suspend every pilot complained of until the complaint is investigated and decided.

Corresponds to the present section of the same number.

Causes for depriving pilots of licenses.

Sec. 2462. Any pilot may be deprived of his license before its expiration for the following causes only:

1. For neglect, for thirty days after the same becomes due, as provided in the second preceding section, to render an account to the board of pilot commissioners of all moneys received by him for pilotage;

2. For neglect, for thirty days after the same becomes due, to pay over to the board the five per cent on the pilotage money received by him;

3. For rendering to the board a false account of pilotage received;

4. For absenting himself from duty for more than one month at any one time, except upon leave granted by the board, or by reason of sickness or personal injury;

5. For refusing to exhibit his license when requested to do so by the master of any vessel he may have boarded;

6. For intoxication, whether the same occurs while in charge of any vessel as pilot, or in charge of a pilot boat, or at any other time;

7. For negligently, ignorantly, or wilfully running any vessel on shore or otherwise rendering her liable to injury. Any pilot deprived of his license under this subdivision is thereafter ineligible to receive a license as pilot;

8. For wilful violation of the rules and regulations adopted by the board of commissioners for the government of pilots;

9. For failure to renew his bond when required by the board;

10. Incapacity, misconduct, or wilful violation of any duty prescribed by law or any regulation of the appointing power.

Adds subdivisions nine and ten, and before the word "intoxication" in subdivision six strikes out "habitual or occasional."

Complaints against pilots, and proceedings thereon.

Sec. 2463. No complaint against any pilot appointed by a board of pilot commissioners, for any of the charges specified in the preceding section, must be entertained by the board unless it is within the knowledge of the commissioners, or reduced to writing and verified, as in civil actions. When a written complaint is filed, the pilot accused must be forthwith served with a copy thereof by the secretary, and required to appear and answer within ten days thereafter. If, upon the hearing of a complaint and the testimony in relation thereto, the board adjudges the complaint well founded, and the pilot guilty of any of the acts or causes herein declared sufficient for depriving him of his license, the board must by order so declare, and forthwith revoke his license. Such order must be entered of record in the minutes by the secretary. Complaints against pilots appointed by the governor must be forwarded to him for his consideration and action. He may remove them for any cause specified in the preceding section.

Inserts the words "appointed by a board of pilot commissioners."

Renewal of licenses, proceedings on refusal of.

Sec. 2464. Whenever any pilot appointed by any of the boards of pilot commissioners has been notified that his license will not be renewed, as provided in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-seven, he is entitled to a trial and hearing thereon, in the same manner that other charges and complaints are tried under the provisions of section twenty-four hundred and sixty-three; and in all such cases, and in all cases of revocation of license, or suspension of a pilot for any cause, the board may, in its discretion, upon written application, setting forth the grounds thereof, verified by the party aggrieved, grant a rehearing; and in all cases the final decision of the board is subject to review in the superior court of any county, or city and county in this State, where the complaint was made, which court must hear and determine the same. All papers and proceedings must be immediately certified by the secretary of the board to such court when so required by the pilot interested therein. Any case so certified to the superior court must be tried de novo. The judgment of the court is final and conclusive. If the decision is reversed, the judgment operates directly to restore the pilot to his former rights, status, and privileges without further action of the board. But the board must, nevertheless, upon being served with a certified copy of such judgment, restore or renew the license of such pilot, as the judgment may direct.

Strikes out the words "twenty-four hundred and thirty" and inserts the words "twenty-four hundred and thirty-seven"; strikes out the words "of the city and county of San Francisco, to which court any such case, with all papers and proceedings therein, shall be immediately certified by the secretary of such board when so required by the pilot interested therein," and inserts in place thereof the words "any county or city and county in this State, where the complaint was made, which court must hear and determine the same. All papers and proceedings must be immediately certified by the secretary of the board to such court when so required by the pilot interested therein."

Pilotage, rates of within and about harbor of San Francisco.

Sec. 2465. The pilotage inside the heads to the anchorage opposite San Francisco and about the harbor, or between the harbor of San Francisco and the ports of Mare Island, Vallejo, or Benicia, must be at such rates as agreed on between the parties, not to exceed five dollars per foot draught.

Corresponds to the present section of the same number.

Pilotage, rates of into or out of San Francisco harbor.

Sec. 2466. The following shall be the rates of pilotage into or out of the harbor of San Francisco: All vessels, under five hundred tons, five dollars per foot draught; all vessels over five hundred tons, five dollars per foot draught, and four cents per ton for each and every ton registered measurement. When a vessel is spoken, inward or outward bound, and the services of a pilot are declined, one half the above rates must be paid. In all cases where inward bound vessels are not spoken until inside of the bar, the rates of pilotage and one half pilotage above provided must be reduced fifty per cent. Vessels engaged in the whaling or fishing trades are exempt from all pilotage, except where a pilot is actually employed.

Corresponds to the present section of the same number.

Pilotage, rates of into or out of San Diego.

Sec. 2466a. The following are the rates of pilotage into or out of the harbor of San Diego: All vessels under five hundred tons, five dollars per foot draught; all vessels over five hundred tons, five dollars per foot draught, and four cents per ton for each and every ton registered measurement; all vessels engaged in the whaling or fishing trades, one dollar per foot draught. When a vessel is spoken and the services of a pilot are declined, one half of the rate shall be paid. All vessels coasting between San Diego and any port in Oregon, Washington, and Alaska, and all vessels coasting between ports of this State, and all steamers from Panama connecting with the Panama railroad, touching at said port of San Diego, bound to other coast ports, are exempt from all charges for pilotage, unless a pilot is actually employed.

Codifies section fourteen of the statute of 1871-2, p. 650.

Pilotage, rates of into or out of Humboldt bay.

Sec. 2466b. The following are the rates of pilotage and tonnage into or out of Humboldt bay and harbor:

1. For piloting vessels, eight dollars per foot draught;
2. For towage, an amount to be agreed upon between the parties.

Corresponds to the provisions of present section twenty-four hundred and eighty, providing the fees to be collected by the pilots of Humboldt.

Pilotage, rates of into and out of San Pedro.

Sec. 2466c. The following are the rates of pilotage into or out of the bay of San Pedro, at the outer anchorage: All vessels under five hundred tons, five dollars per foot draught; all vessels over five hundred tons, ten cents per ton for each and every ton gross registered tonnage. For all vessels engaged in the whaling or fishing trade, the rate of pilotage is one dollar per foot draught. When a vessel is spoken and the services of a pilot are declined, the pilot is entitled to one half pilotage rates. All vessels engaged in the coasting trade between the ports of the United States on the Pacific coast are exempt from all charges for pilotage, unless a pilot shall actually be employed. All vessels over five hundred tons gross register must, when piloted into or out of the harbor of San Pedro or Wilmington, over the bar, adjoining Dead Man's Island, pay pilotage rates as follows: five dollars per foot draught, and five cents per ton for each ton gross registered tonnage.

Corresponds to section nine of the statute of 1889, p. 416.

Vessels in tow in bay of San Francisco.

Sec. 2467. Any vessel in tow of a steam tug, between the harbor of San Francisco and the ports of Mare Island, Vallejo, or Benicia, is exempt from all charges for pilotage, unless a pilot is actually employed.

Corresponds to the present section of the same number.

Pilotage rates, exemptions from.

Sec. 2468. All vessels sailing under an enrollment, and licensed and engaged in the coasting trade between the port of San Francisco and any other port of the United States, are exempt from all pilotage, unless a pilot is actually employed. All foreign vessels, and all vessels from a foreign port or bound thereto, and all vessels sailing under a register between the port of San Francisco and any other port of the United States, are liable for pilotage and half pilotage, as provided in section twenty-four hundred and sixty-six.

Corresponds to the present section of the same number.

Pilots, rights of preference between.

Sec. 2469. When two or more pilots offer their services to any vessel inward bound, the pilot first offering, or one connected with the same boat, has preference, and if the service of another is accepted, the vessel, her appurtenances, and the master and owner thereof, are jointly and severally liable to the pilot entitled to such preference for one half the amount of pilotage he would have been entitled to had his services been accepted; provided, that at the bay of San Diego this section does not apply, except to a vessel outside of a line from Point Lomas and the southeast end of Zuinga shoal; and provided further, that the provisions hereof do not apply at the bay of San Pedro, except to a vessel outside of a line from Point Firman lighthouse and the southeast end of the twenty-six fathoms bank.

Adds the clause commencing with "provided," to conform the section to the provisions of section thirteen of the statute of 1871-2, p. 650, and section eight of the statute of 1889, p. 416.

Pilot bringing vessel in entitled to take her out.

Sec. 2470. Any pilot bringing a vessel into the harbor of San Francisco (or one connected with his boat) shall be entitled to take such vessel to sea again when she departs; provided, such pilot and those connected with his boat have not in the meantime in any manner become disqualified or incapacitated; and if such preference is disregarded by the master of such vessel, the vessel, master, and owner are liable to the pilot entitled to such preference for one half the amount to which he would be entitled if his services had been accepted.

Corresponds to the present section of the same number.

Suits for penalties and forfeitures from pilots.

Sec. 2471. The commissioners must sue for and recover all penalties and forfeitures from pilots, masters, or owners of vessels or other persons, or from the vessels violating any of the provisions of this article. The money so collected by the Humboldt board must be paid into the county treasury of Humboldt county, for the use of the public schools; the commissioners first deducting therefrom, if sufficient, enough to defray their salaries and necessary expenses.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and eighty-two, and the first sentence of that section is thereby made applicable to all commissioners, irrespective of the port for which they may be appointed.

Compensation and expenses of Humboldt board.

Sec. 2472. The members of the Humboldt board must each receive the sum of four dollars per day for each day actually employed in the discharge of their duties, and all necessary expenses for stationery, lights, and fuel used in their office, which sum must be deducted from the moneys received by them before depositing the same in the county treasury.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and eighty-three.

Publication of receipts and expenditures.

Sec. 2473. On the first week in January in each year, the secretary of the board must cause to be published, in a newspaper printed and published in the city where the board holds its meetings, a full account of all the receipts and expenditures for the year previous.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and eighty-four, striking out the words "published in Humboldt county," and inserting in place thereof the words "printed and published in the county where the board holds its meetings."

Pilot negligently losing vessel or running her on shore.

Sec. 2474. A pilot negligently losing a vessel must not thereafter receive a license as a pilot, and is liable for all damages sustained in consequence of such neglect. If a pilot negligently runs a vessel on shore, he must receive no pilotage; and he is liable on his bond for all damages sustained.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and eighty-seven.

Pilot's claim for extra services.

Sec. 2475. The master, owner, or consignee of any vessel to whom any pilot may have rendered, upon request of either of them, any extra service for the preservation of such vessel while in distress, must pay such pilot, in addition to his regular fees, such amount as the commissioners determine to be a reasonable and just reward, if no special agreement has been made between such master, owner or consignee of such vessel and the pilot.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and eighty-eight.

Pilots boarding vessels displaying signals.

Sec. 2476. A pilot boarding any vessel displaying a signal for a pilot is entitled to receive full pilotage.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and eighty-nine.

Charges for licenses.

Sec. 2477. The commissioners are entitled to charge for each license to a pilot a sum not exceeding fifty dollars; and any master of a coasting vessel, being an American citizen, can, upon application to the pilot commissioners, obtain a special license for the use of such vessel only, by paying the commissioners for the same at the rate of one dollar per ton; all such vessels must be under one hundred and seventy-five tons burden.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and ninety.

Duties and liabilities of pilots at Humboldt bay.

Sec. 2478. All pilots licensed or appointed for Humboldt bay must be attached to a steamboat well furnished and fitted for the service, having the necessary hawsers and spring lines suitable to cross and tow vessels over Humboldt bar in ordinarily rough weather. Any damage to a vessel in tow of a pilot boat, resulting from negligence or carelessness, may be recovered of the pilot boat, its owners, or the pilots in charge thereof at the time the injury occurred; they are jointly and severally liable therefor.

Corresponds to the present section of the same number.

Pilot bringing vessel into Humboldt bay, priority acquired by.

Sec. 2479. The pilot who brings any vessel into Humboldt bay has priority in piloting or towing the same out; and the master of the vessel outward bound must apply for pilotage or towage on board the pilot boat which brought the vessel in, and tender the pilotage or towage fee. Such pilot, or a suitable substitute, must immediately render the required service, and for a failure so to do forfeits his appointment. If the pilot, in bringing the vessel in, was guilty of negligence or carelessness, he thereby forfeits his right of priority.

Codifies section one of the statute of 1889, p. 416.

Claims against the commissioners.

Sec. 2480. All claims against the commissioners must be considered at a stated meeting, and if correct must be allowed and paid.

Consists of the matters now in section twenty-four hundred and ninety-one.

Loss or negligence at Humboldt bay.

Sec. 2481. If any vessel bound for Humboldt bay is lost or unnecessarily detained for want of a pilot or steam tugboat, after raising a signal for a pilot within eight miles of the bar at the entrance of the bay, the pilots may be suspended or displaced by the commissioners; and those guilty of negligence or inattention must pay to the commissioners a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, to be recovered in a suit by them, and are liable to the owners of the lost or detained vessel in the amount of damage resulting from such negligence or inattention. The commissioners must publish all proceedings had in such cases.

Corresponds to the present section of the same number.

Pilots for port of Wilmington and bay of San Pedro.

Sec. 2482. It is the duty of the governor to appoint not more than two persons, residents of San Pedro or vicinity, as pilots for the port of Wilmington and the bay of San Pedro. They must have the qualifications prescribed in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-six.

Codifies section one of the statute of 1889, p. 416, adding the requirement that they must have the qualifications prescribed in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-six.

Regulations for pilots other than San Francisco and Humboldt.

Sec. 2483. Pilots for all ports in this State, other than San Francisco, Mare Island, Benicia, and Humboldt bay, are governed by the following regulations:

1. They must keep, for the purpose of piloting, at least one boat for every six pilots, in good condition, and seaworthy, sufficiently large to cruise in heavy weather, to be exclusively used as a pilot boat;

2. They must cruise at least ten marine miles seaward from the headlands at the entrance of the port;

3. When the person commanding any vessel refuses to take a pilot, the pilot first offering his services is entitled to half pilotage;

4. For incompetency, neglect of duty, or other good cause, the governor may suspend or remove any pilot appointed by him;

5. They must strictly observe and obey all legally established quarantine regulations.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and thirty-six, omitting subdivision three thereof, the matters therein having been provided for in section twenty-four hundred and thirty-six and following.

Pilots' liabilities on their official bonds.

Sec. 2484. For every violation of the duties and regulations herein specified, the pilot so violating is liable on his official bond to the party aggrieved to the amount of the damage sustained.

Corresponds to present section twenty-four hundred and thirty-eight.

§ 2524a. That a new section, numbered twenty-five hundred and twenty-four a, be added, to read:

Sec. 2524a. The commissioners are hereby authorized to construct railroads, bridges, and drawbridges over any state lands, or lands within their jurisdiction and control, along the exterior water front of the city and county of San Francisco, and across the outlet of, but not along, any water highway or open canal extending inland.

Codifies the statute of 1889, p. 338.

§ 2524b. That a new section, numbered twenty-five hundred and twenty-four b, be added, to read:

Sec. 2524b. The commissioners must adopt such regulations as they deem proper, from time to time, to secure to any and all railroad companies, now or hereafter receiving or delivering freight or passengers within the city and county of San Francisco, on equal terms, the right to use the railroad so constructed for the transportation of their engines, trains, and cars, upon such terms of payment to the board, and under such restrictions, as the said board shall deem just. The said board has the power, and it is its duty, from time to time as the occasion therefor may arise, to adopt just and reasonable regulations to prevent the passage of engines, trains, or cars over said road, across the streets of the city and county of San Francisco, at such hours and in such manner as may interfere with the safe and convenient use of said streets. Upon the adoption of any regulation or amendment thereof, under this section, a copy must be immediately furnished by the said board to all persons, companies, and corporations using said railroad.

Codifies section two of the statute of 1889, p. 388.

§ 2524*c*. That a new section, numbered twenty-five hundred and twenty-four c, be added, to read:

Sec. 2524*c*. Every person, corporation, firm, or association, who, by false returns, or in any manner, avoids the payment of all or any portion of any tolls that may be due to any board of state harbor commissioners of the State of California, from any source or cause, as provided by law or the rules and regulations of said board, is liable for and must pay to said board twice the amount of such tolls, and in addition thereto the sum of ten dollars.

Codifies the statute of 1891, p. 27.

§ 2524*d*. That a new section, numbered twenty-five hundred and twenty-four d, be added, to read:

Sec. 2524*d*. The owner or owners of any fishing boat which shall be moored to any portion of the water front of the city and county of San Francisco, except such as shall have been set apart for that purpose by the board, under the provisions of this article, must be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Codifies section five of the statute of 1871-2, p. 728.

§ 2524*e*. That a new section, numbered twenty-five hundred and twenty-four e, be added, to read:

Sec. 2524*e*. The board may insure against loss or damage by fire, the wharves, docks, piers, slips, bulkheads, and structures contained thereon, and improvements located inside and outside of the water front line, the property of the State of California, and under the control and supervision of the board, situate on the water front at San Francisco. This insurance is to be effected and distributed at the discretion and under the direction of the board; the aggregate amount thereof not to exceed the sum of five hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and the cost thereof not to exceed the amount of eleven thousand dollars in premiums for policies to be written for a three years' term, which must be defrayed and paid out of the San Francisco harbor fund.

Codifies the statute of 1901, p. 809.

§ 2577. That section twenty-five hundred and seventy-seven be amended to read:

Sec. 2577. The secretary must keep the office of the board open every day, legal holidays excepted, from nine o'clock A. M. till four o'clock P. M. He must safely keep and be responsible for all moneys paid into the office and for all the books and papers of the board, attend their meetings and keep a perfect record of their proceedings, with the names of the commissioners present thereat. He must keep in proper books an account of all moneys received and paid, and on or before the tenth day of each month must send to the state controller a statement thereof, under oath, for the preceding month, showing the sources from which such moneys were received, and the purposes for which they were paid, and must also report to the controller the amount paid to the state treasurer for the month covered by such statement. He must enter daily, in proper wharf-books, the returns made by the wharfingers and collectors, and on the last day of each month settle the accounts of each of them, and balance the said books as soon as possible thereafter. When money is received from any source, he must retain a stub corresponding in number, date, and amount with the receipt given therefor, and he must require the person paying it to sign such stub. He must record at length all contracts and agreements made by the board, and also all bonds executed by officers of the board, and keep a record of all personal property purchased and its cost, and in case any be sold, the name of the purchaser, date of sale, and the price received therefor. Before entering on the duties of his office, he must give an official bond in the sum of twenty thousand dollars, and take and subscribe an official oath. Said bond must be approved by the board by written indorsement thereon, and be filed with such oath in the office of the secretary of state. The assistant secretary must attend at the office during office hours, and must perform such services as may be required of him by the secretary of the board. Before entering upon the duties of his office he must give an official bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars, and take and subscribe an official oath. Said bond must be approved by the board by written indorsements thereon, and be filed with such oath in the office of the secretary of state. The attorney must attend to the prosecution and defense of all suits and render such legal services as may be required of him by the board. The chief engineer must prepare such plans and specifications as the board may direct, and if adopted, and the work ordered by the board to be done, must superintend its construction. He must give constant attention to the condition of the seawall and thoroughfares, of the sheds, wharves, piers, and landings, of the streets or parts thereof under the jurisdiction of the board, and of the construction and operating of the seawall railroad, and when repairs are needed must forthwith report to the board, in writing, their nature and extent, and, if ordered by the board, must have the same done at once. He must keep himself informed as to the depth of the water in the various docks and slips, and report to the board from time to time what dredging is required. He must keep a register, properly indexed, showing the date, place, and character of every piece of work done and dock dredged, when begun and when finished, with proper descriptions and drawings. He must take and subscribe an official oath, and give a bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars, to be approved by the board by written indorsement thereon. Said bond and oath must be filed in the office of the board. The chief wharfinger must station, berth, and regulate the position of vessels in the docks and harbors, and cause them to remove from time to time, and from place to place, as the general convenience, safety, and good order may require. Subject to such regulations, he must assign berths to vessels in the order of their application after entering the harbor. He must supervise the wharfingers, and report to the board all cases of failure to perform their duties, and require all shipmasters, consignees, pilots, and masters of tugboats to conform to the regulations of the board. He must require the docks, slips, wharves, piers, and other premises under the jurisdiction of the board to be kept free from all obstructions, and when parties fail to obey his order to remove the same, he must forthwith report the fact to the board, and execute its order in relation thereto. And it is his duty to execute and enforce the rules and regulations which may be established by such board pursuant to the provisions of this article, and he is also empowered to determine cases of collision by consent of all parties interested, and where damages do not exceed three hundred dollars, the decision is final. He must take in charge all abandoned watercraft and all boats picked up adrift, and secure the same, after which he must advertise for one week in one of the daily newspapers printed in the city of San Diego, giving the full particulars pertaining to the same, and request all parties interested to appear and establish their title or claim thereto, within twenty days from the last publication. If claimed within said period, such property must be delivered to the owner on payment of all costs of removing, securing, and advertising the same. If not claimed within said period, or if the owner fails to pay the charges, such property must be sold by the chief wharfinger to the highest bidder at public auction; the proceeds of such sale, less the cost, must be paid the owner, if claimed by him, or, if not claimed by the owner, must be paid to the board of state harbor commissioners; but the owner is entitled to receive from said board the amount so paid, if he claims the same within one year from the date of said payment. For the purposes of this section the harbor of San Diego shall be the tide-waters of the entire bay of San Diego, and the jurisdiction of the chief wharfinger shall, when performing the duties required by this section, be co-extensive with such tide-waters. The chief wharfinger must keep an office in some convenient place upon the city front, which must be kept open every day (Sundays and holidays excepted) from seven A. M. till six P. M. The commissioners must furnish a suitable building for an office, for the exclusive use of said chief wharfinger, with suitable office furniture. And it is the duty of all pilots, masters of tugboats, masters, owners, and consignees of vessels, to obey all lawful orders and directions of the chief wharfinger in relation to the stationing, anchoring, and removing of vessels under and pursuant to such rules and regulations. He must take and subscribe an official oath, and give such official bond as the board may require, subject to their approval, to be indorsed thereon. Said bond and oath must be filed in the office of the board. The wharfingers have supervision of the wharves to which they are assigned, and must require the regulations of the board and orders of the chief wharfinger to be respected and obeyed, and good order to be preserved thereon. The collectors must collect the revenues in such manner as the board may direct, and must daily account for and pay all moneys into the office. The wharfingers and collectors must take and subscribe an official oath, and give such official bond as the board may require, subject to its approval, to be indorsed thereon. Said bond and oath to be filed in its office. All the above named officers must perform such other duties pertaining to their positions as the board may from time to time prescribe. The board may, in its discretion, employ an assistant to the chief engineer, an assistant to the chief wharfinger, a draughtsman, a superintendent of dredgers, a yardmaster, and such men on the dredgers, scows, tugboats, fireboats, and railroad, and in doing urgent repairs, as it deems advisable, and prescribe their bonds, duties, and compensation; such employés hold their positions and are removable at the pleasure of the board; but no officer or employé of the board must be removed or otherwise prejudiced for refusing to contribute to any political fund, or to render any political service; nor must the board, collectively or individually, use its official influence to coerce the political action of any of the officers or employés. Nor must the state dredgers be employed to dredge slips not under the control of the State, nor private work of any character. Nor must the commissioners, nor their appointees, be interested in any contract for the erection or repairing of any work described in this article. Any commissioner or appointee who shall be interested is guilty of a felony.

The words "proceeds of the sale" inserted, to correct a manifest omission.

§ 2592. That section twenty-five hundred and ninety-two be amended to read:

Sec. 2592. The commissioners must annually make to the governor a full report of all moneys by them received and disbursed, stating specifically for what the same was received and for what purposes expended, and must give a concise account of all improvements made, and the general condition of property under their charge.

Reports are, by the amendment, required to be made annually instead of biennially.

§§ 2610-2613. That a new article, number I, codifying the statute of 1897, p. 443, to consist of sections twenty-six hundred and ten to twenty-six hundred and thirteen, be added, to read:

ARTICLE I.

DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS.

- Sec. 2610. Highway commissioner—appointment, qualification, salary, and rooms of.
2611. Duties and powers of department.
2612. Attorney-general's duties. Salaries and expenses.
2613. Allowance of expenses.

Highway commissioner—appointment, qualification, salary, and rooms of.

Sec. 2610. A highway commissioner, appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, constitutes the department of highways. He holds such office for the term of four years from and after the date of his qualification. In the event of a vacancy in the office before the end of a term, it must be filled by the governor, by appointment, for the unexpired term, which appointment must be confirmed by the senate at its next session. He must be a civil engineer, and be selected with particular reference to his qualifications for, and practical knowledge of, highway location, construction, and maintenance, and must devote his entire time to the duties of his office, and must not actively engage in any other pursuit while serving as such commissioner. He must file a bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars, with at least two sufficient sureties, for the faithful performance of his duties, which bond must be approved by the governor and filed with the secretary of state, and qualify by taking and filing an official oath. The office of the department of highways must be in the state capitol building, and the secretary of state must assign to the department for its use such rooms as may be necessary for its accommodation. Such commissioner shall receive a salary of three thousand dollars per annum.

Consolidates sections one, two, three, four, and seven.

Duties and powers of department.

Sec. 2611. The department of highways has the following powers and must perform the following duties:

1. To adopt a seal for the authentication of its acts, records, and proceedings;
2. To appoint a secretary at a salary of fifteen hundred dollars, and a stenographer at a salary of twelve hundred dollars per annum, who hold office at the pleasure of the department;
3. To take possession, in the name of the State, as rapidly as the funds provided for will permit, of all roads which have been or may be declared state highways ;

4. To have charge of all expenditures made by the State for highway purposes, except as otherwise provided by law; and all moneys appropriated for such purposes are payable upon proper order of said department. All claims and accounts which may be incurred by the department must, however, before payment, be audited by the board of examiners ;

5. To personally perform all the engineering work of the department ; to make examination into existing highway conditions, and such investigations within the State, as will put at its service the most approved methods of highway improvement ; to supply on request, without charge, any information relative to highways, required by any county or district official having care of and authority over highways within this State ; to collect and collate data relating to geological formation of the State, in so far as it relates to material for highway construction, and make analyses and tests of such material as it may deem suitable for highway uses, with the view of determining the value of the same for such purposes ; to prepare and adopt styles and forms of books for use by officials, in which to keep accounts of the expenditure of highway money, and all records or proceedings relating to highways ; to prepare such forms as may be necessary for use in connection with opening, abandoning, altering, locating, constructing, maintaining, obtaining title to, or otherwise relating to proposed state highways ; and such books and forms when so adopted must be the standard for use in this State, and copies of them must be forwarded to the various officials who are charged with keeping or using the same, and such officials must immediately prepare books and forms after the style shown by such standard, and thereafter use them exclusively for the purposes for which they are intended ;

6. To adopt such general forms for the surveying of state highways, mapping and keeping the notes thereof, and the permanent marking of the same on the ground, as it deems necessary, and to issue instructions defining such general forms and markings to the person having charge of the making of such surveys, and it shall thereafter be the duty of such persons to follow the methods prescribed in such instructions ;

7. To call upon any state, county, or district official to furnish it with any information contained in his office, which relates to or is in any way necessary to the proper performance of the work of the department, and it is the duty of such officials to furnish such information without cost ;

8. To prepare biennial reports to the governor, at least thirty days before each session of the legislature. Such report must embrace the work and investigations of the department for the previous two years, together with such recommendations for changes in the law as it deems advisable, and which the proper and economical maintenance of the highway demands;

9. To publish bulletins, maps, or diagrams containing data collected by the department, at such times and in such form as it in its discretion may determine; which reports, bulletins, and other matter must be printed by the superintendent of state printing, subject to the approval of the state board of examiners;

10. To employ such assistance of a special character as may be necessary and proper for the discharge of its duties, subject to the approval of the state board of examiners, and to purchase such supplies, fixtures, and conveniences as may be necessary in the performance of its work.

Subdivision one is new; subdivision two, as to the office of secretary, consolidates section six and fifteen; subdivision three corresponds to section eight; subdivision four to section nine; subdivisions five, six, seven, and nine to section ten; subdivision eight to section eleven; subdivision ten to section fourteen of the original act.

Attorney-general's duties. Salaries and expenses.

Sec. 2612. The attorney-general of the State is the legal adviser of the department, and it may call upon him for all such legal advice and services as the discharge of its duties may require. The expense incurred in locating and definitely surveying such highways in a county must be paid from the funds apportioned thereto for state highway purposes. The salaries of the officers of said department must be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers. All of the expenses of said department must be paid from the appropriations for the contingent expenses of the department.

Corresponds to parts of sections ten, fourteen, and fifteen.

Allowance of expenses.

Sec. 2613. The commissioner, or any employé of the department, must be allowed his necessary traveling expenses while engaged in the discharge of his duties.

Corresponds to section fourteen.

§ 2641. That section twenty-six hundred and forty-one be amended to read:

Sec. 2641. The board of supervisors of the several counties must divide their respective counties into suitable road districts, and may change the boundaries thereof, and each supervisor is ex officio road commissioner in his supervisor district, and must see that all orders of the board of supervisors pertaining to the roads in his district are properly executed; provided, when in any county the members of the board of supervisors thereof are not elected by districts, it is the duty of such board, by proper order, to be entered in its records, to divide such county into supervisor districts to correspond with the number of members of such board, and to assign to each member thereof one of such districts, of which he shall be such road commissioner.

The last clause of the section, being the one providing for the compensation of supervisors as highway commissioners, is omitted, as in conflict with section twenty-five of the county government act of 1897, p. 458. See David v. Post, 125 Cal. 210.

§ 2697. That a new section, numbered twenty-six hundred and ninety-seven, be added, to read:

Sec. 2697. Whenever it appears to the board of supervisors that any public road in any road district of the county has been, or is in danger of being, damaged by storm waters or floods, such board must adopt such measures as may be necessary to prevent such damage or to repair the same; and may construct flumes, ditches, or canals for the purpose of carrying off such storm waters or floods to a place of safety, and may condemn a right of way for such flumes, ditches, or canals for such purpose, and pay therefor from moneys in the general road fund of the county; but not more than the sum of one thousand dollars must be used for such purpose in any one road district of the county in any one year.

Codifies the statute of 1897, p. 404.

§ 2794. That section twenty-seven hundred and ninety-four be amended to read:

Sec. 2794. Every company that has once laid its road with plank, may relay it or any part of it with broken stone, gravel, shells, or other hard material, whereby a good, substantial road may be maintained.

The words "they keep a good, substantial road" stricken out, and in place thereof inserted the words "a good, substantial road may be maintained"; also, "their" changed to "its."

§ 2800. That section twenty-eight hundred be amended to read:

Sec. 2800. At any time within five years from filing the certificate of completion of any road constructed under the provisions of this chapter, or at any time after any toll road constructed and under operation under any of the laws of this State has been in existence for ten or more years, a county within which the road or any portion thereof is located, may purchase the same at a fair cash valuation, to be fixed by seven commissioners, all disinterested persons; three to be appointed by the board of supervisors of the county, three by the owners of the road, and one by a judge of the superior court of the county, who must estimate the fair cash value of the road and make report thereof, under oath, to the board of supervisors. If, within three months after filing the report, the appraised value thereof is tendered on behalf of the county to the owner of the road, or his authorized managing agent, in gold coin, the right of the owner to take tolls on the road is terminated and the road becomes the property of the county.

The word "to" inserted after "valuation," and "the" changed to "a" before the word "judge."

§ 2814. That section twenty-eight hundred and fourteen be amended to read:

Sec. 2814. The following persons, and none other, are exempt from payment of toll on wagon, turnpike, or plank roads:

1. Persons going to or from any funeral, and all funeral processions;

2. Troops in actual service of the State or of the United States, and persons going to or from a military training which by law they are required to attend;

3. Persons going to or from the courthouse in obedience to a subpoena in a criminal action;

4. Persons living within one mile of any gate by the most usually traveled road may pass it at one half toll, when not engaged in the transportation of other persons or their property;

5. Farmers living on their farms within one mile of any gate by the most usually traveled road may pass free when going to or from their work on such farms;

6. School children attending school within three miles of their parents' or boarding house;

7. Road commissioners and other members of the board of supervisors.

Subdivision seven is substituted for the words "the road overseer of the district through which the road passes, or the commissioners of highways for the purpose of inspecting the condition of the road."

§ 2848. That section twenty-eight hundred and forty-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 2848. Whenever the board of supervisors is about to fix the license tax and rate of tolls on a bridge or ferry, it must make inquiry into the present actual cash value and the cost of all necessary repairs and maintenance thereof, and for that purpose may examine, under oath, the owner or keeper of the same, and other witnesses, and the assessed value of the bridge or ferry on the assessment roll of the county. When the estimate of the board is made, if the same is not agreed to by the owner or keeper of the bridge or ferry, the same must be fixed by three commissioners, one to be appointed by the board of supervisors, one by the owner and keeper, and the third by a judge of the superior court of the county, who must hear testimony, and fix such value and cost according to the facts and report the same to the board of supervisors under oath. In all estimates of the fair cash value of the bridge or ferry, the value of the franchise must not be taken into consideration.

The words "judge of the superior court of the county" substituted for "county judge."

§ 2908. That section twenty-nine hundred and eight be amended to read:

Sec. 2908. When any lands are sought to be appropriated and used for a wharf, chute, or pier, of which the applicant is not the owner, or of which the right of way and use thereof have not been obtained by agreement, these facts and the particular description of such land must be set forth in the petition of the applicant, and a copy of the notice of application must be served on the owner thereof by the sheriff of the county, whose official return is conclusive evidence of service, at least ten days prior to the appointed day set for the hearing of the same.

The words "of which" inserted before the words "the right."

§ 2909. That section twenty-nine hundred and nine be repealed, on the ground that notice to non-residents is sufficiently provided for in section twenty-nine hundred and seven, and that proceedings for acquiring title must be pursued as directed in section twenty-nine hundred and thirteen.

§ 2910. That section twenty-nine hundred and ten be amended to read:

Sec. 2910. On the day named in the notice, or to which the hearing is adjourned, the board of supervisors must hear proof of publication and service of notice; if satisfactory, the board must hear the allegations of the petition and any objections to the granting of the application and proofs in support of each. If from the proofs it appears that the public good or convenience will be promoted thereby, the board of supervisors may enter an order declaring that it intends to grant the right to erect or construct a wharf, chute, or pier, as prayed for, and to take tolls for the use of the same for the term of twenty years. The board must then advertise its intention to make such grant, and must receive bids, and award the franchise or privilege to the highest bidder, as prescribed by the act entitled "An act for the sale of street railway and other franchises in municipalities, and providing conditions for the grant of such franchises by legislative and other governing bodies, and repealing conflicting acts," approved March eleventh, nineteen hundred and one, and must thereupon grant such franchise or privilege to such highest bidder, subject to the conditions of such act.

The last sentence is added to harmonize the section with the statute of 1901, therein referred to.

§ 2918. That section twenty-nine hundred and eighteen be amended to read:

Sec. 2918. Any owner or keeper of a wharf, chute, or pier, who takes toll or wharfage for the use of the same when not in good repair, or when unsafe or dangerous, forfeits the sum of twenty-five dollars, to be recovered by order of the board of supervisors granting authority to construct it, for the use of the general road fund of the county, and is liable for all damages occasioned thereby.

The word "is" stricken out before "unsafe" and "when" inserted.

§ 2921. That section twenty-nine hundred and twenty-one be repealed, because inconsistent with, and impliedly repealed by, the statute of 1901, p. 265.

§§ 2949-2969. That chapter I of title VII, consisting of sections twenty-nine hundred and forty-nine to twenty-nine hundred and sixty-nine, be repealed, on the ground that it is in conflict with the laws of the United States on the same subject, and therefore unconstitutional and inoperative. (People v. Steamship Co., 8 Sawy. 648; Chi Lung v. Freeman, 92 U. S. 280; Henderson v. Mayor of New York, 92 U. S. 259; People v. Compagnie General, 107 U. S. 109; Gloucester F. I. v. Pennsylvania, 114 U. S. 196.)

§ 2980. That section twenty-nine hundred and eighty be amended to read:

Sec. 2980. The board also has power to:

1. Examine into and report what, in its best judgment, is the effect of the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage upon the industry, prosperity, happiness, health, and lives of the citizens of the State; also what legislation, if any, is necessary in the premises;

2. Compel all persons affected with leprosy or elephantiasis to inhabit such lazarettos or leper quarters as may be assigned to them by the board of supervisors of any county, or city and county, in which they shall be domiciled or settled; and such boards of supervisors are hereby vested with power, and required to make all necessary provision for the separation, detention, and care of persons affected with leprosy or elephantiasis, settled or domiciled in their respective counties, or cities and counties. The superintendent or person having charge of such lepers' quarters must forward quarterly statements, showing the name, age, sex, and birthplace of each leper under his care, to the secretary of state and state board of health, who must keep a proper record of such matters for the information of the public;

3. To make, or cause to be made, by an accredited agent, inspector, health or quarantine officer, at such point or points within the State limits as may be selected by the board for that purpose, an inspection of all vessels and railroad cars coming into the State, whenever there exists, in the opinion of the board, imminent danger of the introduction of contagious or infectious diseases into the State by means of shipping or railroad communication with other States, such inspection to be so conducted as to cause the least possible detention of vessels or trains, or interruption of travel, or inconvenience to the persons owning or operating the same, as far as consistent with the purposes of this chapter;

4. To cause the quarantine of any vessel or sidetracking or detention of any car or cars on which there is discovered among the passengers any case or cases of dangerous, contagious, or infectious disease, under such rules and conditions as may be prescribed by the board as applicable to the nature of the disease so existing, and to isolate such sick persons or remove them to a suitable place for treatment; to establish suitable refuge stations, and to cause the passengers and material in such infected vessels or cars to be subjected to disinfection and cleansing before proceeding further into the State, and in the case of smallpox, to offer free vaccination to all persons exposed in any vessel or cars or at any station;

5. To submit to the state analyst for analysis, any samples of food, drugs, medicines, medicinal plants, mineral waters, or other substances, the expense thereof to be defrayed by said board;

6. To declare quarantine against the entry of domestic animals from any State or Territory, or any foreign port or country, in which contagious or infectious diseases are known to exist, said infected parts to be named in the proclamation, and to require such animals to enter the State at such points only as said board may, by proclamation, determine. The words "domestic animals" must be construed to mean and include horses, mules, asses, cattle, sheep, goats, and swine;

7. To appoint one inspector, health or quarantine officer for each of the points of entry by vessel or railroad into this State, who must reside at such point as may be designated by said board, and receive such compensation for actual services as may be determined by said board, not to exceed one hundred dollars per month, such compensation to be paid out of any moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, upon the warrants of the state controller drawn upon the certificate of the state board of health allowing the same;

8. To require of the trustees or directors of the several school districts in this State, including the school directors of the several cities and towns, an annual report of the number of school children in their several districts who have been vaccinated, and the number unvaccinated;

9. To procure, manufacture, and distribute, in such manner as such board may determine, the medical substance known as diphtheria anti-toxine.

The amendment consists in adding subdivisions two to nine. Subdivision two corresponds to present section twenty-nine hundred and fifty-two; subdivision three codifies sections one and two of the statute of 1883, p. 376, chap. 90; subdivision four codifies section three of the same statute; subdivision five codifies section five of the statute of 1885,

p. 43; subdivision five codifies parts of sections one, two, and fifteen of the statute of 1889, p. 375; subdivision seven codifies section sixteen of the statute last referred to; subdivision eight codifies parts of the statute of 1889, p. 32; and subdivision nine codifies the statute of 1895, p. 35, chap. 39.

§§ 3006-3012. That sections thirty hundred and six to thirty hundred and twelve be repealed, because they are intended to govern officers of the city and county of San Francisco, whose duties are now provided for by the charter of that city.

§ 3013. That section thirty hundred and thirteen be amended to read:

Sec. 3013. Shipmasters bringing vessels into any harbor of the State, and masters, owners, or consignees having vessels in any harbor which have on board any cases of Asiatic cholera, smallpox, yellow, typhus, or ship fever, or any other contagious or infectious disease, must report the same, in writing, to the quarantine or health officer of the port or harbor, before landing any passenger, casting anchor, or coming to any wharf, or as soon thereafter as they, or either of them, become aware of the existence of either of the diseases on board their vessels.

The words "the harbor of San Francisco" stricken out, and the words "any harbor of this State" inserted, and the words "or any contagious or infectious disease" inserted; also the words "or health" inserted between the words "quarantine" and "officer."

§ 3014. That section thirty hundred and fourteen be amended to read:

Sec. 3014. No captain or other officer in command of any vessel sailing under a register, arriving at any port of this State, nor any owner, consignee, agent, or other person having charge of such vessel, must, under a penalty of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, land, or permit to be landed, any freight, passenger, or other person from such vessel until he has reported to the quarantine or health officer of the port or harbor, presented his bill of health, and received a permit from that officer to land freight, passenger, or other person.

The words "the port of San Francisco" stricken out, and in place thereof the words "any port of this State" inserted; also "or health" inserted between "quarantine" and "officer."

§ 3015. That section thirty hundred and fifteen be amended to read:

Sec. 3015. Every pilot who conducts into any port of this State, any vessel subject to quarantine or examination by the quarantine officer, must:

1. Bring the vessel no nearer the city than is allowed by law;
2. Prevent any person from leaving, and any communication being made with the vessel under his charge, until the quarantine officer has boarded her and given the necessary orders and directions;
3. Be vigilant in preventing any violation of the quarantine laws, and report, without delay, all such violations that come to his knowledge to the quarantine officer;
4. Present the master of the vessel with a printed copy of the quarantine laws, unless he has one;
5. If the vessel is subject to quarantine, by reason of infection, place at the mast-head a small yellow flag.

The words "the port of San Francisco" omitted, and the section thus made applicable to all ports of the State.

§ 3016. That section thirty hundred and sixteen be amended to read:

Sec. 3016. Every master of a vessel subject to quarantine or visitation by the quarantine officer, arriving in any port of this State, who refuses or neglects either:

1. To proceed with and anchor his vessel at the place assigned for quarantine, when legally directed so to do; or,

2. To submit his vessel, cargo, and passengers to the quarantine officer, and furnish all necessary information to enable that officer to determine to what quarantine or other regulations they ought respectively to be subject; or,

3. To report all cases of disease and of deaths occurring on his vessel, and to comply with all the sanitary regulations of the bay and harbor—

Is liable in the sum of five hundred dollars for every such neglect or refusal.

Same change as in section thirty hundred and fifteen.

§ 3017. That section thirty hundred and seventeen be amended to read:

Sec. 3017. All vessels arriving off any port of this State from ports which have been legally declared infected ports, and all vessels arriving from the ports where there is prevailing at the time of their departure any contagious, infectious, or pestilential disease, or vessels with decaying cargoes, or which have unusually foul or offensive holds, are subject to quarantine, and must be by the master, owner, pilot, or consignee, reported to the quarantine or health officer of such port without delay. No such vessel must cross a line fixed and defined by the state board of health until such quarantine or health officer has boarded her and given the order required by law.

The words "port of San Francisco" stricken out and the words "any port of this State" inserted in place thereof; the words "or health" inserted in two places between "quarantine" and "officer"; the words "right line drawn from Meiggs' Wharf to Alcatraz Island" stricken out, and in place thereof are inserted the words "line fixed and defined by the state board of health."

§§ 3018-3022. That sections thirty hundred and eighteen to thirty hundred and twenty-two be repealed, because in conflict with the laws of the United States, and therefore inoperative.

§ 3022½. That section thirty hundred and twenty-two and a half be repealed, on the ground that it was intended to apply only to the city and county of San Francisco, and since the adoption of the charter of that city, is no longer necessary. See charter, sec. 8, art. X.

§§ 3023-3030. That sections thirty hundred and twenty-three to thirty hundred and thirty be repealed, because the matters are now adequately provided for in the charter of the city of San Francisco.

§§ 3031-3035. That sections thirty hundred and thirty-one to thirty hundred and thirty-five be repealed, for the reasons last suggested.

§§ 3042-3049. That sections thirty hundred and forty-two to thirty hundred and forty-nine be repealed, on the ground that they relate to matters sufficiently and otherwise provided for in the charter of the city of Sacramento.

§§ 3059, 3060. That sections thirty hundred and fifty-nine and thirty hundred and sixty be repealed.

§ 3061. That section thirty hundred and sixty-one be amended to read:

Sec. 3061. It is the duty of the board of trustees, council, or other corresponding board, of every incorporated town or city of this State, whose charter does not authorize or provide for such board, to establish, by ordinance, a board of health for such town or city, to consist of five persons, one at least of whom must be a practicing physician and a graduate of some reputable school of medicine, and one, if practicable, a civil engineer. The members of the board hold their offices at the pleasure of the appointing power. Every local board of health established in this State must:

First—Supervise all matters pertaining to the sanitary condition of their town or city, and make such rules and regulations relative thereto as are necessary and proper, and not contrary to law ;

Second—Report to the secretary of the state board of health, at Sacramento, at such times as that board may require: (a) The sanitary condition of their locality ; (b) The number of deaths, with the cause of each, as near as can be ascertained, within their jurisdiction, during the preceding month ; (c) The presence of epidemic or other dangerous, contagious or infectious disease, and such other matters, within their knowledge or jurisdiction, as the state board may require.

The trustees, council, or other legislative board, by whatever name known, of any incorporated city or town of this State, may, by ordinance, adopt any portion of articles three and four of this chapter, or either of them, for some definite period of time, as may seem proper for the regulation of sanitary matters within their town or city.

Inserts the words “whose charter does not authorize or provide for such board,” to prevent conflict between the section and the charters of municipal corporations.

§ 3026. That section thirty hundred and sixty-two be repealed, on the ground that it is not in harmony with subdivision twenty of section twenty-five of the county government act (Statutes of 1897, p. 464).

§ 3064. That section thirty hundred and sixty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 3064. The board of supervisors must fix the salary or compensation of boards of health or health officers, and provide for the expenses of enforcing the provisions of this article. If the board of supervisors, or trustees, council, or other corresponding board of any incorporated town, neglects to provide a board of health or health officer, the state board of health may direct the district attorney of the county to begin an action against such board of supervisors, board of trustees, or corresponding board, to compel the performance of its duty, or may appoint a board of health or health officer, with the powers of the board of health, for such town or city, and the expenses of such board of health or health officer are a charge against the incorporated city or town for which such appointment is made; and when the appointment is made for unincorporated towns, the expenses of the board of health or health officer are a charge against the county. The provisions of this section do not apply to incorporated cities or towns whose charters, or the statutes under or by which they were incorporated, make provision for boards of health or health officers and fix their salary and compensation, and in which boards of health or health officers exist under and pursuant to such charter or statute.

The amendment consists of the addition of the last sentence, and its object is to prevent a conflict between the section and the charters of incorporated cities or towns.

§ 3083. That section thirty hundred and eighty-three be amended to read:

Sec. 3083. The secretary of the state board of health must prepare blank forms of said registers for the superintendent of state printing, who must print as many copies as the said secretary directs, and deliver the same to the secretary of state, who must forward them, from time to time, and in such numbers as may be directed by the secretary first mentioned, to the county recorders of the several counties, who must carefully keep and distribute the same to the persons in the county who are required to keep the registers and make the reports provided in this chapter.

The words "state printer" stricken out, and "superintendent of state printing" inserted.

§ 3084. That section thirty hundred and eighty-four be repealed and its contents transferred to a section to be numbered thirty-one hundred and twelve.

§ 3108. That section thirty-one hundred and eight be amended to read:

Sec. 3108. The inhabitants of any city, town, village, or neighborhood may, by subscription or otherwise, purchase or receive, by gift or donation, lands to be used as a cemetery, the title thereof to be vested in such inhabitants, and when once dedicated to use for burial purposes must thereafter be used for no other purpose.

Omits the words "not exceeding five acres."

§ 3112. That a new section, numbered thirty-one hundred and twelve, be added, to read:

Sec. 3112. The county recorder must every three months transmit to the secretary of the state board of health, at Sacramento City, a certified abstract of the registers of births, marriages, and deaths, prepared in the manner prescribed in the instructions of the secretary, and upon blanks to be furnished by him for that purpose.

Consists of the matters now in section thirty hundred and eighty.

§ 3113. That a new section, numbered thirty-one hundred and thirteen, be added, to read:

Sec. 3113. Permits to disinter or exhume the body or remains of any deceased person, from a grave, vault, or other burying place, may be granted if the person applying therefor produces a certificate from the coroner or physician who attended the decedent, or any other physician in good standing, cognizant of the facts, stating the cause of death or disease of which the person died, and also the age and sex of the deceased. The body or remains of the deceased must be inclosed in a metallic case or coffin, sealed in such manner as to prevent, as far as practicable, any noxious or offensive odor or effluvia escaping therefrom. Such case or coffin must not contain the remains of more than one person, except where infant children of the same parent or parents, or parent and children, are contained in one case or coffin. The permit must contain the above conditions and the words "Permit to remove and transport the body of ———, age ———, sex ———," and the name, age, and sex must be written therein. The officer of the municipal government granting such permit must require to be paid for each permit the sum of ten dollars, but one permit being required where two or more persons are interred in the same coffin, to be kept as a separate fund by the treasurer, and which must be used in defraying expenses of and in respect to such permits, and for the inspection of the metallic cases, coffins, and inclosing boxes herein required, and an account of such moneys must be embraced in the accounts and statements of the treasurer having the custody thereof.

Codifies the statute of 1878, p. 1050.

§§ 3136-3142. That article I of chapter VI, consisting of sections thirty-one hundred and thirty-six to thirty-one hundred and forty-two, be repealed, on the ground that the matters therein referred to are not proper for insertion in this code, and should be provided for in sections eighteen hundred and sixty-five and eighteen hundred and seventy-one of the Civil Code.

§ 3143. That a new section, numbered thirty-one hundred and forty-three, be added, to read:

Sec. 3143. Whenever any warrant legally drawn by the controller of state is lost or destroyed before payment thereof, its legal owner may file with such controller an affidavit setting forth the fact of loss or destruction, giving the number, date, and amount of the warrant, and the name of the payee, together with all material facts relative to its loss or destruction, and also a bond of indemnity, with two good and sufficient sureties, in double the amount of the warrant. Such bond must be examined by the attorney-general and controller, who must approve or reject it within thirty days after its filing. If the bond is approved, the controller must issue and deliver, on demand, to the legal owner or claimant, a duplicate warrant for the full amount of the original warrant, and the treasurer must pay the same in lieu of such original. The controller and treasurer must each make the proper entries on their books, showing such warrant to have been lost or destroyed, and the issuing of a duplicate in place thereof.

Codifies the statute of 1891, p. 294.

§ 3152. That section thirty-one hundred and fifty-two be amended to read:

Sec. 3152. When any goods, merchandise, or other property has been received by any railroad or express company, or other common carrier, commission merchant, innkeeper, or warehouseman, for transportation or safe-keeping, and is not delivered to the owner, consignee, or other authorized person, the carrier, commission merchant, innkeeper, or warehouseman may hold or store the same with some responsible person until the freight and all just and reasonable charges are paid.

Changes "are" to "is" before "not delivered."

§ 3185. That section thirty-one hundred and eighty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 3185. Any person who at any time kills or slaughters any cattle, must retain in his possession, for a period of ten days, the hide taken therefrom, with the earmarks attached thereto, without any alteration or disfiguration of the brands or marks on such hide or ears.

Codifies section one of the statute of 1893, p. 235.

§ 3186. That a new section, numbered thirty-one hundred and eighty-six, be added, to read:

Sec. 3186. Any justice of the peace, constable, owner of cattle, or other person may, within the period of time mentioned in the preceding section, demand an exhibit of the hide of any cattle by the person killing or slaughtering the same, or by any other person for whose use or benefit the animal was killed, who, upon such demand being made, must produce the same for the inspection of such justice of the peace, constable, owner of cattle, or other person.

Codifies section two of the statute last named.

§ 3187. That a new section, numbered thirty-one hundred and eighty-seven, be added, to read:

Sec. 3187. Any person violating any of the provisions of the two preceding sections is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof must be fined not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail for not less than ten days nor more than ninety days, or may be both so fined and imprisoned.

Codifies section three of the statute last named.

§§ 3202-3206. That five new sections, numbered thirty-two hundred and two to thirty-two hundred and six, codifying the statute of 1891, p. 217, be added, to read:

Sec. 3202. Any person engaged in manufacturing, bottling, or selling soda, mineral or aerated waters, porter, ale, beer, cider, ginger ale, milk, cream, small beer, lager beer, weiss beer, white beer, or other beverages in bottles, siphons, or kegs, with his name or other marks or devices branded, stamped, engraved, etched, blown, impressed, or otherwise produced upon such bottles, siphons, or kegs, or the boxes used by him, may file in the office of the county clerk of the county in which his principal place of business is situated, and also in the office of the secretary of state, a description of the name, marks, or devices so used by him, and cause such description to be printed once in each week for three weeks successively in a newspaper published in the county in which such notice has been filed.

Corresponds to section one of the act.

Sec. 3203. It is unlawful for any person to fill with soda, mineral or aerated waters, porter, ale, cider, ginger ale, milk, cream, beer, small beer, lager beer, weiss beer, white beer, or other beverages, or with medicine, compounds, or mixtures, any bottle, box, siphon, or keg, marked or distinguished as provided in the preceding section, with or by any name, mark, or device of which a description has been filed as provided therein, or to deface, obliterate, erase, cover up, or otherwise remove or conceal such name, mark, or device thereon, or to sell, buy, give, take, or otherwise dispose of or traffic in the same, without the written consent of, or unless the same has been purchased from, the person whose mark or device is, or has been, in or upon the bottle, box, siphon, or keg so filled, trafficked in, used, or handled. Any person offending against the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor, and must be punished for the first offense by imprisonment not less than ten days nor more than six months, or by a fine of fifty cents for each and every such bottle, box, siphon, or keg so filled, sold, used, or disposed of, bought or trafficked in, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and for each subsequent offense, by imprisonment not less than twenty days nor more than one year, or by a fine not less than one dollar nor more than five dollars for each and every bottle, box, siphon, or keg so filled, sold, used, disposed of, bought, or trafficked in, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the magistrate before whom the offense is tried.

Corresponds to section two of the act.

Sec. 3204. The use by any person other than the person whose device, name, or mark is or has been upon the same, without such written consent or purchase as aforesaid, of any such mark or distinguishing bottle, box, siphon, or keg, a description of the name, mark, or device whereon has been filed and published, as herein provided for, for the sale therein of soda, mineral or aerated waters, porter, ale, cider, ginger ale, milk, cream, beer, small beer, lager beer, weiss beer, white beer, or other beverage, or any article of merchandise, medicines, compounds or preparations, or for the furnishing of such or similar beverages to customers, or the buying, selling, using, disposing of, or trafficking in of any such bottles, boxes, siphons, or kegs, by any person other than said person having a name, mark, or device thereon, or such owner, without such written consent, or the having, by any junk-dealer, or dealer in second-hand articles, possession of any such bottles, boxes, siphons, or kegs, a description of the marks, names, or devices wherein has been so filed and published as aforesaid, without such written consent, shall, and is hereby declared to be, presumptive evidence of the said unlawful use, purchase or traffic in, of such bottles, boxes, siphons, or kegs.

Corresponds to section three of the act.

Sec. 3205. Whenever any person mentioned in section thirty-two hundred and three, or his agent, makes oath before any magistrate that he has reason to believe, and does believe, that any of his bottles, boxes, siphons, or kegs, a description of the names, marks, or devices whereon has been so filed and published as aforesaid, is being unlawfully used or filled or had by any person or corporation manufacturing or selling soda, mineral or aerated waters, porter, ale, cider, ginger ale, milk, cream, beer, small beer, lager beer, weiss beer, white beer, or other beverages, or that any junk dealer or dealer in second-hand articles, vender of bottles, or any other person, has any such bottle, box, siphon, or keg in his possession or secreted in any place, the said magistrate must thereupon issue a search warrant to discover and obtain the same, and may also cause to be brought before him the person in whose possession such bottle, box, siphon, or keg may be found, and inquire into the circumstances of such possession, and if such magistrate finds that such person has been guilty of a violation of section thirty-two hundred and three, he must impose the punishment therein prescribed, and must also award possession of the property taken under such search warrant to the owner thereof.

Corresponds to section four of the act.

Sec. 3206. Any person who has heretofore filed in the offices mentioned in section thirty-two hundred and two a description of the name or names, marks or devices upon his property therein mentioned, and has caused the same to be published according to the laws existing at the date of such filing and publication, is not required to again file or publish such description to be entitled to the benefits of this article.

Corresponds to section five of the act.

§§ 3236-3243*e*. That new sections numbered thirty-two hundred and thirty-six to thirty-two hundred and forty-three e, codifying the statute of 1876, p. 427, be added, to read:

Plans and specifications, and bills of materials.

Sec. 3236. In all cases where commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers to whom is confided, by law, the duty of devising and superintending the erection, alteration, addition to, or improvement of, any state institution, asylum, or other improvement, erected or to be erected, or made by the State, such commissioners, directors, or trustees, or other officers, before entering into any contract for the erection, alteration, addition to, or the improvement of such institution, asylum, or other improvement, or for the supplying of materials therefor, the aggregate cost of which exceeds the sum of three thousand dollars, must make a full, complete, and accurate plan of such institution, asylum, or other improvement, or any addition to, or alteration or improvement thereof, in all its parts, showing all the necessary details of the work, together with working plans suitable for the use of mechanics or other builders during the construction thereof, so drawn and represented as to be plainly and easily understood; and also accurate bills showing the exact amount of all the different kinds of materials necessary in the erection thereof, addition thereto, or in the alteration or improvement thereof, to accompany such plan or plans, together with full and complete specifications of the work to be done, showing the manner and style in which it will be required to be done, giving such directions as will enable any competent mechanic or other builder to carry them out, and afford the bidders all needful information to enable them to understand what will be required in the erection, addition to, alteration, or improvement of such institution, asylum, or other improvement; and to make, or cause to be made, a full, accurate, and complete estimate of each item of expense, and the entire aggregate cost of such institution, asylum, or other improvement, or of any addition to, alteration, or improvement thereof, when completed.

Corresponds to section one of the original act.

Approval of plans, etc.

Sec. 3237. All plans, drawings, representations, bills of materials, specifications of work, and estimates of the cost thereof, in detail, and in the aggregate, required to be made by the preceding section, must, when made, be submitted to the governor, state treasurer, and secretary of state for their approval, and if approved by them a copy thereof must be deposited and safely kept in the office of the controller of state.

Corresponds to section two of the original act.

Advertisements for proposals.

Sec. 3238. After any such plans, descriptions, bills of materials, specifications, and estimates are made and approved as required by this chapter, the commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officer or officers to whom the duty of devising and superintending the erection, addition to, alteration, or improvement of such institution, asylum, or other improvement as in this chapter provided, must give public notice of the time and place when and where sealed proposals will be received for performing the labor and furnishing the materials necessary to the erection of such institution, asylum, or other improvement, or for the adding to, alteration, or improvement thereof, and a contract or contracts based on such sealed proposals will be made, which notice must be published weekly for four consecutive weeks next preceding the day for the making of such contract or contracts, in the paper having the largest circulation in the county where the work is to be let, and in three daily papers having the largest circulation, and published, one in each of the cities of Los Angeles, Sacramento, and San Francisco, and must state when and where such plan or plans, descriptions, bills, and specifications can be seen, and must be open to public inspection at all business hours between the date of such notice and the making of such contract or contracts. The notice must state that separate bills will be received, and separate contracts let, for the performance of each of the following parts of said erection, addition, alteration, or improvement, including furnishing of materials and labor therefor, viz.: first, for the masonry work, including all brick, stone, terra cotta, and concrete work, and all necessary excavations and filling; second, for the iron work; third, for the carpenter, plastering, electric, and glazing work; fourth, for the plumbing and gasfitting work; fifth, for the heating work; sixth, for the tinning, galvanized iron, and slating work; and seventh, for the painting and graining work; and there must be in all such cases as many separate contracts let therefor as there are different kinds of work, according to the foregoing classification, whether the same be let by the state board of harbor commissioners, or any other of the afore-said commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers.

Corresponds to section three as amended by the statute of 1895, p. 237, chap. 191.

Awards, bonds, and contracts.

Sec. 3239. On the day named in such public notice, the commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers must proceed to publicly open the sealed proposals and must award such contract or contracts for doing the work and furnishing the materials, to the lowest bidder giving responsible bonds; but no proposal must be considered, unless accompanied with a bond of the proposer, equal to ten per cent of his proposal, with sufficient sureties, conditioned that if the proposal be accepted, the party proposing will duly enter into a proper contract and faithfully perform his contract or contracts in accordance with such proposal, and the plan or plans, specifications, and descriptions, which must be, and are hereby made, a part of such contract or contracts. No such contract is binding on the State, until it is submitted to the attorney-general, and by him found to be in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, and a certificate thereof to that effect made. If, in the opinion of such commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers, the acceptance of the lowest bid or bids will not be for the best interests of the State, they, with the written advice and consent of the governor, state treasurer, and secretary of state, may accept such other proposals opened, as may, in their opinion, be for the better interests of the State, or may reject all proposals, and advertise for others in the same manner as for the original proposals. All contracts must provide that such commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers may, as hereinafter provided, and on the conditions stated, make any change in the work or materials.

Corresponds to section four of the original act.

Changes in plans, etc.

Sec. 3240. No change of the plan or plans, descriptions, bills of materials, or specifications, which either increase or decrease the cost of such institution, asylum, building, or improvement, exceeding the sum of one thousand dollars, must be made or allowed after they are once approved or filed with the controller, until such proposed change receives the approval of the governor, treasurer, and secretary of state, and when so approved, the plan or plans of such change, with the description thereof and the specifications of the work and bills of materials, must be filed with the controller in the same manner as required before the change was made. No allowance whatever must be made for work performed or materials furnished under such change, unless, before such labor is performed or materials furnished, a contract therefor is made in writing. It must show distinctly the nature of the change, and be subject to all the conditions and provisions herein imposed upon the original contract, and be subject also to the approval of the attorney-general. All changes in a contract exceeding five hundred dollars must be by contract in writing, with full specifications and estimates, and must become a part of the original contract and be filed therewith with the controller. The amount of any such change in the contract, plans, descriptions, bills of materials, or specifications, must not, in the aggregate, increase the cost of the construction of such institution, asylum, building, or improvement, more than three per centum of the original contract price.

Corresponds to section five of the original act.

Limitations upon contracts.

Sec. 3241. No contract must be made for the labor or material in this chapter provided for, at a price in excess of the entire estimate in this chapter required to be made; and the entire contract must not, including the estimate of expenses for architects and otherwise, exceed in the aggregate the amount authorized by law for such institution, asylum, building, or other improvement, or such addition to, alteration, or improvement thereof, under the penalties of section thirty-two hundred and forty-three b, hereinafter provided.

Corresponds to section six of the original act.

Estimates at times for payments.

Sec. 3242. At the time or times named in any contract made and filed with the controller, for payment to the person with whom such contract is made, the commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers to whom is confided the duty of superintending the erection of such institution, asylum, building, or improvement, or adding to, altering, or improving the same, must make a full, accurate, and detailed estimate of the various kinds of labor performed and materials furnished under such contract, with the amount due for each kind of labor and material, and the amount due in the aggregate, which estimate must be based upon an actual measurement of the labor so performed and materials so furnished, and must, in all cases, give the amounts of the preceding estimate or estimates, and the amount of labor performed and materials furnished since the last estimate, which estimate so made, must be recorded in a book for that purpose, kept by such commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers, and a certified copy thereof addressed to the controller by such commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers, or by such person as they may designate for that purpose, to be delivered to the contractor or contractors entitled thereto. Upon all estimates of materials furnished and delivered, and not actually having entered into and become a part of such institution, building, or other improvement, there must not be paid, until the same is incorporated into and become a part of such institution, building, or other improvement, exceeding fifty per centum of such estimated value.

Corresponds to section seven of the original act.

Duties of controller.

Sec. 3243. The controller, on the receipt of an estimate certified and approved, as required by this chapter, must carefully compare the same with the contract or contracts under which labor was done or materials furnished, and if there have been any previous estimates, then with such estimates. If, upon such comparison, he finds such last named estimate in all respects correct, he must number and place it on file, and have a record made thereof and give to the persons entitled thereto, taking his receipt therefor, a warrant on the treasurer for the amount shown by such estimate to be due, less the amount of ten per centum thereon, which must be retained as additional security for the faithful performance of the contract, and be forfeited to the State in the event of the failure of the contractor to conform in good faith to the terms and conditions of the contract. When the labor to be performed and materials furnished are performed and furnished, and the final estimate thereof made, the controller must include in the warrant or warrants for the amount of such last estimate, the percentage retained on former estimates.

Corresponds to section eight of the original act.

Duties of treasurer.

Sec. 3243a. The treasurer must pay the warrants issued by the controller under and by virtue of the provisions of this chapter, placing the same on file, and keeping a register of the names of the persons to whom such warrants are paid.

Corresponds to section nine of the original act.

Penalties.

Sec. 3243b. Any commissioner, director, trustee, or other officer, or person whose duty it is to superintend, in whole or in part, the erection of any such institution, asylum, building, or improvement, or of adding to, altering, or improving the same, or the making of the plans, descriptions, or specifications of the labor to be performed and materials to be furnished, or the estimates of the cost thereof, or the estimates of the amount of labor done and materials furnished from time to time under and in accordance with the terms and conditions of any contract in this chapter authorized to be made, who, in the performance of the duty imposed upon him, knowingly makes incomplete or fraudulent plans, drawings, bills of materials, specifications of work, or estimates of the cost thereof, or permits the work to be done in any other manner than that prescribed in such plans, descriptions, and specifications, or with materials inferior to those required by such bills of materials, to the injury of the State, or who knowingly makes false estimates of the labor done or materials furnished, either in the quantity or price thereof, to the injury of the State, or any contractor, or any agent thereof, who knowingly permits materials to be used or work to be done inferior to, or in violation of the contract of such contractor, to the injury of the State, is guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof must be confined in the state prison for not less than one year nor more than five years, and be liable to the State for double the amount it may have lost, or be liable to lose, by reason thereof.

Corresponds to section ten of the original act.

Duty of attorney-general.

Sec. 3243c. The attorney-general must take charge of and direct all the proceedings necessary to enforce the contracts as authorized by this chapter, and of all prosecutions against persons who become liable to the penalties in this chapter prescribed.

Corresponds to section eleven of the original act.

Compelling diligence by contractors.

Sec. 3243d. Whenever, in the opinion of the commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers charged with the duty of devising and superintending the erection, alteration, addition to, or improvement of any state institution, building, or other improvement under this chapter, or any law of this State, the work under any contract is neglected by the contractor, or is not prosecuted with the diligence and force specified, meant, or intended in and by the terms of the contract, such commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers must make a requisition upon such contractor for such additional force, or for such additional specific materials to be brought into the work under such contract, or to remove improper materials from the grounds, as in the judgment of such commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers, such contract, and its due and faithful performance, require, of which action of such board, or other officers, due notice, in writing, of not less than five days, must be served upon such contractor, or his agent having charge of the work. If such contractor fails to comply with such requisition within fifteen days, such commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers, with the consent, in writing, of the governor and secretary of state, may employ upon such work the additional force, or supply the materials so specifically required, as aforesaid, or such part of either as they may deem proper, and remove improper materials from the grounds, and such commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers must make separate estimates of all such additional force or materials so employed or supplied, which being certified to by such commissioners, directors, trustees, or other officers, must be paid by the controller, as if made out agreeably to section thirty-two hundred and forty-two, and the amount so paid must be charged against such contractor, and deducted from his next, or any subsequent estimate, or the same or any part thereof not paid, as aforesaid, may be recovered by action from such contractor and his sureties.

Corresponds to section twelve of the original act.

Time for completion.

Sec. 3243e. In all contracts made under the provisions of this chapter, there must be a provision in regard to the time when the whole or any specific portion of the work contemplated in the contract must be completed, and also providing that for each day the same is delayed beyond such time so named, the contractor must forfeit and pay to the State a sum of money to be fixed and determined in such contract, to be deducted from any payment or payments due or to become due to the contractor.

Corresponds to section thirteen of the original act.

§ 3243f. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and forty-three f, be added, to read:

Sec. 3243f. Any person, committee, board, officer, or any other person charged with the purchase, or permitted or authorized to purchase supplies, goods, wares, merchandise, manufactures, or produce for the use of the State, or any of its institutions or offices, or for the use of any county or consolidated city and county, or city, or town, must always, price, fitness, and quality equal, prefer such supplies, goods, wares, merchandise, manufactures, or produce as have been grown, manufactured, or produced in this State, and must next prefer such as have been partially so manufactured, grown, or produced in this State. All state, county, city and county, city, or town officers, all boards, commissions, or other persons charged with advertising for any such supplies, must state in their advertisement that such preferences will be made. In any such advertisement no bid must be asked for any article of a specific brand or mark, nor any patent apparatus or appliances, when such requirement would prevent proper competition on the part of dealers in other articles of equal value, utility, or merit.

Consists of present section thirty-two hundred and forty-seven, which clearly belongs in this chapter instead of in the succeeding one on "Hours of Labor."

§ 3245. That section thirty-two hundred and forty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 3245. The time of service of laborers, workmen, and mechanics employed upon any public works, or of work done for the State, or for any political subdivision thereof, whether by contract or otherwise, is limited to eight hours in any one calendar day, and it is unlawful for any officer of the State, or of any political subdivision thereof, or for any person, corporation, or association acting in behalf thereof, whose duty it is to employ or to direct and control the services of such laborers, workmen, or mechanics upon any of such public works, or who have, in fact, the employment or the direction and control of the services of such laborers, workmen, or mechanics, upon any such works, to require or permit any of them to labor thereupon more than eight hours in any one calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency, caused by fire, flood, or danger to life or property, or except to work upon public military or naval works or defenses in time of war.

Corresponds to and codifies section one of the statute of 1901, p. 561.

§ 3245a. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and forty-five a, be added, to read:

Sec. 3245a. In every contract made for or on behalf of the State, or of any political subdivision thereof, which involves the employment of laborers, workmen, or mechanics, upon the public works of, or work to be done for the State, or for such subdivision thereof, the officer, board, commission, or other agency of the State, or of such subdivision, acting in making and awarding the contract, must cause to be inserted therein, and to be agreed to by every person, firm, or corporation, to whom such contract, or any interest therein, is awarded, a stipulation, that no laborer, workman, or mechanic employed at any time by the contractor, or by any sub-contractor, upon the work, or any part thereof, contemplated by the contract, shall be required or permitted to work thereupon more than eight hours in any one calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by fire, flood, or danger to life or property, or except to work upon public military or naval works or defenses in time of war; and that the contractor thereby agrees to forfeit, out of any moneys becoming due to him from the State, or from the political subdivision thereof, as the case may be, under the terms of the contract, the sum of ten dollars for each laborer, workman, or mechanic, for each calendar day upon which he labors more than eight hours, in violation of the terms of the stipulation, and that the State, or the political subdivision thereof, as the case may be, is thereby authorized and directed to withhold from the contractor or sub-contractor, as the property of the State, or of the political subdivision thereof, all sums forfeited under the terms of such stipulation. The officer, board, commission, or other agent, or agency of the State, or of the political subdivision thereof, as the case may be, acting for or on behalf of the State, or of such subdivision, in making and awarding the contract, must take cognizance of all violations of the herein provided for stipulation in the contract, and report the same to the officer or other person representing the State or the political subdivision, whose duty it is to pay the moneys due under the contract, and it is the duty of such officer or other person, when making payment of moneys thus due, to withhold and retain all sums which have been forfeited under the provisions of such stipulation. Nothing herein authorizes the collection of the forfeiture from the State, or from any political subdivision thereof. Any contract such as is described in this section, made for or on behalf of the State, or of any political subdivision thereof, which does not contain the stipulation herein described, is null and void, and no recovery can be had thereon.

Corresponds to section two of the act last referred to.

§ 3245*b*. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and forty-five b, be added, to read:

Sec. 3245*b*. Any officer of the State, or of any political subdivision thereof, or any person acting for or on behalf thereof, who violates any of the provisions of the two preceding sections, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and is subject to fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court, the fine not to exceed five hundred dollars, nor the imprisonment one year.

Corresponds to section three of the act last referred to.

§ 3245*c*. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and forty-five c, be added, to read:

Sec. 3245*c*. The minimum compensation to be paid for labor to be performed under the direction, control, or by the authority of any officer of this State, or by the authority of any municipal corporation thereof, or of any officer of either, acting in his official capacity, is fixed at two dollars per day, and a stipulation to that effect must be made a part of all contracts to which the State, or any municipal corporation therein, is a party; but this section does not apply to persons employed regularly in any of the public institutions of the State, or of any city, city and county, or county thereof.

Codifies the statute of 1897, p. 30, chap. 88.

§ 3247. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and forty-seven, be added, to read:

Sec. 3247. No minor under the age of eighteen years must be employed in laboring in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment, or other place of labor, other than in vinicultural or horticultural pursuits, or in domestic or household occupations, more than eight hours in one day, except when it is necessary to make repairs to prevent the interruption of the ordinary running of machinery, or when a different apportionment of the hours of labor is made, for the sole purpose of making a shorter day's work for one day of the week, and in no case must the hours of labor of such minor exceed forty-eight in a week.

Codifies section one of the statute of 1889, p. 4, the present section of this number having been transferred to section thirty-two hundred and forty-three f.

§ 3247*a*. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and forty-seven a, be added, to read:

Sec. 3247*a*. No child under ten years of age must be employed in any factory, workshop, or mercantile establishment. Every minor under sixteen years of age, so employed, must be recorded by name in a book kept for the purpose, and a certificate, duly verified by his parent or guardian, or if he has no parent or guardian, then by such minor, stating his age and place of birth, must be kept on file by the employer, which book and certificate must be produced by him or his agent, at the requirement of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics.

Codifies section two of the above statute.

§ 3247*b*. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and forty-seven b, be added, to read:

Sec. 3247*b*. Every person or corporation employing minors under sixteen years of age in any manufacturing establishment must keep posted in a conspicuous place, in every room where such minor is employed, a printed notice, stating the number of hours per day for each day of the week, required of such minor, and a list of the names of the minors employed in such room, with their respective ages.

Corresponds to section three of the statute last referred to.

§ 3247*c*. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and forty-seven c, be added, to read:

Sec. 3247*c*. Any person or corporation knowingly violating or omitting to comply with any of the provisions of sections thirty-two hundred and forty-seven, thirty-two hundred and forty-seven a, and thirty-two hundred and forty-seven b, or knowingly employing or suffering or permitting any minor to be employed in violation thereof, must, on conviction, be punished by a fine not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense. The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics must enforce the provisions of this and the three preceding sections.

Corresponds to section four of the statute last referred to.

§ 3251. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and fifty-one, be added, to read:

Sec. 3251. Every person, corporation, co-partnership, or company, operating a saw mill, shake mill, shingle mill, or logging camp in this State, must allow his, their, or its employes, workmen, and laborers a period of not less than one hour at noon, for the mid-day meal. Any person, corporation, co-partnership, or company, his, their, or its agents, servants, or managers, violating any provision of this section, are guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof must be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, for each violation thereof.

Codifies the statute of 1901, p. 75.

§ 3252. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and fifty-two, be added, to read:

Sec. 3252. Every person employed in any occupation or labor is entitled to one day's rest therefrom in seven, and no employer must cause any of his employes to work more than six days in seven; provided, that this provision does not apply to any case of emergency. The term "day's rest" applies to all cases, whether the employe is engaged by the day, week, month, or year, and whether the work performed is done in the day or night time. Any person who violates the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Codifies the statute of 1893, p. 54.

§ 3275. That a new section, numbered thirty-two hundred and seventy-five, be added, to read:

Sec. 3275. All legal-tender notes issued by the government of the United States must be received at par, in payment for all taxes due or to become due to the State, or to any county or municipal corporation thereof, and such notes are a legal tender for all debts due and demands between citizens of this State.

Codifies the statute of 1880, p. 8.

§ 3285. That section thirty-two hundred and eighty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 3285. The bond must be in the sum of five thousand dollars, payable to the State of California, with one or more sureties, conditioned that the principal will faithfully perform the duties of an auctioneer, and it must be approved by a judge of the superior court of the county in which the auctioneer proposes to do business, and be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county.

Inserts "conditioned that the principal will faithfully perform the duties of an auctioneer," the present section having wholly failed to state the condition of the bond.

§ 3289. That section thirty-two hundred and eighty-nine be amended to read:

Sec. 3289. After the first quarter licenses may be issued for the class fixed for a term not exceeding one year, at the option of the auctioneer. No auctioneer must exceed the amount of sales of the class in which his license is fixed. For every violation of this section, in addition to the criminal penalty, the auctioneer forfeits two hundred and fifty dollars to the State.

Adds the words "to the State."

§ 3344. That section thirty-three hundred and forty-four be repealed, because the matters therein are sufficiently covered by section three hundred and eighty-four of the Penal, and section thirty-three hundred and forty-six of the Civil, Code.

§§ 3346-3355*b*. That a new chapter, numbered XIV*a*, consisting of sections thirty-three hundred and forty-six to thirty-three hundred and fifty-five b, codifying the statute of 1901, p. 101, be added, to read:

CHAPTER XIV^a.

FIREMEN'S RELIEF AND PENSION FUND.

- SEC. 3346. Pension fund commissioners, and their duties.
3347. Duties of the board of commissioners.
3348. Powers of the board of commissioners.
3349. Auditor's duties.
3350. Retirement after twenty years' service.
3351. Firemen injured in service.
3352. Certificate of disability.
3353. Pension where life is lost in the performance of duty.
3354. Pensions after death from natural causes.
3355. Examination of retired persons.
3355^a. Forfeiture.
3355^b. Levy of tax.

Pension fund commissioners, and their duties.

Sec. 3346. In any town, city, county, or city and county, where there is a board of fire commissioners, such body possesses the powers and must perform the duties of trustees of the firemen's relief and pension fund of the fire department. Where there is no such body, then the chairman of the board of supervisors, the treasurer, and the chief engineer of the fire department of the county, city and county, city, or incorporated town, constitute such board of trustees, and are charged with the duty of providing for the disbursement of the firemen's relief and pension fund, and of designating the beneficiaries as hereinafter directed. In either event, the board shall be known as "The Board of Firemen's Relief and Pension Fund Commissioners." The members must biennially select from their number a president and a secretary. The treasurer of the county, city and county, city, or town, is ex officio treasurer of said fund. A majority of all the members of the board constitutes a quorum, and has power to transact business.

Corresponds to section one, the second sentence of section two, and the second and the last sentences of section ten of the statute.

Duties of the board of commissioners.

Sec. 3347. The duties of said board are:

1. To take charge of and administer the firemen's relief and pension fund, and order payments therefrom in pursuance of the provisions of this chapter;
2. To report annually, in the month of June, to the board of supervisors, or other governing body of the county, city and county, city, or incorporated town, the condition of such fund, and the receipts and disbursements on account of the same, with a full and complete list of the beneficiaries of such fund, and the amount paid them;

3. To hold quarterly meetings on the first Mondays of January, April, July, and October of each year, and upon the call of its president;

4. To issue warrants, signed by its president and secretary, to the persons entitled thereto, of the amount of money ordered paid to such persons from such fund, by the board, which warrants must state for what purpose the payment is to be made;

5. To keep a record of all its proceedings, which is a public record;

6. At each quarterly meeting to send to the treasurer of the county, city and county, city, or town, and to the auditor thereof, a list of all persons entitled to payment from the fund herein provided for, stating the amounts of such payments and for what granted, which list must be certified and signed by the president and secretary of such board, attested under oath.

Subdivisions one and two are from section two; subdivisions three, four, five, and six are from section ten of the act.

Powers of the board of commissioners.

Sec. 3348. The board has power:

1. To compel witnesses to attend and testify before it upon all matters connected with the operation of this chapter, in the same manner as is or may be provided by law for the taking of testimony before notaries public; and its president, or any member of the board, may administer oaths to such witnesses;

2. To appoint a secretary, and to provide for the payment from said fund of all its necessary expenses, including secretary hire, and printing; but no compensation or emolument must be paid to any member of the board for any duty required or performed under this chapter;

3. To make all needful rules and regulations for its guidance, and an estimate every year of the amount required to pay all demands on such fund for the succeeding fiscal year, and certify the same to the board of supervisors or other governing authorities of the county, city and county, city, or town, in connection with, and as a part of, the annual appropriation of the fire department, in conformity with the provisions of this chapter.

Corresponds to section eleven of the original act.

Auditor's duties.

Sec. 3349. The auditor of the county, city and county, city, or town, on being furnished the list provided for in section thirty-three hundred and forty-seven, must thereupon enter the copy thereof upon a book to be kept for that purpose, and known as "the firemen's relief and pension fund book." When such list has been entered, he must transmit it to the board of supervisors, or other governing authority of the county, city and county, city, or town, which must thereupon order the payment of the amounts named therein, out of such fund. Such auditor, on the last day of June, of each year, or so soon thereafter as practicable, must make a report to the board of supervisors, or other governing authority of such county, city and county, city, or town, of all moneys paid out on account of such fund during the previous year, and of the amount then to the credit of the fund. The payments provided for in this chapter must be made quarterly, upon proper vouchers.

Corresponds to section fourteen and the last three sentences of section ten of the act.

Retirement after twenty years' service.

Sec. 3350. Whenever any person has served for twenty years or more in the aggregate, as a member in any capacity, or any rank whatever, of the regularly constituted fire department of any county, city and county, city, or town, subject to the provisions of this chapter, such board may, if it sees fit, order and direct that such person be retired from further service in such fire department; and from the date of the making of such order; the service of such person in such fire department must cease, and he must thereafter, during his lifetime, be paid from such fund a yearly pension equal to one half the amount of salary attached to the rank held by him in such fire department at the date of such retirement, provided he has held such rank for a period of one year immediately preceding such retirement, but if for a period less than one year preceding such retirement, then he must receive from such fund a yearly pension equal to one half of the amount of salary he received in the rank preceding, except in case of reduction of rank, in which case he must receive a yearly pension equal to one half the amount of salary he received in the rank to which he may have been reduced.

Corresponds to section three of the act.

Firemen injured in service.

Sec. 3351. If any person, while serving as a fireman in any county, city and county, city, or town, becomes physically disabled, by reason of any bodily injury received in the immediate or direct performance of his duty as such fireman, said board may, upon his written request, or without such request, if it deems it for the good of the fire department, and the furtherance of justice, retire him from such department, and direct that he be paid from such fund, during his lifetime, a yearly pension equal to one half the amount of salary attached to the rank held by him at the date of his retirement. On his death, his heirs or assigns have no claim upon such firemen's relief or pension fund. Whenever such disability ceases, his pension must cease, and he be restored to active service, at the same salary he received at the date of his retirement.

Corresponds to section four of the act.

Certificate of disability.

Sec. 3352. No person must be retired on his request as provided in the preceding section, or receive any benefit from said fund, unless there has been filed with the board his affidavit of his disability and certificates subscribed and sworn to by the county, city and county, city, or town physician, if there is one, and two regularly licensed practicing physicians of such county, city and county, city, or town, and the board may require other evidence of disability before ordering the retirement and payment hereinbefore provided for.

Corresponds to section five of the act.

Pension where life is lost in the performance of duty.

Sec. 3353. Whenever any member of the fire department of any county, city and county, city, or town, loses his life while in the performance of his duty, leaving a widow, or a child or children under the age of sixteen years, such board, upon satisfactory proof of such facts, must direct that a yearly pension equal to one third of the amount of the salary attached to the rank which such member held in such fire department at the time of his death, be paid to such widow during her life, or, if there is no widow, then to the child or children, until they attain sixteen years of age. When any such child arrives at the age of sixteen years, such payment shall cease as to him, and if such widow, or child or children marry, then the person so marrying must thereafter receive no further pension from such fund.

Corresponds to section six of the act.

Pensions after death from natural causes.

Sec. 3354. Whenever any member of the fire department of any county, city and county, city, or town, dies from natural causes, after ten years of service, his widow or children, or if there is no widow or child, then his mother or unmarried sisters, are entitled to the sum of one thousand dollars from such fund.

Corresponds to section seven of the act.

Examination of retired persons.

Sec. 3355. Any person retired for disability, under this chapter, may be summoned before the board herein provided for, at any time thereafter, and must submit himself thereto for examination as to his fitness for duty, and abide the decision and order of the board, with reference thereto. All retired members of the fire department must report to the chief of the fire department of the county, city and county, city, or town, where so retired, on the first Mondays of January, April, July, and October of each year, and in cases of great public emergency, may be assigned to, and must perform, such duty as such chief directs, and such persons have no claim for payment for such duty so performed.

Corresponds to section eight of the act.

Forfeitures.

Sec. 3355a. When any person who has received any benefit from said fund is convicted of any felony, or becomes an habitual drunkard, or non-resident of the State, or fails to report himself for examination for duty, as in this chapter required, unless excused by the board, or disobeys the requirements of such board under this chapter, in respect to such examination for duty, then such board must order that his pension allowance immediately cease, and that he receive no further pension allowance or benefit.

Corresponds to section nine of the act.

Levy of tax.

Sec. 3355b. The board of supervisors or other governing authority of any county, city and county, city, or town, must, for the purpose of the fund hereinbefore mentioned, annually levy, collect, and apportion to such fund, a tax sufficient to meet and pay all demands thereon, for the purposes set out in this chapter.

Corresponds to section twelve of the act.

§§ 3355c-3355o. That a new chapter, numbered XIVb, to consist of sections thirty-three hundred and fifty-five c to thirty-three hundred and fifty-five o, codifying the statute of 1889, p. 56, be added, to read:

CHAPTER XIV^b.

POLICE RELIEF, HEALTH, AND LIFE INSURANCE FUND.

- SEC. 3355c. Board of police pension fund commissioners.
3355d. Duties of the commissioners.
3355e. Powers of the commissioners.
3355f. Auditor's duties.
3355g. Retirement after twenty years' service.
3355h. Policemen injured in service.
3355i. Certificate of disability.
3355j. Pension where life is lost in the performance of duty.
3355k. Pensions after death from natural causes.
3355l. Examination of retired persons.
3355m. Forfeitures.
3355n. Levy of tax.
3355o. Merger of other insurance.

Board of police pension fund commissioners.

Sec. 3355c. The chairman of the board of supervisors of the county, city and county, city, or incorporated town, in which there is no board of police commissioners, the treasurer of such county, city and county, city, or incorporated town, and the chief of police thereof, constitute a board of trustees of the police relief and pension fund of the police department, which board must be known as "The Board of Police Pension Fund Commissioners." Where there is, in any county, city and county, city, or town, a board of police commissioners, then such body constitutes such board of trustees of the police relief and pension fund of the police department. A majority of the members of the board constitutes a quorum, and has power to transact business. It must, biennially, select from its members a president and a secretary. The treasurer of the county, city and county, city, or town, is ex officio the treasurer of such fund.

Corresponds to section one and the second sentence of section two as amended by the statute of 1891, p. 469, and to the second clause and last sentence of section ten.

Duties of the commissioners.

Sec. 3355d. The duties of said board are:

1. To provide for the disbursement of the police relief and pension fund, and to designate the beneficiaries thereof, and to have charge of, and administer, such fund and order payments therefrom, as hereinafter in this chapter provided;
2. To report annually, in the month of June, to the board of supervisors, the condition of such fund and the receipts and disbursements on account thereof, with a full and complete list of the beneficiaries thereof, and the amounts paid them;

3. To hold quarterly meetings on the first Mondays of January, April, July, and October of each year, and upon the call of its president;

4. To issue warrants, signed by its president and secretary, to the persons entitled thereto, of the amount of money ordered paid to such persons from such fund, which warrants must state for what purposes such payment is to be made;

5. To keep a record of all its proceedings, which is a public record;

6. At each quarterly meeting to send to the treasurer of the county, city and county, city, or town, and to the auditor of such county, city and county, city, or town, a list of all persons entitled to payment from the fund herein provided for, stating the amount of such payments, and for what granted, which list must be certified to, and signed by, the president and secretary of the board, attested under oath.

Subdivision one is from sections one and two; subdivision two from section two; subdivisions three to six from section ten.

Powers of the commissioners.

Sec. 3355e. Such board has power:

1. To compel witnesses to attend and testify before it, upon all matters connected with the operation of this chapter, in the same manner as is or may be provided by law for the taking of testimony before notaries public; and its president, or any member thereof, may administer oaths to such witnesses;

2. To appoint a secretary, and to provide for the payment from said fund of all its necessary expenses, including secretary hire and printing; but no compensation or emolument must be paid to any member of said board for any duty required or performed under this chapter;

3. To make all needful rules and regulations for its guidance in conformity with the provisions of this chapter.

Corresponds to section eleven of the act.

Auditor's duties.

Sec. 3355f. The auditor of the county, city and county, city, or town, on receiving the list provided for in section thirty-three hundred and fifty-five d, must thereupon enter a copy thereof upon a book to be kept for that purpose, known as "the police relief and pension fund book." When such list has been so entered he must transmit it to the board of supervisors, or other governing authority of the county, city and county, city, or town, which must order the payment thereof out of said fund. On the last day of June of each year, or as soon thereafter as practicable, such auditor must make a report to the board of supervisors, or other governing authority, of all moneys paid on account of such fund during the previous year, and of the amounts then to its credit, and all surplus then remaining in such fund, excepting the average amount per year paid out on account of such fund, during the three years next preceding, must be transferred to and become a part of the general fund of every such county, city and county, city, or town, and be no longer under the control of such board, or subject to its order. Payments provided for in this chapter must be made quarterly upon proper vouchers.

Corresponds to section eleven and the second and third sentences before the end of section ten.

Retirement after twenty years' service.

Sec. 3355g. Whenever any person has served for twenty years or more in the aggregate, as a member in any capacity or rank of the regularly constituted police department of any county, city and county, city, or town, subject to the provisions of this chapter, such board may, if it sees fit, direct that such person, after becoming sixty years of age, be retired from further service in such department; and from the date of the making of such order his service must cease, and he must thereafter, during his lifetime, be paid from such fund a yearly pension equal to one half the amount of salary attached to the rank held by him in said police department for the period of one year next preceding the date of such retirement.

Corresponds to section three as amended by the statute of 1897, p. 52, except that we have omitted the words "shall have been duly appointed or selected and sworn," upon the theory that after a person has served twenty years as a member of the police department, there ought not to be any inquiry respecting the mode of his appointment or selection, or as to whether he was duly sworn.

Policemen injured in service.

Sec. 3355h. If any person, while serving as a policeman in any county, city and county, city, or town, becomes physically disabled by reason of any bodily injury received in the immediate or direct performance of his duty as such, such board may, on his written request, or without such request, if it deems it for the good of such police force, retire him from such department, and direct that he be paid from such fund, during his lifetime, a yearly pension equal to one half the amount of salary attached to the rank held by him at the date of his retirement, but on his death his heirs or assigns have no claim upon such fund. Whenever such disability ceases, such pension must cease, and such person be restored to active service at the same salary he received at the time of his retirement.

Corresponds to section four as amended by the statute of 1897, p. 52.

Certificate of disability.

Sec. 3355i. No person must be retired on his request, as provided in the preceding section, or receive any benefit from such fund, unless there is filed with such board his affidavit of his disability and certificates thereof, subscribed and sworn to by the county, city and county, city, or town physician, if there is one, and two regularly licensed practicing physicians of such county, city and county, city, or town, and such board may require other evidence of disability, before ordering such retirement and payment.

Corresponds to section five of the original act.

Pension where life is lost in the performance of duty.

Sec. 3355j. Whenever any member of the police department of any county, city and county, city, or town, loses his life while in the performance of his duty, leaving a widow, or a child or children under the age of sixteen years, such board, upon satisfactory proof of such facts, must order that a yearly pension equal to one third the amount of the salary attached to his rank at the time of his death, be paid to such widow during her life, or if there is no widow, then to the child or children until they attain sixteen years of age. If such widow, child or children, marry, the person so marrying must thereafter receive no further pension from such fund.

Corresponds to section six of the original act.

Pensions after death from natural causes.

Sec. 3355k. Whenever any member of the police department of any county, city and county, city, or town, dies from natural causes, after ten years of service, his widow or children, or if there is no widow or child, then his mother or unmarried sisters, are entitled to one thousand dollars from such fund.

Corresponds to section seven of the original act as amended by the statute of 1891, p. 287.

Examination of retired persons.

Sec. 3355*l*. Any person retired for disability under this chapter may be summoned before said board at any time, and must submit himself thereto for examination as to his fitness for duty, and abide the decision and order of the board with reference thereto. All members of the police force who may be retired, must report to the chief of police of the county, city and county, city, or town, where so retired, on the first Mondays of January, April, July, and October of each year, and in cases of great public emergency may be assigned to, and must perform, such duty as the chief of police directs, and such persons have no claim for payment for such duty so performed.

Corresponds to section eight of the original act.

Forfeitures.

Sec. 3355*m*. Whenever any person who has received any benefit from such fund is convicted of a felony, or becomes an habitual drunkard, or a non-resident of the State, or fails to report himself for examination for duty, as required, unless excused by the board, or disobeys its requirements in respect to such examination for duty, then it must order that his pension allowance immediately cease, and he must thereafter receive no such allowance or benefit.

Corresponds to section nine of the original act.

Levy of tax.

Sec. 3355*n*. The board of supervisors, or other governing authority of any county, city and county, city, or town, must, for the purposes of the fund hereinbefore mentioned, direct the payment annually, and when the tax levy is made, into said fund, of the following moneys:

First—Not less than five nor more than ten per centum of all moneys collected and received from licenses for the keeping of places wherein spirituous, malt, or other intoxicating liquors are sold;

Second—One half of all moneys received from taxes or from licenses upon dogs;

Third—All moneys received from fines imposed upon the members of the police force of said county, city and county, city, or town, for violation of the rules and regulations of the police department;

Fourth—All proceeds of sales of unclaimed property;

Fifth—Not less than one fourth nor more than one half of all moneys received from licenses from pawnbrokers, billiard-hall keepers, second-hand dealers, and junk stores;

Sixth—All moneys received from fines for carrying concealed weapons;

Seventh—Twenty-five per centum of all fines collected in money for violation of county, city and county, city, or town ordinances;

Eighth—All rewards given or paid to members of such police force, except such as are excepted by the chief of police;

Ninth—The treasurer of any county, city and county, city, or town, must retain from the pay of each member of the police department the sum of two dollars per month, to be forthwith paid into said fund, and no other retention or deduction must be made from such pay for any other fund or purpose whatever.

Corresponds to section twelve of the original act.

Merger of other insurance.

Sec. 3355o. Any police life and health insurance fund, or any fund provided by law, heretofore existing in any county, city and county, city, or town, for the relief or pensioning of police officers, or their life or health insurance, or for the payment of a sum of money on their death, is merged with, and must be paid into, and constitutes a part of, the fund created under the provisions of this chapter; and no person who has resigned or been dismissed from the police department is entitled to any relief from such fund.

Corresponds to the first nine lines of section thirteen of the original act.

§ 3356. That section thirty-three hundred and fifty-six be amended to read:

Sec. 3356. Each county auditor must prepare and have printed blank licenses for all classes of business upon which a license is imposed by the board of supervisors of the county, which blank licenses must be for terms of three, six, and twelve months, and for such shorter terms as are authorized to be issued, with a blank receipt attached for the signature of the tax collector, when sold.

The article of which this section is the beginning was adopted prior to our present constitution and became inoperative under it, because the power to levy license taxes was committed to the counties. (People v. Martin, 60 Cal. 152.) The amendments proposed to this section are intended to make it and the article applicable to our present constitution and the laws enacted under it. The amendment here consists in striking out "of all classes mentioned in this chapter" and inserting "for all classes of business for which a license is imposed by the board of supervisors of the county."

§ 3364. That section thirty-three hundred and sixty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 3364. Boards of supervisors of the counties of the State, and the legislative bodies of the incorporated cities and towns therein, have, in the exercise of their police powers, and for the purpose of regulation, as herein provided, and not otherwise, power to license all and every kind of business not prohibited by law, and transacted and carried on within the limits of their respective jurisdictions, and all shows, exhibitions, and lawful games carried on therein, to fix the rates of license tax upon the same, and to provide for its collection by suit or otherwise; provided, that every honorably discharged soldier, sailor, or marine of the United States, who is unable to obtain a livelihood by manual labor, shall have the right to hawk, peddle, and vend any goods, wares, or merchandise, except spirituous, malt, vinous, or other intoxicating liquor, without payment of any license tax or fee whatsoever, whether municipal, county, or state, and the board of supervisors or legislative body must issue to such soldier, sailor, or marine, without cost, a license therefor. No license can be collected, nor any penalty for the non-payment thereof enforced, against any commercial traveler whose business is limited to goods, wares, and merchandise sold or dealt in in this State at wholesale.

Substitutes for the matters now in this section, section thirty-three hundred and sixty-six as added by the statute of 1901, p. 635.

§§ 3373-3387. That article II, consisting of sections thirty-three hundred and seventy-three to thirty-three hundred and eighty-seven, be repealed, on the ground that all these sections became inoperative on the adoption of our constitution, under the decision in People v. Martin, 60 Cal. 152.

§ 3407. That section thirty-four hundred and seven be amended to read:

Sec. 3407. All applications, under whatever act filed in the surveyor-general's office, must be retained sixty days before approval, and must be approved by him, when there is no conflict, at the expiration of six months; provided, the acceptance of the register of the United States land office is obtained where such acceptance is required. A copy of such approval must be given to the applicant.

Consolidates the present section with the last clause of section thirty-five hundred and forty-eight.

§ 3414. That section thirty-four hundred and fourteen be amended to read:

Sec. 3414. When a contest arises concerning the approval of a survey or location before the surveyor-general, or concerning the certificate of purchase or other evidence of title before the register, the officer before whom the contest is made, may, when the question involved is as to the survey, or one purely of fact, or whether the land applied for is a part of the swamp or overflowed lands of the State, or whether it is included within a confirmed grant, the lines of which have been run by authority of law, proceed to hear and determine the same; but when, in the judgment of the officer, a question of law is involved, or when either party demands a trial in the courts of the State, he must make an order referring the contest to the superior court for the county in which the land is situated, and must enter such order in a record book in his office.

"District" stricken out and "superior" inserted.

§ 3416. That section thirty-four hundred and sixteen be amended to read:

Sec. 3416. Upon filing with the surveyor-general or register, as the case may be, a copy of the final judgment of the court, that officer must approve or disapprove the survey or location, or issue, or refuse to issue, the certificate of purchase or other evidence of title in accordance with such judgment.

Inserts "or disapprove," also "or refuse to issue."

§ 3417. That section thirty-four hundred and seventeen be amended to read:

Sec. 3417. Unless the party contestant commences his action within sixty days after the order of reference is made, and files with the surveyor-general a copy of the final judgment therein within thirty days after its rendition, his rights in the premises and under his application, cease, and he is estopped from filing another application for the land in question.

Inserts "and files with the surveyor-general a copy of the final judgment therein within thirty days after its rendition," and "is estopped from filing another application for the land in question."

§ 3440*a*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and forty a, be added, to read:

Sec. 3440*a*. No claim must be made by the State to any land, as swamp and overflowed, which was not returned as such by the United States deputy surveyor, nor to lands for which preëmption or homestead patents have been issued by the United States, or upon which there are settlers occupying the land in good faith, who have filed their preëmption or homestead declaratory statements. The surveyor-general must not receive any application to purchase, as swamp or overflowed, any land not returned as such by the United States deputy surveyor, unless the application is accompanied by a certificate from the register of the United States land office for the district in which the land is situated, and by the affidavits of two disinterested persons, that there is no preëmption or homestead settler upon the land sought to be purchased, or if there is such settler, that he has resided on the land more than six months prior to the time of making such application, and every application is invalid where there is a valid preëmption filing or homestead entry on the lands sought to be purchased, at the time such application is made.

Codifies the statutes of 1873-4, p. 327, and 1881, p. 72.

§ 3442*a*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and forty-two a, be added, to read:

Sec. 3442*a*. Lands within this State, which have been, or may hereafter be, returned by the United States surveyor-general as swamp and overflowed, and shown as such on the approved township plats, must be held to be of the character so returned. Nothing in this section contained must be considered to affect the rights of any homestead or preëmption settler claiming under the laws of the United States, nor shall it affect any suit now pending in any court as between the parties thereto, nor be construed to prejudice the rights of any settler now or hereafter located upon such lands, to perfect title to the same, if permitted under existing laws.

Codifies the statute of 1891, p. 221.

§ 3444. That section thirty-four hundred and forty-four be repealed, because there is no reason why the sex of the applicant should make any difference in the form of the application.

§ 3449*a*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and forty-nine a, be added, to read:

Sec. 3449*a*. Any person having an interest affected by any order of the board of supervisors, approving, or refusing to approve, a petition for the formation of a reclamation or swamp land reclamation district, or in any manner creating or consolidating such districts, or including in, or excluding from, such district any lands, may, within thirty days after such order is made, appeal therefrom to the superior court of the county. Such appeal must be taken and prosecuted in the manner prescribed by law and the rules of such superior court relating to appeals from inferior courts, and the matter must be tried anew in the superior court. The judgment rendered therein is final. Each superior court in any county in which there is any reclamation or swamp land reclamation district must make rules regulating the appeals in the cases herein mentioned, and the clerk of the board of supervisors must, upon the notice of, and the undertaking on appeal being filed with him, transmit the same and all papers and documents used on the hearing before such board to the clerk of the superior court of the county, who must thereupon file the same without receiving any fee therefor.

Codifies the statute of 1893, p. 174.

§ 3450. That section thirty-four hundred and fifty be amended to read:

Sec. 3450. If no appeal is taken within the time allowed by law from the order approving the petition, or if when so appealed from such order is affirmed by the superior court, the petition must then be recorded by the county recorder in a book kept for the purpose of recording papers relating to reclamations, and a certified copy thereof forwarded to the register.

Inserts all after the words "the petition," where they occur for the second time in the sentence.

§ 3461. That section thirty-four hundred and sixty-one be amended to read:

Sec. 3461. The list must contain:

1. A description by legal subdivisions, swamp land surveys, or other intelligible description, of each tract assessed;
2. The number of acres in each tract;
3. The names of the owners of each tract, if known; and, if unknown, that fact;
4. The amount of the charge assessed against each tract.

Strikes out "natural boundaries" and inserts "other intelligible description."

§ 3466. That section thirty-four hundred and sixty-six be amended to read:

Sec. 3466. At the end of thirty days, the treasurer must return the list to the board of trustees of the district, and all unpaid assessments thereafter bear legal interest, and must thereafter be collected and paid in separate installments, of such amounts and at such times, respectively, as the board, from time to time, in its discretion, may, by order entered in its minutes, direct; and a cause of action for the collection of any such installment accrues at the expiration of twenty days from the date of the order directing its payment. If any such installment remains unpaid at the expiration of such twenty days, then the whole of the assessment against the land owned by the person failing to pay such installment becomes due and payable at once, and may, in the discretion of the board, be collected immediately, in one and the same action. The board of trustees of the district must commence actions for the collection of such delinquent installments and delinquent assessments, with interest thereon, and costs, and for the enforcement of the lien on the land assessed, in the superior court of the county in which the land is situated. Assessments on several tracts may be included in the same action, if they belong to the same person or persons. In all actions for the collection of delinquent assessments, the court may decree and adjudge a lien against each tract for the amount assessed against it, and may order it to be sold on execution or decree, as in other cases of sale of real estate. The judgment or decree must direct that the sale be made for gold and silver coin of the United States. The board of trustees must pay the money collected to the county treasurer, who must place the same to the credit of the district.

We have omitted from this section all that part thereof undertaking to specify the person against whom the suit may be brought and the manner in which it may be prosecuted and process therein served, thus leaving the suit to be controlled by the ordinary rules applicable to proceedings for the foreclosure of liens. The words "listed to the same person" have also been stricken out, and the words "they belong to the same person or persons" inserted.

§ 3466½. That section thirty-four hundred and sixty-six and a half be renumbered thirty-four hundred and sixty-six a.

§ 3477*a*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and seventy-seven a, be added, to read:

Sec. 3477*a*. Whenever, under the provisions of section thirty-four hundred and seventy-seven, a purchaser from the State, of lands included in any reclamation district, has been credited with payment in full for such lands, the trustees of such district may, in their discretion, allow a credit of one dollar per acre on all lands assessed in such district for reclamation purposes, the title to which land has not been derived by purchase of the same from the State as swamp and overflowed land; such credit to be given on any assessment heretofore made and remaining unpaid, or on any future assessment where the owner of such lands has not received such credit, whether judgments for the payment of such assessments have been recovered or not, but no such credit must be given or allowed until such person has paid all assessments levied on such land, with interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent per annum, from the date of delinquency, and of judgment therefor in full, less the amount of such credit.

Codifies the statute of 1881, p. 58.

§ 3484. That section thirty-four hundred and eighty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 3484. No member of any board of supervisors, or any clerk of such board, must receive compensation, other than his regular salary, for services performed under this chapter.

Omits the last clause of the present section, which applies to Sacramento county only, and has, we believe, become obsolete.

§ 3493 $\frac{1}{2}$. That section thirty-four hundred and ninety-three and a half be renumbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three a.

§ 3493*b*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three b, be added, to read:

Sec. 3493*b*. All swamp and overflowed land reclamation districts or protection districts organized under any law of this State, which, for more than five years, fail or neglect to use their corporate powers, and are free from debt, or against which all claims are barred by limitation, may be dissolved and annulled by a court of competent jurisdiction, upon proper proceedings had therefor. The action or proceeding may be brought against such district by any person owning lands therein. The summons must be served upon a majority of the last elected and acting trustees of the district, if living. If not living, then it may be served generally by publication.

Codifies the statute of 1899, p. 13.

§ 3493c. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three c, be added, to read:

Sec. 3493c. Whenever, in the opinion of the board of trustees of any reclamation district, the cost of the work of reclamation, according to the plans thereof, will be too great to be raised by assessment, such board must order a special election to be held at some place in such district, to be designated by such board, at which must be submitted to the owners of land in such district, whether or not the bonds of such district shall be issued in an amount necessary to construct such works of reclamation, which amount must be estimated by such board, and stated in the order for such election.

Codifies section one of the statute of 1895, p. 197.

§ 3493d. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three d, be added, to read:

Sec. 3493d. Notice of an election provided for in the preceding section must be given by the board of trustees by posting notice thereof in at least three public places in the district, at least twenty days prior thereto, and also by publication for the same time in some newspaper published in each county in which any portion of the district may be situated, if there is a newspaper published in each of such counties, and if there is no newspaper so published, then by such publication in each county in which there is a newspaper published. Such notice must specify the time and place of holding such election, the amount of bonds proposed to be issued, and the names of three land-holders of the district to act as a board of election.

Codifies section two of the last named statute.

§ 3493e. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three e, be added, to read:

Sec. 3493e. At such election, each holder of lands in the district is entitled to vote in person or by proxy, and has the right to cast one vote for each one dollar's worth of real estate owned by him in the district, the value thereof to be determined from the next preceding assessment roll of the county. The board of trustees must, prior to the election, procure from the assessor of each county wherein any portion of the district is situated a list, certified by him, containing a description of all the land of the district situate in such county, the name of the person to whom each tract is assessed, and the value thereof, as appears from the assessment roll, which list must be furnished to and used by the board of election in determining the number of votes each voter is entitled to cast. No person must vote by proxy at such election unless his authority is evidenced by an instrument in writing, duly acknowledged and certified, as are grants of real property, and filed with the board of election. The ballots cast at such election must contain the words "Bonds—Yes," or the words "Bonds—No," and also the name of the person casting the ballot, with the number of votes cast by him, and a list of the ballots cast must be made by the board of election, containing the name of the voter, and if the ballot is cast by proxy the name of the person casting it, the number of votes cast, and whether the same are cast for or against the issuance of the bonds.

Codifies section three of the last named statute.

§ 3493*f*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three f, be added, to read:

Sec. 3493*f*. If any of the persons appointed and specified in the notice of election as the board of election, fails to attend at the time and place appointed for the election, the voters present at the time for opening the polls may appoint any land-holder in the district then present, to fill the place of such absent member. Each member of the board of election must, before entering upon his duties as such, take an oath as such member, which may be administered by any officer authorized to administer oaths or by any land-holder in the district. The polls must be kept open for the reception of votes from ten o'clock A. M. until four o'clock P. M. At the close of the polls, the board of election must at once proceed to canvass the votes and declare the result, and forward a certificate, showing the number of votes cast for and against the issuing of bonds, to the board of supervisors of the county where the district was formed, and deliver a duplicate thereof to the board of trustees of the district, and must also deliver to such board of trustees the ballots cast at such election, and all documents and papers used thereat.

Codifies section four of the statute last named.

§ 3493*g*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety three g, be added to read:

Sec. 3493*g*. If a majority of the votes cast at such election is in favor of the issuance of bonds, the board of trustees must cause bonds, in the amount stated in the order for election, to be issued, and placed in the custody of the treasurer of the county in which the district was formed. Such bonds must be of the denomination of one hundred dollars each, negotiable in form, and signed by the president and secretary of the board of trustees of the district, and the chairman of the board of supervisors of said county, and attested by the clerk and the seal of such board of supervisors; must be numbered consecutively as issued, and bear date at the time of their issue, and express on their face that they were issued by authority of the Political Code, and the date of the election at which their issuance was authorized. Such bonds must bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of January and July of each year, at the office of the county treasurer, upon the presentation of proper coupons therefor. Coupons for each installment of interest must be attached to each bond, and numbered, signed, and attested in the same manner as the bond. The principal of such bonds must be paid as follows, to wit: ten per cent of the whole amount of the bonds issued, according to their consecutive numbers, must be paid in ten years from the date of their issuance, at the office of such county treasurer, and ten per cent thereof each succeeding year, until all are paid. If any bond is not presented for payment when it becomes due, it ceases to draw interest, and if presented at such time and not paid for want of funds, the county treasurer must so indorse it, and thereafter it draws interest until paid, at the rate of seven per cent per annum, payable semi-annually.

Codifies section five of the same statute.

§ 3493*h*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three h, be added, to read:

Sec. 3493*h*. The treasurer of each county must place the bonds prepared pursuant to this article, to the credit of the district, and may at any time sell any of said bonds for the best price obtainable therefor, but in no event for less than the face value of said bond and the accrued interest thereon. Any money derived from the sale of bonds by the county treasurer must be placed to the credit of the district, and a proper record of the transaction be placed upon the books of the treasurer.

Codifies section six of the same statute.

§ 3493*i*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three i, be added, to read:

Sec. 3493*i*. The trustees of the district may draw orders upon the county treasurer, payable in bonds or money, in the proportion and to the amount therein named, to pay for labor or services performed for, or materials or property furnished to, the district for the purpose of constructing the reclamation works thereof, and the expenses necessarily incident to maintaining the same and the contingent expenses of the district, which orders must be approved by the board of supervisors of the county where the district was formed, and thereafter be paid by such treasurer, in the manner therein provided for, if the bonds or money then remaining in such treasury to the credit of the district is sufficient to pay the same.

Codifies section seven of the same statute.

§ 3493*j*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three j, be added, to read:

Sec. 3493*j*. The principal of the bonds, and the interest thereon, must be paid by revenue derived from the tax levy upon the assessable real property of the district, and the board of supervisors of the county wherein the district was formed, at the time of making the levy of taxes for county purposes, must levy a tax for that year upon the taxable real property of such district, sufficient to pay the interest which may become due upon the bonds during such year, and if any portion of the principal of the bonds will become due during such year, then also in an amount sufficient to pay such portion. All taxes so levied must be computed and entered on the assessment roll of the county wherein the lands are situated, by the county auditor, and collected by the tax collector, at the same time and in the same manner as state and county taxes, and when collected, must be paid into the county treasury for the use of the district.

Codifies section eight of the same statute.

§ 3493*k*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three k, be added, to read:

Sec. 3493*k*. When the district is situated partly in different counties, the assessor of the county or counties, other than the county where the district was formed, and in which any portion of such district may be situated, must, prior to the time when the board of supervisors meets and makes the levy for county purposes in each year, certify to the board of supervisors of the county where such district was formed, a statement of the total value of all taxable real property of the district situated in his county, and when such board of trustees has determined the rate of taxation necessary to be levied upon such property, the clerk thereof must certify the same, under the seal of the board, to the auditor of any county, other than the county where such district was formed, and such auditor must thereupon compute the tax, and enter the same upon the assessment roll of such county. When any taxes are collected under the provisions of this article, and placed in the treasury of any county, other than the one in which the district was formed, the treasurer of such county must, when requested so to do by its board of supervisors, forward all money in such treasury to the county treasurer of the county in which such district was formed, who must receive and receipt for the same, and place such money in the treasury of the county to the credit of the district.

Codifies section nine of the same statute.

§ 3493*l*. That a new section, numbered thirty-four hundred and ninety-three l, be added, to read:

Sec. 3493*l*. No assessor, tax collector, treasurer, or clerk, must receive any fee for services required to be performed by or under any of the provisions of sections thirty-four hundred and ninety-three b to thirty-four hundred and ninety-three k, both inclusive. All expenses necessarily incurred in carrying out the provisions of such sections must be paid out of any money to the credit of the district for which the services are performed, in the treasury of the county where the district was formed, on the order of the board of trustees of such district, approved by the board of supervisors of such county.

Codifies section ten of the same statute.

§§ 3493*m*-3493*t*. That a new article, numbered II*a*, to consist of sections thirty-four hundred and ninety-three m to thirty-four hundred and ninety-three t, codifying the statute of 1893, p. 341, be added, to read:

ARTICLE IIa.

SALE OF LANDS UNCOVERED BY THE RECESSION OR DRAINAGE OF WATERS OF INLAND LAKES, AND UNSEGREGATED SWAMP AND OVERFLOWED LANDS.

SEC. 3493*m*. Application.

3493*n*. Duties of surveyor-general.

3493*o*. Approval of application.

3493*p*. Price of lands and disposition of moneys.

3493*q*. Reclamation.

3493*r*. Contests.

3493*s*. Validating certificates of purchase and patents.

3493*t*. Validating plans and surveys.

Application.

Sec. 3493*m*. Any person desiring to purchase any of the lands uncovered by the recession or drainage of the waters of inland lakes, and inuring to the State by virtue of her sovereignty, or the swamp and overflowed lands not segregated by the United States, must make an application therefor to the surveyor-general of the State, which application must be accompanied by the applicant's affidavit that he is a citizen of the United States, or has declared his intention to become such, a resident of this State, of lawful age, that he desires to purchase such lands (describing them by legal subdivisions, or by metes and bounds, if the legal subdivisions are unknown), under the provisions of this article, for his own use and benefit, and for the use and benefit of no other person whomsoever, and that he has made no contract or agreement to sell the same, and that he does not own any state lands which, together with that now sought to be purchased, exceeds six hundred and forty acres.

Corresponds to section one of the act.

Duties of surveyor-general.

Sec. 3493*n*. Upon the filing of such application, when the land has not been sectionized, the surveyor-general must authorize the county surveyor of the county where the whole or the greater portion of the land lies, to survey the same. He must make an actual survey thereof, at the expense of the applicant, establishing four corners to each quarter section, and connecting the same with a United States survey; and within thirty days, file with the surveyor-general a copy, under oath, of his field notes and plat, and a statement under oath, showing whether or not the land is occupied by any actual settler. If the surveyor thus authorized fails to make his return to the surveyor-general within the time specified, he may designate another person to make the survey.

Corresponds to sections two and three of the act.

Approval of application.

Sec. 3493o. No application to purchase land under this article must be approved until the expiration of ninety days from the filing thereof, and meanwhile the land is subject to the adverse claim of any actual settler who resided thereon when the said application was filed.

Corresponds to section four of the act.

Price of lands and disposition of moneys.

Sec. 3493p. The lands designated in this article must be sold at the price of two dollars and fifty cents per acre, and on the terms and manner of payment provided for swamp and overflowed lands. All moneys received for such lands must be paid into the swamp land fund of the county in which the lands are situated, and must be treated and disposed of in the same manner as moneys arising from the sale of segregated swamp and overflowed lands, and all moneys heretofore received for the sale of such lands, and remaining in the treasury, are subject to the same provisions of law. If any of the lands described in this article are suitable for cultivation without reclamation, they must be sold only to actual settlers in tracts not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres.

Corresponds to section five as amended by the statute of 1899, p. 182.

Reclamation.

Sec. 3493q. Any of the lands designated in this article which, by reason of periodical overflow, need, and are susceptible of, reclamation, may be reclaimed by the formation of districts, in the same manner and subject to all of the provisions of law regulating the reclamation of swamp and overflowed lands. The board of supervisors of the county in which the lands, or the greater part thereof, are situated, must first determine, upon proper petition presented therefor by the holders of the title, or evidence of title, representing one half or more of any body of such land, that such reclamation is necessary and feasible.

Corresponds to section six of the act.

Contests.

Sec. 3493r. When land has been sold under this article, no contest can be maintained against the purchaser on the ground that the land is not of the character stated in the application, unless it is shown that it is not of the character recited in section thirty-four hundred and ninety-three m.

Corresponds to section seven of the act.

Validating certificates of purchase and patents.

Sec. 3493s. All uncanceled certificates of purchase and patents heretofore issued, and payments heretofore made for any lands as swamp and overflowed lands, which belong to any of the classes described in section thirty-four hundred and ninety-three m, whether or not such lands were segregated or sectionized, are for all purposes valid, and have the same force and effect as if such lands had been at all times subject to sale as swamp and overflowed lands. Any and all contests now existing between settlers and holders of certificates of purchase are not affected by the provisions of this article.

Corresponds to section eight of the act.

Validating plats and surveys.

Sec. 3493t. All plats of any of the lands described in section thirty-four hundred and ninety-three m, which have been heretofore made under authority of the United States surveyor-general, and which plats designate the same as swamp and overflowed land, must be deemed valid and effectual as surveys of such lands from and after the date thereof.

Corresponds to section nine of the act.

§ 3495. That section thirty-four hundred and ninety-five be amended to read:

Sec. 3495. Any person desiring to purchase any portion, not less than the smallest legal subdivision, of any of the lands mentioned in section thirty-four hundred and ninety-four, situated in any township which has been surveyed by the United States, must make an affidavit that he is a citizen of the United States, or has filed his intention to become such, a resident of this State, of lawful age, that he desires to purchase such lands (describing the same by legal subdivisions) under the provisions of this title; that there is no occupation of such lands adverse to any that he has, or if there is an adverse occupation the affidavit must show that the township has been sectionized three months, and that the adverse occupant (giving his name) has been in such occupation more than sixty days since the plat was filed in the United States land office; that he desires to purchase the same for his own use and benefit, and for the use or benefit of no other person or persons whomsoever, and that he has made no contract or agreement to sell the same. The affidavit must also state whether the land is or is not suitable for cultivation, and, if it is, that the applicant is an actual settler thereon, and that he has not entered any portion of any lands mentioned in section thirty-four hundred and ninety-four, which, together with that now sought to be purchased, exceeds three hundred and twenty acres; but if the land is not suitable for cultivation, the affidavit must further state that the applicant has not entered any portion of such lands, which, together with that now sought to be entered, exceeds six hundred and forty acres. Lands unsuitable for cultivation may be sold in quantities not exceeding six hundred and forty acres to any one person, under the restriction other than as to actual settlement prescribed for the sale of cultivable lands. The surveyor-general and register of the land office must make and enforce all necessary rules and regulations to prevent the sale of school lands suitable for cultivation to any person not an actual settler thereon. Any contest of the applicant's right to purchase, arising from the character of the land as cultivable or otherwise, may be referred to the superior court of the proper county, as in other cases, for determination. No contest of the applicant's right to purchase, arising from adverse occupation, shall be maintained, except by a prior adverse occupant, who has filed an application to purchase the land under the provisions of this section, and no occupation of land by a person other than the applicant shall be an adverse occupation within the meaning of this section, unless such occupation is by a person who is entitled to purchase the same under the provisions hereof, and who files his application therefor within the time prescribed by section thirty-four hundred and ninety-seven of this code.

Omits "provided, that any smallest legal subdivision of school lands shall be deemed suitable for cultivation if any part not less than half of its area will, without artificial irrigation, but with or without the clearing of timber or other growth therefrom, by the ordinary processes of tillage, produce ordinary agricultural crops in average quantity," because it has been determined that the legislature cannot classify lands suitable for cultivation, nor give definition to the words contained in the constitution. (Albert v. Hobler, 111 Cal. 398; Fulton v. Brannan, 88 Cal. 456.)

§ 3496. That section thirty-four hundred and ninety-six be repealed, for the reason suggested at section thirty-four hundred and forty-four.

§ 3501. That section thirty-five hundred and one be repealed, for the reason suggested at section thirty-four hundred and forty-four.

§ 3502a. That a new section, numbered thirty-five hundred and two a, be added, to read:

Sec. 3502a. Every bona fide owner and holder of any unlocated school land warrant, issued under and by virtue of the act of the legislature, approved May third, eighteen hundred and fifty-two, providing for the disposal of the five hundred thousand acres of land donated to the State by the United States, is entitled to a warrant upon the state treasurer for the sum of two dollars per acre, provided for by such warrant. The controller, upon the presentation to him of any such warrant, is authorized to draw his warrant on the state treasurer, payable out of the fund into which the purchase price of such school land warrant was deposited, in favor of such owner or holder for such sum as is herein provided for. Before the receipt of such controller's warrant, any such person must surrender to such controller his warrant for cancellation, and must, at the same time, file with the controller his written release of all claims and demands against the State from any matter or thing growing out of, or in any manner connected with, any such land warrant so redeemed. The provisions of section six hundred and seventy-two of this code are hereby declared not to be applicable to this section.

Codifies the statute of 1893, p. 181.

§ 3519. That section thirty-five hundred and nineteen be amended to read:

Sec. 3519. Whenever a person becomes entitled to a patent, the register, upon the surrender of the certificate of purchase, must prepare a patent for the land and send it to the governor, together with a certificate that the laws in relation thereto have been complied with and that the party named in the prepared patent is entitled thereto.

Strikes out "final payment has been made for any tract of land, the selection of which has been accepted and approved by the United States authorities, or when the tract finally paid for or reclaimed is swamp and overflowed, salt marsh, or tide lands," and in place thereof inserts "a person becomes entitled to a patent."

§ 3548. That section thirty-five hundred and forty-eight be amended to read:

Sec. 3548. After the expiration of the fifty days, he must, in the name of the people of the State of California, commence actions in the superior court against all purchasers, or holders of certificates of purchase, who have not either paid the amount due, together with the cost of publication, or surrendered the title to the State, as provided in section thirty-five hundred and seventy, to obtain a judgment of foreclosure of the interest of the purchaser, or assignee of the purchaser, in the land, and to annul the certificate of purchase.

Omits the last clause, which has been transferred to section thirty-four hundred and seven.

§ 3554. That section thirty-five hundred and fifty-four be amended to read:

Sec. 3554. After judgment, foreclosing the interest of the purchaser or holder of the certificate, has been entered, and certified copies thereof have been filed with the register, such purchaser, his executor, administrator, or successor in interest, has twelve months within which to redeem the land by paying into the county treasury, for the benefit of the fund or parties entitled thereto, all delinquent interest that would have accrued in case there had been no foreclosure, and all costs of foreclosure. When such payment is made and indorsed on the certificate of purchase, specifying the amount paid as interest and for costs, and duly reported to the register of the land office, the annulment must be canceled by that officer, and the rights of the purchaser are fully restored; but if such redemption is not made within the time and in the manner herein specified, such land is again subject to sale.

Inserts in place of the present section the provisions of the statute of 1881, p. 65.

§ 3575. That a new section, numbered thirty-five hundred and seventy-five, be added, to read:

Sec. 3575. Every application to purchase any portion of a sixteenth or thirty-sixth section must be accompanied by a deposit of twenty dollars, in addition to the fee for filing required by the preceding section, for which the surveyor-general must give the applicant a receipt, which must be accepted by the county treasurer in part payment of the purchase price of the land. If the applicant abandons or forfeits his application, or fails to make proper proof as to the character of the land, or his residence thereon, within the time allowed by law, or if his application is rejected, by reason of any false statement in any affidavit, the twenty dollars thus paid must go to the state school fund. Should the surveyor-general err in receiving the application, or the State be unable to make a good title to the land, then the applicant, or his assigns, may surrender the receipt to the surveyor-general, and receive in exchange therefor, a certificate showing the amount so paid, and the reason why the application cannot be approved or perfected, and the controller, upon the surrender to him, of such surveyor-general's certificate, must issue to the applicant, or his assigns, a warrant for such amount. Any number of filings on any section of land specified in this section is permitted. Should the first filing be abandoned by the applicant, the next filing confers the same right as if it had been the first.

Codifies sections one and two of the statute of 1889, p. 434.

§ 3576. That a new section, numbered thirty-five hundred and seventy-six, be added, to read :

Sec. 3576. The moneys received by the surveyor-general under the provisions of section thirty-four hundred and seventy-five, and not forfeited thereunder, must be paid to the state treasurer at the close of each month, and placed in a fund to be called "school land deposit fund," to the credit of the county in which the lands applied for are situated. When any moneys are placed in such fund, to the credit of the county, the controller, at the next settlement with him by the treasurer of such county, must draw his warrant upon the state treasurer for the amount of the fund to the credit of the county, and the direction herein to the controller is exempted from the operation of section six hundred and seventy-two.

Corresponds to section three of the statute last named.

§ 3649a. That a new section, numbered thirty-six hundred and forty-nine a, be added, to read:

Sec. 3649a. Every assessment made after the year eighteen hundred and seventy-nine, which is or may hereafter be adjudged to be invalid for any reason whatever, must be remade, and the property re-assessed and equalized for each year for which such assessment was invalid, and such re-assessment and equalization must be made by the same officers and boards and at the same time or times as are prescribed by law for the assessment and equalization of property of the same classes or kinds as the property he is hereby required to re-assess. The assessment and equalized assessment of such property must be entered on the several assessment rolls and books, in the same manner that assessments of such property are or were required by law to be entered for the year or years during which the re-assessments are made, and there is hereby levied for such purposes, the same rates of taxation for each of such respective years, as were levied upon property for each of said years for said purposes, and all taxes for counties, cities and counties, and other taxing districts, must be levied by the proper board or boards upon such property, at the same rates for each respective year, as were levied upon property for each of said years for which such assessments were invalid.

Corresponds to sections one and two of the statute of 1893, p. 290.

§ 3649*b*. That a new section, numbered thirty-six hundred and forty-nine b, be added, to read:

Sec. 3649*b*. All property authorized to be re-assessed by section thirty-six hundred and forty-nine a, must be re-assessed and equalized by the proper officers and boards at the value to which, and to the person or corporation to whom or to which, such property ought, for each of such years, to have been assessed, under such rules of notice and at the times and in the modes prescribed for the assessment and equalization of like classes of property, and the assessment and equalization thereof, and the levy and collection of taxes thereunder, must be made by the proper officers at the time, upon like notice and in the manner now or hereafter provided by law, for making assessments and equalizing the same, and for the levy and collection of taxes on like classes of property. If the tax so re-levied becomes delinquent, there must be added thereto, and to the amount thereof, the same percentage, as a penalty for such delinquency, as is added to other delinquent taxes on like classes of property, and such delinquent taxes and penalties must be collected by the proper officers in the manner now or hereafter provided by law for the collection of delinquent taxes and penalties upon like classes of property, the collectors of such taxes to allow as credits thereon all payments made on the taxes as first levied.

Corresponds to section three of the statute last named.

§ 3649*c*. That a new section, numbered thirty-six hundred and forty-nine c, be added, to read:

Sec. 3649*c*. There is no limitation as to the time in which actions for the collection of taxes levied under the preceding section may be commenced, and all provisions of law now or hereafter provided in respect to assessment, equalization, levy, and collection of taxes, must, when applicable, apply to re-assessment, equalization, and re-levies, and collection of taxes made under the provisions of the last two preceding sections, but nothing in such sections applies to assessments made for local improvements or street purposes.

Corresponds to sections four and five of the statute last named.

§ 3665. That section thirty-six hundred and sixty-five, constituting chapter 256 of the statutes of 1897, be repealed.

§ 3692. That section thirty-six hundred and ninety-two be amended to read:

Sec. 3692. The powers and duties of the state board of equalization are as follows:

1. To prescribe rules for its own government, and for the transaction of its business;

2. To prescribe rules and regulations, not in conflict with the constitution and laws of the State, to govern supervisors when equalizing, and assessors when assessing;

3. To make out, prepare, and enforce the use of all forms in relation to the assessment of property, collection of taxes, and revenue of this State;

4. To hold regular meetings at the state capitol, on the second Monday in each month, and such special meetings as the chairman may direct;

5. To annually assess the franchise, roadway, roadbed, rails, and rolling stock of all railroads operated in more than one county in this State, at their actual value, on the first Monday in March, at twelve o'clock M., and to apportion such assessment to the counties, and cities and counties, in which such railroads are located, in proportion to the number of miles of railway laid in such counties, and cities and counties, in the manner provided for in section thirty-six hundred and sixty-four of said code;

6. To equalize the assessment of each mortgage, deed of trust, contract, or other obligation by which a debt is secured, and which affects property situate in two or more counties, and to apportion the assessment thereof to each of such counties;

7. To transmit to the assessor of each county, or city and county, its apportionment of the assessments made by said board upon the franchises, roadways, roadbeds, rails, and rolling stock of railroads, and also its apportionment of the assessments made by such board upon mortgages, deeds of trust, contracts, and other obligations by which debts are secured, in the manner provided for in section thirty-six hundred and sixty-four of said code;

8. To meet at the state capitol on the third Monday in July, and remain in session from day to day, Sundays excepted, until the second Monday in September;

9. At such meeting to equalize the valuation of the taxable property of the several counties in this State for the purposes of taxation; and to the end, under such rules of notice to the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county affected thereby, as it may prescribe, to increase or lower the entire assessment roll, or any assessment contained therein, so as to equalize the assessment of property contained in said roll, and make the assessment conform to the true value in money of the property assessed, and to fix the rate of state taxation, and to do the things provided in section thirty-six hundred and ninety-three of said code; but no board of equalization shall raise any mortgage, deed of trust, contract, or other obligation by which a debt is secured, money or solvent credits, above its face value;

10. To visit as a board, or by the individual members thereof, whenever deemed necessary, the several counties of the State, for the purpose of inspecting the property and learning the value thereof;

11. To call before it, or any member thereof, on such visit, any officer of the county, and to require him to produce any public records in his custody;

12. To issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses or the production of books before the board, or any member thereof, which subpoenas must be signed by a member of the board, and may be served by any person. Any person or corporation failing or refusing to obey such subpoena is guilty of a misdemeanor;

13. To appoint a clerk, prescribe and enforce his duties. The clerk shall hold his office during the pleasure of the board;

14. To report to the governor, annually, a statement showing:

First—The acreage of each county in the State that is assessed;

Second—The amount assessed per acre;

Third—The aggregate value of all town and city lots;

Fourth—The aggregate value of all real estate in the State;

Fifth—The kinds of personal property in each county, and the value of each kind;

Sixth—The aggregate value of all personal property in the State;

Seventh—Any information relative to the assessment of property and the collection of revenue;

Eighth—Such further suggestions as it shall deem proper;

15. To keep a record of all its proceedings.

“First Monday in August” stricken out and “first Monday in July” inserted, to harmonize the section with section thirty-six hundred and sixty-five. In subdivision nine the words “or any assessment contained therein” inserted; and to subdivision twelve are added the words “any person or corporation failing or refusing to obey such subpoena is guilty of a misdemeanor.”

§ 3700. That section thirty-seven hundred be amended to read:

Sec. 3700. The annual salary of each member of the board, except the state controller, is three thousand dollars, and the annual salary of the clerk of the board is twenty-four hundred dollars; and each of said officers shall devote his entire time to the service of the State in performing the duties and acquiring the information required by this article.

“Eighteen” stricken out and “twenty-four” inserted, for the purpose of making the salary of the clerk as it is declared to be in section thirty-seven hundred and one, adopted in 1883.

§ 3701. That section thirty-seven hundred and one be repealed, its contents having been inserted in the preceding section by the amendment last proposed.

§ 3702. That section thirty-seven hundred and two be amended to read:

Sec. 3702. The members of the board are entitled to their actual traveling expenses, and for contingent clerical assistance, while traveling, incurred by them in the discharge of their duties, the amount to be audited and allowed by the board of examiners; and the sum of five thousand dollars for each fiscal year is hereby continuously appropriated out of the general fund of the state treasury to pay the same. The secretary of state must assign an office for the board in the state capitol, in which must be transacted all its business, except such as in its nature must be transacted elsewhere. He must supply it with stationery, fuel, and light, and the superintendent of state printing must execute its orders for printing.

“Such” inserted after “except.”

§ 3788a. That that section thirty-seven hundred and eighty-eight which went into effect February 17, 1895, be numbered thirty-seven hundred and eighty-eight a.

§ 3825. That section thirty-eight hundred and twenty-five be amended to read:

Sec. 3825. If a sum less than the rate fixed has been collected, the deficiency must be collected by the tax collector as other taxes on real and personal property are collected. No action can be maintained to collect such deficiency, unless the tax collector, at least fifteen days before the commencement of the action, deposits in the United States post office, postage prepaid, addressed to the person owing such tax, at his last known place of residence, a notice in writing, informing him of the amount and nature of the tax, and that unless it is paid within fifteen days action will be brought therefor. Any action commenced without such notice must be dismissed.

The words "postage prepaid" inserted.

§§ 3832-3838*k*. That a new chapter, numbered VIII*a*, consisting of sections thirty-eight hundred and thirty-two to thirty-eight hundred and thirty-eight k, codifying the statute of 1893, p. 193, be added, to read:

CHAPTER VIII*a*.

COLLATERAL INHERITANCE TAX.

- SEC. 3832. Property subject to tax.
 3833. Interest for years and for life.
 3834. Tax or allowance to executors or trustees.
 3835. Time of payment.
 3836. Duties of administrators, executors, and trustees.
 3837. Payments and receipts.
 3838. Corporations, liability of.
 3838*a*. Refunding taxes.
 3838*b*. Appraisalment of interests of uncertain value.
 3838*c*. Appraisers' penalties.
 3838*d*. Jurisdiction.
 3838*e*. Citations.
 3838*f*. Duties of treasurer and district attorney.
 3838*g*. County clerk's duties.
 3838*h*. Expense of citation, and of proceedings thereunder.
 3838*i*. Collections and payments by county treasurer.
 3838*j*. Fees of county treasurers.
 3838*k*. Treasurers' receipts and copies thereof.

Property subject to tax.

Sec. 3832. All property which passes by will, or by the intestate laws of this State, from any person who dies seized or possessed of the same while a resident thereof, or if he was not such resident at the time of his death, which property or any part thereof is then in the State, or any interest therein, or income therefrom, which is transferred by deed, grant, will, or gift made in contemplation of the death of the grantor or bargainor, or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment after such death, to any person or any body politic or corporate, in trust or otherwise, or by reason whereof any person or body politic or corporate may become beneficially entitled, in possession or expectancy, to any property or to the income thereof, other than to or for the use of his father, mother, husband, wife, lawful issue, the wife or widow of a son, or the husband of a daughter, or any child adopted as such, in conformity with the laws of the State, and any lineal descendant of such decedent, born in lawful wedlock, or the societies, corporations, and institutions now or hereafter exempted by law from taxation, or to any public corporation, or to any society, corporation, institution, or association of persons, engaged in, or devoted to, any charitable, benevolent, educational, public, or other like work (pecuniary profit not to be its object or purpose), or to any person, society, corporation, institution, or association of persons, in trust for, or to be devoted to, any charitable, benevolent, educational, or public purpose, by reason whereof any such person or corporation may become beneficially entitled, in possession or expectancy, to any such property, or to the income thereof, shall be and is subject to a tax of five dollars on every hundred dollars of the market value of such property, and a proportionate rate for any less amount, to be paid to the treasurer of the proper county as hereinafter designated, to be by him paid into the treasury of the State, for the use of the state school fund; and all administrators, executors, and trustees are liable for any and all such taxes, until the same are paid, as hereinafter directed. An estate which may be valued at less than five hundred dollars is not subject to such duty or tax.

Consolidates section twenty-two of the original act with section one as amended by the statute of 1899, p. 101.

Interest for years and for life.

Sec. 3833. If any grant, gift, legacy, or succession, upon which a tax is proposed by the preceding section, is an estate, income, or interest for a term of years, or for life, or determinable upon any future or contingent event, or a remainder, reversion, or other expectancy, real or personal, the entire property or fund by which such estate, income, or interest is supported, or of which it is a part, must be appraised immediately after the death of the decedent, and the market value thereof determined in the manner provided in section thirty-eight hundred and thirty-eight b. The tax prescribed by this chapter becomes immediately due and payable to the treasurer of the proper county, and, together with the interest thereon, constitutes and remains a lien on such property, until paid; but the person or persons, or body politic or corporate, beneficially interested in the property chargeable with such tax, may elect not to pay the same until they come into the actual possession or enjoyment thereof, but in that case, such person or persons, or body politic or corporate, must execute a bond to the people of the State, in a penalty of twice the amount of the tax arising upon personal estate, with such securities as the superior court may approve, conditioned for the payment of such tax and interest thereon, at such time or period as they, or their legal representatives, may come into actual possession or enjoyment of such property, which bond must be filed in the office of the county clerk of the proper county. Such person or persons, or body politic or corporate, must make a full and verified return of such property to such court, and file the same in the office of the county clerk within one year from the death of the decedent, and within that period enter into such security, and must renew the same every five years.

Corresponds to section two as amended by the statute of 1895, p. 33.

Tax or allowance to executors or trustees.

Sec. 3834. If the decedent appoints one or more executors or trustees, and makes a bequest or devise of property to them, in lieu of commissions or allowances which otherwise would be liable to such tax, or appoints them his residuary legatees, and such bequests, devises, or residuary legacies exceed what would be a reasonable compensation for their services, the excess is liable to such tax, and the superior court in which the probate proceedings are pending must fix the compensation.

Corresponds to section three of the original act.

Time of payment.

Sec. 3835. All taxes imposed by this chapter, unless otherwise therein provided, are due and payable at the death of the decedent, and if paid within eighteen months, no interest must be collected thereon, but if not so paid, interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum must be charged and collected from the date the tax accrued. If such tax is paid within six months from the accruing thereof, a discount of five per centum must be allowed and deducted from the tax. In all cases where the executors, administrators, or trustees do not pay such tax within eighteen months from the death of the decedent, they must be required to give a bond, in the form and to the effect described in section thirty-eight hundred and thirty-three, for the payment of such tax, together with interest. The penalty of ten per centum per annum, imposed for the non-payment of such tax, must not be charged in case where, by reason of claims made upon the estate, necessary litigation, or other unavoidable cause of delay, the estate of any decedent, or any part thereof, cannot be settled at the end of eighteen months. In such case only seven per centum per annum must be charged upon such tax from the expiration of such eighteen months, until the cause of such delay is removed.

Corresponds to sections four and five of the original act.

Duties of administrators, executors, and trustees.

Sec. 3836. Any administrator, executor, or trustee, having in charge or trust any legacy or property for distribution, subject to such tax, must deduct the tax therefrom, or if the legacy or property is not money, he must collect the tax thereon, upon the appraised value thereof, of the legatee or person entitled to such property, and he must not deliver any specific legacy or property subject to tax, to any person, until he has collected the tax thereon. Whenever any such legacy is charged upon, or payable out of, real estate, the executor, administrator, or trustee must deduct such tax therefrom, and the same remains a charge on such real estate until paid. If, however, such legacy is given in money to any person, for a limited period, the executor, administrator, or trustee must retain the tax upon the whole amount, but if it is not in money, he must make application to the superior court having jurisdiction of his accounts, to make an apportionment, if the case requires it, of the sum to be paid into his hands by such legatee, and for such further order relative thereto, as the case may require. All executors, administrators, or trustees have full power to sell so much of the property of the decedent as will enable them to pay such tax, in the same manner as they may be enabled by law to do for the payment of debts of the estate, and the amount of such tax must be paid as hereinafter directed.

Consolidates section seven with section six as amended by the statute of 1895, p. 33.

Payments and receipts.

Sec. 3837. Every sum of money retained by an executor, administrator, or trustee, or paid into his hands, for any tax on property, must be by him paid, within thirty days thereafter, to the treasurer of the county in which the probate proceedings are pending, who must give duplicate receipts therefor, one of which such executor, administrator, or trustee must immediately send to the controller, whose duty it then becomes to charge such county treasurer with the amount thereof, and the controller must countersign such receipt, seal it with the seal of his office, and return it to the executor, administrator, or trustee, whereupon it becomes a proper voucher in the settlement of his accounts, and he is not entitled to credit in his accounts, nor to be discharged from liability for such tax, nor must such estate be distributed, unless he produces a receipt so sealed and countersigned by the controller, or a copy thereof certified by him.

Corresponds to section eight of the original act.

Corporations, liability of.

Sec. 3838. Whenever a foreign executor, or administrator, assigns or transfers any stocks or loans in this State, standing in the name of, or held in trust for, a decedent, which is liable to such tax, it must be paid to the treasurer of the proper county, on the transfer thereof, otherwise the corporation permitting such transfer becomes liable to pay such tax, if it has knowledge, before the transfer, that such stocks or loans are liable thereto.

Corresponds to section ten of the original act.

Refunding taxes.

Sec. 3838a. Whenever any debts have been proved against the estate of the decedent, after the payment of legacies or the distribution of property from which such tax has been deducted or upon which it has been paid, and a refund is made by the legatee, devisee, heir, or next of kin, a proper proportion of the tax so deducted or paid must be repaid to him, by the executor, administrator, or trustee, if such tax has not been paid to the county treasurer or the state controller, or by them, if it has been so paid.

Corresponds to section nine of the original act.

Appraisement of interests of uncertain value.

Sec. 3838b. If the value of any inheritance, devise, bequest, or other interest subject to the payment of such tax is uncertain, the superior court in which the probate proceedings are pending must, on the application of any interested party, or upon its own motion, appoint some competent person as appraiser, as often as, and whenever occasion may require, who must forthwith give such notice by mail, to all persons known to have or claim an interest in such property, and to such persons as the court may, by order, direct, of the time and place at which he will appraise such property, and at such time and place must appraise the same and make a report thereof, in writing, to such court, together with such other facts in relation thereto, as it may, by order, require to be filed with the clerk of such court. From this report the court must, by order, forthwith assess and fix the market value of all inheritances, devises, bequests, or other interests, and the tax to which the same is liable, and must immediately cause notice thereof to be given, by mail, to all parties known to be interested therein. The value of every future contingency, or limited estate, income, or interest, must, for the purposes of this chapter, be determined by the rule, method, and standards of mortality and value which are set forth in the actuaries' combined experience table of mortality, for ascertaining the value of policies of life insurance and annuities, and for the determination of the liability of life insurance companies, save that the rate of interest to be assessed in computing the value of all future interests and contingencies must be five per centum per annum. The insurance commissioner must, on the application of such court, determine the value of such future contingency, estate, income, or interest, upon the facts contained in such report, and certify the same to the court, and his certificate is conclusive evidence that the method of computation adopted therein is correct. Such appraiser must be paid by the county treasurer, out of any funds that he may have in his hands, on account of such tax, on the certificate of the court, at the rate of five dollars per day for every day actually and necessarily employed in such appraisement, together with his actual and necessary traveling expenses.

Corresponds to section eleven as amended by the statute of 1895, p. 34.

Appraisers' penalties.

Sec. 3838c. Any appraiser appointed by virtue of this chapter, who takes any fee or reward from any executor, administrator, or trustee, or any other person liable to pay such tax, or any portion thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof must be fined not less than two hundred and fifty dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail ninety days, or both, and in addition thereto, the court must dismiss him from such service.

Corresponds to section twelve of the original act.

Jurisdiction.

Sec. 3838*d*. The superior court of the county in which is situated the real property of the decedent, who is not a resident of the State, or in the county of which the decedent was a resident at the time of his death, has jurisdiction to hear and determine all questions in relation to the tax arising under the provisions of this chapter, and the court first acquiring jurisdiction hereunder must retain the same to the exclusion of every other.

Corresponds to section thirteen of the original act.

Citations.

Sec. 3838*e*. If it appears to the superior court, or a judge thereof, that any tax accruing under this chapter has not been paid according to law, it or he must issue a citation requiring the persons known to own any interest in or part of the property liable to the tax, to appear before the court, on a day certain, not more than ten weeks from the date of such citation, and show cause why such tax should not be paid. The service of the citation, and the time, manner, and proof thereof, and the hearing and determination thereon, and the enforcement of the determination, must conform to the provisions of chapter twelve of title eleven of part three of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the clerk of the court must, on the request of the district attorney or treasurer of the county, furnish, without fee, one or more transcripts of such decree, and the same must be docketed and filed by the county clerk of any county in the State, without fee, in the same manner, and with the same effect as provided by section six hundred and seventy-four of such Code of Civil Procedure, for filing a transcript of the original docket.

Corresponds to section fourteen of the original act.

Duties of treasurer and district attorney.

Sec. 3838*f*. Whenever any county treasurer has reason to believe that any tax is due and unpaid, under this chapter, after refusal or neglect of the person interested in the property liable to such tax to pay it, he must notify the district attorney of the proper county, in writing, thereof, who, if he has probable cause to believe that the tax is due and unpaid, must prosecute the proceeding in the superior court, as provided in section thirty-eight hundred and thirty-eight e, for the enforcement and collection of such tax.

Corresponds to section fifteen as amended by the statute of 1895, p. 35.

County clerk's duties.

Sec. 3838*g*. The county clerk of each county must, every three months, make a statement, in writing, to the county treasurer thereof, of the property from which, or the party from whom, he has reason to believe a tax, under this chapter, is due and unpaid. Such clerk must keep a book, as a public record, in which he must enter the value of inheritances, devises, bequests, and other interests subject to the payment of such tax, and the tax assessed thereon, and the amounts of any receipts for payments thereon, filed with him.

Corresponds to section sixteen and to section eighteen as amended by the statute of 1895, p. 38.

Expense of citation and of proceedings thereon.

Sec. 3838*h*. Whenever a superior court certifies that there was probable cause for issuing a citation, and taking the proceedings specified in section thirty-eight hundred and thirty-eight f, the state treasurer must pay or allow, to the treasurer of any county, all expense incurred for service of citation, and his other lawful disbursements that have not otherwise been paid.

Corresponds to section seventeen as amended by the statute of 1895, p. 35.

Collections and payments by county treasurer.

Sec. 3838*i*. Each county treasurer must collect, and pay to the state treasurer, all taxes that may be due and payable under this chapter, who must give him a receipt therefor. Such county treasurer must report such collection and payment, under oath, to the controller, between the first and fifteenth days of May and December of each year, stating for what estate paid, and in such form and containing such particulars as the controller may prescribe. For all such taxes collected by any county treasurer, and not paid to the state treasurer by the first of June and December of each year, he must pay interest at the rate of ten per centum per annum.

Corresponds to section nineteen, except that it clears an ambiguity existing in such section respecting the treasurer by whom the report is to be made to the controller.

Fees of county treasurer.

Sec. 3838j. Each county treasurer is allowed to retain on all taxes paid and accounted for by him each year, under this chapter, in addition to his salary or fees now allowed by law, five per centum on the first fifty thousand dollars, three per centum on the next fifty thousand dollars, and one per centum on all additional sums paid and accounted for by him.

Corresponds to section twenty of the original act.

Treasurers' receipts, and copies thereof.

Sec. 3838k. Any person, upon the payment of fifty cents, is entitled to a receipt from the county treasurer, or a copy of the receipt, at his option, that may have been given by such treasurer, for the payment of any tax under this chapter, to be sealed with the seal of his office, which receipt must designate on what real property, if any, such tax has been paid, and by whom paid, and whether or not it is in full of such tax. Such receipt may be recorded in the clerk's office in the county in which such property is situated, in a book to be kept by such clerk for such purposes, which must be labeled "collateral tax."

Corresponds to section twenty-one of the original act.

§ 3864. That a new section, numbered thirty-eight hundred and sixty-four, be added, to read:

Sec. 3864. All moneys belonging to the State, received from any source whatever, by any commission, commissioner, board of trustees, board of managers, board of directors, or executive officer of any state hospital, asylum, prison, school, or harbor, or other institution supported by or under the control of the State, must be accounted for, at the close of each month, to the state controller, in such form as he may prescribe, and at the same time, on his order, must be paid into the state treasury, and credited as follows: If collected by any board of harbor commissioners, to the harbor improvement fund of the respective harbors where collected, except so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the expense of urgent repairs, not exceeding six thousand dollars per month, which sum, if so much is required, may be used in repairing the wharves, piers, landings, thoroughfares, sheds, and other structures and the streets bounding on the water front under the jurisdiction of the board, without advertising for proposals therefor. If not collected by any board of harbor commissioners, then to a fund to be known as the "contingent fund" of the institution from which such moneys are received, to be expended under the same laws and provisions as now govern the expenditure of money appropriated for the support of such institution. In every case where the law directs the board of trustees, managers or directors, or officers to refund any money upon the death or discharge of any inmate of any hospital, asylum, prison, school, or other institution, or to provide a discharged inmate with any sum of money or wearing apparel, such amount must be paid by the board of trustees, managers or directors, or officers, upon demand, and in a statement to the controller herein provided for these amounts must be itemized, and the aggregate deducted from the amount to be paid into the state treasury.

Codifies the statute of 1899, p. 110.

§ 3900*a*. That a new section, numbered thirty-nine hundred a, be added, to read:

Sec. 3900*a*. All counties, and cities and counties, must conform to the provisions of this code, in relation to the assessment, equalization, levy, and collection of taxes on real and personal property for revenue purposes.

Codifies section two of the statute of 1895, p. 308.

§ 3900*b*. That a new section, numbered thirty-nine hundred b, be added, to read:

Sec. 3900*b*. No action or proceeding must be maintained by any county, or any officer thereof, against the State, or any State officer, for the collection or recovery of any money alleged to be due such county, or any officer thereof, for services rendered in the assessment, equalization, auditing, or collection of ad valorem taxes, and all such actions and proceedings heretofore commenced, or which may hereafter be instituted, must be dismissed by the court in which the same may be pending, upon its own motion. Nothing in this section must be held to affect the commissions paid to the assessor of the several counties, for services rendered in the collection of personal property taxes, or the mileage allowed to the treasurer of the several counties in making settlements with the State.

Codifies the statute of 1895, p. 9, chap. 11.

§ 3909. That section thirty-nine hundred and nine be amended to read:

DEL NORTE.

Sec. 3909. Situated in the northwest corner of the State of California, beginning at a point in the Pacific ocean, on the forty-second parallel of north latitude, three miles from shore, being on the southern line of Oregon; thence running southerly, three miles from ocean shore, to a point which is on the line dividing townships twelve and thirteen north, if such line were continued westerly to that point; thence east on said township line to the northeast corner of township twelve north, range three east, Humboldt meridian; thence south to the southeast corner of said township twelve north, range three east; thence east on the line dividing townships eleven and twelve north to the summit of a spur of the Siskiyou range of mountains; thence northerly, following the summit of said spur, to the forty-second parallel of north latitude; thence due west to the place of beginning.

County seat—Crescent City.

This amendment, in its descriptive words, attempts to conform the lines to those designated by the statute of 1901, p. 600, chap. 193.

§ 3910. That section thirty-nine hundred and ten be repealed, because the county of Klamath has been annexed to the counties of Humboldt and Siskiyou by the statutes of 1873-4, p. 755, and 1875-6, p. 603.

§ 3911. That section thirty-nine hundred and eleven be amended, to read:

SHASTA.

Sec. 3911. Beginning at the northern line of Tehama, at the head of Bloody Island, in Sacramento river; thence to and down the eastern channel to the mouth of Battle creek; thence easterly up Battle creek, by the main channel, to the mouth of the middle fork, known as Digger creek; thence up Digger creek to its head; thence east to the quarter-section corner on the western boundary of section nineteen, township thirty north, range five east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence running easterly eight miles more or less to the southwest corner of Lassen county; running thence north to the northeast corner of section five, township thirty north, range six east; thence east on township line to corner common to sections thirty-two and thirty-three, in township thirty-one north, range six east; thence north twenty-eight miles to seventh standard parallel north, Mount Diablo base, at corner common to sections eight and nine, in township thirty-five north, range six east; thence west along said standard line to southwest corner of township thirty-six north, range six east; thence north to intersection with south boundary line of Modoc county to a point seven and one half chains north of the corner common to sections twenty-five and thirty-six on east line of township thirty-nine north, range five east, Mount Diablo base and meridian, to south boundary line of Modoc county, forming northeast corner of Shasta county; thence west on southern line of Modoc and Siskiyou to Castle Rock, forming northwest corner of Shasta county; thence southerly along Trinity mountain to the head of Bee Gum creek, forming southwest corner; thence easterly, down Bee Gum, Middle Fork, and Cottonwood creeks to the western channel of Sacramento river; thence by direct line to the point of beginning.

County seat—Redding.

The amendment attempts to state the boundaries of the county as changed by the statutes of 1899, p. 98, and 1901, p. 560. We have found these statutes to be irreconcilable, and have assumed that, to the extent to which they are so, the later must prevail. The difference between them is, the statute of 1899 assumes that the beginning point, constituting the southeast corner of Shasta and the southwest corner of Lassen, is the corner common to sections eight and nine, township thirty-five north, range six east, but the statute of 1901, in locating the boundary between Shasta and Plumas begins at a quarter section on the west boundary of section nineteen, township thirty north, range five east, and runs thence eight miles more or less "to the south corner of Shasta and Lassen counties." A line so run will, however, reach the corner common to sections twenty and twenty-one in township thirty north, range six east, instead of the corner common to sections eight and nine in the same township. In other words, it places these corners at a point exactly two miles south of the point designated in the act of 1899.

§ 3912. That section thirty-nine hundred and twelve be amended to read:

LASSEN.

Sec. 3912. Beginning at southwest corner, on the northern line of Sierra, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and twenty-one, at a point on the summit of the ridge which crosses said line, and which divides Long valley from Sierra valley; thence northwesterly, following said ridge, to a point due south from the town of Susanville; thence westerly, along the ridge separating the waters which flow into the east branch of the north fork of Feather river, running through Indian valley, from those which flow into the north fork of Feather river, running through Mountain Meadows, to a point on said ridge south from the point where the old and present traveled road from the Big Meadows, via Hamilton's ranch, first crosses the said north fork; thence north to a point east of the southeast corner of Shasta; thence west to a point which is the southeast corner of Shasta county; thence north to the northeast corner of section five, township thirty north, range six east; thence east on township line to corner common to sections thirty-two and thirty-three, in township thirty-one north, range six east; thence north twenty-eight miles to seventh standard parallel north, Mount Diablo base, at corner common to sections eight and nine, in township thirty-five north, range six east; thence west along said standard line to southwest corner of township thirty-six north, range six east; thence north to intersection with south boundary line of Modoc county, to a point seven and one half chains north of the corner common to sections twenty-five and thirty-six on east line of township thirty-nine north, range five east, being northwest corner of Lassen and northeast corner of Shasta; thence east along said line to the eastern boundary of the State; thence south along said State line, to the northeast corner of Sierra, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and twenty-one; thence west along the line of Sierra, to the place of beginning.

County seat—Susanville.

Strikes out "along said extension line to a point due south of Black Butte mountain, being southeast corner of Shasta; thence north to a point on the southern line of Siskiyou, marked by a rock mound," and in lieu thereof inserts "to a point which is the southeast corner of Shasta county; thence north to the northeast corner of section five, township thirty north, range six east; thence east on township line to corner common to sections thirty-one and thirty-three, in township thirty-one north, range six east; thence north twenty-eight miles to seventh standard parallel north, Mount Diablo base, at corner common to sections eight and nine, in township thirty-five north, range six east; thence west along said standard line to southwest corner of township thirty-six north, range six east; thence north to intersection with south boundary line of Modoc county, to a point seven and one half chains north of the corner common to sections twenty-five and thirty-six on east line of township thirty-nine north, range five east."

The codification of this section is also affected by the two statutes last referred to, which, with respect to the corner thus changed, differ in the manner hereinbefore stated.

§ 3913. That section thirty-nine hundred and thirteen be amended to read:

SISKIYOU.

Sec. 3913. Commencing on the northern line of the State of California, at the range line between ranges numbered four

(4) and five (5) east of Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence due south on said range line to the northern line of Shasta county; thence westerly along the northern line of Shasta and Trinity counties to the top of the ridge dividing the waters of the Salmon and its tributaries from the waters that flow into the Klamath and Trinity rivers and their tributaries, to where the Salmon enters the Klamath river; thence following the Klamath river northerly to the north line of township eleven north, range six east, Humboldt base and meridian; thence westerly on a direct line to the summit of the spur of the Siskiyou range of mountains; thence northeasterly, following the southeasterly line of Del Norte county, as described in section thirty-nine hundred and nine, to the forty-second parallel of north latitude; thence due east along the line dividing the States of Oregon and California to the place of beginning.

County seat—Yreka.

After "Klamath river" inserts "thence following the Klamath river northerly to the north line of township eleven north, range six east, Humboldt base and meridian." Also strikes out "one of this act" and inserts "thirty-nine hundred and nine."

The southeastern boundary line is changed to conform to the statute of 1891, p. 600, chap. 193.

§ 3914. That section thirty-nine hundred and fourteen be amended to read:

HUMBOLDT.

Sec. 3914. Beginning where the north line of township twelve north, range one east, Humboldt base and meridian, intersects a line drawn parallel to and distant three miles westerly from the shore of the Pacific ocean; thence east on said township line to the northeast corner of township twelve north, range three east; thence south to southeast corner of said township; thence east on north boundary line of townships eleven north, ranges four, five, and six east, to the Klamath river; thence following said line southerly to the mouth of the Salmon river, being the northeasterly corner of said county; thence in a southerly direction, following the ridge of the mountains that divides the waters of the Salmon river and its tributaries from the waters of Klamath and Trinity rivers and their tributaries, to the common corner of the counties of Siskiyou, Trinity, and Humboldt; thence southwest on the line of Scott's mountain to a point in the center of Trinity river, formerly constituting the common corner of the counties of Humboldt, Trinity, and the former county of Klamath; thence southeasterly, up Trinity river, to the mouth of its south fork; thence southeasterly, along the eastern side of said south fork, one hundred feet above high-water mark, to the mouth of Grouse creek; thence south to a point on the fortieth degree of north latitude, being on northern line of Mendocino, and forming southeast corner of Humboldt; thence west on said line to the Pacific ocean; thence northerly, along the ocean shore, to the place of beginning.

County seat—Eureka.

Strikes out from the beginning to and including “thirty-nine hundred and ten,” and inserts “where the north line of township twelve north, range one east, Humboldt base and meridian, intersects a line drawn parallel to and distant three miles westerly from the shore of the Pacific ocean; thence east on said township line to the northeast corner of township twelve north, range three east; thence south to southeast corner of said township; thence east on north boundary line of township eleven north, ranges four, five, and six east, to the Klamath river; thence following said river southerly to the mouth of the Salmon river, being the northeasterly corner of said county; thence in a southerly direction, following the ridge of the mountains that divides the waters of the Salmon river and its tributaries from the waters of Klamath and Trinity rivers and their tributaries, to the common corner of the counties of Siskiyou, Trinity, and Humboldt; thence southwest on the line of Scott’s mountain to a point in the center of Trinity river, formerly constituting the common corner of the counties of Humboldt, Trinity, and the former county of Klamath.”

See note to section thirty-nine hundred and nine, also statute of 1873-4, p. 755.

§ 3915. That section thirty-nine hundred and fifteen be amended to read:

TEHAMA.

Sec. 3915. Beginning at the point of intersection of Sacramento river with south line of township twenty-three north, Mount Diablo base; thence west on said line, being northern line of county of Glenn, to the summit of the Coast Range, being southwest corner; thence northerly on said summit line to the southwest corner of Shasta, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and eleven; thence easterly on the southern line of Shasta, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and eleven, to the northwest corner of Plumas, being the quarter-section corner of the west boundary of section nineteen, township thirty north, range five east, Mount Diablo base and meridian, which point is at or near the summit line of the dividing ridge between the waters of Mill and Deer creeks, tributaries of the Sacramento river, and Rice's and Warner's creeks, tributaries of the north fork of Feather river, forming northeast corner of Tehama; thence southerly, along said summit line, to the north point of Butte county, it being the point where the northern road from Big Meadows to Butte Meadows, by Dye's house, crosses the said summit line; thence southwesterly, in a direct line, to the head of Rock creek; thence southwesterly, down Rock creek, to the south line of township twenty-four north, Mount Diablo base; thence west on said line to the Sacramento river; thence along said river to the place of beginning.

County seat—Red Bluff.

The words "the point of intersection of southern line of Shasta with" are stricken out and in place thereof are inserted "the quarter-section corner on the west boundary of section nineteen, township thirty north, range five east, Mount Diablo base and meridian, which point is at or near," to conform the section to the changes necessarily made by the statute of 1901, p. 560, purporting to locate the boundary line between Shasta and Plumas counties. This statute must affect the boundary of Tehama, because these three counties have a common boundary, or, in other words, the northwest corner of Plumas and the northeast corner of Tehama is a point which is also in the south line of Shasta county.

§ 3916. That section thirty-nine hundred and sixteen be amended to read:

COLUSA.

Sec. 3916. Beginning at the southeast corner, being northeast corner of Yolo, in Sacramento river, at its intersection with the south line of township thirteen north, Mount Diablo base; thence west on said township line to the ridge dividing the waters flowing into Bear creek and Stony creek, from those flowing west into the north fork of Cache creek and Clear lake; thence northerly, along said ridge, to the summit line of the Coast Range, being the western line of Lake, forming southwest corner of Colusa and northwest corner of Yolo; thence northerly on said summit and eastern boundary of Lake to the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section thirty, township eighteen north, range eight west, Mount Diablo base and meridian; running thence east along the half-section line and one and one half miles north of the line dividing townships seventeen and eighteen, of Mount Diablo base and meridian, to range line dividing township eighteen north, two and three west; running thence north two miles to northeast corner of southeast quarter of section thirteen, township eighteen north, range three west; running thence east along the half-section line to the center of the Sacramento river; thence down the center of said river in a southeasterly course to a point one and one half miles north of the line dividing townships seventeen and eighteen north, of Mount Diablo base; thence east on such dividing line to Butte creek; thence down Butte creek to Butte slough; thence up Butte slough to Sacramento river; thence down Sacramento river to the place of beginning.

County seat—Colusa.

Strikes out "western" and inserts "eastern" before "boundary of Lake"; also strikes out "through Hull's mountain to the southwest corner of Tehama, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and fifteen; thence easterly on the southern line of Tehama to initial point of Tehama, in Sacramento river, on south line of township twenty-three; thence down said river to the southwest corner of the Llano Seco grant; thence northeasterly along said grant line to its intersection with the northern boundary of township nineteen north; thence east," and in place thereof inserts "the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section thirty, township eighteen north, range eight west, Mount Diablo base and meridian; running thence east along the half-section line and one and one half miles north of the line dividing townships seventeen and eighteen, of Mount Diablo base and meridian, to range line dividing township eighteen north, two and three west; running thence north two miles to northeast corner of southwest quarter of section thirteen, township eighteen north, range three west; running thence east along the half-section line to the center of the Sacramento river; thence down the center of said river in a southeasterly course to a point one and one half miles north of the line dividing townships seventeen and eighteen north, of Mount Diablo base; thence east on such dividing line."

The amendment is made necessary by the act setting off Glenn county from Colusa, the boundary line between the two counties being last described in the statute of 1893, p. 158.

§ 3917. That section thirty-nine hundred and seventeen be amended to read:

LAKE.

Sec. 3917. Beginning at the summit of Mount Hull, near Mount St. John, on the western line of the county of Glenn, and forming the northeast corner of Lake and east corner of Mendocino; thence southerly and circuitously, by the summit line of the Mayacmas range, being the dividing ridge between the waters flowing into the Russian and Eel rivers and those flowing easterly into Clear lake, to the highest point of Mount St. Helena; thence running in an easterly direction along the northern boundary of Napa county to the Buttes Cañon road; thence northeasterly in a direct line to the junction of Jericho and Putah creeks; thence up Jericho creek to the junction of Hunting creek, in Jericho valley; thence up Hunting creek to a large pile of rocks on the southeasterly side of the county road, at the lower and most easterly end of Hunting valley; thence in a straight line in the direction of the intersection of Bear and Cache creeks to the western line of Yolo and Glenn counties, to the place of beginning.

County seat—Lakeport.

Strikes out "Colusa" and inserts "the county of Glenn"; after "Clear Lake" strikes out "to the summit of Mount St. Helena; thence easterly along the line heretofore established in the Buttes Cañon road; thence easterly, in a right line, to the most northern point of the Berryessa rancho; thence easterly along the northern line of said rancho, to the northeast corner thereof; thence east," and in place thereof inserts "to the highest point of the Mount St. Helena; thence running in an easterly direction along the northern boundary of Napa county to the Buttes Cañon road; thence northeasterly in a direct line to the junction of Jericho and Putah creeks; thence up Jericho creek to the junction of Hunting creek, in Jericho valley; thence up Hunting creek to a large pile of rocks on the southeasterly side of the county road, at the lower and most easterly end of Hunting valley; thence in a straight line in the direction of the intersection of Bear and Cache creeks." Also in the last line strikes out "Colusa" and inserts "Glenn."

The changes have been made necessary, first, by the territory along the eastern boundary line being incorporated in the county of Glenn; and second, by the statute of 1871-2, p. 305, defining the northern boundary line of Napa county adjoining Lake and Yolo counties. It will be observed that this description, taken in connection with the description of the boundary line of Napa county, will be defective in not locating the division line between them from Mount St. Helena to the Buttes Cañon road, because there is nothing in the statute referred to to show where is the northern boundary line of Napa and the southern line of Lake between the points thus above referred to.

§ 3919. That section thirty-nine hundred and nineteen be amended to read:

TRINITY.

Sec. 3919. Beginning at the northeast corner of Mendocino, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and eighteen, on the summit line of the Coast Range; thence northerly on said range and the western line of Tehama and Shasta, to the point of intersection with the southern line of Siskiyou, being northeast corner of Trinity and northwest corner of Shasta; thence westerly, on the ridge dividing the waters flowing south and west into Trinity and Salmon rivers from the waters flowing north and east into Scott's and Sacramento rivers, to common corner of Humboldt, Siskiyou, and Trinity, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and ten; thence southwesterly on the line of Scott's mountain, being the eastern line of the county of Humboldt, to a point in Trinity river formerly constituting the common corner of the counties of Humboldt, Trinity, and the former county of Klamath; thence southerly, by the eastern line of Humboldt, to the fortieth parallel of latitude, being the northern line of Mendocino, forming southwest corner; thence east to the place of beginning.

County seat—Weaverville.

Strikes out "Klamath" and inserts "Humboldt" where "Klamath" first occurs; also strikes out "the southern line of Klamath to the common corner of Trinity, Klamath, and Humboldt as established in section thirty-nine hundred and nine," and in place thereof inserts "the eastern line of the county of Humboldt to a point in Trinity river formerly constituting the common corner of the counties of Humboldt, Trinity, and the former county of Klamath."

These amendments are made necessary by the act of March 30, 1872, p. 766, distributing to other counties the territory before then included in the county of Klamath.

§ 3920. That section thirty-nine hundred and twenty be amended to read:

PLUMAS.

Sec. 3920. Beginning at the corner common to sections nine, ten, fifteen, and sixteen, township twenty north, range eight east, Mount Diablo base and meridian, and running thence north one quarter of a mile, thence west one half mile, thence north three quarters of a mile, to the quarter-section corner between sections four and nine; thence west to the corner common to sections four, five, eight, and nine; thence north one half mile to the quarter-section corner between said sections four and five; thence west one mile to the quarter-section corner between sections five and six; thence north one half mile, more or less, to the north corner of sections five and six; thence west on township line to the southwest corner of section thirty-one, township twenty-one north, range eight east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence north on township line two miles to the east corner of sections twenty-four and twenty-five, township twenty-one north, range seven east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence west one mile to the corner common to sections twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, and twenty-six; thence north one half mile to the quarter-section corner between sections twenty-three and twenty-four; thence west one half mile to the center of said section twenty-three; thence north one half mile to the quarter-section corner between sections fourteen and twenty-three; thence west one half mile to the corner common to sections fourteen, fifteen, twenty-two, and twenty-three; thence north one mile to the common corner to sections ten, eleven, fourteen, and fifteen; thence west one mile; thence north one mile; thence west one mile; thence north two miles; thence west one mile; thence north one mile; thence west one mile to the east corner of sections twenty-four and twenty-five, township twenty-two north, range six east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence north on township line one mile to the east corner of sections thirteen and twenty-four; thence west one mile to the corner common to sections thirteen, fourteen, twenty-three, and twenty-four; thence north one mile to the corner common to sections eleven, twelve, thirteen, and fourteen; thence west one mile to the corner common to sections ten, eleven, fourteen, and fifteen; thence north one mile to the corner common to sections two, three, ten, and eleven; thence west one quarter mile; thence north one quarter mile; thence west one quarter mile; thence north one quarter mile to the center of section three; thence west three quarters of a mile; thence north one half mile to the north boundary of section four; thence west on township line one half mile; thence north one mile; thence west three quarters of a mile to the quarter-section corner between sections twenty-nine and thirty-two, township twenty-three north, range six east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence north one mile to the quarter-section corner between sections twenty and twenty-nine; thence west one mile to the quarter-section corner between sections nineteen and thirty; thence north one mile to the quarter-section corner between sections eighteen and nineteen; thence west one half mile to the west corner of said sections eighteen and nineteen; thence north on township line one mile to the east corner of sections twelve and thirteen, township twenty-three north, range five east; thence west one mile to the corner common to sections eleven, twelve, thirteen, and fourteen; thence north one half mile to the quarter-section corner between said sections eleven and twelve; thence west one mile to the quarter-section corner between sections ten and eleven; thence north one half mile to the corner common to sections two, three, ten, and eleven; thence west one mile to the corner common to sections three, four, nine, and ten; thence north one mile to the north corner of said sections two and four; thence north one mile to the corner common to sections twenty-seven, twenty-eight, thirty-three, and thirty-four, township twenty-four north, range five east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence west one mile to the corner common to sections twenty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty-two, and thirty-three; thence north one mile to the corner common to sections twenty, twenty-one, twenty-eight, and twenty-nine; thence east one mile to the corner common to sections twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-seven, and twenty-eight; thence north one mile to the corner common to sections fifteen, sixteen, twenty-one, and twenty-two; thence west one half mile to the quarter-section corner between said sections sixteen and twenty-one; thence north two miles to the quarter-section corner between sections four and nine; thence east one half mile to the corner common to sections three, four, nine, and ten; thence north one mile to the north corner of sections three and four; thence north one mile to the corner common to sections twenty-seven, twenty-eight, thirty-three, and thirty-four, township twenty-five north, range five east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence west one half mile to the quarter-section corner between said sections twenty-eight and thirty-three; thence north two miles to the quarter-section corner between sections sixteen and twenty-one; thence east one half mile to the corner common to sections fifteen, sixteen, twenty-one, and twenty-two; thence north one mile to the corner common to sections nine, ten, fifteen, and sixteen; thence east one half mile to the quarter-section corner between said sections ten and fifteen; thence north one and one half miles to the center of section three; thence east one mile to the center of section two; thence north one half mile, more or less, to the quarter-section corner on north boundary of said section two; thence east on township line to the quarter-section corner on south boundary of section thirty-five, township twenty-six north, range five east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence north one mile to the quarter-section corner between sections twenty-six and thirty-five; thence east one half mile to the corner common to sections twenty-five, twenty-six, thirty-five, and thirty-six; thence north one mile to the corner common to sections twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, and twenty-six; thence west one half mile to the quarter-section corner between said sections twenty-three and twenty-six; thence north one and one half miles to the center of section fourteen; thence west one half mile to the quarter-section corner between sections fourteen and fifteen; thence north one half mile to the corner common to sections ten, eleven, fourteen, and fifteen; thence west one mile to the corner common to sections nine, ten, fifteen, and sixteen; thence north two miles to the north corner of sections three and four; thence north one half mile to the quarter-section between sections thirty-three and thirty-four, township twenty-seven north, range five east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence west one and three quarters miles, more or less, to the Chico and Humboldt road, at the corner common to Plumas, Butte, and Tehama counties; thence northerly on the ridge and along and with the eastern line of Tehama county, to the northeast corner of said county; thence east along the southern line of Shasta county to a point which is the southeast corner of the county; thence easterly and southeasterly along the southwesterly irregular line of Lassen county, as established by section thirty-nine hundred and twelve, to a point near the summit of the ridge which divides Long valley from Sierra valley, and to the line dividing township twenty-one north from township twenty-two north, the point forming the most southern southwestern corner of Lassen county, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and twelve; thence west on said line dividing said townships to the northwest corner of township twenty-one north, range fourteen east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence south on the range line dividing townships thirteen and fourteen east to the summit line of the ridge dividing the waters of the Feather river from the waters of the Yuba river; thence westerly along said summit line to the "Falls," about one mile below the outlet of Gold lake; thence westerly on said summit line to the first north and south lines of the survey made by Keddie & Church, June 19, 1866; thence southerly down Slate creek to the point where the third course or terminating north and south line of such survey crosses said creek, which point is the northwest corner of Sierra and the south corner of Plumas; thence southwesterly to the place of beginning.

County seat—Quincy.

The amendments are intended to conform the section to the statute of 1897, p. 22, to permanently locate the boundary line between Butte and Yuba, and the statute of 1901, p. 549, to locate the boundary between Butte and Plumas, these statutes having designated one corner common to the four counties of Butte, Plumas, Yuba, and Sierra, which point is also the corner common to sections nine, ten, fifteen, and sixteen, township twenty north, range eight east. See also section thirty-nine hundred and twenty-one, which, in describing the north boundary of Sierra, affects the south line of Plumas, for it is surely not intended that there shall be a space between these two lines not in either county.

§ 3921. That section thirty-nine hundred and twenty-one be amended to read:

SIERRA.

Sec. 3921. Beginning at the south corner of Plumas, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and twenty; thence easterly on southern line of Plumas, as established in said section, to the range line between township twenty-one north, range thirteen east, and township twenty-one north, fourteen east, Mount Diablo meridian; thence north on said range line to the northwest corner of township twenty-one north, fourteen east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence east on the line between townships twenty-one and twenty-two north, Mount Diablo base, to the State line forming the northeast corner; thence south on said State line to the northeast corner of Nevada county, a point east of the source of South Fork of the Middle Yuba river; thence west to the source of and down the South Fork and Middle Yuba river to a point ten miles above the mouth of the latter; thence in a straight line northerly to a point on the north fork of the Yuba river known as Cuteye Foster's Bar; thence down said river to the mouth of Big Cañon creek; thence up said creek, four miles; thence in a straight line to the place of beginning.

County seat—Downieville.

Strikes out "in the center of Slate creek." It is necessary to omit these words, because by the statute of 1901, last referred to, this corner of Plumas county, instead of being in the center of Slate creek, is fixed at the corner common to sections nine, ten, fifteen, and sixteen, township twenty north, range eight east.

§ 3922. That section thirty-nine hundred and twenty-two be amended to read:

BUTTE.

Sec. 3922. Beginning at the northwest corner of Yuba, in Feather river, at the mouth of Honcut creek; thence northeasterly up the Honcut creek and the north or Natchez branch of the same at the intersection of the south line of section thirty-one, of township nineteen north, range six east, Mount Diablo base and meridian, with the west branch of the Honcut creek, the present line between the counties of Butte and Yuba, and running thence east to the southwest corner of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty-one, said township and range; thence north three quarters of a mile; thence east one quarter of a mile; thence north one quarter of a mile to corner common to sections twenty-nine, thirty, thirty-one, and thirty-two; thence east one half mile to the quarter-section corner between sections twenty-nine and thirty-two; thence north one half mile to the center of said section twenty-nine; thence east one half mile to the quarter-section corner between sections twenty-eight and twenty-nine; thence north three quarters of a mile; thence east one quarter of a mile; thence north three quarters of a mile; thence east one quarter of a mile to the quarter-section corner between sections sixteen and twenty-one; thence north one and one half miles to the center of section nine, same township and range; thence east one and one half miles to the quarter-section corner between sections ten and eleven; thence south one half mile to the corner common to sections ten, eleven, fourteen, and fifteen; thence east two miles to the corner common to sections twelve and thirteen, township nineteen north, range six east, and sections seven and eighteen, township nineteen north, range seven east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence north one mile to the corner common to sections one and twelve, township nineteen north, range six east, and sections six and seven, township nineteen north, range seven east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence east three miles to the corner common to sections three, four, nine, and ten, township nineteen north, range seven east; thence south one half mile to the quarter-section corner between sections nine and ten; thence east one and one half miles to the center of section eleven; thence north one half mile to the quarter-section corner between sections two and eleven; thence east one half mile to the corner common to sections one, two, eleven, and twelve; thence north two miles to the corner common to sections twenty-five, twenty-six, thirty-five, and thirty-six, township twenty north, range seven east; thence east one half mile to the quarter-section corner between sections twenty-five and thirty-six; thence north one half mile to the center of section twenty-five; thence east one and one half miles to the quarter-section corner between sections twenty-nine and thirty, township twenty north, range eight east; thence north one quarter of a mile; thence east one half of a mile; thence north one and one quarter miles to the quarter-section corner between sections seventeen and twenty; thence east one and one half miles to the common corner of sections fifteen, sixteen, twenty-one, and twenty-two; thence north one mile to the corner common to sections nine, ten, sixteen, and fifteen; thence northwesterly, on southwesterly line of Plumas, as established by section thirty-nine hundred and twenty, to the most eastern southeastern corner of Tehama, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and fifteen, forming also north corner of Butte; thence southwesterly, on the southeasterly line of Tehama, to the southeast corner of Tehama, at point of intersection of Rock creek and southern line of township twenty-four north, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence west on said township line to the Sacramento river; thence down said river to the southwest corner of Llano Seco grant; thence northeasterly along said grant line to its intersection with the northern boundary of township nineteen north; thence east to Watson's bridge on Butte creek; thence on the east line of the counties of Glenn and Colusa, down Butte creek to the northwest corner of Sutter county, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and twenty-six; thence east on the north line of Sutter county to Feather river; thence down Feather river to the place of beginning.

County seat—Oroville.

The changes are made to conform the boundaries to those designated in the statute of 1897, p. 22, and of 1901, p. 549.

§ 3925. That section thirty-nine hundred and twenty-five be amended to read:

YUBA.

Sec. 3925. Beginning at the southwest corner at junction of Feather and Bear rivers; thence up Bear river on the line of Sutter and Placer to southwest corner of Nevada, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and twenty-three; thence north on Nevada line to the junction of Deer creek and Main Yuba; thence up the main to the Middle Yuba and up the Middle Yuba ten miles to the southwest corner of Sierra, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and twenty-one; thence in direct line northerly and on line of Sierra to Cuteye Foster's Bar, on North Yuba River; thence down the river to the mouth of Big Cañon creek; thence up said creek four miles; thence in direct line to south corner of Plumas and northwest corner of Sierra, as established in sections thirty-nine hundred and twenty and thirty-nine hundred and twenty-one; thence southwesterly in a direct line to common corner of Plumas, Butte, and Yuba, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and twenty; thence on southeastern line of Butte, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and twenty, to the point where the south line of section thirty-one, township nineteen north, range six east, is crossed by the Honcut creek; thence down the Honcut creek to its junction with Feather river; thence down Feather river to the place of beginning.

County seat—Marysville.

The changes are made because of the statutes locating the boundary line between Butte and Yuba and establishing the corner common to Butte, Plumas, Sierra, and Yuba. See statute of 1897, p. 22, and of 1901, p. 549.

§ 3931. That section thirty-nine hundred and thirty-one be amended to read:

ALPINE.

Sec. 3931. Beginning at north corner at a point where the State line crosses the east summit of the Sierra Nevada mountains, being the most easterly corner of El Dorado; thence southwesterly along said summit to a point two miles west of James Green's house in Hope valley, called Thompson's peak; thence southwesterly in a direct line to a point on the Amador and Nevada turnpike road, in front of Z. Kirkwood's house, being common corner of Amador, Alpine, and El Dorado; thence south across the north fork of the Mokelumne river, to the road leading from West Point, in Calaveras, to Big Tree road, near the Big Meadows; thence easterly along said West Point road to the Big Tree road; thence easterly in a direct line to where the Sonora trail strikes the middle fork of the Stanislaus river; thence easterly along said trail to the summit of the Sierra Nevada mountains; thence northerly along said summit to the dividing ridge between West Walker and Carson rivers; thence northeasterly along said dividing ridge to the State line, forming the easterly corner of Alpine and northerly corner of Mono; thence northwest along said State line to the place of beginning.

County seat—Markleeville.

The amendment consists in striking out "Silver Mountain" and inserting "Markleeville."

§ 3934. That section thirty-nine hundred and thirty-four be amended to read:

MERCED.

Sec. 3934. Beginning at northwest corner, being southwest corner of Stanislaus, as shown on survey and map of A. J. Stakes, 1868; thence northeasterly on southern line of Stanislaus, as described in section thirty-nine hundred and thirty-three, to common corner of Tuolumne, Mariposa, Merced, and Stanislaus, as established in said section; thence southeasterly by direct line, being the western line of Mariposa, to Phillips's ferry, on Merced river; thence southeasterly on line of Mariposa, being line shown on "Map of Mariposa county," to Newton's crossing on Chowchilla creek, forming southeast corner; thence down the northern side and on high-water mark, being on line of Fresno, to the lower clump of cottonwood timber at the sink of said creek; thence south forty-five degrees west to the eastern line of Monterey, on summit of Coast Range, forming southwest corner; thence northwesterly by said summit and line of Monterey and Santa Clara to the place of beginning.

County seat—Merced.

The amendment consists in striking out "Snelling" and inserting "Merced."

§ 3938. That section thirty-nine hundred and thirty-eight be amended to read:

MARIPOSA.

Sec. 3938. Beginning at a point where the Stockton road from Millerton crosses the Chowchilla creek, known as Newton's crossing; thence running northeast to the southwest corner of section eleven, and the northwest corner of section fourteen, in township six south, range twenty east, of Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence east to the northwest corner of section fourteen, in township six south, range twenty-one east; thence north to the northwest corner of section thirty-five, in township five south, range twenty-one east; thence east to the southwest corner of section thirty, in township five south, range twenty-two east; thence north to the southwest corner of the Mariposa Big Tree Grant; thence east along the line of said grant to the southeast corner of said grant; thence north along the line of said grant to the northeast corner of the same; thence northeast to the boundary line of the county of Tuolumne, the former common corner of the counties of Mariposa and Fresno, now the common corner of the counties of Mariposa and Madera; thence westerly by the southern boundary of the county of Tuolumne, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and thirty-seven, to the southwest corner thereof, being the common corner of the counties of Stanislaus, Merced, Tuolumne, and Mariposa; thence southeasterly on eastern line of the county of Merced, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and thirty-four, to the place of beginning.

County seat—Mariposa.

The changes made are in conforming the section to the statute of 1873-4, p. 100, chap. 88, to better define the boundary between Mariposa and Fresno, and the statute of 1893, p. 168, creating the county of Madera.

§ 3939. That section thirty-nine hundred and thirty-nine be amended to read:

FRESNO.

Sec. 3939. Commencing at a point on the eastern boundary line of Monterey county, as described in section thirty-nine hundred and forty-eight of Political Code, being on the summit of the Coast Range, which point is south forty-five degrees west from the point on Kings river where the northern line of township sixteen south crosses the same; thence north forty-five degrees east to said point on Kings river; thence east along northern line of township sixteen south, range twenty-five east; thence north to the northwest corner of township fifteen south, range twenty-five east; thence east to the northeast corner of township fifteen south, range twenty-seven east; thence north to the northeast corner of township fourteen south, range twenty-seven east; thence east on the line between townships thirteen and fourteen south to the summit of the Sierra Nevada, being the western line of Inyo county; thence northwesterly along the summit of the lines of Inyo and Mono to the southeast corner of Madera county; thence southwesterly along the southern line of Madera county to the point where the San Joaquin river crosses the southern boundary line of township six south, range twenty-four east; thence down the middle of said river, following the meanderings thereof, to the point where it crosses the third standard line south, of Mount Diablo base; thence continuing down the middle of said river to the point where it crosses the southern boundary of Merced county; thence southwesterly along the southern boundary of Merced county to the eastern boundary line of San Benito county, being on the summit of the Coast Range; thence southeasterly along the boundary of San Benito to the northwest corner of township seventeen north, range thirteen east; thence south on the range line between ranges twelve and thirteen east to the summit of the Coast Range of mountains; thence southerly following such summit, being also along the boundary of San Benito county, to the eastern boundary of Monterey county; thence southeasterly along the eastern boundary of Monterey county to the place of beginning.

County seat—Fresno.

In formulating the boundary lines of this county consideration has been given to the statute of 1873-4, p. 100, establishing the boundary line between Mariposa and Fresno; to that of 1875-6, p. 397, establishing the boundary line between Fresno and Tulare; to that of 1887, p. 103, creating the county of San Benito; to that of 1893, p. 168, creating the county of Madera; and to that of the same year, p. 176, creating the county of Kings.

§ 3940. That section thirty-nine hundred and forty be amended to read:

TULARE.

Sec. 3940. Beginning at the southeast corner of township twenty south, range twenty-two east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence west to the northeast corner of township twenty-one south, range twenty-two east; thence south twenty-four miles along the range line to the sixth standard line south; thence east along the sixth standard line south to the point of intersection with the summit line of the Sierra Nevada mountains, forming the southeast corner of the county of Tulare, and the southwest corner of the county of Inyo; thence northwesterly on said summit, being on the west line of Inyo county, to the line dividing townships thirteen and fourteen south; thence west along such line, being also the southern boundary of Fresno county, to the northeast corner of township fourteen south, range twenty-seven east; thence southerly to the northeast corner of township fifteen south, range twenty-seven east; thence west to the northwest corner of township fifteen south, range twenty-five east; thence south to the southwest corner of said township; thence west to a point where the line dividing townships fifteen and sixteen south intersects Kings river; thence southwest and along the boundary line of Fresno county to the fourth standard line south, which point is also in the northern boundary of Kings county; thence east to the northeast corner of township seventeen south, range twenty-two east; thence south six miles; thence east three miles; thence south nine miles to the southeast corner of section sixteen, in township nineteen south, range twenty-three east; thence west two miles to the southeast corner of section thirteen, township nineteen south, range twenty-two east; thence south nine miles to the southeast corner of township twenty south, range twenty-two east, the place of beginning.

County seat—Visalia.

The changes in the boundary of this section have been compiled from the statute of 1875-6, p. 397, establishing the boundary between Fresno and Tulare, and from the statute of 1893, p. 176, creating the county of Kings.

§ 3941. That section thirty-nine hundred and forty-one be amended to read:

KERN.

Sec. 3941. Beginning at the point where the sixth standard line south of Mount Diablo base is intersected by the range line between ranges sixteen and seventeen east, being common corner of San Luis Obispo, Monterey, Kings, and Kern; thence east on the sixth standard south, Mount Diablo base, to the northwest corner of San Bernardino, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and forty-three; thence south on the westerly line of San Bernardino to the southern line of township nine north, San Bernardino base, forming southeast corner; thence west along said line and extension thereof to the summit of the Coast Range, being on the line of Ventura, forming southwest corner; thence northwesterly on said summit line to the southeast corner of section thirty-one, in township ten north, range twenty-four west, of San Bernardino base and meridian; thence north on section line to the northeast corner of section six, in township eleven north, range twenty-four west, San Bernardino base and meridian; thence west on township line between townships eleven and twelve north to the northwest corner of said township; thence north between townships twenty-four and twenty-five west to the eighth standard parallel south, of Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence west on said parallel to the corner common to townships thirty-two south, range twenty-two east, and thirty-two south, range twenty-three east, of Mount Diablo meridian; thence north along the east line of township thirty-two south, range twenty-two east, to the northeast corner thereof; thence west on the north boundary of said township to the northwest corner thereof; thence north to the northeast corner of township thirty-one south, range twenty-one east; thence west eight miles to the southwest corner of section thirty-five, in township thirty south, range twenty east; thence north to the northeast corner of section three, township thirty south, range twenty east; thence west four miles to the northwest corner of said township; thence north to the northeast corner of township twenty-nine south, range nineteen east; thence west to the southeast corner of section thirty-five, in township twenty-eight south, range eighteen east; thence north to the northeast corner of section twenty-six; thence west to the northwest corner of said section; thence north to the northeast corner of section twenty-two; thence west to the northwest corner of said section twenty-two; thence north to the northeast corner of section sixteen; thence west to the northwest corner of section sixteen; thence north to the northeast corner of section eight; thence west to the northwest corner of section eight; thence north to the township line at northeast corner of section six; thence west to the northwest corner of said township twenty-eight south, range eighteen east; thence north to the northeast corner of township twenty-seven south, range seventeen east; thence west to the northwest corner of said township; thence north on range line between ranges sixteen and seventeen east, to the northeast corner of township twenty-five south, range sixteen east, to the place of beginning.

County seat—Bakersfield.

In this section the western boundary of Kern county is drawn in accordance with the act of March 14, 1885, p. 139, establishing the boundary line between San Luis Obispo and Kern, omitting therefrom the words "thence west on said standard parallel to the original common corner of San Luis Obispo, Kern, and Tulare counties," for the reason that a line run west cannot possibly form any part of the boundary line between San Luis Obispo and Kern, because one of those counties lies precisely west of the other. The acceptance as the common corner of this northeast corner of township twenty-five, range sixteen east, may slightly change the present location of the corners common to Kings, Monterey, and San Luis Obispo, and we think there can be no doubt that it was the legislative intent to designate a new corner for these counties and to have it correspond to the point where the sixth standard line south is intersected with a line between ranges sixteen and seventeen east. The mention of Ventura county is made necessary by the act creating that county (Statutes of 1871-2, p. 485), and of Kings county, by the act creating that county (Statutes of 1893, p. 126).

§ 3943. That section thirty-nine hundred and forty-three be amended to read:

SAN BERNARDINO.

Sec. 3943. Beginning at the corner common to the counties of Riverside, Orange, and San Bernardino, being the point where the eastern boundary of El Cañon de Santa Ana rancho intersects the eastern boundary of Orange county; thence northwesterly along the said boundary to the corner common to the counties of Los Angeles, Orange, and San Bernardino; thence northerly along the eastern boundary of Los Angeles county and also along the eastern boundaries of the Rancho San José and of the Rancho San Antonio and the western and northern boundaries of Cucaimonga ranch to the ravine of Cucaimonga; thence northerly up said ravine to its source in the Coast Range; thence in the most direct line to the line dividing ranges seven and eight west, of San Bernardino meridian; thence north along said line dividing said ranges to the eighth standard line south, of Mount Diablo base; thence east on said standard line to the line dividing ranges forty and forty-one east, Mount Diablo base; and thence north on the line dividing such ranges to the sixth standard parallel south, Mount Diablo base and meridian, which point is also the northeast corner of township twenty-five south, range forty east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence east on said sixth standard line south and in continuation thereof to the eastern line of the State of California; thence southerly along the eastern boundary of said State to the northeast corner of Riverside county; thence westerly along the northern boundary of Riverside county to the place of beginning.

County seat—San Bernardino.

There has never, so far as we are aware, been any statute or code provision definitely fixing the eastern boundary of Kern or Los Angeles county or the western boundary of San Bernardino county at a point north of the point described as the source of the ravine of Cucaimonga in the Coast Range. According to the maps in common use, the line separating these counties north of this point must be at or near the range line dividing ranges seven and eight west, San Bernardino meridian, and forty and forty-one east, Mount Diablo meridian. We have hence suggested those ranges as proper to be accepted and designated as the line dividing these counties.

§ 3944. That section thirty-nine hundred and forty-four be amended to read:

SAN DIEGO.

Sec. 3944. Beginning at a point in the Pacific ocean opposite San Mateo point, which is the south corner of Orange county and is in the western line of the Rancho Santa Margarita; thence northerly along said line of such rancho to the southerly line of Mission Viejo or La Paz; thence along the southern and eastern line of said mission to the corner common to the counties of Orange, Riverside, and San Diego, which point is on the line dividing townships seven and eight south, San Bernardino base and meridian; thence easterly along the said township line to its intersection with the west boundary of the Santa Rosa rancho; thence southerly along the boundary of said rancho to where such boundary intersects the range line between townships eight south, three west, and eight south, four west; thence south on said range line to the point of intersection of such line with the second standard parallel south; thence east along said parallel to the eastern boundary of the State of California in the center of Colorado river; thence down such river to the southeast corner of such State; thence westerly along the southern boundary of such State to the southwest corner thereof; and thence northerly along the western boundary of such State to the place of beginning.

County seat—San Diego.

In describing the northern boundary line of this county we have adopted the description of the southern boundary of Riverside, to be found in the statute of 1893, p. 159.

§ 3945. That section thirty-nine hundred and forty-five be amended to read:

LOS ANGELES.

Sec. 3945. Beginning at the most southern point of the county of Ventura, in the Pacific ocean, at a point on extension line of the northern boundary of the rancho called Malaga, western corner; thence northeasterly, so as to include said rancho, to the northwest corner of the rancho called Triunfo, running on northerly line of the same to the northeast corner thereof; thence to the summit of the ridge of hills called Santa Susanna; thence in a direct line northwesterly to the northeast corner of the county of Ventura, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and fifty-nine, on the line of the county of Kern, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and forty-one, forming the northwest corner of the county of Los Angeles; thence east on southern line of the county of Kern to the western line of the county of San Bernardino, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and forty-three; thence southerly on western line of the county of San Bernardino to the common corner of the counties of Los Angeles, San Bernardino, and Orange; thence on the north and northwestern boundary of the county of Orange, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and sixty-two, to the western corner thereof; thence northwesterly, parallel with the coast line, to the place of beginning, including the islands of Santa Catalina, San Clemente, and the islands off the coast of Los Angeles county.

County seat—Los Angeles.

In this description consideration is given to the statute of 1871-2, p. 484, organizing the county of Ventura; to the statute of 1889, p. 123, organizing the county of Orange. For the eastern boundary of Los Angeles county we have adopted the description hereinbefore referred to in section thirty-nine hundred and forty-three for the western boundary of San Bernardino.

§ 3946. That section thirty-nine hundred and forty-six be amended to read:

SANTA BARBARA.

Sec. 3946. Beginning on the coast of the Pacific ocean at the mouth of the Rincon creek; thence follow the center of said creek to its source; thence due north to the southern boundary line of Kern county, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and forty-one; thence northwesterly, on the summit line, being also on western boundary of Kern, to a point of intersection with the southern line of township ten north, San Bernardino base; thence west on said township line to the Santa Maria river; thence down said river; and down the creek which divides that part of Guadalupe rancho known as La Largo from that known as Oso Flacco, to a point in the Pacific ocean opposite the mouth of said creek, forming northwest corner; thence southeasterly, by the ocean shore, to the place of beginning; including the islands of Santa Barbara, San Nicolas, San Miguel, Santa Rosa, and Santa Cruz.

County seat—Santa Barbara.

Strikes out all down to and including the word "Kern," and in lieu thereof inserts, "Beginning on the coast of the Pacific ocean at the mouth of the Rincon creek; thence follow up the center of said creek to its source; thence due north to the southern boundary line of Kern county." The description of the eastern boundary of this county is taken from the statute of 1871-2, p. 484, creating the county of Ventura.

§ 3947. That section thirty-nine hundred and forty-seven be amended to read:

SAN LUIS OBISPO.

Sec. 3947. Beginning in the Pacific ocean at the northwest corner of Santa Barbara county, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and forty-six; thence easterly along the northern line of said county to the western line of the county of Kern; thence northerly and westerly along said last named line to the northwest corner of said county of Kern, which is also the northwest corner of township twenty-five south, range seventeen west, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence west along the sixth standard line south to the Pacific ocean; and thence southerly along said ocean to the place of beginning.

County seat—San Luis Obispo.

The eastern boundary of this county was fixed by the statute of 1885, p. 139, establishing the boundary line between the counties of Kern and San Luis Obispo. The descriptive words of such statute have been incorporated in section thirty-nine hundred and forty-one.

§ 3948. That section thirty-nine hundred and forty-eight be amended to read:

MONTEREY.

Sec. 3948. Beginning in the Pacific ocean at the southwest corner of Santa Cruz county, as established in section thirty-nine hundred and forty-nine; thence east to the mouth of Pajaro river, on the bay of Monterey; thence up said river to the northwest corner of the Rancho Las Arromitas y Agua Caliente; thence in a southerly direction along the southwest boundary of said rancho to the southwest corner thereof; thence southerly in a direct line to the summit of the Gabilan range of mountains; thence southeasterly along the summit of said mountains to the Chalone peak; thence southeasterly in a direct line to the division line of the parts of the San Lorenzo Sobrantes rancho, owned respectively by Breen and Dunn; thence along said dividing line of said rancho to the southern boundary thereof; thence due south to the San Lorenzo creek; thence southeasterly up the center of said San Lorenzo or Lewis creek, and up the north fork thereof, to the summit of the divide between the waters of said Lewis creek and San Benito creek; thence following said divide southerly to the summit of the Coast range of mountains, being the westerly line of the county of Fresno; thence southeasterly along the summit of such Coast Range and the westerly boundary of the counties of Fresno and Kings to the sixth standard line south, Mount Diablo base, at the point which is the common corner of the counties of Kings, Kern, San Luis Obispo, and Monterey; thence west on said sixth standard south to the Pacific ocean; thence northerly along such ocean to the place of beginning.

County seat—Monterey.

The portion of the above description between the counties of Monterey and San Benito is copied from the statute of 1887, p. 103, amending the act to establish the last named county.

§ 3949. That section thirty-nine hundred and forty-nine be amended to read:

SANTA CRUZ.

Sec. 3949. Beginning at the south corner of San Mateo county, at a point in the Pacific ocean south forty-five degrees west, three miles from the intersection of the east line of Rancho Punta del Año Neuva with said ocean, forming western corner; thence north forty-five degrees east, to said point of intersection; thence northerly, following the eastern line of said rancho, to its intersection with the south line of township eight south, range four west, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence east to the southeast corner of said township; thence north to the northeast corner of section twenty-five of said township; thence east to the northeast corner of section twenty-six, township eight south, range three west; thence north to the summit of Santa Cruz mountains, being western line of Santa Clara county; thence southeasterly along the summit of said mountains on the western line of Santa Clara, to the Pajaro river, forming southeast corner, on northern line of San Benito; thence westerly along said river to the bay of Monterey, and three miles westerly into the ocean, forming southwest corner; thence northwesterly along the shore to the point of beginning.

County seat—Santa Cruz.

Strikes out the word "Monterey" and inserts "San Benito"; also strikes out the words "on the northern boundary line of Monterey."

§ 3959. That a new section, numbered thirty-nine hundred and fifty-nine, be added, to read:

VENTURA.

Sec. 3959. Beginning on the coast of the Pacific ocean at the mouth of the Rincon creek; thence following up the center of said creek to its source; thence due north to the southern boundary of Kern county; thence in an easterly direction along said boundary line of Kern county to the northwest corner of Los Angeles county, which point was also formerly the northeast corner of Santa Barbara county; thence southerly along the westerly line of Los Angeles county to the Pacific ocean and three miles therein; thence in a northwesterly direction along said ocean to a point due south of, and three miles distant from, the mouth of Rincon creek; thence north to the point of beginning, and including the islands of Anacapa and San Nicolas.

County seat—Ventura.

The description is copied substantially from the statute of 1871-2, p. 484, creating the county of Ventura and establishing its boundaries. It will be noticed, however, that the statute referred to does not intelligibly fix the boundary between Ventura and Los Angeles counties, and we have not been able to make it more definite.

§ 3960. That a new section, numbered thirty-nine hundred and sixty, be added, to read:

MODOC.

Sec. 3960. Beginning at the northeast corner of the State of California; thence west along the northern boundary of the State to the range line between ranges four and five east, of Mount Diablo meridian; thence due south on such range line to the northern boundary of Shasta county; thence easterly along the northern boundaries of Shasta and Lassen counties to the eastern line of the State of California; and thence north to the place of beginning.

County seat—Alturas.

The description is compiled from the act of March 17, 1874, p. 124, to create the county of Modoc and establish its boundaries.

§ 3961. That a new section, numbered thirty-nine hundred and sixty-one, be added, to read:

SAN BENITO.

Sec. 3961. Beginning at a point in the center of the Pajaro river, which point is also the northwest corner of the Rancho Arroyitas y Agua Caliente, and is also the northeastern corner of the county of Monterey; thence southerly along the eastern boundary of said county of Monterey to the summit of the Coast Range of mountains; thence northerly following the summit of such mountains to the range line between ranges twelve and thirteen east; thence north along such range line to the northeast corner of township eighteen south, range twelve east; thence north along the township line to the southeast corner of township sixteen south, range twelve east; thence northwesterly in a straight line to the northeast corner of township fourteen south, range nine east; thence in a straight line northwesterly running toward the northeast corner of township thirteen south, range seven east, to a point where said line intersects the boundary line of Merced; thence along the boundary line of Merced to the southeast corner of Santa Clara county; thence running westerly along the south line of Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties, to the place of beginning.

County seat—Hollister.

That part of the statute of 1887, p. 103, describing the boundaries between San Benito and Monterey counties, has been inserted in the section describing this county. The balance of the boundaries described above is copied from the amendatory act of 1887, already referred to.

§ 3962. That a new section, numbered thirty-nine hundred and sixty-two, be added, to read:

ORANGE.

Sec. 3962. Beginning at a point in the Pacific ocean three miles southwest of the center of the mouth of Coyote creek; thence to such center of such mouth; thence up the center of said creek in a northeasterly direction to the line dividing township three south, range ten west, and three south, range eleven west, San Bernardino base and meridian; thence north on the range line between such township to the northwest corner of township three south, range ten west; thence east on the line dividing townships two and three south to the point constituting the common corner between the counties of Los Angeles, Orange, and San Bernardino; thence southerly along the westerly boundary of the counties of San Bernardino, Riverside, and San Diego to the Pacific ocean; thence along the Pacific ocean to the place of beginning.

County seat—Orange.

The boundaries are copied from the statute of 1889, p. 123, creating the county of Orange, except that reference is made to Riverside county as a boundary, that county having been created and its boundaries declared by the statute of 1893, p. 159. It will be observed that the description does not definitely locate the eastern boundary line of Orange county, but we know of no source from which such boundary can be more definitely ascertained.

§ 3963. That a new section, numbered thirty-nine hundred and sixty-three, be added, to read:

GLENN.

Sec. 3963. Beginning at the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section thirty, in township eighteen north, range eight west, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence east along the half-section line and one and one half miles north of the line dividing townships seventeen and eighteen to the range line dividing township eighteen, ranges two and three west; thence north two miles to the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section thirteen, township eighteen north, range three west; thence east along the half-section line to the center of the Sacramento river; thence down the center of said river to a point one and one half miles north of the line dividing townships seventeen and eighteen north; thence east on such dividing line to the center of Butte creek; thence northerly along said creek to the point where it intersects the north line of township nineteen north; thence westerly along the boundary line of Butte county to the center of the Sacramento river; thence northerly along the center of such river to a point where the north line of township twenty-two is intersected thereby, which point is also on the south line of Tehama county; thence west along the north line of township twenty-two north to the southwest corner of Tehama county, which point is also on the eastern boundary of Mendocino county; thence southerly on the summit of the Coast range of mountains and along the eastern boundaries of the counties of Mendocino and Lake to the place of beginning.

County seat—Willows.

The boundaries of this county are taken from the statute of 1891, p. 98, as amended by the statute of 1893, p. 158.

§ 3964. That a new section, numbered thirty-nine hundred and sixty-four, be added, to read:

MADERA.

Sec. 3964. Beginning at the point where the third standard line south of Mount Diablo base crosses the San Joaquin river; thence up such river to a point where it crosses the southern boundary line of township six south, range twenty-four east, same base and meridian; thence northeast to the boundary line of Mono county; thence north along the westerly line of Mono county to the corner common to the counties of Tuolumne, Mariposa, and Madera; thence southwest along the southern boundary of the counties of Mariposa and Merced to the middle of the San Joaquin river; and thence up said river to the place of beginning.

County seat—Madera.

This description is from the statute of 1893, p. 168, creating the county of Madera.

§ 3965. That a new section, numbered thirty-nine hundred and sixty-five, be added, to read:

KINGS.

Sec. 3965. Beginning at the northeast corner of township seventeen south, range twenty-two east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence south six miles; thence east three miles; thence south nine miles to the southeast corner of section sixteen, in township nineteen south, range twenty-three east; thence west three miles to the southeast corner of section thirteen, township nineteen south, range twenty-two east; thence south nine miles to the southeast corner of township twenty south, range twenty-two east; thence west to the northeast corner of township twenty-one south, range twenty-two east; thence south twenty-four miles to the sixth standard line south; thence west on said line, being also the northern boundary of Kern county, to the corner common to the counties of Kern, San Luis Obispo, Monterey, and Kings; thence in a northwesterly direction along the boundary line of Monterey county to the corner common to the counties of Monterey, Fresno, and Kings; thence northeasterly along the southerly boundary of Fresno county to a point on the fourth standard line south; and thence east thereon to the place of beginning.

County seat—Hanford.

This description is taken from the statute of 1893, p. 176.

§ 3966. That a new section, numbered thirty-nine hundred and sixty-six, be added, to read:

RIVERSIDE.

Sec. 3966. Beginning at the corner common to the counties of Orange and San Bernardino; thence south along the eastern boundary of Orange county to the point of its intersection with the township line between townships seven and eight south, San Bernardino base and meridian, which point is also in the northern line of San Diego county; thence easterly along the northerly line of the last named county to the easterly line of the State in the Colorado river; thence northerly up said river to the southeast corner of the county of San Bernardino; thence westerly along the southerly line of the last named county to a point where the line between townships one and two south intersects such southerly line of San Bernardino county; thence west along such township line to the northwest corner of township two south, range one east; thence south two miles to the northeast corner of section thirteen, in township two south, range one west; thence west seventeen miles to the southwest corner of section eight, in township two south, range three west; thence north one mile to the northwest corner of said township eight; thence west eight and a half miles to the quarter corner on the south line of section two, in township two south, range five west; thence north one mile to the quarter corner on the north line of said township two; thence west ten and a half miles to the northwest corner of section six, in township two south, range six west; thence south to the northern boundary of the Jurupa rancho; thence westerly along the northern boundary of the Jurupa rancho to the northwest corner thereof; thence south along the west boundary of the Jurupa rancho to the quarter corner on the west line of section ten, in township three south, range seven west; thence west to the center of section seven, in the same township; thence south to the quarter corner on the south line of section nineteen, in the same township; thence west to the intersection with the eastern boundary of El Cañon de Santa Ana rancho; thence southerly along the east boundary of said rancho to the intersection of the boundary line between Orange and San Bernardino counties; thence southeast along such boundary line to the place of beginning.

County seat—Riverside.

The above description is taken from the statute of 1893, p. 153, creating the county of Riverside, except that a specific description of the line between Riverside and San Diego is not here given, because it is to be found in the section describing the northern boundary of the latter county.

§§ 3976-3985. That sections thirty-nine hundred and seventy-six to thirty-nine hundred and eighty-five, inclusive, be repealed, because inconsistent with, and impliedly repealed by, sections eleven and twelve of the county government act of 1897, p. 454.

§§ 4000-4007. That sections forty hundred to forty hundred and seven be repealed, because the matters are provided for in the county government act.

§§ 4022, 4023, 4025, 4026, 4029-4035. That sections forty hundred and twenty-two, forty hundred and twenty-three, forty hundred and twenty-five, forty hundred and twenty-six, forty hundred and twenty-nine to forty hundred and thirty-five inclusive be repealed, because the matters are otherwise provided for in the county government act.

§§ 4045-4052. That sections forty hundred and forty-five to forty hundred and fifty-two inclusive be repealed, for the reason last suggested.

§§ 4064-4082, 4084-4087. That sections forty hundred and sixty-four to forty hundred and eighty-two and forty hundred and eighty-four to forty hundred and eighty-seven be repealed, upon the ground that the matters are otherwise provided for in sections nineteen, twenty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty, thirty-one, thirty-two, thirty-three, thirty-four, thirty-five, thirty-six, thirty-nine, forty, forty-one, forty-three, forty-five, forty-six, forty-eight, forty-nine, fifty-one, fifty-two, and fifty-three of the county government act.

§§ 4101-4110, 4112-4124. That sections forty-one hundred and one to forty-one hundred and ten, both inclusive, and forty-one hundred and twelve to forty-one hundred and twenty-four, both inclusive, be repealed, because the same matters have been otherwise and differently provided for in sections twenty-five, fifty-four, fifty-five, fifty-six, fifty-eight, fifty-nine, sixty, sixty-one, sixty-two, sixty-three, sixty-four, sixty-five, and sixty-six of the county government act.

§ 4134. That section forty-one hundred and thirty-four be repealed. Subdivision one thereof is unnecessary, because of section eight hundred and two of the Penal Code; subdivision two, because of the provisions of the constitution; the other subdivisions are either entirely unnecessary, or not of sufficient consequence to be retained.

§§ 4144-4165. That sections forty-one hundred and forty-four to forty-one hundred and sixty-five be repealed, on the ground that the matters therein are sufficiently and otherwise provided for in sections sixty-seven, sixty-eight, sixty-nine, seventy, seventy-one, seventy-two, seventy-three, seventy-five, seventy-six, seventy-seven, seventy-eight, seventy-nine, eighty, eighty-one, eighty-two, eighty-three, eighty-four, eighty-five, eighty-six, and eighty-seven of the county government act.

§§ 4175-4193. That sections forty-one hundred and seventy-five to forty-one hundred and ninety-three be repealed, because of the provisions of sections eighty-eight to one hundred and six of the county government act.

§§ 4204, 4205. That sections forty-two hundred and four and forty-two hundred and five be repealed, because the matters are provided for in sections one hundred and seven and one hundred and eight of the county government act.

§§ 4215-4224. That sections forty-two hundred and fifteen to forty-two hundred and twenty-four inclusive be repealed, because the matters are provided for in sections one hundred and nine to one hundred and eighteen of the county government act.

§§ 4234-4246. That sections forty-two hundred and thirty-four to forty-two hundred and forty-six be repealed, because of the provisions of sections one hundred and nineteen to one hundred and thirty-one of the county government act.

§§ 4256-4259. That sections forty-two hundred and fifty-six to forty-two hundred and fifty-nine be repealed, because of the provisions of sections one hundred and thirty-two, one hundred and thirty-three, one hundred and thirty-four, and one hundred and fifty-four of the county government act.

§§ 4268-4270, 4274, 4275. That sections forty-two hundred and sixty-eight to forty-two hundred and seventy, forty-two hundred and seventy-four, and forty-two hundred and seventy-five be repealed, because of the provisions of sections one hundred and thirty-five to one hundred and thirty-eight of the county government act.

§§ 4285-4292. That sections forty-two hundred and eighty-five to forty-two hundred and ninety-two be repealed, because of the provisions of sections one hundred and forty-two, one hundred and forty-three, one hundred and forty-five, one hundred and forty-six, and one hundred and forty-seven of the county government act.

§§ 4300-4304. That sections forty-three hundred to forty-three hundred and four be repealed, because of the provisions of sections one hundred and forty-eight to one hundred and fifty-one of the county government act.

§§ 4314, 4315, 4316. That sections forty-three hundred and fourteen, forty-three hundred and fifteen, and forty-three hundred and sixteen be repealed, because of the provisions of sections one hundred and fifty-three to one hundred and fifty-five of the county government act.

§§ 4328-4334. That sections forty-three hundred and twenty-eight to forty-three hundred and thirty-four be repealed, because of the provisions of sections two hundred and sixteen, two hundred and seventeen, two hundred and twenty, two hundred and twenty-two, and two hundred and twenty-seven of the county government act.

§§ 4343-4347. That sections forty-three hundred and forty-three to forty-three hundred and forty-seven be repealed, because of the provisions of sections two hundred and twenty-eight, two hundred and twenty-nine, and two hundred and thirty of the county government act.

§§ 4354-4357, 4366-4374. That sections forty-three hundred and forty-four to forty-three hundred and fifty-seven, and forty-three hundred and sixty-six to forty-three hundred and seventy-four be repealed, on the ground that they are superseded by the municipal corporations act (Stats. 1883, pp. 93-279).

§§ 4385-4393. That sections forty-three hundred and eighty-five to forty-three hundred and ninety-three be repealed for the reason last suggested.

§§ 4403-4414. That sections forty-four hundred and three to forty-four hundred and fourteen be repealed for the reason last suggested.

LIST OF STATUTES,

OTHER THAN THE FOUR CODES, REMAINING IN FORCE, AND OF THE AMENDMENTS THERETO, WITH REFERENCES TO DECISIONS RESPECTING THEIR CONSTITUTIONALITY.

NOTE.—From this table are excluded all statutes which can no longer be regarded as of any substantial effect, either because directly or impliedly repealed by the Codes or, though neither repealed by them nor otherwise, which have accomplished their purpose and have no other effect than to justify acts long since done by their authority, such as appropriation bills, grants of franchises, or of rights for a limited period, or directions or authorizations to perform acts which have doubtless already been done, or to contract obligations which have been satisfied, and statutes creating and providing for the government of municipal corporations which have become inoperative by the reincorporation of the same municipalities by or under subsequent statutes, either general or special.

| 131 | 49 | Concerning lawful fences. Repealed as to many counties by the statute of 1855, p. 154, from which, however, Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, Klamath, Nevada, Placer, San Bernardino, San Diego, Santa Barbara, Shasta, Siskiyou, Trinity, Tuolumne, and Yuba counties were omitted. The statute of 1855 was afterward amended to include Butte, Calaveras, and Nevada. Special acts were passed relating to other counties, but the statute of 1850 has apparently not been repealed as to Amador, Klamath, San Diego, Santa Barbara, Siskiyou, and Trinity counties. |
| 273 | 117 | To provide for the incorporation of colleges. Amended 1855: 110; 1867-8: 69, 218; 1869-70: 419; 1873-4: 85; supplemented 1863: 775; 1871-2: 10. This and other acts relating to corporations were repealed by § 288 C. C., except that corporations pre-existing the code remain subject to the laws under which they were formed, but new corporations can not be created under such laws (Murphy v. Pacific Bank , 119 Cal. 334), and we apprehend that all amendments to them made after the enactments of the codes were invalid, or at least not applicable to any corporation formed after the adoption of that code, because they were to acts which had already been repealed. |
| 342 | 125 | To abolish all laws except those passed during the present session. |
| 347 | 128 | An act concerning corporations. Amended 1851: 424, 426; repealed 1851, p. 433, chap. 118, sec. 31; amended 1852: 168; 1853: 87, 140, 169; 1854: 162, 166; 1858: 57, 264; 1859: 87; 1861: 84; 1862: 17, 110, 125; 1863: 34, 747, 766; 1865-6: 748; 1869-70: 46, 402; 1871-2: 443; 1876: 730; supplemented 1862: 17; extended 1857: 75. See note above to page 273, chap. 117. |
